

A Square Deal

Is assured you when you buy Dr. Pierce's family medicines—for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and their formulas are attested under oath as being complete and correct. You know just what you are paying for and that the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native medicinal roots found growing in our American forests and while potent to cure are perfectly harmless even to the most delicate woman and child. Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition. A much better agent is used both for extracting and preserving the medicinal principles used in them, viz., pure refined glycerine. This agent possesses intrinsic medicinal properties of its own, being a most valuable antiseptic and nutrient, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Glycerine plays an important part in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, heart-burn, foul breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels. Besides curing all the above distressing ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a specific for all diseases of the mucous membranes, as catarrh, whether of the nasal passages or of the stomach, bowels or pelvic organs. Even in its most advanced stages it will yield to this sovereign remedy if it is used perseveringly. In Chronic Catarrh of the Nasal passages, it is well, while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchial, throat and lung affections, except consumption in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, hang-on coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the bronchial mucous membranes. The "Discovery" is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be expected to cure consumption in its advanced stages—no medicine will do that—but for all the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected, or badly treated, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be taken.

A Neat Rebuke.

"The late Julia Magruder, as her brilliant books show, detested the married life," said a Washington woman. I once heard her, at the seashore, rebuke a married man rather neatly.

"The woman, young and pretty, was always surrounded by a throng of admirers—football and golf and tennis champions from the leading colleges—very young, but very handsome, very charming lads.

"Late one night, on Miss Magruder's return from a dinner, she found the young woman and a young man seated in the hall of the hotel alone.

"It was very late. Every one else had gone to bed. The young woman was embarrassed. But she looked up and laughed nervously, and then, for something to say, she extended her handkerchief and murmured:

"See, I have a knot in my handkerchief, and I can't remember what it was put there for."

"Perhaps," said Miss Magruder smiling gravely, "perhaps it was put there to remind you that you are married."

Fall Millinery.

The charming Mushroom shape has become the recognized hat for Fall wear and there is no end of its popularity in the city. It comes in a great variety of crowns and brims, of which the high sloping back starts in as a favorite. Covered with silk and edged with velvet it becomes proper background for mounting the wonderfully striking trimmings of fancy feathers or ostrich plumes.

The late fashion books all contain articles about this. Dealers in even small towns will be able to supply such trade with this up-to-date millinery if they buy their stock from an aggressive Jobbing and Manufacturing concern. Throughout the Northwest the firm of Blumenfeld, Locher & Brown Co., of Milwaukee, is recognized as the foremost and the hats produced by them are of latest pattern, real milliner made and of that stylish appearance so much sought after. But the prices that the hats can be sold for are always within reach of the general public. Ask your saleslady to show you a Trimmed Hat with a B. L. B. Monogram Label.

The Election of Our Local Magnate Candidate—Yus, as I've already told you, gentlemen, you see before you a self-made man.

Voice (from the back)—Better ha' put the job out, mister!

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, curing directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by Druggists. Price, 75c per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Merchants Visit Milwaukee.

Come to the city of beautiful parks, clean streets, fine buildings, huge factories, immense jobbing houses and hospitable people. Spend your time during the Annual Fall Buying Season where you can bring your families and combine business with pleasure.

The recent laws in Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Minnesota, Nebraska, Missouri, and neighboring states, by which passenger fares are reduced to two cents a mile, are of great advantage to merchants in this territory who wish to come to Milwaukee. After August 15, 1907, merchants may buy a regular ticket to Milwaukee at a rate of two cents a mile (the lowest rate now given for any occasion) and will not be required to secure certificates or be restricted to certain dates. This offers decided advantages to Milwaukee patrons. While in Milwaukee call for information at the Milwaukee Association of Jobbers and Manufacturers, 45-49 University Bldg.

A Compromise.

In a jury trial in a small town not many miles from civilization the rural gentlemen into whose hands the fate of the plaintiff was placed were so stubbornly divided that they were some twenty odd hours in reaching a verdict. As they left the court, after returning their verdict, one of them was asked by a friend what the trouble was.

"Well," he said, "six of 'em wanted to give the plaintiff $1,000, and six of 'em wanted to give him $3,000, so we split the difference and gave him $500."

At a dinner of the Beach club at Palm beach, Oakleigh Thorne, New York's noted raconteur, told a story about a theatrical manager.

"The day after the production of a new melodrama," said Mr. Thorne, "this manager wrote to his leading man as follows:

"Dear Sir: Your performance last night was so bad that fourteen deadheads have written to us demanding that their names be stricken from the free list."

No Shoo Talk. A Washington educator, in telling a story about a young medical friend of his who is interested in insanity symptoms and is a sort of amateur alienist. The other day the student got a chance to visit one of the wards in the asylum for the insane, and having heard that there was a man confined there who labored under the hallucination that he was God the student asked that he be allowed to see this patient first, as he appeared the most promising for investigation. He was taken to the ward where the lunatic was confined and the following conversation ensued:

Student—Are you the deity?

Lunatic—From oversteering into everlasting I am he.

Student—Well, I've been looking for you for a long time. I have a question to ask you. How do you reconcile the doctrines of predestination with free will?

The lunatic drew himself up to his full height and giving the medico a scornful glance replied: "My dear sir, I never talk shop."

BLACK LOCUST GROVES.

The question of future supply of fence posts is one which concerns every western farmer. We already see the prospect of a severe shortage of fence posts in the near future. Of course much timber can be used for posts which is not suitable to be worked up any other way, but at the present annual rate of consumption it will be only a few years before the post timber is sure to go the same way. Of course much timber can be used for posts which is not suitable to be worked up any other way, but at the present annual rate of consumption it will be only a few years before the post timber is sure to go the same way.

On most farms there are corners, or perhaps patches of several acres, growing nothing but weeds. These places should be put into black locust or catalpa plantations, so that some post material will be coming on in a few years. Plow up this ground and put it in crop condition, and tend and cultivate the young timber as you would a corn field. These timber plantations must have good care for the first five years, after which they will do nicely. Do not try to grow timber and pasture together; and don't let the stock in to eat off the tender sprouts, or break down the young trees.

For division lines between fields or between farms, could be planted to post timber to very good advantage. There is usually a strip of ten or twelve feet left between these fields, upon which nothing is grown. Plant them to timber, and I believe the best investment that any western farmer can make would be to put five acres of his best land in black locust and catalpa.

HOW MUCH MANURE TO THE ACRES?

R. G. de Witt, Ia., asks: "How much manure per acre should be applied to a top dressing land which will be sown to grain next spring?"

It has been found that rather light application of manure, as a top dressing, is better than large amounts. Eight to ten loads are sufficient for field work. The essential thing about top dressing is to get the manure spread thinly and evenly. This will insure an even growth of the coming crop, over the whole field, and to top dressing applied to pastures or meadow lands there should not be enough deposited in any one place to produce a rank growth. There is a wide difference in the strength and value of manures. Those voided by fattening animals being much richer than that voided by stock cattle. But taking the manure made on the average farm, eight loads (manure spreader loads) would be a light application and twelve loads would be rather heavy.

RESEEDING GRASS LANDS.

The maintenance of pasture and meadow lands is of the greatest importance, for it is no easy job to get a field as well set that it will yield the maximum amount of grass for several years in succession. Some wonder why we have so much more trouble now in keeping up a good stand, than we did several years ago. The whole trouble comes in not reseeding. We get most of our grasses, not better seeds become ripe enough to shatter, and for this reason no fresh seed falls upon the ground, unless sown by hand. The earlier practice of cutting timothy was to wait until the seed was practically mature. I have seen farmers go so far as to make tight bottoms to their wagon racks, and gather up the seed every noon and night. Of course, when grass was cut at this stage, sufficient seed shattered to cover the field. No doubt the stage we now mow timothy, right after the blossoms fall, is best, both as to the quality of the hay and also the condition in which it leaves the roots of the plants to withstand the use of the scythe. But when the seed is cut before any seeds shatter, reseeding and harrowing should be faithfully done every fall.

PLANT TREES IN THE FALL.

We get into the habit of doing that at a certain time and in a certain way, and somehow we are very slow to change and adopt even better methods. The custom has been almost universal, to set out trees in the spring. There are many factors which will favor fall setting, and each year we fall into this way of thinking. During the spring there is practically no soil work when the nurseryman must dig out and ship his goods. It follows that many shipments will be delayed, and at best a work of setting must be done in a hurried manner. It is now shown that trees may be set out during September with safety. At that time the ground is usually moist and warm, just the ideal conditions for the roots to establish themselves for winter. When trees are set out so early it is best to strip off the leaves. There is always ample time during the fall for work of this kind, and the pick of nursery stock may then be had much lower than spring prices.

POULTRY NOTES.

Word comes from the Australian continent that the Black Langshan is finishing up ahead of all other breeds in the number of eggs laid. This will be hailed with delight by friends of the great Asiatic breed, and their friends are numbered only by their acquaintances. Few farmers who have ever tried them go to any other breed. They have size, not so large quite as the other eastern breeds, but large enough for a good market. They do not have fine yellow legs and skin, but this color demand is only a prejudice that acquaintance with the excellent table qualities of the Langshans will soon dispel. They grow quickly, begin laying at an early age and are especially good layers of winter eggs. And now they are coming out ahead with the total number of eggs per hen in a year. In fact, a year, a combination fowl will lead the special egg laying breeds in a test like this. It is a great victory and should call attention to the breed from all quarters. Black Langshans have been very popular throughout this section of country and breeders usually have had no trouble in selling all the good ones they raise. Let not their demand for them tempt the breeder to send out inferior specimens and thus damage the good name which they are adding to.

A piece of bright tin or a bit of mirror tacked to the top of a high pole will serve to keep hawks away from the chicken yards. It is well to keep several if the yards are extensive and change them about from place to place as the birds become better acquainted and less disposed to frighten at them.

The weasel seldom eats his victims, but will bite them in the head or neck, take the blood, and leave. It is said, too, that they often kill just for the joy of killing and not to appease hunger.

Skunks do a great deal of damage to the chicken crop. They are very greedy, but often kill more than they eat. They can be trapped if you have a way to shut the chickens up.

A steel trap set on a tall pole out in a field will often catch a hawk when he tries to alight on the pole.

MOTHERHOOD

The first requisite of a good mother is good health, and the experience of maternity should not be approached without careful physical preparation, as a woman who is in good physical condition transmits to her children the blessings of a good constitution.

Preparation for healthy maternity is accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from native roots and herbs, more successfully than by any other medicine because it gives tone and strength to the entire feminine organism, curing displacements, ulceration and inflammation, and the result is less suffering and more children healthy at birth. For more than thirty years has been the standby of American mothers in preparing for childbirth. Note what Mrs. James Chester, of 427 W. 35th St., New York says in this letter:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I wish every expectant mother knew about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. A neighbor who had learned of its great value at this trying period of a woman's life urged me to try it and I did so, and I cannot say enough in regard to the good it did me. I recovered quickly and am in the best of health now.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly a successful remedy for the peculiar weaknesses and ailments of women. It has cured almost every form of Female Complaints, Dragging Sensations, Weak Back, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation, Ulcerations and Organic Diseases of Women and is invaluable in preparing for Childbirth and during the Change of Life.

CHILDREN TORTURED.

Girl Had Raging Sores from Eczema—Boy Tortured by Poison Oak—Both Cured by Cuticura.

"Last year, after having my little girl treated by a very prominent physician for an obstinate case of eczema, I resorted to the Cuticura Remedies, and was so well pleased with the almost instantaneous relief afforded that we discarded the physician's prescription and relied entirely on the Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Pills.

When we commenced with the Cuticura Remedies her feet and limbs were covered with running sores. In about six weeks we had her completely well, and there has been no recurrence of the trouble.

"In July of this year a little boy in our family poisoned his hands and arms with poison oak, and in twenty-four hours his hands and arms were a mass of torturing sores. We used only the Cuticura Remedies, and in about three weeks his hands and arms healed up.

Concerning His Business.

From Everybody.

A Boston lawyer, who brought his wit to bear on a native Dublin, who was suing the plaintiff in a divorce trial, brought forth the following:

"You wish to divorce this woman because she drinks?"

"Yes, sir."

"Do you drink yourself?"

"That's my business!" angrily.

Whereupon the unmoved lawyer asked: "Have you any other business?"

Atchison Globe Sights.

One showman can make more trouble than ten ordinary business men can make.

A man who dislikes you nearly always admires your bitterest enemy.

A pup, like a boy, is always trying to give satisfaction, and always failing.

No country boy can claim to be really smart until he has caught a wolf or fox.

It is getting to be no more distinction to own an automobile than it is to own a palm.

The wolves are becoming so numerous that it won't be long before they will demand their rights.

It is every man's opinion that his wife ought to have enough visiting with the neighbors during the day.

There are almost as many ways for a turkey to meet death as there are ways for a love affair to go astray.

It is easy to throw too much enthusiasm into a "handshake," particularly if you are shaking hands with a woman.

When you ask a boy if he enjoyed a party, he, of course, thinks you are referring to the refreshments, and answers accordingly.

Unagitated.

From the Leavenworth Post.

They tell of an old German, who has lived out in the country for many years, that he is very fond of playing cards—so fond that he does little else.

One evening, while he was engaged in a game with several congenial spirits, his wife, at some distance from the house, burned down.

His son came rushing into the room with the news. The old man didn't look up as he asked:

"Did you get the horses out?"

"Yes," said the son.

"Did you get the wagon out?"

"Yes."

"Did you get the harness out?"

"Yes," said the son.

"Well," said the old man, "I got two."

The Reason a Man can be a Bigger Fool over a girl than over anything else in the world is so that he can get over it quicker.

Dr. Edwin F. Pardee, of New York City, says: "For several years I have recommended your Castoria and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results."

Dr. N. B. Sizer, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I object to what are called patent medicines, where maker alone knows what ingredients are put in them, but I know the formula of your Castoria and advise its use."
