The Frontier has the largest circulation of any newspaper published in Holt county and all notices for liquor licenses or druggists permits, to be legal should be published in its columns.

Floyd Kelley, who has been in the Atkinson National bank for several months past, has taken W. P. Daily's place in the First National bank here, Mr. Daily going to Emmet to take charge of the new bank there.

The sidewalk on Douglas street in the vicinity of the opera house is a disgrace to the community. A place that is expected to be patronized by the public should at least be approached by sidewalks fit to travel on.

More than 70,000 acres of land in Nebraska will be opened up to settlement on May 1. The land is divided among the counties as follows: Lincoln, 200 acres; Keith, 31,720 acres; Deuel, 27,640 acres; Cheyenne, 6,960 acres.

Last week George Graham purchased the old Austin farm eight miles northwest of O'Neill from Mr. Kidd, paying $3500 therefor. This is one of the best farms in that neighborhood and he certainly got a bargain.

A resident of the Third ward is better equipped for trousers than the average man. Eleven pairs of pants were hung out for an airing the other day, which indicates that the owner of them has a change of trousers every day and five times on Sunday.

Several O'Neillites have listened to the call of spring and have been gardening the past week. Now if the city authorities will enforce the ordinance prohibiting stock from running at large they will earn the plaudits of the afore mentioned gardeners

The regular meeting of the Appolo club will be held next Tuesday evening, April 16, at the home of Mrs. S. J. Weekes. The program will be from the composer Liszt. All members of the Tuesday club with their husbands are especially invited.

John Long of Creston, Iowa, was in O'Neill last week and purchased the Frank Leahy saloon of which he will take possession the beginning of the new municipal year, May 7. Mr. Leahy expects to leave shortly thereafter for Vivian, S. D., near which place he purchased a farm last summer.

Discussing the claim of "divine commission" in the Thaw case, an O'Neill man thinks if some long-haired apostle of fanaticism would arise claiming he was "divinely commissioned" to kill all the newspaper men in Holt county he should have a large following. Perhaps so. But he would need to be supported by a regiment of artillery.

The school board held a meeting last Monday night and elected the following teachers for the ensuing year. J. G. Mote, superintendent; Mary Horiskey, Margaret Grady, Anna Donohoe, Mrs. O'Neill, Miss Jessie Moore and Miss Abbott, of Pilger. The position of principal is still vacant, the board having elected no one to that position. All the above are members of the present teaching staff except Mrs. O'Neill and Miss Abbott.

Peter McMonigle had a very successful sale at his place last Monday. We understand Peter expects to leave in a short time for Ireland and if he can purchase the old farm once owned by his father and upon which he first saw the light of day he may remain a resident of that isle, unless the bewitching face of some Holt county girl should lure him back to his old haunts.

A Hiawatha clergyman preached a rather exhaustive sermon from the text, "Thou art weighed in the balance and found wanting." After the congregation had listened about an hour some began to get weary and went out; others followed, greatly to the annoyance of the minister. Soon another person started, whereupon the preacher stopped his sermon and said: "That's right, gentleman; as fast as you're weighed pass out."

Gregory, S. D., Times: William Nollkamper, Jr., and W. H. Nollkamper, sons of Wm. Nollkamper of Turner, Nebraska, were in Gregory last Sunday looking over the mill site. They expect to begin the tearing down and removal of their mill to this place about April 10th. They will have the machinery thoroughly overhauled and will add another stand to the mill making its capacity 100 barrels per 24 hours run. The mill at Turner is just 6 years old.

Fred Bazelman has been cleared of the charge of setting the fire that burned several buildings at Bristow some weeks ago. The preliminary hearing was had at Lynch Monday, a change of venue having been taken there from Bristow. Sufficient evidence was lacking to hold Mr. Bazelman for trial and the case was dismissed. The Frontier understands a damage suit will be instituted against the town board of Bristow by Mr. Bazelman for causing his arrest.

The industrious farmer is now behind the plow, the town people feeling the effects of the busy season on the farm. Seeding is going forward rapidly. Indications are that there will be good crops this season. Farmers in this community are putting forth efforts to increase the yield by fertilizing the ground more freely. O'Neill implement dealers have put out a great many manure spreaders this season. These machines scatter the manure evenly over the ground and are said to be a great thing on the farm.

S. J. Weekes, who in company with Dr. Gilligan recently visited Seattle and other points on the northwest Pacific coast, met several former O'Neill people, among whom were A. B. Newell, J. J. King, Charley Hamilton, Gus Handlon, Mrs. Mary Walker and others. Mr. Newell is engaged in the real estate business in Seattle, Mr. King lives in Leavenworth and represented his district in the legislature this winter, Mr. Handlon is a railroad foreman in Portland, Mr. Hamilton is in the hotel business, and Mrs. Walker is a stenographer in the office of a railroad superintendent in Seattle.

They are all prospering and like the country. Mr. Weekes says there is a great inflow of people into the country from the east, but that the immense resources of the three states of Idaho, Washington and Oregon have scarcely been touched as yet. He expects to go there himself as soon as he can shape his affairs to that end to stay a year or perhaps longer.

As a general proposition, political post mortem is neither profitable nor interesting, but a second thought is sometimes warranted. Our esteemed contemporary would evidently like to inject the same bitter personal feeling into the city election that characterizes all its political discussion. It intimates that there was something irregular in the city clerkacting as he did in reference to Dr. Flynn's petition. The duties of the city clerk and all other officers are prescribed by statute. The city official takes oath and gives bond to obey that statute. But when the provisions of the statute are observed the Independent would impute irregularities to the official. It was neither here nor there with the clerk whether Dr. Flynn's name went on the ballot or not and he made not the least effort to "fight the case in court." The Independent intimates that the clerk was in league with one candidate for mayor to keep Dr. Flynn in the race; on the other side it was charged that the clerk was in league with the other candidate for mayor to keep Flynn's name off the ballots. However, the clerk has lost no sleep over being made a victim of such circumstances and his conscience rests easy in having performed his duty as he saw it.

Educational Notes.

The Norfolk Teachers association was a success throughout there being between four and five hundred in attendance.

The program was carried out in full at the general sessions with the exception of two addresses by the state superintendent, who on account of important work at home sent Deputy Bishop to take his place.

Earl Stillson, Charley Donley, Joe Roche and Ed. Tomsick of Atkinson; Prof. Mote, Misses Hancock, Dwyer, Horiskey, Grady, Fields, Brennan, Woodruff, Elberta and Vira Spindler of O'Neill. Messrs. McGee of Page and Bennett of Amelia and Margaret Barret of Stafford. Florence E. Zink, Co. Supt.

Fair Society Officers.

The members of the Holt county fair association held their annual meeting last Friday night and elected the following officers for the ensuing year:

P. J. McManus, president; David Stannard, vice-president; M. H. McCarthy, secretary; James F. O'Donnell, treasurer. Board of managers: Ed F. Gallagher, John Carr, John Brady, O. F. Biglin and William Grover.

The officials are making arrangements to pull off one of the best and most successful fairs and race meetings ever held in this portion of Nebraska, the coming fall, and weather permitting, with the energetic officials at the head of it they should be successful.

GILLIGAN & STOUT
The Druggists

It is always a sign of a productive season in Nebraska when March weather is delayed until April. Wind and absence of rain in April has never yet failed of being followed with plenty of moisture during the growing period.

It is unsafe to go out without your bonnet anchored down today. A pedestrian was working his way up the street when his hat was lifted by a forty-mile-an-hour gale and went whirling down the street like the drive-wheel of an engine.

The national forestry service has made public its estimate of the annual production of lumber in this country at 100,000,000 cords, valued at $1,020,000,000. The state of Washington ranks first, with an output of 4,000,000,000 feet, and next in order come Wisconsin, Louisiana, Minnesota, Michigan, Arkansas, Pennsylvania, Mississippi, Oregon, North Carolina, California, Texas, Alabama, Maine, Virginia, Georgia, West Virginia, Florida, New York, Tennessee, South Carolina, Kentucky, Missouri, Indiana, New Hampshire, Ohio, Vermont, Massachusetts, Idaho, Montana, Maryland, Iowa, Illinois.

A case has recently been reported from Ware, Mass., in which Octave Girard, who is now 72 years of age, has accumulated $10,000 in twenty-seven years on wages not exceeding $1 a day. He has no trade and not sufficient education to be able to read or write. He and his wife have raised thirteen children, of whom ten are now living. He says they have always been well clothed and had plenty to eat. He generously accords a large share of his prosperity to his wife, who, he says, provided their clothing by purchasing raw wool, washing, carding, spinning and weaving it into substantial cloth. He and his wife both came from Canada, and he says that his incentive to save money came from the way the old folks were treated in that country, where they often prove a burden to their children. The rules he lays down for accumulating money are: steady work at low wages, rather than intermittent work at large wages; do not increase your expenses as your wages increase; marry young, and don't marry a doll-faced woman; let liquor alone; own your own home.

Side Jabs.

We believe that some man descended from the ape—but there are others who don't seem to have come down at all.

Life is a joke. We all know because we have felt the points.

The devil never takes a vacation, complains an exchange. How in h—l can he?
