Treating Wrong Disease. Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they all present alike to themselves and their easy-going and indifferent, or over-busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some uterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the surge of suffering encourages this praconly symptoms caused by some uterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages this practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse, by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native medicina: roots and

It is made of native medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system.

Cradle Song for America.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger. The power of the cradle song in the making of a musical race, and the possibility that American husbands will have to be depended upon to bring about a revival of the Baby," was brought up today by Frank Damrosch, as the luncheon of the Mendelssohn Glee club in Delmonico's was reaching the "Home, Sweet Home"

Mr. Damrosch said that the folk songs of Germany, France, Russia and other countries expressed the yearnings of the people, and that they came from the cradle songs of the mothers of men. the cradle songs of the mothers of men.
"We have no folk songs in America," he said. "The nation is young, and the race is just forming. There is, too, an absence of the cradle songs. May it not be that the time has come for the new man, who will find the best in music in such organizations as this,
and transmit it to his home, where it will in time develop into the cradle will in time develop into the cradle

But the luncheon had been so rich with melody, ranging from "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here," to MacDowell's "Crusaders," and the feast had been complete that there were singers at the tables who expressed grave doubts of the policy of starting any cradle song movement at least for several days.

A LAND OF OPPORTUNITIES.

Inducements Held Out by Western Canada Are Powerful.

A recent number of the Winnipeg (Manitoba) Free Press contains an excellent article on the prospects in Western Canada, a portion of which we are pleased to reproduce.

The agents of the Canadian Government, located at different centres in the States, will be pleased to give any further information as to rates, and how to reach these lands.

"Just now there is a keener interest than ever before on the part of the outside world in regard to the claims of the Canadian West as a field of settlement. At no previous time has there been such a rush of immigration, and the amount of information distributed broadcast is unprecedentedly great.

"In the majority of the States of the Union and in Great Britain the opportunities for home-making and the achieving of even a modest competence are at the best limited. Moreover, according to the social and industrial conditions prevalent in those communities, the future holds out no promise of better things. It is not strange, then, that energetic young men should turn their eyes to Canada's great wheat belt, where every man can pursue fortune without the hindrance of any discouraging handicap.

"The inducements held out by Western Canada are powerful and made manifest by the great movement now in progress. That the prospects are considerably more than reasonably certain is borne out by the history of the country and its residents. The promise of gain is powerful, but when added to it there is the prospect of a corresponding social and civil elevation, it should prove irresistible to young men of a particularly desirable class for any new country.

The Canadian West is alive with opportunities for the young man who aims at becoming more than a mere atom in the civil and national fabric. Some of the eager young fellows, who arrive on the prairies daily, are destined to become more than merely prosperous farmers. In the near future great municipal and Provincial development will be in the hands of the people. The stepping stone to both financial prosperity and civil prominence is, and will be, the farm. For every professional opening there are hundreds of agricultural openings. The Canadian prairies are teeming with opportunities for the honest and industrious of all classes, but they are specially inviting to the ambitious young man who seeks a field for the energy and ability which he feels inherent within him. The familiar cry of 'Back to the soil!' is more than a vain sounding phrase when applied to Western Can-

SOME GARDENING SUGGESTIONS.

Feeding the soil is the first and most important requisite, for without rich soil that can be easily pulverized it is impossible to successfully raise plants so tender in their infancy as garden vegetables. In preparing ground for the garden carefully consider the con-dition of the soil and the needs of the plants. Fertility is plant food and the soil must contain nitrogen, potash, phosphate, humus and moisture in liberal quantities to fully supply the needs of the plant. Good barnyard manure, or the plant. Good parhyard manure, worked into the soil, and wood ashes applied as a top dressing, will supply these needs. Not only must the soil supply these food elements, but they must be thoroughly mixed with and incorporated in the soil to become available as plant food. Therefore let the ground be heavily manured and every square inch, for a foot in depth, well pulverized; the surface should be smooth and even and if the soil is very loose and light, roll the ground to make it firm and compact.

Moisture is the chief element in both plant and fruit and is hardest to supply at the time and in the manner needed; deep, rich, pulverized soil retains spring and summer rain and acts as a reservoir for this surplus moisture, until required by the plant in forming new roots, leaves and fruit. Every line rootlet is a constant sucker, severely taxing even the best prepared soil for its sustenage, while in poorly prepared ing even the best prepared soil for its sustenance, while in poorly prepared soil it literally starves to death. It has an animal nature, requiring food and drink as we do. It is almost human in its appreciation of good care. A fruit plant with its roots exposed to the wind and sun will die as soon as a fish out the ground. In setting, trim ends of roots and broken parts, spread roots out in their natural position and press fine, moist dirt firmly about them. With strawberries, have the dirt just even with the crown of the plant, with no with the crown of the plant, with no roots exposed and ro dirt over the top of the plant. Cultivate, hoe or rake around plants immediately after setting and every few days thereafter throughout the season. Take a little more pains with the garden this year than ever before and learn to know what a luxury a good garden planted with a large variety of carefully cultivated vegetables is. Too many farmers do not know this because they have never had one.

Our Triumphant Athletes. From the New York Sun. For the fourth time since the Olympic games were revived in 1896 the strong men of the United States have triumphed over the athletes of the rest of the world. The games ended yesterday in the Stadium at Athens and the team that displayed the shield of this nation for an athletic emblem carried off the greater part of the honors. In 1896 at Athens, in 1900 at Paris, in 1904 at St. Louis and in 1906 at Athens once more the United States has been triumphant. Perhaps it is cause for regret that the United States failed to carry away the trophy for the Marathon run. Anyhow, it fell to a neighbor of ours, as Herring of the Dominion of Canada was the fastest man over the historic course.

From the Pacific Fruit World.
Some owners of forests of valuable woods are trying experiments in the southern part of Mexico with walnut trees. It is not generally known outside the trade that there are many kinds of walnut woods and that only kinds of walnut woods and that only part of them have so far been considered valuable from the commercial point of view. Now the scheme is to make these less valuable or worthless welnuts commercially valuable. And the process is a curious one.

It consists of opening the roots of the trees and inserting one or more nuts, which are quite small, from the best varieties of walnut trees. It is said that these nuts, which are carefully sealed in wax or a stiff, water-proof stopper, impart a new or closer grain and coloring to the tree.

The Southern Indians of Mexico have for centuries been in the habit of securing curious effects in coloring on
