J. W. Wagers and daughter, Olive, arrived home from a business trip to Peru, Neb. They report crops not as good in southern part of state as we have. Mr. Wagers says that the corn on the low land is entirely ruined and the crops on the high lands will not begin to average up with our crops, he says the high price of land don't seem to "cut any ice," when it comes to producing crops and he thinks the farmers of this locality are far better off and better stay with their land.—The Reporter.

It is with the deepest regret that we announce the removal of Prof. Ira Lamb from Atkinson which will be about the 15th of August. Mr. Lamb has labored diligently and faithfully in these schools for eight years and during that time has proven himself to be an efficient and conscientious manager of schools. He has accepted a principalship at Hooper, this state, and we cheerfully recommend him as a man of high ability and integrity.—The Graphic.
