Girls who are fond of earrings may perhaps be interested in hearing a few facts about them. Sad it is for the emancipated woman of the present day to learn that these fashionable ornaments were originally a mark of slavery. In bygone days the slave always wore his master's earrings. In the east they were a sign of caste and were buried with the dead. Some ancient earrings were very elaborate, and many statues had their ears bored in readiness for votive offerings of earrings. In England the earliest earrings were very cumbersome and made of stone or wood. The eighteenth century saw the glorification of the earring, fashionable beauties outvying each other with the rarest and most beautiful jewels.—London Graphic.

A New Application of Scripture.

There was rejoicing in the village at the killing of a pig. Being dead, it was cut up. A neighbor's cat stole secretly into the larder and annexed a piece of pork, which she brought in triumph to her mistress. Next day the clergyman of the parish visited the old woman, who recounted to him the remarkable sagacity of the beast. "It was quite beautiful, sir," she said plausibly, "to see the way the sweet creature brought me the piece of pork. It brought to my mind what we read in the Bible about Elijah and the ravens."

Not Seeing, Not Believing.

There was a man in Nottinghamshire who discontinued the donation he had regularly made for a time to a missionary society. When asked as to his reasons he replied: "Well, I've traveled a bit in my time. I've been as far as Sleaford, in Lincolnshire, and I never saw a black man, and I don't believe there are any."—London Standard.

The Physical.

The morality of clean blood ought to be one of the first lessons taught us by our pastors and teachers. The physical is the substratum of the spiritual, and this fact ought to give to the food we eat and the air we breathe a transcendent significance.—Tyndale.

Newt Cromwell "the telephone man" left for an extended visit with his brother, in Iowa last week.

Frank Damero returned home from Bristow Saturday night, and George and Abraham Syffe returned Monday.

Nic Klein, who has been at Peter Greeley's for about a year and a half, will leave this neighborhood in a few days, for his home south of town.

George Golder and Jake McKathnie went to Atkinson Monday afternoon, for a load of lumber, with which to build a new house for James Golder.

Isabel McKathnie planned a surprise in the way of a dancing party on her brother Jake, Tuesday night, March 27th, it being his birthday. A pleasant time was had.

Ben McKathnie and wife celebrated their thirty-sixth wedding anniversary a week ago Monday, by entertaining a number of their friends, a very enjoyable day was spent.

The Markets

South Omaha, April 4.—Special market letter from Nye & Buchanan.—Chicago opened Monday with 27,000 cattle, a heavy run, and prices were weaker on all but best fat steers. Our receipts have been moderate and prices have held steady with last weeks close about 10 cents higher than a week ago. We look for little more advance by the close of this week.

We quote—
Choice steers $5 25@5 70
Fair to good 4 75@5 20
Common & warmed up 4 40@4 70
Cows and heifers 3 50@4 50
Canners & cutters 2 00@3 40
Good feeders 4 25@4 65
Common to fair 3 75@4 20
Light stockers 3 25@4 00
Bulls 3 00@4 50
Veal 4 00@2 50

The hog market is about steady with a week ago but a shade higher. Receipts are light. Range $6 20 to $6 35. Sheep and lambs are about steady with a week ago.
