Judge Parker broke the silence by saying nothing.

The mikado gives orders that Port Arthur be taken at any cost.

Uncle Sam can bring his sublimship the porte to terms quicker than any of them.

Even his friends are disappointed in the speech of acceptance of the man from Escopus.

Nobody has seen flag or flambeau indicative that there was life or breath in the O'Neill Bryan club.

The advice that the farmers hold their wheat for a dollar would be good advice if more of them were prepared to heed it.

It is said that all things come to the man who waits. The successful men have always applied a large amount of hustle while they waited.

Nature usually does her part and the farmer that finds his corn field knee high to a grasshopper and yellow as a duck's foot can generally lay it to his laziness.

The world will trust that if the infant heir to the Russian throne lives to become the sovereign, it will be a happier period for his country than the day of his birth.

Thomas Tibbles is very much chagrined over fusion and declares that there is yet to be a populist party in Nebraska "which the Parker gang can not break into and destroy."

Everybody indulges a large amount of descriptive and decided sentiment toward the packing houses, but it is noticed that there is no stock market when these institutions are closed.

Perhaps the least of all campaign literature are the coarse jokes and crude witticisms over the age of the democratic vice-presidential nominee. That a man should reach the advanced age of eighty-one years and still retain sufficient vigor to stand the strenuousness of American politics is a thing not to be sneezed at. Mr. Davis is a fine specimen of the vigor of American manhood. Give the grandfathers a chance.

IF IT WAS TRUE WHEN HE SAID IT, IT IS TRUE NOW

"I can appreciate the feelings which animated those who assembled in the silver convention and turned their back upon the party with which they had formerly been associated.
 "More than a year ago, when we were engaged in the struggle to bring the democratic party to an endorsement of free coinage, the question was put to me whether, in case of failure, I would support the democratic nominee if he were a gold standard advocate running on a gold standard platform. I never believed that the democratic party would endorse the gold standard, but when those who asked me were not content with probabilities and asked again, I said that under no circumstances would my vote be given to a man who would use the influence of the executive to fasten the gold standard upon the American people.... I would no more join the ranks of those who would propose to fasten it upon the American people than I would enlist in an army which was marching to attack my home and destroy my life."—From W. J. Bryan's "First Battle."

Surrounded by a hundred thousand

Japs, with no means of getting either supplies, ammunition or reinforcements the Russians at Port Arthur have, to say the least, not a very bright outlook.

It is a fair proposition that the republican convention should go to Atkinson this year. While custom has established a sort of precedent in favor of the county seat, it is a good idea to deviate from this at times.

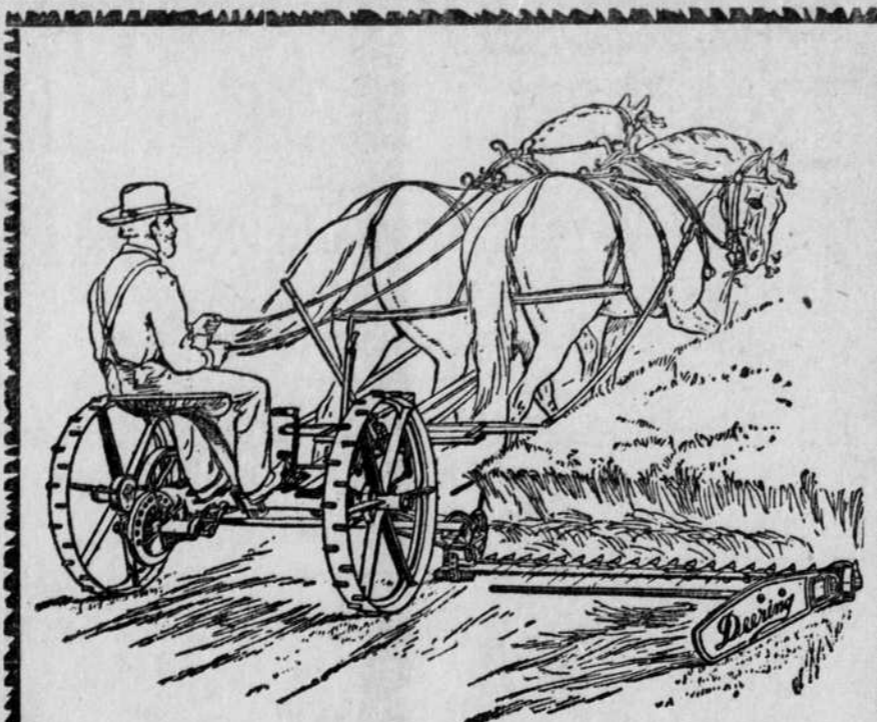

Perhaps we had better think it was only a cruel joke perpetrated on the worthy mayor of O'Neill when before the nomination Victor Rosewater quoted him as saying: "Berge suits Mike all right, but he's too d—n honest for me."

We heard a man say the other day that no aspiring statesman should be elected to the legislature who was not pledged to vote for an adequate appropriation for the agricultural department of the state university. This is obviously a subject that has not received the attention it deserves. There is a need for a higher degree of education along agricultural lines. With the proper education young men of the farms would not only see the dignity and importance of agriculture but would be transformed into a better class of farmers, there would not be the inflow of boys to cities to take up with the trades and become involved in labor wrangles and neat, well kept and productive farms would be in evidence where now are many marks of shiftlessness.

Notwithstanding nearly the whole state ticket was made up of populists, the idea of fusion again with the democrats was so repulsive to many of the old guard that a walkout was precipitated in the pop state convention last week. The bolters at once issued a call for all true populists to assemble at the Capitol hotel. Ninety-one delegates, representing twenty-seven counties, came together and resolved to organize league clubs in every county in the state, call another convention and nominate a "straight" ticket. It was significant that Watson and Tibbles were in the movement. The populists had less reason to get their backs up than the democrats, who swallowed the dose without a murmur. Three of the offices, lieutenant governor, attorney general and secretary of state—the extremity of the tail, as it were—were given to the democrats, all the rest went to the pops. The pie hunt of farcical reform is now on, and the shouts of the silver pop for the silver democrat who shouts for the golden Parker and the hurrahs of the Parker voting democrat for the silver pop will presently rend the air. Republicans rather enjoy the fun.

Plutocrats Carry the Word

Kansas City Star: That was a notable company of financiers that went up the Hudson on the yacht Sagamore to notify Judge Parker of his selection to lead the hosts of the plain people in a terrific onslaught upon predatory wealth and corporate greed. It's a safe guess that a stone couldn't have been thrown in the crowd of notifiers without hitting a millionaire—unless Champ Clark had happened to get in the way.
 There were Cond Meyer (counsel for the Sugar trust), Thomas F. Ryan (financier, vice president Morton Trust company, trustee American

MOWERS, RAKES AND ALL KINDS OF HAYING MATERIALS

Surety company, director Pere Marquette railway, Consolidated Gas, Consolidated Tobacco, National Bank of the United States and many other corporations, Perry Belmont (director of several trust companies and member New York Chamber of Commerce), August Belmont (New York representative of the Rothschilds and director in more than thirty large railway, banking and manufacturing corporations), George Foster Peabody (director, chairman of the or vice president of numerous corporations), W. F. Sheehan (director in various corporations), and other men of wealth too numerous to mention.

It is estimated that capital to the extent of several billions was represented in the notification ceremonies. When such an aggregation of corporation haters is united for a single object, the protection of the plain people, who can doubt that the interests of the masses will be adequately guarded?

The Rights of Woman.

The rights of woman: What are they?
 The right to labor, love and pray;
 The right to weep with those who weep
 The right to wake when others sleep.
 The right to dry the falling tear,
 The right to quell the rushing fear,
 The right to smooth the brow of care
 And whisper comfort in despair.
 The right the intellect to train
 And guide the soul to noble aim;
 Teach it to rise above earth's toys
 And wing its flight for heavenly joys.
 The right to live for those she loves,
 The right to die that love to prove;
 The right to brighten earthly homes
 With pleasant smiles and gentle tones.
 The right to watch the parting breath,
 To sooth and cheer the bed of death;
 The right when earthly hopes all fail;
 To point to that within the veil.
 The right to wander, to reclaim
 And win the lost from paths of shame;
 The right to comfort and to bless
 The widow and the fatherless.
 The right the little ones to guide
 In simple faith to Him who died,
 With earnest love and gentle praise,
 To bless and cheer their youthful days.
 Are these thy rights? Then use them well,
 Thy silent influence none can tell;
 If these are thine, why ask for more?
 Thou hast enough to answer for.
 Are these thy rights? Then murmur not
 That woman's mission is thy lot;
 Improve the talents God has given—
 Life's duty done, thy rest in heaven.

A far reaching cattle quarantine will soon be established upon the territory of the northwest, beginning either at Oakdale or at O'Neill and running west. The exact line has not yet been determined. United States Veterinarian White is now inspected with a view to determining the boundary. There will be several more federal veterinarians in Norfolk during the coming fall and winter, to take charge of the stock covered by this quarantine. The quarantine on horses, which did extend over the Rosebud reservation and through several counties of northern Nebraska, is being constantly diminished as the disease with which they were afflicted is being rapidly stamped out.
