Married at the Presbyterian manse, February 28, Mr. George C. Bruening of Bruening, Thayer county, Neb., and Miss Magretha Reichert of O'Neill. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. W. Bowen.

Mike Horiskey has been promoted from assistant at the Great Northern depot here to agent for the company at Goodwin, down toward Sioux City. He left for Goodwin on the seven o'clock freight last night to take up his new duties.

Miss Tessie Dykeman arrived in O'Neill Thursday last from New York City to care for her mother, who is suffering from fractures received by being knocked over by a horse and buggy two weeks ago.

James and Edward Jones, who were sentenced in district court in January, 1905, to a term of six months each in the state penitentiary for burglarizing a store at Page and whose sentences expired last summer, are now in an Illinois jail for a similar offense.

F. H. Kemper and wife departed Friday last for Creston, Platte county. Before leaving Mr. Kemper ordered The Frontier sent to his address. He had been manager of the Nye & Schneider business here and goes to Creston to take charge of that firm's business there.

L. L. Mandeville was in from northeast of town yesterday to meet a friend, Jacob Hirsch, who came in from Schaller, Ia., with stock, machinery and all the equipments to begin operations on a section of land he has bought in Mr. Mandeville's neighborhood, four miles northeast.

Ray Saberson and Will Lockard went to Page Monday in the former's Rambler auto. The roads, never none too good down that way, Ray says were worse than ever. Considerable snow fell Monday night and they plowed through snow and mud up to the box of the machine. The distance, 13 miles was covered in 40 minutes.

The following have obtained marriage licenses at the county judge's office the past week: George C. Bruening of Bruening, Neb., and Miss Margaret Reichart of O'Neill; Rudolph Kramer and Mary Labil of Stuart; George Pangratz of Plattsmouth, Neb., and Mary Bobl of Stuart; Henry Fleming and Margaret Hannan of Atkinson.

The docket for the March term of district court is now being prepared by the printer. Court convenes on March 12, the jury being called for the 13th. The Irwin and Nicholzak cases are the two most important cases on for trial, though it is possible neither will come to trial at this term of court. Court convened Wednesday to formally adjourn the November term.

Mr. David Moler entertained a few of his old comrades and their wives at his home in the eastern part of town, last Saturday, the 24th, it being the occasion of his sixty-fourth birthday. All present reported a good time and wished Mr. Moler many more happy returns of the day. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Beaver, Saunders, Hershiser, McRoberts, Knapp, Elder Blain of Page, Mr. Thompson and John Moler.

Valentine Republican: Mrs. W. E. Haley is in O'Neill this week enjoying herself with relatives and friends. . . . W. A. Kimbell came up from O'Neill last Friday on a visit at the home of his family in this city. Upon arriving here he found his wife suffering from quite a severe case of tonsillitis, which caused him to remain here several days longer than he had intended, returning Thursday morning.

Lyman Waterman was suffering the first of the week from a painful attack of rheumatism, superinduced from being immersed in the cold waters of Dora lake in Rock county one day last week. He and a party of friends were driving across the country when they came upon the lake. They drove to the head of the lake where the driver deemed it shallow enough to cross, but when about half way over they plunged into a hole and all were drenched.

This item appeared in the Lincoln Journal's specials from Washington last Saturday: "Mrs. Emeline Malone, widow of the late Thomas Malone, who served as a corporal quartermaster and second lieutenant for five years in the civil war, will be pensioned at the rate of $12. The bill was by Congressman Kinkaid." Mrs. Malone is the mother of County Judge C. J. Malone, and resides at Inman.

School items in Valentine Republican: We enjoyed a very pleasant day at the teachers' meeting in O'Neill last Saturday. About 140 teachers were present. Among these were quite a number who have been in the Valentine Junior Normal during the past two or three summers. Misses Frances and Dora Grewe invited us to the Academy where we were shown through the building by the Sister Superior. From all appearances the Academy is doing excellent work. We are sure it is a good safe place to send a young person to school.

The Tuesday club will meet at the home of Mrs. T. V. Golden on March 6, with the following program: Piano selection, Miss Bessie Snyder; life of James Whitcomb Riley, Mrs. Bowen; current comments upon Riley, Mrs. P. D. Mullen; criticism of Riley's works as a whole, Mrs. Snyder; piano selection, Mrs. Wilson; "My Philosophy," Mrs. Adams; "My Ruthers," Miss Mamie Morrow; "Thoughts for the discouraged farmer," Miss Phebe Mullen; "A old played out song," Mrs. Ed Gallagher; roll call with responsive quotations from Riley.

The proposition to vote bonds in the aggregate sum of $17,800 in the three townships of Chambers, Conley and Lake carried by an overwhelming majority at the election held on Tuesday. A total vote of 233 was polled, 213 for and 20 against the proposition. The vote by townships was as follows: Chambers, 119 for, 11 against; Conley, 42 for, 4 against; Lake, 52 for, 5 against. The bonds are to aid in the construction of the Midland Central railroad, which proposes to run from Spalding northwest to Springview in Keya Paha county.

The Norfolk Daily News brings later news to this territory, on the afternoon trains, than any other daily paper received on that train. Its news is condensed so that the happenings of the world may be digested quickly, and the telegraphic dispatches often bring news of world-wide importance a day ahead of Lincoln, Omaha or Sioux City morning papers. Among the valuable features are the market reports, which bring to stockmen the markets of today earlier than any other paper. The news from towns in this territory is also a feature which has found a warm welcome among our people.

W. S. Lamont of Pottsville, Pa., was an O'Neill visitor the fore part of the week. Mr. Lamont came to Nebraska to look up some estate interests. His father died last fall at Niobrara, where he had lived for nearly half a century, and left considerable property to another son, who also lives at Pottsville, Pa., but who was with his father when he died. Mr. Lamont, who says he has large land interests at his home in Pennsylvania, says he found the estate matters quite different than represented to him before he left home. All of the property, comprising some valuable real estate around Niobrara, was willed to his brother. He intimated that legal proceedings would be instituted to set aside the will, but would do nothing in the matter until he returned home and talked the matter over with his brother.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Halloran of Inman were Frontier callers Friday last. Mrs. Halloran is interesting herself in a movement at Inman for the purchase of a church bell and called at The Frontier to arrange for some printing for a quilt she is making to sell and apply the proceeds toward the bell. The quilt will contain the name, state and regiment of thirty old soldiers, to be printed on a strip of cloth and worked into the blocks of the quilt.

Norfolk News: State Veterinarian McKim spent Saturday in Norfolk while on his way home from Valentine, where he was called to examine several suspected cases of glanders. He found six horses there afflicted with the disease and killed them and burned their bodies. Three of the diseased horses were in town, one in the country and two at Fort Niobrara. He declares that slowly the glanders is being stamped out through north Nebraska by strong repressive measures and there is little to be feared from an epidemic of the disease among horses.

Benjamin Powley has begun suit in district court for a divorce from his wife, Anna A. Powley. The couple were married at Woodbine, Ia., August 18, 1880. Extreme cruelty is the ground alleged for divorce. They have eight minor children. A farm of 200 acres in this county, the family home, the plaintiff says he deeded to his wife and left home because he could no longer live with Mrs. Powley by reason of her unreasonable and cruel conduct toward him, for which he prays for an absolute divorce. The defendant files an answer denying the charge of extreme cruelty and asks that the proceedings be dismissed.

Some thirty friends of W. T. Evans, the general proprietor of Hotel Evans, perpetrated a surprise on him Monday evening that about took his breath away until he realized what had happened. We didn't know for a minute whether it was a band of bandits come to hold up the hotel or a party of vigilantes come to capture a runaway horse thief as they came wearing false moustaches, wigs or anything that would serve as a "make up" for an evening of fun. He was not long taking in the situation, however, and invited his unexpected guests into the dining room, where the evening was spent in dancing and having a good time in general.

D. Clem Deaver came in Tuesday from Omaha and yesterday closed up his official duties as receiver of the United States land office here, turning the office over to Sanford Parker this morning. Mr. Deaver says he likes his new work as land agent of the Burlington railroad very much and anticipates that the system now being inaugurated will be productive of much good in the way of getting new settlers to locate in the now unoccupied portions of the state. They will run monthly excursions over the Burlington into the western part of the state where government land is available for homestead filings, the first excursion to leave Omaha next Tuesday and run as far as Thomas county. Mr. Deaver says he will have personal charge of these excursions. There is much government land in the western counties subject to homestead, a section of which will furnish feed for from 25 to 100 cows, and Mr. Deaver says they hope to induce many people further east whose capital is limited to take up this land and go into the milk and cream business. He has drafted a motto for his department which reads: "The cow, the hand separator and the Kinkaid homestead law."

The literary and musical clubs rendered an interesting program at Hotel Evans on Tuesday evening. Mrs. T. V. Golden, president of the woman's club, acted as chairman. The following was the program: Overture, from Taunhauser, Mrs. Wilson and Miss Hagerty; vocal solo, John Sullivan; paper, Mrs. Bowen; violin solo, Will LaViolette; bridal chorus, from Lohengrin, double quartette; solo, Mrs. Stout; paper, "The Creoles," Mrs. E. R. Adams; vocal solo, "The Banolero," C. B. Scott; duet, "Walzer et Fanal," Misses Besie and Mable Snyder; solo, Merle Kline; paper, "Mrs. Browning," Mrs. W. T. Evans; solo, David B. Grosvenor. Luncheon was served at the conclusion of the program.

An exchange relates this fable: A duck who had faithfully stuck to business during the summer and laid several dozen large fawn colored eggs, complained that she was not appreciated. "See that hen over there?" said the duck; "she has not laid so many eggs as I have, nor so big, but she has books written about her and verses composed in her honor, while nobody says a word about me." "The trouble with you is," said a wise Buff Leghorn cock, that was standing near, "that you do not tell the public what you have done. You lay an egg and waddle off without saying a word, while that sister of mine never lays one without letting everybody in the neighborhood know it. If you want to cut any ice in this community you must learn to advertise."

L. E. Skidmore has filed an appeal in the office of the clerk of the district court from the action of the board of supervisors in allowing a claim of $1227 filed by D. J. Cronin as county treasurer. The claim is for "docket fees and costs of sale on tax sales to the county of Holt." That is, the cost in the cases where the county was the buyer at the last tax sale. The claim was allowed by the board on February 17, but Mr. Skidmore, who is a member of the board, takes the position that it is not a legal claim, while the former county treasurer explained to the board that the claim does not involve the payment of a dollar to anyone; that the expenses for which the claim stands have already been paid out of the treasury and that a warrant for the amount should be drawn as a matter of account balancing and to keep the record straight.

James E. Hughes and Gus Uecker were taken to the asylum at Lincoln Wednesday by Sheriff Hall, being sent there by the board of insanity under the inebriate law. This is the second trip for Uecker, he being out on parole when arrested on Tuesday. Some six months ago the board of insanity passed upon his case, ordering him to be sent to the asylum to remain there until cured or not to exceed three years. He was detained at the asylum for three months, when he came home and at once fell into his old habits. Tuesday he was again arrested, along with Hughes. Uecker was charged with violating his parole, and the other ordered to be taken to the asylum and kept there until cured or not to exceed three years. Uecker had been telling some sensational stories about being given liquor by the chief physician at the asylum, which stories are not taken very seriously, but the sheriff said he would investigate the same at the asylum.

Alex Searl was down from Atkinson today on legal business.

Enquire about green ticket No. 668, at Horiskey's grocery. If you owe Golden & Hodgkin, pay before March 15. Suit will be brought at that time on all unpaid accounts.—Golden & Hodgkin. 36-2

D. H. Cronin of the Frontier and Dell Akin of the Atkinson Graphic were Holt county editors that attended the thirty-fourth annual session of the Nebraska Press association at Lincoln Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

A nerve piece of business in horse stealing occurred down in Madison county the first of the week. A fellow stole a team and wagon in the town of Madison and drove them up to the vicinity of Neligh, where he found a public sale in progress, and put them up at auction and sold them. The papers say he immediately bought a ticket at Neligh and came to O'Neill.

The report has become current that W. R. Currie had resigned as private secretary to Congressman Kinkaid. The Frontier is in receipt of a letter from Mr. Currie, dated at Menomie, Mich., in which he says the report is erroneous, that he is simply taking a needed rest from the heavy strain of work to which he has been subject this winter. He says the work has been very exacting and that he has been forced to take a rest, but that he has not resigned. "The judge is a much worked man this session," says Mr. Currie of Congressman Kinkaid. "He is handling the heavy end and I was trying to manage details. He is, undoubtedly, the first congressman out of bed in the morning and among the last to retire every night and is very busy all day 'doing things' for his constituents."
