ARRESTS BRONCO RIDER

But With Aid of Companion Sheriff is Held Up and Bad Man Gets Away.

ROSCOE MOORE TURNS BOLD TRICK

Takes Gun Away From South Dakota Sheriff, Mounts a Horse and Rides Off.

The Storts ranch twenty-seven miles southwest of O'Neill furnished another sensational episode the first of this week. Roscoe Moore, Dave Tierney and William Moses, sheriff at Belle Fourche, S. D., were the star actors. Moore, who is familiarly known around O'Neill by his first name, Roscoe, had just been placed under arrest by the South Dakota sheriff when he made a rather sensational get-away. Roscoe had but recently returned to this section after some months spent in the Black Hills country, where it appears he became involved in the traffic of horse stealing. He is a horseman by profession, or in technical terms, a bronco buster. He has been handling rough horses around this section for two or three years past and has recently been stopping at the Storts ranch.

The sheriff from Belle Fourche came to O'Neill and in company with Sheriff Hall went out to arrest Roscoe. They found him at the Storts place and all progressed smoothly until Sheriff Hall went to hitch up his team to return to O'Neill. While Hall was getting the rig ready, Roscoe, Dave Tierney of O'Neill, who is employed at the ranch, and Sheriff Moses were awaiting him at the bunk house not a great distance from the stables. During this interval, we learn at the sheriff's office, Tierney and Moore grappled with Sheriff Moses, overpowered him and took his 44 Colts gun. Armed with the 44 and a pocket pistol that Tierney gave him, Roscoe made a dash toward the stable, leaped onto a horse that it seems had been previously saddled for this emergency and rode wildly away.

Just then Sheriff Hall drove up. Moses leaped into the buggy, asked Hall for his gun, told briefly the story and the two sheriffs started in pursuit but they got not a glimpse of the fast riding fugitive.

A reward of $500 now rest on the head of Roscoe, offered by the minion of the law from Belle Fourche.

After a more or less stormy and protracted session, where delegates were seated and unseated, admitted to the conventions and fired out, the pops and democrats of Holt county refused and re-nominated A. F. Mullen for county attorney, elected there delegates to the various conventions and resolved and where to support the tickets.

William Gellish, who left several weeks ago for the west, arrived home Saturday evening. He had been in Denver most of the time since away. Colorado in no good since the strike, he says. He was brought from Denver with a number of others by the packing houses, but when he arrived in South Omaha and sized up the situation he decided not to go to work and came up to O'Neill. Owing to sickness in his home, he expects to remain here for the present anyway.

The Omaha Commercial inserts a card in The Frontier for business purposes. The Commercial was represented with the Omaha crowd here last week and the compiler of this department presumes they called at The Frontier while the force was all away. Anyway we found upon our orderly desk (the Commercial's unique advertisement in the shape of a miniature "Omaha Commercial," reduced several degrees from the "life size.") The Commercial is a valuable publication for any man in business in Nebraska.

Clearwater Record: After a persistent effort being made on the part of Rev. Father Cassidy and the members of the Catholic church, sufficient funds have been raised to build a new church. The contract, which was let to I. M. Snider the first of the week, calls for a building 30x72, the main room to be 30x50, a hall in front and two or three small rooms in the rear. This will be a great improvement upon their present place of worship, and the members are to be congratulated upon the enterprise which has enabled them to accomplish what they have so long desired.

Lieutenant Charles A. Meals arrived in the city Monday afternoon from Omaha. Lieutenant Meals is the O'Neill boy to graduate of the West Point military academy this year and he is now a full-fledged military man with $1400 a year to start on. Charles' friends here are more than pleased at the successful termination of his four years at West Point and predict for him a bright future. He is now out on a three month's leave and has been visiting friends in the east since graduation. He will remain with friends and relatives here for a short time and then goes to California where his parents live, and about October 1 sails from San Francisco for Manila, where he has been assigned to the Eighteenth infantry.

RAPES 13-YEAR-OLD GIRL

Joseph Neolicjak of Ewing Charged With Grave Crime.

DRAGS HER INTO A CORNFIELD

So the Testimony Showed, and There Ravished the Girl.—Accused is Now in Jail.

On complaint of the victim, Linda Kamish, a 13-year-old girl, Joseph Neolicjak was arrested at Ewing on Monday on a charge of rape and is now in the county jail here. Those concerned are residents of the Bohemian settlement south of Ewing, Neolicjak being a brother of the man who was in jail here some months ago on a similar charge.

The preliminary hearing was had before a justice of peace at Ewing. The testimony developed that Neolicjak dragged the little girl into a corn field near his home and then ravished her. He is a man with a family, his wife with a baby in her arms being now in town to see what can be done for her pesky husband, who is held for trial in the courts.

Minor Mention

James Willis of the South Fork country shipped a car of cattle to South Omaha Tuesday evening and two cars on Wednesday evening. Mr. Willis recently sold his ranch over south but still has extensive stock interests. He is practically a new comer in this country but says he has made more money here in the past eighteen months than he ever made before.

A. Opegaard of Minneapolis, who has been spending part of the vacation with friends in this county, is in the city in the interests of the King-Richardson Co., publishers of standard publications. Mr. Opegaard is making a specialty in this town of "Century Book of Facts," a unique, one volume cyclopedia, and is meeting with success. The topical arrangement of the work is a new departure and coupled with a very complete index makes references quick and easy. The work is put up in a handsome, well made volume, is low priced, and comes well recommended for home and school purposes.

The Omaha Commercial club, while on a tour of north Nebraska, stopped in O'Neill about an hour and a half Friday last. The club was met at the Northwestern depot with ample carriage accomodation to conveying them up town and give those who desired a whirl over the city. The club was accompanied by a band which rendered several selections while in town. They were dined at Hotel Evans and departed east at 1:30 o'clock. They were a crown of gentlemanly fellows and seemed to be all good hustlers. Large quantities of advertising novelties were distributed, and if O'Neill people don't know who's in the jobbing business in Omaha it is not the commercial club's fault.

Sunday School Workers.

The twenty-fourth annual convention of the Holt county Sunday School association will be held on August 29-30, at the Presbyterian church at O'Neill.

As we are to have with us at least two persons who are specially trained in Sunday school work, viz: Prof. H. M. Steilley, state field secretary, and Miss Manie Haines, state primary superintendent, this convention promises rare attractions to all who are interested in the work. We also have on our program those ranking among the best of our county workers.

Arrange to have your Sunday school represented. If your secretary or superintendent does not receive copy of program on or before August 20, write me at once. Yours in the work.

M. Blanche Adams, Secretary, O'Neill, Neb.

Notice of Meeting

On Monday evening, August 15, there will be a meeting of the Roosevelt and Fairbanks Club in the club room, third building east of Hotel Evans, to which all members of the club, all republicans and all supporters of the republican national ticket are cordially and earnestly requested to be present.
