"The Song of the Shirt"

It is unnecessary to use poetry in singing the praises of OAK BRAND SHIRTS. They are a line of shirts that have established for themselves a reputation by their qualities of wear and good fit. When once our customers try this brand they are sure to ask for the same kind next time. Right now our line of these shirts is complete in every detail and we want all the wearers of Oak Brand buttons to buy Oak Brand Shirts.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Attorney Dickson had business at Ewing Tuesday.

Harry Reed is up from Omaha on a visit to his parents and friends here.

On the 8th inst. Judge Morgan united in marriage Otto Beaver, age 20, and Gracie Barnes, age 14, both of Leonie this county.

Fred Gatz, after two years retirement, again presides at the meat block, Leek & Blackmer having turned over the keys to the shop on Tuesday.

The county clerk's office has been equipped with a figuring machine that greatly shortens the work of computing and adding large columns of figures.

Mrs. Leeper, a former resident of this county, departed yesterday for her home at Omaha after a visit in O'Neill, the guest of the Misses Bentley.

Charlis Bousch, who resides in the western part of town, was united in marriage on Saturday last to Miss Rose McKeown of Arkansas, County Judge Morgan officiating.

Rev. T. W. Bowen of the Presbyterian church officiated at a wedding in Atkinson Monday wherein Fred French of Wayne and Ina Orcutt of Atkinson were the contracting parties.

Ainsworth Star-Journal: The Misses Gertrude and Gretta Short and Alta Williams spent a few days in O'Neill last week visiting with their former school mate, Miss Gladys Miles.

Fred Gatz had a white and yellow bird dog killed Sunday by a North-western train. Fred was down at Mud bridge fishing, the dog being with him and was on the bridge when a train came crashing along and killed the dog.

P. J. McManus, having bought the old Fahy building on Fourth street that has been occupied by restaurants or bakeries for a number of years, has put a new floor in the same, is making other improvements and alterations. Jack McManus will move his hardware stock into the building.

You will be glad to know that the fall term of the Omaha Commercial college, of which Rohrbough brothers are proprietors, will open September 1. If you have not decided what school you are going to attend, we would advise you to send for free advertising literature. This is the largest and best equipped commercial school in Nebraska.

The life stock market is about as good as could be expected considering the strike. There were 5,000 head of cattle on the South Omaha market Monday, 17,000 at Chicago. The market was brisk, writes Nye & Buchanan Co. They quote: Cornfed, $4 to $5.75; hayfed and grassers, $3.50 to $5.50. Hog receipts are moderate with advancing prices; range from $9 to $5.10.

R. J. Marsh, Frank Campbell and M. H. McCarthy have been in session for several days as a board of arbitration settling up the affairs of the firm of Leek & Blackmer. Mrs. Blackmer, wife of the member of the firm, had closed the firm's meat market on the strength of a claim of $500, money said to be loaned them. Mr. Blackmer and son then took charge of the meat market until the sale of the stock of hand and transfer to F. C. Gatz on Monday. All claims are now being adjusted by the board of arbitration, selected by the parties to the controversy.

Mrs. John Hoff of Fremont was a guest of Mrs. Testman over Sunday.

Miss Mary Harshman departed yesterday for her home at Omaha after a visit at the Testman home in this city.

O. O. Snyder's fine big team of bays has been broken by the death of the largest horse one night this week, resulting from pneumonia.

M. J. Abbott of Page had business in O'Neill Saturday, among other things purchasing a quantity of type at The Frontier office for use on the Page Reporter.

During the field trials next week the ladies of the Methodist church will be on the grounds prepared to serve meals. They want it understood that the service will be first-class and not simply lunches.

Miss Mary Cassidy, who made her home with her brother here, Rev. M. F. Cassidy, died yesterday as the result of an attack of apoplexy which came on about eight o'clock in the morning. She survived until about noon and then passed away. She had not been in rugged health, having had two previous attacks of apoplexy. The funeral occurs tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

A banquet and ball in honor of Lieutenant Charles A. Meals was given Tuesday evening by the young folks of the city. The ball, a most pleasant and successful affair, was given in the opera-house and the banquet at Hotel Evans. A nice crowd of young folks assembled to have a good time and pay their respects to the young lieutenant, who leaves shortly for service in the army in the Philippines.

The democratic congressional convention for the Sixth district was held Tuesday at North Platte with twelve counties represented. Walter B. McNeill of that city was nominated for congress on the second ballot. His opponents were Shumway of Scott's Bluff and B. S. Gillespie of this city. Resolutions were adopted endorsing Parker and the St. Louis platform and a resolution making the nomination of McNeill contingent upon his endorsement by the populist convention was almost unanimously voted down.

A meeting of the Roosevelt and Fairbanks club was held in the club rooms last Monday evening for the purpose of perfecting the organization. The meeting was called to order by the temporary chairman R. R. Dickson and upon motion the election of officers was taken up, and the following officers elected: O. O. Snyder, president; C. E. Hall, vice president; Samuel Barnard, secretary; J. F. Gallagher, treasurer. The president was empowered to appoint an executive committee of five which he will announce at the next meeting of the club.

Grant W. Smith stole a march on his friends, hiked off to Grinnell, Io., and on August 11 was united in marriage to Miss Grace Emma Noll, daughter of Captain and Mrs. T. J. Noll of Grinnell. Of the wedding the Grinnell Herald says: "S. J. Buck officiated at the marriage, using the ring service. The house was beautifully decorated with flowers. It was one of those pleasant home weddings were only intimate friends of the contracting parties were present. The out of town guests were Miss Blanche Smith of O'Neill, Neb., and Miss Stuart of Cedar Falls, Io." Mr. and Mrs. Smith arrived in O'Neill Saturday night. The bride is not a stranger to O'Neill people. She was a teacher in our public schools and had been engaged for another year by the board of education, being rated as one of the most efficient instructors that has been in our schools. She is a lady of education and refinement and her friends here are glad to see her become a permanent resident of the city. Mr. Smith needs no introduction to Frontier readers as he is widely known and highly esteemed all over the county. The Frontier extends its warmest congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

A representative of the Lincoln Printing company visited the town this week and carried off several orders for printing from some of our patriotic merchants. A Frontier representative was solicited for work by the gentleman from Lincoln, he not knowing we were also a printer of plain and fancy job work. However, during his solicitations we got a squint at his list of O'Neill patrons, and were a little surprised, to say the least, to see the names of some of our most influential and substantial business men subscribed to orders that could be filled quicker and better and possibly cheaper right here in the country town of O'Neill. O'Neill people may not realize it because they don't know any different, but the town has two as well equipped printing establishments of the smaller concerns as there are in this or any other state, whose architectural departments are presided over by men who have had experience in as big printing outfits as the country affords and are able to handle any sort of a commercial job. When work comes here from Sioux City, Omaha and other towns it indicates there are shops here that can do it a little better than the other fellows. All The Frontier has to say to the O'Neill patrons of Lincoln printers is that when they can do better on their printing jobs by sending away, send for it, but keep smiling faces when some fellow double discounts you at Omaha or Chicago on a pair of breeches or a yard of muslin.

O'Neill Men Thump Him

This item is found in the Council Bluffs department of Monday's Bee: "After making an investigation yesterday the police are of the opinion that the assault on Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Meade Saturday night was not committed by footpads, nor was it for the purpose of robbery. Mr. Meade has recently been engaged in locating homesteaders in Loup county, Nebraska, and it is alleged has aroused the enmity of some people in that county. The police said yesterday they were confident the assault was committed by two persons who had a grudge of some kind against Mr. Meade, and it was their evident intention to lay him up so that he could not resume his business of locating homesteaders for some time. This theory of the police regarding the assault they claim is supported by the fact that two men from O'Neill, Neb., were known to be in Council Bluffs Saturday and they were said to have made inquiries concerning Mr. Meade and his place of residence. The police yesterday were looking for the O'Neill men, but it is believed they crossed the river to Omaha after committing the assault. Mrs. Meade's outcries, which aroused the neighborhood, it is believed alone prevented Mr. Meade from being more seriously beaten than he was."

Sunday School Workers.

The twenty-fourth annual convention of the Holt county Sunday School association will be held on August 29-30, at the Presbyterian church at O'Neill.

As we are to have with us at least two persons who are specially trained in Sunday school work, viz: Prof. H. M. Stelley, state field secretary, and Miss Manie Haines, state primary superintendent, this convention promises rare attractions to all who are interested in the work. We also have on our program those ranking among the best of our county workers.

Arrange to have your Sunday school represented. If your secretary or superintendent does not receive copy of program on or before August 20, write me at once. Yours in the work.

M. Blanche Adams, Secretary, O'Neill, Neb.
