Does Your Heart Beat

Yes, 100,000 times each day. Does it send out good blood or bad blood? You know, for good blood is good health; bad blood, bad health. And you know precisely what to take for bad blood—Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Doctors have endorsed it for 60 years.

One frequent cause of bad blood is a sluggish liver. This produces constipation. Poisonous substances are then absorbed into the blood, instead of being removed from the body daily as nature intended. Keep the bowels open with Ayer's Pills, liver pills. All vegetable.

IMPORTANT MILITARY POSTS.

Those At Fts. Robinson and Niobrara To Be Enlarged.

A Washington special to the Lincoln Star says:

Nebraska will get one of the largest military posts that the war department is planning to build, and also the location of a camp for the great summer maneuvers.

It is practically decided that Fort Robinson shall be the place for the enlarged post and Fort Niobrara for the maneuvers. The Nebraska delegation have been laboring hard to secure two of the large posts, one for Robinson and one for Niobrara.

Senators Millard and Burkett called on the secretary of war this morning in an effort to have Fort Niobrara designated as a permanent artillery post and also to see what might be done for the improvement of Fort Robinson. Secretary Taft stated that the necessity of service would require the permanent enlargement of Fort Robinson and that the department had perfected plans to that end provided Congress would afford the required appropriation.

Upon learning these facts it was agreed that Senator Burkett should introduce a bill in the Senate today, appropriating $400,000 to be expended at Fort Robinson for permanent buildings and other necessary works under plans furnished by the war office. Both Senators Burkett and Millard expressed the opinion today that the Senate would sanction the bill.

The secretary of war said further that it was not the intention of the department to abandon Fort Niobrara as a military reservation, but that it would be retained for the regular annual army maneuvers during the summer, where troops from all posts would be assembled.

THE COFFEE PLANT.

A Native of Abyssinia That Was Transported to Arabia.

The origin of coffee is lost in the mists of antiquity, but the plant is believed to be a native of Abyssinia and to have been carried thence into Arabia early in the fifteenth century, whence the Meccan pilgrims soon carried it to all parts of the Mohammedan world. A bureau of commerce and labor publication notes that Burton in his "Anatomy of Melancholy" (1621) makes this reference to it: "Turks have a drink called coffee, so named from a berry black as soot and as bitter, which they sip up hot, because they find by experience that that kind of drink so used helpeth digestion and promoteth alacrity."

Although brought to Venice by a physician in 1591, it was only in 1652 that the first coffeehouse was established in London, and it only became fashionable in Paris in 1693, says the same authority. England gradually forsook coffee for tea, but the progress of the beverage, though slower, was steadier in France.

Until 1696, when the Dutch began to successfully grow coffee trees in Java from the Malabar (India) bean, all coffee came from Arabia. The coffee culture of the West Indies and Central and South America had its beginnings, it is said, in a slip taken from a tree in the botanic gardens at Paris, which had obtained a vigorous growth from a cutting said to have been stolen from the botanic gardens at Amsterdam. All the plantations of the old and new world are practically derived from the specimens taken from Arabia, first to India, thence to Java and elsewhere.

ANTIQUÉ SEVRES.

You Can Always Distinguish the Genuine by Its Gilding.

False Sevres in the bric-a-brac shops is offered as genuine by "reputable dealers" in London and Paris as well as in New York. It is old, it is true, but only as old as the "restoration" in France, although the marks would indicate a much earlier and better period. The counterfeits may usually be detected by the surface of the gilding. In the real it was burnished in lines by means of metal balls with rounded points, which were set in a piece of wood.

The imitations of later date than the real have been burnished in a similar manner, but with an agate. It required considerably more force to obtain a bright surface by the ancient method than by the use of the agate point; hence the burnished lines in the genuine ware are perceptibly sunken, while in the counterfeit ware they are flush with the general surface of the gilding. There are other means of "spotting" the imitations, such as the inexact copying of the marks which have served since 1753 to denote the date of fabrication, and the use of chrome green, which was not discovered until 1802, but the test of the burnished parts of the gilding is the easiest for the ordinary buyer.—New York Herald.

Standing Room Only.

The Lawyer—So your wife has sued you for a divorce, eh? Will she have any standing in court? The Client—I'm afraid so. From the nature of the evidence she threatens to bring in there won't be half enough seats to accommodate the crowd.—Chicago News.
