CONGRESSIONAL TICKET

Congressman 8th dist., M. P. Kinkaid, M. C.

Joe Horiskey for supervisor was a wise selection on the part of the republicans of the Third district. He is well qualified for the place and will prove a winner.

Don't you think, Mr. Voter, its time for a change in the county attorney's office? The election of Whelan means a continuation of the Mullen policy, while the election of the republican candidate means a reversal of that policy.

C. D. Keyes, member of the county board from the Fifth district, is the republican candidate for reelection. Mr. Keyes is one of the most valuable members of the board to the taxpayers and will no doubt be reelected by a large majority.

The delinquent tax list for Holt county this year, published in this issue, discloses one thing the "infamous revenue law" has done. Heretofore there has been from twenty to twenty-five columns listed for sale for delinquent taxes. Now there are less than eight columns.

Atkinson Graphic: The resolutions introduced in the populist convention by Geo. Miles, chairman of the committee, resolved against passes and pass givers. Funny, isn't it? When it can be proven that the same Miles distributed more transportation last year than any other man in northwest Nebraska.

Atkinson Graphic: The friends of Edward Whelan in this section are disappointed over the outcome of the convention as they expected a change in conducting the affairs of the county attorney's office no matter which party was successful at the polls, but the active interest taken by Mr. Mullen in his candidacy, before both conventions, is proof positive that there is an understanding between them, and the policy of Mullen in the McGreevy and Hagerty fiasco will be continued if Whelan is elected.

From the way the Independent is writing up the local government ownership club you would think that the voters of all political shades were tumbling over themselves to get into the club. The facts are this is the only "government ownership club" heard of anywhere and was organized not because the promoters had any hopes of accomplishing anything in that line, but as a means of agitation and to work up an excitement to regain a lost following if possible. But the voters refuse to be hoodwinked any longer by the old gang. Instead of the multitudes the Independent would have you believe flocked to their standard, the two meetings so far held have been decidedly frosty. A meeting was billed for last Wednesday night and M. F. Harrington announced to speak. After going around working earnestly and personally urging people to attend, so they might have a respectable crowd to make a showing, a mere handful of boys and men turned out. Harrington spoke for an hour and a half under discouraging conditions. There was no hand clapping nor feet stamping nor "amens" of approval to punctuate his discourse. The local club is propagated in an endeavor to draw the attention of the voters from the real issues, and will not be heard of after election.

HIS DEFEAT IMPERATIVE.

Mr. Whelan protests that The Frontier has taken undue advantage of him in quoting from his speech of acceptance what is taken as an indication that the county attorney's office will be conducted along present lines if he is elected.

He goes further and says he would reverse the present policy, or at least give out that understanding.

Mr. Whelan does not deny that he said what was quoted from his speech; he does not deny that he accepted the nomination on a platform which indorses the present and past administration of the county attorney's office. In addition to what The Frontier quoted last week from his speech, he are since informed, and the information comes from a democratic source, that the words he quoted were not only the very words Mr. Whelan used, but that he also said the present incumbent "has made the best county attorney Holt county ever had."

He now sees his mistake and is trying to rectify it. He is endeavoring to carry water on both shoulders. In his speech in the convention he gave the county attorney, and the element he represents, to understand that he approves the way that office has been conducted; to the very numerous body of voters that disapprove it he claims to be opposed to the way the county attorney's office has been conducted and that his convention speech means nothing. Nevertheless, his convention speech and the platform on which he accepted the nomination stands to contrary.

That Mr. Whelan has been empaed on a serious dilemma is evident from the worryment caused him and the comment heard. He either repudiates the past democratic record in connection with the county attorney's office and the man who nominated him, thus placing himself in a delicate position with the ruling element of his party, or else approves that record and intends to follow a similar policy. That the policy of the present county attorney, especially the past two years, in an official way, has been fraught with grave results to the citizen of Holt county there is scarcely any room for discussion. It is impossible for any good citizen of the county to contemplate a continuation of that policy without dismay. When the most reprehensible crimes can be committed without the criminals ever being brought to trial the office of prosecuting attorney becomes a useless department of government and an imposition on those who have been spoiled of their goods.

A continuation of such a policy compels the repudiation of any candidate favorable to it. It is impossible to place such an example before the youth of the community to emulate without imperiling the finest attributes of manhood.

As stated in the beginning, Mr. Whelan either repudiates the man and the party that nominated him or else stands on the fusion record in Holt county. His defeat because of this, far more than because of himself, is imperatively required.

THROWING DUST.

The local fusion organ spewed a little slime in its last issue with the view to throwing dust in the eyes of the innocent. The fusion gods would like to get the republican papers of the county chasing after them on congressional issues and forget about the local campaign. They know that Kinkaid is just as good as elected and that there is nothing in his official career that calls for defense.

It is writ large in the memory of every tax payer that there has been something "rotten in Denmark" for a long time. The lords of the fusionists would like to have them forget the Elkhorn Valley bank deal, forget their record as tax shirkers and continued refusal to contribute their just share to the support of the government, forget the despoiling of poor people of their lands and tenements, their grafts and bribes and contempt of the laws of the land.

The voters haven't forgot that the last fusion sheriff went out of office a defaulter; they haven't forgot that the county lost over $1100 in the bank failure through the unlawful proceeding of the last fusion county treasurer depositing funds in that institution; they haven't forgot that it was established in court that notes and a bond of that institution were forgeries and that $60,000 of poor people's money was absorbed and the perpetrators of all this were not punished; they have not forgot that the cashier of that institution was not brought back for trial but his signature was obtained for transferring property to the county attorney's father; they haven't forgot that it is costing them over a thousand dollars in addition to the losses sustained in the wreck to turn the president of that institution loose.

The issue in Holt county is not whether Kinkaid eats Battle Creek crackers or Nebraska corn bread. It is whether or not we shall elect a county attorney who will perform the functions of that office in the interests of the people. It is impossible to doubt the verdict of the people of Holt county on the past pretentions.

Keep it before the people—Mr. Whelan's ambition is "to become the peer of our present county attorney."

Sheldon and LaFollette.

Kearney Hub: In his speech Friday night at Fairfield Mr. Sheldon made some battering ram statements. He showed that the railroads under competition are unable to carry Nebraska wheat from Omaha to Chicago, 500 miles, at a proportional rate of 10 3-4 cents a hundred pounds, yet they charge the farmer 15 cents a hundred for the 125 miles from Clay Center to Omaha. He preached the doctrine that the value of the farmers' grain and land depends partly on the cost of transportation to market. He found fault with the railroads for not paying their taxes, and called attention to the twenty-six fold increase in the value of Union Pacific railroad stock in ten years, an increase made possible by high freight rates, a share of which are taxed to Nebraska. The Burlington, another road that cannot afford to pay its taxes, has managed to double the value of its stock in the same time. He advised the Clay county farmers that fair freight rates might have saved them some $38,000 on this year's wheat crop.

On the day of this address General Manager Trenholm of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha railroad was on the witness stand in Minnesota telling how his road had given leaves of absence to employes and paid their expenses and salaries to go into Wisconsin and engage in efforts to defeat Senator, then Governor LaFollette. And LaFollette's offense was doing exactly what Mr. Sheldon is doing today The C. St. P. M. & O. railroad has lines in Nebraska. It is by no means certain that this is the only road that takes interest in governors. Mr. Sheldon has no assurance, if he continues in his present course, that a regiment of pass provided, salaried railroad men will not be in the field working against him as they worked against LaFollette. True, they failed to beat LaFollette, and Nebraska people may be able to see as far through an open door, as did the Wisconsin people. These are matters for Senator Sheldon to consider. It is suspected he would rather lose in this cause than win in the other. Any way, he has been "warned."

Congressional Comment.

Shelton Clipper: The Sixth district was never more ably represented than it has been since Judge Kinkaid has been in congress.

St. Paul Republican: Judge Kinkaid was nominated for a third congressional term without opposition. His election will follow with as little difficulty.

Ord Quiz: There is no stronger proof that Kinkaid has served the people well and that they are satisfied with his official acts than this act on the part of the congressional convention.

Sutherland Free Lance: The people of this congressional district owe it to themselves to re-elect Congressman Kinkaid this fall—and the present indications point to an overwhelming majority for him.

Rushville Recorder: Congressman Kinkaid arrived from the east Wednesday morning to shake hands with the voters and take in the fair. Every one believes that Congressman Kinkaid will be returned by a bigger majority than ever.

Lincoln Star: Congressman Kinkaid has received almost international fame because of the homestead bill which he pushed through Congress. This bill was an amendment to the regular homestead bill and it permits the filing on 640 acres of land in Nebraska. The first opening occurred two years ago and thousands of people filed on claims.

Alliance Times: It is apparent thus early in the political game that opposition to the return of Hon. M. P. Kinkaid to congress is melting away to nothingness. The Judge has been an indefatigable worker, has accomplished more during the same time than any other Nebraska congressman. He has shown that he has the interests of western Nebraska at heart and is ever ready to push for the advancement of this section of the state.

Verdigre Citizen: Judge Kinkaid, the famous Congressman who was the author of what is known as the Kinkaid bill, was at the depot for a short time Monday shaking hands with new and old acquaintances. The Judge is a genial, whole souled fellow and there isn't a man on earth that can beat him for congress in the big Sixth district.

Some people are saying that M. P. Kinkaid will lose the big stockmen vote on account of the 640-acre homestead law. But while he is losing one vote of the big ranchmen he will gain ten from the men he has helped to get a home. The 640-acre homestead law has not helped the ranchmen to gobble up the range as they expected it would, but it has helped to make hundreds of homes for poor people.

Contest Notes.

Our contestants are now fully equipped and are looking for votes. Be ready to assist them when they call on you.

Every person paying money on subscription to The Frontier during the contest will receive The Nebraska Farmer free. You will also receive a voting card which you may use to assist one of the young ladies to win a valuable prize. Get in early and give your choice a boost from the first—then it will be easy sailing.

Next week we will publish the votes each contestant has to her credit. Do all the hustling you can between now and that time and come with a good showing from the first. Get your friends interested and they can assist you wonderfully.

Contestants should use plenty of sample copies of both The Frontier and The Farmer, as people like to see what they are buying. Our proposition is a good one and subscriptions should roll in during the contest. No use to put it off as this is the accepted time.

Following is the list of names of the young ladies who have entered the contest.

Ella Gaffney, Emmet.
Pearl Robinson, Atkinson.
Ethel Flemming, Atkinson.
Irene Cain, Mary Hunt, Lila Jones, Ruth Harnish, Bessie Dillon, Margaret Sullivan, and Hazel Harrington of O'Neill.

THE W. C. T. U. CORNER

"For God and Home and Native Land"

MRS. EMMA KELLEY, SUPT.

Rev. Anna Shaw will be one of the noted speakers to address the Nebraska Women's Suffrage convention at Lincoln this week.

Each school teacher in Holt county should use every means within his or her power to instruct their pupils as to the evil effects of tobacco and alcohol upon the human system. A mighty influence for good rests within your keeping and if, wisely used, will have a telling effect upon the future citizens of the county.

The Governor General of Canada has just issued a proclamation regarding the transcontinental railroad line through Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec, a belted territory forty miles wide, twenty miles on each side of the railroad is marked out as prohibition ground; and the establishment of any saloons inside those bounds is strictly prohibited.

A centrally located and comfortably furnished rest room for the convenience of ladies from the country, who come to town to trade with our merchants, is one of the needed improvements in O'Neill. Many of the ladies are compelled to wait for hours while their husbands complete the transaction of their business. Much of the weariness of this waiting would be dispensed with were a comfortable rest room provided.

It is not uncommon to hear the remark among business men, that if the saloons were closed, trade would be driven away from the town and that their business would suffer. That such an opinion is erroneous has been clearly demonstrated in Kansas City during the last few months. Six months ago some two hundred saloons were in full operation. Two months ago the prohibition laws were put into effect and the saloons were closed. Letters from prominent business men there announce that they can see no falling off in their trade but that business is as brisk as usual for the time of the year. The law enforcement has, however greatly reduced the amount of crime and a large class of gamblers and crooks that were wont to frequent the saloons have left the city.

The state convention of Women's Christian Temperance Union assembled at Aurora during last week resulted in the re-election of the old officers, with the exception of president and vice-president, Mrs. Dora V. Wheeler, president during the last four years, retires this year, her family having removed to Colorado. Former vice-president, Mrs. Frances A. Beveridge of Fremont taking her place and Mrs. S. K. Daily of University Place being elected vice-president. The state W. C. T. U. heartily endorsed and pledged assistance to the Juvenile court. It commended the public school saving bank system, praised the state fair officials for their efforts to eliminate all gambling devices and questionable amusements from the fair grounds and recognized the great value of the press as an educational medium.
