Well, it was a pretty fair cleaning up just the same.

"The best mayor O'Neill ever had" wasn't quite good enough to outdo Bill Fallon for alderman.

Taxpayers who want to attend council meetings the coming year will do well to secure seats in advance.

The exchange editor of the Graphic will have to square himself with The Frontier and Independent some way.
Last week he gave the Independent credit for The Frontier's thunder and The Frontier for the Independent's.
It is noted, however, that there was nothing of a political nature in either.

Governor Mickey is using the blue pencil on the bills that call for appropriations and bond issues. While The Frontier personally believes that the twine plant would be a good thing in the long run, the tax payers will pretty generally approve of the governor's course in vetoing measures that call for the unnecessary expenditure of funds.

Governor Mickey has signed the biennial election bill, and hereafter elections will occur once in two years, unless the law is declared unconstitutional by the courts. This will do away with an election this fall, the present county officers holding over another year. There is a pretty strong sentiment in favor of the law as election expenses will be materially reduced thereby.

Schuyler Free Lance: The populist party was a party of the people and had a right platform, but the populist party failed most dismally when in power to do anything for the relief of the people along the lines it was supposed to advance. The rank and file of the populist party were alright and sincere, but they failed to put principle only to the front. The party became a combination for the benefit of a few leaders like Allen, Hokanz, Meserve, Edmisten, Porter, Poynter et al., who talked much, but failed to practice the reforms they ever presented. Finally the people turned in disgust from those political hypocrites and the party died a well-merited death. The hope today is in the Ross elevation of the republican party and in such men as LaFollette.

Senator Gilligan expressed the sentiments of his constituents toward the lobbyists pretty well when he said in reference to the lobby behind the fraternal congress bill, in a heated discussion in the senate last Friday:
"The other house has been worked by a lobby of bloodsuckers. The members of that lobby have got in our seats, stood in our road in the aisles and bothered us all winter. Talk about courtesy! That resolution is an insult. The house is trying to make us act. As for the lobby behind this bill if I had my way I would have them kicked down stairs. Are we going to let the lobby run this house? Let us resent this attempt and let us legislate for the people." The senate did "resent" it and the bill went down to defeat.

Passing events points to a change in the system of electing United States senators at no distant date. The chief barrier to proposed measures providing for the election of senators by direct vote has been the senate itself. Every time such a measure has come up in congress it has been killed by the senate, but that body can not long disregard public sentiment when once aroused. It is growing more apparent day by day that the change must eventually be made. In this day of abolition of party lines is a good time to agitate the subject. The Frontier believes the most effectual way to get at the matter is for the political organizations of the several states to adopt platforms demanding such change and then nominate sentorial candidates, or recommend them to the state legislatures, who are pledged to such a platform. In this way men could be sent to the senate pledged to vote for the direct vote system.

Amusement of an Emperor

National Humane Educator: The Emperor of Germany has killed his thousandth stag. His courtiers and gamekeepers have kept count of each one shot down by the emperor, and just recently, in one of his parks near Berlin he shot the helpless animal that made the thousandth stag.

The emperor has numerous parks.
In these parks small birds, big deer, wild boars and other animals are bred and cared for, even petted. They really become domesticated, are not like the wild animals of the forest, but being dependent upon their keepers, become very docile. The fawns play about under the trees, the fowls enjoy themselves roaming about in the grass. Happy, innocent, harmless creatures.

But his Majesty, the emperor of Germany, is out for a holiday, looking for something to amuse him. He enters one of these parks, seats himself comfortable on a camp-stool, surrounded by his attendants, leisurely waits until the keepers of the animals drive the tame, harmless deer, one by one, within easy range of his rifle. Then as the beautiful deer, with big pathetic eyes, goes trustingly toward him the emperor raises his rifle and shoots the unsuspecting animal. More deer are driven by, the birds are brought within close range, and the emperor amuses himself by sending bullets through their living sentient bodies. Helpless creatures! No chance to defend themselves or to escape.

His Royal Highness calls this fun.
He likes to have the innocent creatures driven up before him that he may take their life. What would we think of a butcher who followed his trade for the fun of slaughtering the animals?

The whole thing is pathetic. We don't know whether we feel more sorry for the animals or for the man who can sit there comfortably on a camp-stool and kill the poor beasts.
If a man went into his barn-yard and wring the necks of his chickens just for the pleasure it gave him, we would call that fiendish. But the emperor goes into his park and shoots down his animals and birds, and calls it sport.
Bah! We call it savagery.

As the emperor shot down the helpless stag that made the thousandth, there was a shout of acclamation from his royal attendants and the emperor was flushed with pride. It was such a brave thing to do, so noble, so heroic, so glorious—the killing of a thousand innocent, helpless creatures—that a monument is to mark the spot where thousandth one fell. A huge block of stone, five thousand pounds in weight, is to cover the blood-stained spot, and the monument is to bear this inscription: "Our most gracious Margrave and Lord, the Emperor William II,

The Better Way

The tissues of the throat are inflamed and irritated; you cough, and there is more irritation—more coughing. You take a cough mixture and it eases the irritation—for a while. You take and it cures the cold. That's what is necessary. It soothes the throat because it reduces the irritation; cures the cold because it drives out the inflammation; builds up the weakened tissues because it nourishes them back to their natural strength. That's how Scott's Emulsion deals with a sore throat, a cough, a cold, or bronchitis.

A Fact Confronts a Theory.

Kansas City star: In view of recent developments in Kansas, what becomes of the argument that the railroads need no regulation by the government?

In a recent issue of the Outlook, the president of the Boston and Maine railroad presented an elaborate contention to prove that the lines were reducing fares as fast as possible and that they could be trusted to treat the shipper with perfect fairness. In the current issue of the North American Review the president of the Delaware and Hudson company discourses with vast legal and business learning on "The Danger of Government Rate Making."

Yet all these dissertations become as sounding brass and a tinkling cymbal in the face of the fact that last week the independent refinery at Humboldt, Kan., paid $27.60 for freight charges on a carload of oil which would have cost $78.34 to ship before the maximum freight rate bill became a law.

Healthy Mothers.

Mothers should always keep in good bodily health. They owe it to their children. Yet it is no unusual sight to see a mother, with babe in arms, coughing violently and exhibiting all the symptoms of a consumptive tendency. And why should this dangerous condition exist, dangerous alike to mother and child, when Dr. Bochee's German Syrup would put a stop to it once? No mother should be without this old and tried remedy in the house—for its timely use will promptly cure any lung, throat or bronchial trouble in herself or her children. The worst cough or cold can be speedily cured by German Syrup; so can hoarseness and congestion of the bronchial tubes. It makes expectoration easy, and gives instant relief and re-freshing rest to the cough-racked consumptive. New trial bottles, 25c; large size, 75c. At all druggists.

Colonist Rates West.

Via the Great Northern, daily, March 1st to May 15th, 1905, to all points in Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and California.

ELM AND ASH
Trees are the hardest, longest living trees, and are the best shade trees for the street or park. A fine lot of 10 and 12 foot trees for sale.

ASPARAGUS
A sparagus is so easily grown and such a large quantity is produced on a small amount of ground that every grand 2n should contain y bed. A bed 10 foot square requiring 50 plants will give an abundant supply of any ordinary family. April and May is the best time to plant. We have the largest and best flavored variety.

DELICIOUS STRAWBERRIES
Most everybody likes strawberries and they are the most easily grown of any kind of fruit as well as the most healthful and delicious and they bear a full crop of fruit the next year after planting. From 300 to 500 plants make a good sized bed planted one foot by three foot. We have the biggest self-fertilizing kinds.

SWEET PRUNE PLUM
September 1, 1903, three bushels of plums were picked from one five year old tree in E. D. Hammond's orchard of Sweet Prune plums. The tree commenced to bear two years after planting and is bearing every year. It is the only Prune Plum that has been a success with me and I have tried many kinds. It stood the dry years, 1893 and 1894, and the hard winter of 1899 and bore fruit the following season. It is a grand success for Northeastern Nebraska. It is a dark purple in color, large size, skin can be easily removed and can be pitted like a free stone peach. They are excellent for canning and preserves and are so sweet that they require very little sugar. I sold this plum at $2.50 to $3.00 a bushel the past season when other varieties of sour plums were selling for 75 cents to a $1.00 a bushel. It has taken first premium at the Lincoln State fair, and limbs and branches loaded with plums, shipped to the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo, New York, were shown in the Nebraska fruit exhibit that took one of the gold medals. I also received an honorable mention diploma on this plum from the Pan-American exposition. We believe this plum has more good qualities, and is the best plum in existence for this whole northwestern country. If you plant some of these trees you will be well paid.

We have a choice fine lot of five to six foot trees to seal for the Spring of 1905. These trees were grown from grafts cut off these bearing trees that bore these plums, and they will bear fruit at two or three years old if planted and are sure to be genuine. If you want some of these trees send your order early and get the best plum in existence. Trees five to six feet $1.25 each; $12.00 per dozen. Six trees for $6.00. The only way you can be sure of getting this plum true to name grafted from my bearing trees is to send your order direct to me. Trees delivered free to any railroad town.
