ills to a woman—
woman whose experience with women's diseases covers a great many years. Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, and for many years underherdirection, and since her decease, she has been advising sick women free of charge. Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing them-selves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, It is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish If she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn. Mass., for special advice. When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women, you cannot well say, without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me."

EXTRAVAGANCE OF AMERICANS. In a speech before the St. Paul, Minn., Commerc'al club James J. Hill said: "The nation at large is prosperous. We are cutting a wide swath; there is no doubt of that. If we get down, however, to a closer examination, we will readily see that the nation is living profligately. We are sell-ing out our natural resources—exploiting them as fast as we can, without building up industries and trade relations to take their place when exhausted. Where are the immigrants rushing to our shores to end up? Not on the land. We have no more to offer them. They must crowd into the cities."

Mr. James J. Hill is a competent author-ity to speak upon this subject. Every article which nature has bestowed upon this country with such lavish lands is being wasted. Especially is this true with reference to the forests, which are being reduced at a rate which will leave America, or at least the United States, bankrupt on timber in two decades, while settler congress nor any state legislature.

Germany's Largest Steamship.

From Harper's Weekly. Germany follows close behind Great Britain in the construction of transatlantic liners, and recently there was launched at Stettin the largest steamship ever built in Germany. It is the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria for the Hamburg-American line, and represents the largest developments in that type of vessel designed for large passenger and cargo capacity than for high speed. Thus in dimensions the new German liner is inferior to the new twenty-five knot Cunarder now under construction, but her tonnage (25,500) construction, but her tonnage (25,500) and her displacement (35,500 tons) are somewhat greater.

Inasmuch as the twin screw engines are designed for a sea speed of but 17 knots, it has been found necessary to provide for 17,500 horse power, which is far less than is required for the high speed liners. The Kalserin Augusta Victoria is 699 feet in length, 77 feet beam, and 87 feet deep from boat deck to keel, there being eight decks through which pass automatic hoists and elewhich pass automatic hoists and elevators. The dining saloons will be arranged on the restaurant plan, and meals served a la carte, so that the passage tickets will be sold, if desired, independent of the food. There will also be facilities for exercise and recreation, which should be appreciated by ation, which should be appreciated by ocean travelers. The new steamer will really be a large town, having a population of 1,849, of which 530 will comprise the crew, while there will be 532 first class passengers, 301 second, 218 third, and 268 in the steerage.

A Bad Error.

It was a typographical error that threatened to bring streaks of gray into the ocks of the editor of a newly started weekly which purported to chronicle the doing of the smart set of a western city. In reality, however, it sold out the edition and filled the readers with a desire to see what would develop in the succeed-ing numbers. The subject of the para-graph was a pink luncheon given by a well known matron. When the edition was given to the public it was found that the opening lines of general eulogy were fol-lowed by the bald statement, "The lunch-eon was punk."

If they don't happen to "make good" If they don't happen to "make good" in this preliminary campaign they may try their luck all over again, for their families then go to the fore, giving them the biggest coming-out party their purses can afford. Two fascinating Philadelphia damsels of Cedar street who have been "out" for the last two years—one of them having been reported as being several times engaged—will make their formal entrance into society in a hurst of splendor this into society in a burst of splendor this fall. There are few signs of the coy debutante about them, and society is laughing up its sleeve at the new idea.

A WOMAN DOCTOR

Was Quick to See that Coffee Poison Was Doing the Mischief.

A lady tells of a bad case of coffee polsoning and tells it in a way so simple and straightforward that literary skill could not improve it.

"I had neuralgic headaches for 12 years," she says, "and have suffered untold agony. When I first began to have them I weigned 140 pounds, but they brought me down to 110. I went to many doctors and they gave me only temporary relief. So I suffered on, till oue day in 1904, a woman doctor told me to drink Postum Food Coffee. She said I looked like I was coffee poisoned.

"So I began to drink Postum and I gained 15 pounds in the first few weeks and am still gaining, but not so fast as at first. My headaches began to leave me after I had used Postum about two weeks-long enough I expect to get the coffee poison out of my system.

"Now that a few months have passed since I began to use Postum Food Coffee, I can gladly say that I never know what a neuralgic headache is like any more, and it was nothing but Postum that cured me. Before I used Postum I never went out alone; I would get bewildered and would not know which way to turn. Now I go alone and my head is clear as a bell. My brain and nerves are stronger than they have been for years." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Not Only Do We Get Inspiration From Nature, But Health as Well.

For people who are run-down and nervous, who suffer from indigestion or dyspepsia, headache, billousness, or torpid liver, coated tongue with bitter taste in the morning and poor appetite, it becomes necessary to turn to some tonic or strengthener which will assist Nature and help them to get on their feet and put the body into its proper condition. It is becoming more and more apparent that Nature's most valuable health-giving agents are to be found in forest plants and roots.

Nearly forty years ago, Dr. R.V. Pierce, now consulting physician to the Invalida' Hotel and Surgical Institute; at Buffalo, N. Y., discovered that by scientifically extracting and combining certain medicinal principles from native roots, taken from our American forests, he could produce a medicine which was marvelously duce a medicine which was marvelously efficient in curing cases of blood disorder and liver and stomach trouble as well as and liver and stomach trouble as well as many other chronic, or lingering ailments. This concentrated extract of Nature's vitality he named "Golden Medical Discovery." It purifies the blood by putting the stomach and liver into healthy condition, thereby helping the digestion and assimilation of food which feeds the blood. Thereby it cures weak stomach, indigestion, torpid liver, or biliousness, and kindred derangements.

If you have coated tongue, with bitter or bad taste in the morning, frequent headaches, feel weak, easily tired, stitches or pain in side, back gives out easily and aches, belching of gas, constipation, or irregular bowels, feel flashes o' heat alternating with chilly sensations or kindred symptoms, they point to derangement of your stomach, liver and kidneys, which the "Golden Medical Discovery" will correct more speedily and permanent will correct more speedily and perma-nently than any other known agent. Luxuries of Girlhood.

An interesting picture of a young girl's life in the palaces of the very rich is offered by Emily Harrington in her article,

"Housekeeping on Half-a-Million a Year," in the April Everybody's. She says: "The luxuries to which these children, particularly the young girls, are early accustomed, are, it seems to an outsider, of dubious advantage. The fourteen-year-old daughter of such a home remarked one day, 'I was looking for a brooch that I missed and found nine that I had forgotten all about.' Every one of these brooches was studded with gems. This girl's pri-vate suite of rooms was as luxurious as those already described, although the ap-pointments were appropriate to her age Her sitting room was furnished in white enamel, covered with roses and morning-glories. Her fireplace fender and fire-dogs were of silver, as well as the fire-irons and the stand. When she chose to take a meal in her own apartment she indulged her languor on a brocaded couch, propped up with embroidered pillows, and as her youthful appetite was unimpaired, a servant was detailed to take each course to her as it was served in the dining room. And yet she is still only a schoolgirl, with no part in her mother's ceaseless round of entertainment; her days still innocent of the delightful complexities, personal and social, that are ready to enmesh her as soon as, four years later, she becomes a Spring Hats.

The first shapes that are exhibited are always rather extreme, and this season there is no exception to the rule, but the flat-crowned hat turned up far enough at the side to allow of quite a thick and long ostrich feather being worn beneath its brim, and with a wreath of roses around the crown, does not seem so appalling as it would were it not placed at just the right angle. The material of the hat, black crin, makes it light enough to support the weight of the wreath of greenish roses and the green and white ostrich feather better than if a heavy straw were used.

Rough straw will be used for the hats to be worn with the tailor-made street gowns, and there is an infinite variety of pattern. Colored straws and black will both be fashionable, while all sorts of colors will be combined. In a dark bite fancy straw is a most charming three-corned turban, with a full gathered crown of pale mauve taffeta. At the back are three long ostrich tips so placed as to fall over the crown. Just exactly the right tabelers. crown. Just exactly the right shades of mauve and blue are combined, and the hat is delightfully smart.
