BLOODHOUNDS AFTER SLAYERS

Whole Family May Die From Chloroform Administered by Robbers.

IS ALREADY DEAD

Sheriff and Posse With Dogs Are in Pursuit of Men Who Entered the Farm House of H. M. Collins.

Parker, S. D., Oct. 3.-Mrs. Harry M. Collins is dead, her husband is in a precarious condition and their two little children, aged 3 and 5 years, are unconscious as the result of the administration of chloroform some time during the night or early this morning by robbers, who effected entrance to their farm home near this city by tearing the screen from a window.

Bloodhounds are on the trail of the murderous thieves and Sheriff Munday and posse are in full pursuit.

The Collins home is situated three miles south of Parker, where the family, a prominent one in this (Turner) county, has resided for a number of years and where the head of the household has acquired considerable prop-erty, being classed as one of the wealthiest farmers of the community. The family occupied sleeping apartments on the lower floor of the house, a young brother of Mr. Collins, Earle, aged 7 or 8 years, sleeping upstairs.

Makes Startling Discovery. About 1:30 this morning Earle heard noises downstairs, but they were not sufficient to effectually rouse him and he went back to sleep again, not awakening again until after daylight this morning. Dressing and going downstairs he saw the motionless forms of his brother and the latter's wife in bed and the two little children in the rame condition in a nearby cot.

Then came to his mind the commotion of a few hours before and noticing a broken window surmised that robbers had entered the home and murdered the family, as all four were seemingly sleeping the sleep of

The boy rushed out to the stable with the intention of saddling a horse and riding to town to give the alarm, but the saddle horse was gone. He then thought of the telephone and returning to the house tried to call up the city, but the phone refusing to work it was then discovered that the wires

Not Yet Dead.

Not knowing what to do the lad stumbled to the bedside of his brother and in bending over the prostrate form discovered that there was still life and he succeeded in rousing him to a semiconscious state, but the man soon apsed into unconsciousness again, being unable to recount any of the experiences of the night before.

Leaving his brother, whom he thought to be dying, and his brother's wife and children, whom he supposed thought to be dying, and his brother's wife and children, whom he supposed already dead, the lad Earle hurriedly mounted one of the farm work horses and rode on a run the three miles to the town, where he secured a physician and gave the alarm to the authorities. Returning to the farm home with the boy, the physician found that Mrs. Collins did not need his services, for she was cold in death, the chloroform having been administered in such quantities as to have caused her death very soon after the inhalation of the drug.

Doesn't Know of Wife's Death.

Doesn't Know of Wife's Death. Mr. Collins was still unconscious, but the physician succeeded in rousing him again from his stupor, but he could tell nothing of the occurrences of the previous night, and despite all efforts soon went to so pagain, the physician not telling him of the death of his wife, of which he is still in ignorance. The children were next attended to, and, while they are very ill, it is thought that they will recover, though grave fears are entertained as to the recovery of Mr. Collins.

Sheriff Mundy, who soon arrived, found that the robbery had evidently been committed by persons familiar with the house, as the whole house was ransacked and $200 which Mr. Collins had drawn from a local bank on Saturday, and which he had in his trousers pocket, was taken, besides his watch pocket, was taken, besides his watch and Mrs. Collins' wedding ring, and an-other which was taken from the dead woman's fingers.

Rob Children, Too.

The children's bank was broken open and the pennies they had hoarded were taken and several articles of silverware were also stolen. While searching the premises for footprints or some clue as to the robbers, the saddle horse returned, saddled and bridled, the horse coming from a southerly direction.

A posse was soon formed and, with Sheriff Mundy at the head and with sheriff Mundy at the flead and with several bloodhounds in leash, took up the trail of the horse, and men are now scouring the country in pursuit of the perpetrators of the most heinous crime ever committed in the county. It is thought that the robbers rode to some thought that the robbers rode to some station south of here on the Milwaukee and St. Paul road and caught a train for Sloux City or Chicago, and the police in those and other cities have been apprised of the crime and will keep a lookout for suspicious characters.

Had Sold His Farm. Harry Collins has made money in urner county and his property was Turner county and his property was valued at a good figure. A few days ago he received an offer for his home which he believed to be a good one and decided to sell and go to the new country west of the river and take up cheaper land. The sale was consummated and the money was deposited in one of the local banks. Saturday he visited the bank and drew out $200. Saturday is always a busy day at Parker and it is now remembered that a number of men were standing around the bank at the time of Mr. Collins' visit to the institution. He was of visit to the institution. He was of course seen to draw out some money and it was generally known that he had sold his property and was about to move it is believed that some of the bystanders thought he had drawn out all the money he had on deposit there, which amounted to several thousand dollars, and that it was then that the poblery was planned which culminated Excitement runs high in Parker and has r the neighboring towns of Centerville the U and Hurley on the south and Canistota ford. and Hurley on the south and Canistota on the north, and search for the perpetrators of the deed is on in the country in all directions from here, and should the guilty parties be apprehended it will probably go hard with them, as there is some talk of lynching. The Collins family stands high in the community and the spirit of revenge on the part of his neighbors is strong.

HIGH MEAT PRICES

Operation of New Inspection Luw Has Excluded Many Dealers.

SLOW TO "CLEAN

New Yorkers Thought the Matter Was Not Worth Attention Until They Bumped Up Against the Facts.

Washington, D. C., Oct, 4.—At least seventy-five meat dealers and packers throughout the United states are without the pale of the new meat inspection law, which became effective yesterday, according to a statement by Secretary Wilson. Twenty-five of these already have had inspections, but it was found that their plants were not in shape to permit them to engage in interstate business, Chicago, Oct. 4.—Thirty thousand pounds of decomposed poultry was condemned and seized at two cold storage warehouses in this city by the city health department today. Analysis of the chickens by a chemist showed they were putrified and were wholly unfit for food.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 4 .- On the taking effect of the new meat inspection law, Secretary Wilson reports for the department of agriculture that there have been appointed 1,000 new inspectors since July 1, and that there will yet be necessity for appointing probably from 200 to 300 more. There were already in the service, under the old law, 783 inspectors. Concerning the status of the inspection business, and the outlook for the inauguration of the new conditions, Secretary Wilson made ithis statement:

"The new law requires us to inspect all meats on hand. We have twelve laboratories at work on this now, at the large packing centers or in other large cities. In these laboratories thireselve the control of the large cities. In these laboratories thireselve the control of the large cities. In these laboratories thireselve the control of the large cities. large cities. In these laboratories thirty chemists are at work, and we estimate each chemist can handle fifteen amples a day. We expect in a week to have examined samples of all the meats on hand and to have given a verdict on it as either passed or resected.

Forty Are Outside of Pale.

"About forty establishments that had inspection under the old law have been refused it under the new. They are not yet ready for it by reason of failure to comply with the terms of the law. Some of them will have done the necessary cleaning and improving in a very short time, and then will be grant-very short time, and then will be grantid inspection—not sooner.

"We have granted 260 exemptions to local butchers through this office, and assume that a large number in addition have been granted by our superintendents at different important points.
On these we have not had full reports as yet. Inspection has been granted to about 400 establishments and, as I said, house at Midvale, selzed the 2-week-old baby of Mrs. Michael Koch and ran away with it. When she overtook Temerer she paid him $25, and promised the other tomorrow if he gave the child back, and he then let her take it.

Denver, Colo.—Capt. Wooley answered a telephone call at the police station. From the other end of the line came a succession of shrieks of "Save me!" The captain learned the number, hustled to that address and found Robert Neill, a plumber, had quarrelled with his wife, and that while she was attempting to telephone he had attacked her.

"Bound of Mrs. Michael Koch and ran away denied thus far to about forty, or 10 per cent. of thus."

The secretary said the situation had greatly improved in the last few days at the large cities, especially Boston and New York, where a short time ago conditions were not at all satisfactory because of the failure of the local dealers to comply with the law. At Boston, where a unique system of sup-lying meat has existed, the dealers have, on being shown the dangers of their situation, promptly taken steps to get within the law. They have all written to their country butchers to apply for cerificates of exemption. for cerificates of exemption

New York Men Slow. "Only last Friday evening we re-ceived a delegation of New York meat men, who explained that they hadn't realized the situation, and were not prepared to meet the requirements of the law. We told them to go home and go pared to meet the requirements of the law. We told them to go home and get their establishments in order right away. When the railroads refuse to accept their meats for interstate trans-portation we will let them have exemptions till they can be investigated and we can learn what ones are doing a business which requires inspection. Then they will get it when they have complied with the law, and not other-

There is no danger of a meat famine in any part of the country. We have in this department no means to prevent In this department no means to prevent a rise in prices if the meat men are able to combine and enforce it; that would be for the department of justice to consider. There is nothing in the conditions attending the inauguration of the new law to justify a rise in prices and I don't think the big packers could enforce it if they tried, because there is too much competition. When you is too much competition. When you count the local killing establishments all over the country, at every city and town, and the farm slaughtering, you will realize that in the aggregate there is lots of competition. We are doing everything possible to help these small slaughterers to comply with the law, because there must be protection for the public against a possible combination of the big ones to force up prices."
