

HOSPITALS CROWDED

MAJORITY OF PATIENTS WOMEN

Mrs. Pinkham's Advice Saves Many From this Sad and Costly Experience.

It is a sad but certain fact that every year brings an increase in the number of operations performed upon women in our hospitals. More than three-fourths of the patients lying on those snow-white beds are women and girls who are awaiting or recovering from operations made necessary by neglect.

Every one of these patients had plenty of warning in that bearing down feeling, pain at the left or right of the abdomen, nervous exhaustion, pain in the small of the back, pelvic catarrh, dizziness, flatulency, displacements or irregularities. All of these symptoms are indications of an unhealthy condition of the female organs, and if not heeded the trouble may make headway until the penalty has to be paid by a dangerous operation, and a lifetime of impaired usefulness at best, while in many cases the results are fatal.

Miss Luella Adams, of Seattle, Wash., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"About two years ago I was a great sufferer from a severe female trouble, pains and headaches. The doctor prescribed for me and finally told me that I had a tumor and must undergo an operation if I wanted to get well. I felt that this was my death warrant, but I spent hundreds of dollars for medical help, but the tumor kept growing. Fortunately I corresponded with an aunt in the New England States, and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it was said to cure tumors. I did so and immediately began to improve in health, and I was entirely cured, the tumor disappearing entirely, without an operation. I wish every suffering woman would try this great preparation."

Just as surely as Miss Adams was cured of the troubles enumerated in her letter, just so surely will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure other women who suffer from female troubles, inflammation, kidney troubles, nervous excitability or nervous prostration.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all young women who are ill to write her for free advice. She is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Forcing Public Opinion.

From "The Railroads on Trial" in McClure's.

Having sent out an article to an editor, his paper is closely watched by the readers, and when it appears the number in the card-catalogue is checked in red. A glance at a card, therefore, will instantly reveal how much and what sort of railroad article only papers on the country is publishing, how railroad information is running high in one community and low in another—whether a paper is "good" or "bad" from the standpoint of the railroads.

This card-catalogue is well named in the office "The Barometer." It is certainly a good indicator of the atmosphere of railroad opinion in the country as could possibly be devised. It gives the observer, indeed, an impression of hopeless perfection. What chance have feeble, unorganized outsiders to make and register public opinion in the face of such a machine?

Does it get results? Indeed it does. One of the members of the firm told me with pride of the record in Nebraska. In the week ended June 5, last, the newspapers of that state published exactly 212 columns of matter unfavorable to the railroads, and only two columns in favor of them. A week later, after a careful campaign, a week's record showed that the papers of Nebraska had published 202 columns favorable to the railroads and four unfavorable. A pretty good barometric condition!

But the work is by no means confined to the office. If an editor is found to be radically anti-railroad, as frequently happens in the west, an agent goes about among shipping and commercial organizations of the town and stirs up public opinion against the editor. Now, shippers and business men generally are peculiarly subject to railroad influence or domination. A very little thing will put them wrong with the railroad. Consequently, when the railroad asks a favor that costs nothing—like the signing of a petition, or the writing of a letter—why, they are inclined to yield and avoid trouble. More often it is family knowledge that the politicians in many towns are pro-railroad. Usually one or more of the prominent lawyers are retained by the railroads, and there is always the local railroad staff to be counted upon.

All these forces are so cunningly marshaled that the recalcitrant editor is "smoked out" by his own people.

Discouraging the Suitor.

The late Daniel Lamont was celebrated for his tact. As private secretary to President Cleveland and as secretary of war he was able to refuse more people their dearest wishes with less resulting rancor than any man in the administration.

"I learned the lesson early in life," explained Mr. Lamont. "There was a very poor young man in our town who fell head over heels in love with a farmer's daughter. He was deadly serious about it, and as poor as poor could be. The girl knew something of toil and was weary of it, but she was fond of the man; her moods left him alternately elated and depressed.

"I am afraid there is no chance for me," he confided to a friend one day. "In a delicate way she has been discouraging my attentions to her."

"How is she doing it?"

"Oh, very delicately. She told me yesterday that she was a twin, her mother was a twin, and her grandmother was a twin."

The Careful Millionaire.

Lieutenant Bevan of the Drake described at a dinner in New York an English millionaire.

"This man," he said, "never earned a penny in his life. He never lacked a penny. Yet he is as careful of every shilling as though it was his last."

"I once dined with him, and as it was raining when I came to go, I hesitated a little while before the umbrella rack in the hall."

"I hate," I said, "to start out in this rain."

"Then I laid my hand on an umbrella."

"I don't like either," I went on, "to borrow your umbrella."

The millionaire stepped up my handsome malacca walking stick.

"Oh, take it," he said, heartily. "Take it, my dear fellow, and I'll keep this stick as security."

COULD NOT KEEP UP.

Broken Down, Like Many Another Woman, with Exhausting Kidney Troubles.

Mrs. A. Taylor, of Wharton, N. J., says: "I had kidney trouble in its most painful and severe form, and the torture I went through now seems to have been almost unbearable. I had backache, pains in the side and loins, dizzy spells and hot, feverish headaches. There were bearing-down pains, and the kidney secretions passed too frequently, and with a burning sensation. They showed sediment. I became discouraged, weak, languid and depressed, so sick and weak that I could not keep up. As doctors did not cure me, I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and with such success that my troubles were all gone after using eight boxes, and my strength, ambition and general health is fine."

"Yes, sir."

"Well, you have been snatched from the jaws of death, and I have called for a testimonial."

DR. R. V. PIERCE GETS VERDICT.

Jury Vindicates "Favorite Prescription" from Attack of Ladies' Home Journal.

The trial of the first libel suit growing out of the attacks on "patent" medicines has resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff. The first case to come to trial was that of the Dr. Pierce Company against the Ladies' Home Journal, and the jury found the Ladies' Home Journal guilty of libel and fixed $16,000 as the damages it should pay. A motion was immediately made by the Dr. Pierce company to have this verdict set aside and the case retried, the grounds being that the verdict was insufficient. This motion is yet to be argued.

The article on which the suit was based was printed in the Ladies' Home Journal, and was to the effect that the Pierce medicines contained alcohol, digitalis and opium. It was shown that they contain none of these drugs, and Mr. Bok admitted, on the stand, that after the article was printed he had caused analysis to be made by three chemists and none could find a trace of the drugs mentioned.

Occupations for Women.

Juliet Wilbur Tompkins in Success Magazine.

Nearly 5,000,000 women go to work every day in the United States—go to paid work, whether the returns be $2 a week or $10,000 a year. Sixty years ago Harriet Martineau, while visiting America, declared that she found here but seven occupations for women: teaching, needlework, taking boarders, typesetting, employment in cotton mills, bookbinding, and domestic service. Now there are scarcely seven occupations closed to them; they are pouring out into the world of activity, and the 5,000,000 will be six, at the next counting.

Whether or not you or they like the change is wholly unimportant. As someone has suggested, the early collihusp has become a changed into a horse and his neighbors may have greeted his development in the matter of boots and legs with acridly critical comment; but, when once started horseward, nothing could stop him; he had to adjust himself to the outer conditions that demanded one concentration after another. In the same way, the woman who has been used to the quiet life of the home, when she turns her face down town in the early morning.

She will pass an alarmist uttering his dismal note on every corner; his warning is prophetic of lost charm, lost power, and lost position. One declares that presently man will cease altogether to support woman, and then how about home and mother? The answer to that—not new, but worth repeating—is that man never has supported woman. To support means to provide with the larger share of life. Who was doing the larger share of this, the man who raised and sheared the sheep, or the man who carded and spun and wove the wool, and cut and sewed the clothes?—the man who shot the bird, or the woman who plucked and cooked it?—the man who provided the yarn, or the woman who knit the stockings? It is a fairly even matter, this "support," in the days when most of the human needs were worked out under each individual roof.

In humbler homes, where the necessities are bought instead of made and yet there is but one source of money, we often get a picture of a shriveling, careworn father staggering under a weight of struggling, embroidering, spending daughters that make us rejoice in that swelling 5,000,000 at their gainful occupations. How can they do it, these kindly, careless girls; and what will become of them when they have worked their victim to death? Surely some change in a system that allows such uneven burdens need not make us fear a lessening of woman's intrinsic value; she will have gained in every sense when she becomes ashamed to rest her healthy young weight on overworked shoulders. That by going to work, she competes with man and reduces his earnings is a problem for professional economists to struggle with; though it has been suggested that, as a producer, she always has competed with man and reduced his earnings, whether she wove her own clothes or earned them with a typewriter.

As early as 500 B. C. artificial eyes were made by the priests of Rome and Egypt, who practised as physicians and surgeons.

HAD HEART PAINS

A Critical Case of Rheumatism Cured By Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

While Mr. W. S. Geisel, No. 135 East Coates street, Moberly, Mo., was steadily working at his trade in a foundry at that place, he became the victim of an attack of rheumatism, and his experience is that of thousands who are compelled to work in similar surroundings. He describes his situation as follows:

"I had been at work for a long time in a foundry where I was exposed to dampness. First my feet began to hurt and to swell, then my knees and my shoulder joints began to be affected in the same way. Finally I could not walk without great difficulty and suffering and had to stop work altogether. My appetite was feeble and I grew very pale and weak. I began to have pains about my heart and it fluttered a great deal. I became greatly alarmed about my condition. My mother knew about the virtues of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as they had given her back her health when she was nearly wasting to death, and when she found that they were good for rheumatism too, she began to give them to me about a month after I was attacked. That was in the early part of March, 1903, and by June they had driven away the pains and swelling and had restored my appetite and color. Then I felt strong enough to take up a line of outdoor work and now, in October, I regard myself as entirely well and I am about to go into a foundry again at St. Louis."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills also cure other diseases springing from impure blood or disordered nerves, such as sciatica, locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis and all forms of weakness in male or female. They may be had at all druggists or directly from the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

LINCOLN'S CARELESSNESS.

His Hat His Favorite Receptacle for Letters and Papers.

From the Century.

When Lincoln was postmaster of New Salem he used to tuck the letters inside his hat and deliver them whenever he happened to meet the persons to whom they were addressed. As this is a fair example of his business system it may readily be imagined that the office of State and Lincoln was not a model establishment, where there was a place for everything, and everything in its place. And it was not. Indeed, as a managing clerk the junior partner would have been a hopeless failure, and as an attorney, in the technical sense of the term, he would never have distinguished himself. He disliked everything connected with the drudgery of legal routine, hated drawing the declarations and pleas, despised the artificialities and refinements which were even then beginning to creep into the pleading, and disregarded forms whenever it was possible to do so.

There was nothing mechanical, precise or methodical about the man, and in all those housewifely virtues which characterized the careful, orderly, exact solicitor he was utterly deficient. He never knew where his papers were, and apparently the only attempt he ever made to better the disorder was to write on one of his bundles of papers which littered his desk, "When you can't find it anywhere else, look in this." But that was long after the firm of Stuart & Lincoln has dissolved, and even then we find him explaining to a correspondent that he had placed his letter inside an old hat and had thus neglected answering it, which shows he had not wholly outgrown the habit of his postoffice days. Indeed, his hat continued to be his favorite receptacle for papers as long as he lived, and he never acquired any sense of order.

Enthusiasm is contagious in any cause.

GRAND TO LIVE.

And the Last Laugh Is Always the Best.

"Six months ago I would have laughed at the idea that there could be anything better for a table beverage than coffee," writes an Ohio woman—"now I laugh to know there is."

"Since childhood I drank coffee as freely as any other member of the family. The result was a puny, sickly girl, and as I grew into womanhood I did not gain in health, but was afflicted with heart trouble, a weak and disordered stomach, wrecked nerves and a general breaking down, till last winter at the age of 38 I seemed to be on the verge of consumption. My friends greeted me with 'How bad you look! What a terrible color!' and this was not very comforting."

The doctors and patent medicines did me absolutely no good. I was thoroughly discouraged.

"Then I gave up coffee and commenced Postum Food Coffee. At first I didn't like it, but after a few trials and following the directions exactly, it was grand. It was refreshing and satisfying. In a couple of weeks I noticed a great change. I became stronger, my brain grew clearer, I was not troubled with forgetfulness as in coffee times, my power of endurance was more than doubled. The heart trouble and indigestion disappeared and my nerves became steady and strong."

"I began to take an interest in things about me. Housework and home-making became a pleasure. My friends have marveled at the change and when they inquire what brought it about, I answer 'Postum Food Coffee, and nothing else in the world.' Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Studying for the Stage.

Sarah Bernhardt in Success Magazine.

I wrote, some time back, that there is no end to the work of studying for the stage, and it is so. There is much to learn, and many, many books must be read. The student should read first, of course, the dramatists of his own language, then those of other countries. Always he should read with understanding and with the object of learning something. Superficial reading of anything that is not in itself superficial is a waste of time. A dramatic student must study as she reads, must learn the history of every country in order to be able to portray historical characters with accuracy, and must be conversant with the great literature of all lands in order fully to understand the thoughts and feelings of those she impersonates.

The wider the knowledge of the woman, the greater the ability of the actress. If one has an aptitude for one of the arts or sciences, by all means she should study that art or science. To learn as much as possible of everything should be the chief aim of the dramatic scholar, for all arts, all professions, all trades, and all conditions of life have their bearing on the art of acting. There is no limit to the number and variety of the subjects that may be studied with advantage, and one never reaches a point where constant consciousness to be necessary.

Purposely, I have avoided until now mentioning one thing that is extremely important. It is not a thing that can be studied; it is not even something that can be denied. In the dramatic profession, however, it counts, possibly, more than in any other occupation. I have refrained from mentioning it until the last because I desire to impress it on my readers.

I will put it in this way:

The microbe of success is personal magnetism.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss: I, Frank J. Cheney, make oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

The Judge—"Because she once gave my wife cooking lessons. That's the answer."

NO REST NIGHT OR DAY.

With Irritating Skin Humor—Hair Began to Fall Out—Wonderful Result from Cuticura Remedies.

"About the latter part of July my whole body began to itch. I did not take much notice of it at first, but it began to get worse all the time, and then I began to get uneasy and tried all kinds of baths and other remedies that were recommended for skin humors; but I became worse all the time. My hair began to fall out and my scalp itched all the time. Especially at night, just as soon as I would get in bed and get warm, my whole body would begin to itch, and my finger nails would keep it irritated, and it was not long before I could not rest night or day. A friend asked me to try the Cuticura Remedies, and I did, and the first application helped me wonderfully. For about four weeks I would take a hot bath every night and then apply the Cuticura Ointment to my whole body; and I kept getting better, and by the time I used four boxes of Cuticura I was entirely cured, and my hair stopped falling out. D. E. Blankenship, 319 N. Del. St., Indianapolis, Ind. Oct. 27, 1905."

A Trite Saying.

It is a trite saying that no man is stronger than his stomach. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery strengthens the stomach—puts it in shape to make pure, rich blood—helps the liver and kidneys to expel the poisons from the body and thus cures both liver and kidney troubles. If you take this natural blood purifier and tonic, you will assist your system in manufacturing each day a pint of rich, red blood, that is invigorating to the brain and nerves. The weak, nervous, run-down, debilitated condition which so many people suffer from, is usually the effect of poisons in the blood; it is often indicated by pimples or boils appearing on the skin, the face becomes thin and the feelings "blue." Dr. Pierce's "Discovery" cures all blood humors as well as being a tonic that makes one vigorous, strong and forceful. It is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for like purposes that contains neither alcohol nor harmful habit-forming drugs, and the only one, every ingredient of which has the personal endorsement of the leading medical writers of this country. Some of these endorsements are published in a little book of extracts from standard medical works, and will be sent to any address free on receipt of request therefor by letter or postal card, addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. It tells just what Dr. Pierce's medicines are made of.

The "Words of Praise" for the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed, by leaders in all the several schools of medical practice, and recommending them for the cure of the diseases for which the "Golden Medical Discovery" is advised, should have far more weight with the sick and afflicted than any amount of the so-called "testimonials" so conspicuously flaunted before the public by those who are afraid to let the ingredients of which their medicines are composed be known. Bear in mind that the "Golden Medical Discovery" has THE BADGE OF HONESTY on every bottle wrapper, in a full list of its ingredients.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, invigorate the liver and regulate stomach and bowels.

Dr. Pierce's Great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Advice will be sent free, paper-bound, for 21 one-cent stamps or cloth-bound for 31 stamps. Address Dr. Pierce as above.
