

EMPLOYERS GIVE $5,000,000 TRADE TO THE WORKMEN

President and Secretary-Treasurer Retire, as Per Wishes of the Dead Founder.

Cincinnati, Oct. 28.—John M. Gorman, president, and William C. Dudley, secretary-treasurer of the Exchange Stock company, a brokerage firm, following the wishes of the late William J. O'Dell, founder of the concern, today retired and turned over the business to their employees, without recommendation from them of any kind.

Gorman and Dudley have made $1,000,000 each in the last year, and the wish of the founder was that they retire as soon as they had that amount and let the employees have a chance.

Five million dollars is turned over to the men, with the business.

HARRIMAN TRIES TO DODGE FISH

New York, Oct. 28.—E. H. Harriman today said that a holding company is to take over the Union Pacific's stocks in other companies, except those in the 62,000 shares of the Oregon Short Line and in steamship companies, which are looked upon as belonging to the system proper. These holdings are estimated to be more than $100,000,000 par value and their transfer will entail a dividend to Union Pacific stockholders in the form of certificates of participation in the new company.

The transaction will be much the same as the vesting by J. Hill, of the Great Northern railway one land in a holding company. The Union Pacific stockholders will get shares in proportion to their stock holdings. Among the securities passed to the new company will be the 28,231 shares of Illinois Central, the intention against the holding of which has given Stuyvesant Fish apparent control of the road.

TRAIN HELD UP BY THREE MEN.

Los Angeles, Oct. 28.—Three armed men last night held up a southbound freight train with five miles of this city, wounded the fireman slightly, robbed the crew of $250, and two watches, and made their escape.

CLAIMS HUSBAND HAD AN AFFINITY

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 28.—An alleged affinity for the defendant was ushered into the Marshall divorce case today when the plaintiff in her testimony asserted that her husband had been in discreet with a certain Miss Tracy.

"My maid told me that Miss Tracy had informed her that she loved Mr. Marshall and that he loved her," said the wife, and she added that Miss Tracy had tried to get her husband to testify against her. J. E. Norris, who is named by the husband as co-respondent, testified that the statement that he had placed his arm around Mrs. Marshall was a "malicious lie." He also testified to acts of cruelty upon the part of the defendant.

Mrs. Marshall's mother, an elderly woman who cannot speak English, was on the stand and her daughter acted as interpreter. She testified to acts of cruelty and stated that she is the owner of several thousand acres of timberland in Cuba.

BLUFFS MURDERER ASKS FOR PARDON

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 28.—W. C. Rogers, who was sent up for twenty-five years in 1902 for the murder of Bert Forney, owner of the "Bucket of Blood" saloon at Council Bluffs, applied today to the pardon board for a pardon. Rogers is the man who actually was in possession of the diamonds in the famous Faye diamond robbery.

DRY SEASON ON AT ARLINGTON; PRAIRIE FIRES ARE NUMEROUS.

Arlington, S. D., Oct. 28.—Several prairie fires have swept over portions of this county this week. Some of them entailing considerable loss. The country has not been so dry for fifteen years as it is now, no rain having fallen since July. One fire yesterday was started between Hiland and Arlington by sparks from a locomotive and swept through a valuable grove of timber, ruining the trees. A large force of men hurried in just in time to save a number of valuable buildings. A fire near Bancroft destroyed a large amount of hay and some grain. Hiland narrowly escaped destruction by a fire which was stopped at the outskirts of the village.

JUDGE CHURCH RULES ON ANTI-PASS LAW

Sao City, Ia., Oct. 28.—Judge Z. A. Church, of the Buena Vista court, today granted Attorney Schuelz, of Storm Lake, a writ of habeas corpus, holding that the anti-pass law is not applicable. It is understood in Des Moines to have been granted so an immediate appeal to the supreme court might be taken.

VANDERBILT GETS $25,000,000.

New York, Oct. 28.—Under the will of his father, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, has come into possession of one-half of the residuary estate of Cornelius Vanderbilt, estimated at $60,000,000. He will get more than $30,000,000 in 1912 when he will be 35.

DENIES STORY OF INDIAN UPRISING

Deadwood, S. D., Oct. 28.—So far as can be learned here, there is no uprising of Ute Indians on the Cheyenne reservation, northeast of here, as reported. Commandant with Captain Bryant in charge of Fort Meade, elected the response that the rumor was hot air and no troops have left or have any intention of going. There are only two troops at the post.

NEW YORK FINANCIAL PANIC QUIETS DOWN

New York, Oct. 30.—The captains of finance, who with the secretary of the treasury, have been battling night and day to preserve order in the banking world, held no conference last night, but went to bed early, confident that the threatened bad situation had been successfully combated, and that from now on the restoration of the public confidence and tranquility would be speedily accomplished. No apprehension was felt as the result of today's financial transactions.

The stock exchange and banks were open only two hours, and the stock exchange was not troubled by the money situation, as all the loans made yesterday carried over until Monday. There were some depositors in front of the Trust Company of America and the Lincoln Trust company, but the number was not as great as yesterday.

Less Than Legal Reserve.

Announcement was made today that negotiations have practically been completed for the importation of a large amount of gold from Europe.

Morcy on call was loaned on the stock exchange today at 50 per cent. The clearing house association today authorized the issuance of clearing house certificates. The first national bank today notified the stock exchange houses to which it made loans Friday at 50 per cent, that loans would be continued over to Monday at 30 per cent. Payments to depositors were continued throughout the day. The statement of the clearing houses and banks for the week shows the banks hold $1,233,300 less than the legal reserve requirements. This is a decrease of $12,415,950 as compared with last week.

The drain on the national banks was considerably relieved today by the decision of the savings banks to require advance notices of large withdrawals. This put a stop to heavy disbursements by the savings banks, which would have been compelled to draw this money from the national banks. The treasury received $10,000,000 in small bills from Washington today.

TAFT IN A WRECK, NO ONE IS HURT

Makes First Trip Over New Philippine Railway—Runs Over Flat Car.

Manila, Oct. 30.—Secretary Taft made an inspection of the partially completed extension of the Manila-Dagupan railway Friday. He rode twenty-five miles on the first passenger train run over the line and, incidentally, was a participant in the first wreck on the road. Near the terminus of the car in front of Taft's car was derailed, and nearly took his with it.

Taft's car ran completely over the flat car.

HE'S 80, SHE'S 65, BUT THEY HAVE TO ELOPE TO WED

Philadelphia, Oct. 30.—While relatives of the old bridegroom were discussing in most bitter tones the elopement of Alfred J. Dickinson and Mrs. Julia A. Britton, the white-bearded benedict sat in the parlor of his new and handsome house, chuckling over the clever way he outwitted them.

"No, I am not near 80 years old," Dickinson said. "No matter how old I need a nurse, rather than a wife. It was just this way. My wife died six months ago, and I have felt since then that I had no home. My children did not seem to care for me any more, and the only person to do care for me was my wife, Mrs. Britton, who is 65 years old. We talked over the matter and decided to wed, to elope if necessary. We went to Wilmington Tuesday, were married by the Rev. George L. Wolfe, and then came right to this home. This is all there is to the elopement, as they call our wedding."

But Edward Kessler, of 3909 Germantown avenue, son-in-law of Dickinson, seemed to think that his father-in-law needs a nurse, rather than a wife.

"It is a shame to his family, that's all it is," Kessler said. "That woman knew him forty years ago, and she was just clever enough to get him for her husband. Dickinson must have a number of properties, for I understand that he collects more than $100 per month from rents. Mrs. Britton knew he was not in his right mind when she married him."

CROSS-COUNTRY SWINDLER HELD

Spokane, Oct. 30.—Trailed by Pinkertons in various parts of the world, for twenty-five years, R. C. Crosby, a widely known and greatly respected dairy farmer, was arrested on his ranch in Yamhill county, Ore., and is now in the Spokane county jail, charged with defrauding the Washington Trust company, of Spokane.

The Pinkertons believe Crosby has been traveling under the aliases of Oscar Will, Hoad, Wood, Burt and fifteen other names.

He has swindled banks from Nova Scotia to the Pacific coast, operating in every state except Oregon and clearing up several thousand dollars every year.

In searching his home the officers found a small typewriter upon which bogus paper and bonds had been written and also a membership tag of the American Bankers' association.

FRANCE HAS ANOTHER CASE LIKE DREYFUS'

Paris, Oct. 30.—The arrest of Ensign Charles B. Ulmo, of the French navy, at Toulon, on the charge of being a spy, and who later confessed to having abstracted a secret naval signal book and the naval cipher code, was followed by the arrest at Vendome of an officer, Berton, who is charged with negotiations with an agent of a foreign power for the sale of military secrets. The arrests are creating a great stir, and as Ulmo is a Hebrew the papers term this case a second Dreyfus affair.

FRENCH OFFICER SOLD NAVAL SECRETS; ARREST

Paris, Oct. 28.—The arrest of Ensign Charles B. Ulmo, of the French navy, at Toulon Friday on the charge of being a spy, and who later confessed to having abstracted a secret naval signal book and the naval cipher code, was followed yesterday by the arrest at Vendome of an officer of the name of Berton, who is charged with negotiations with an agent of a foreign power for the sale of military secrets. The arrests are creating a great stir, and as Ulmo is a Hebrew the papers term this case a second Dreyfus affair.

It appears that Ulmo offered certain documents to the minister of marine for $30,000, saying that unless his offer was accepted he would sell them to a foreign power. A dummy correspondence was begun, and Ulmo was captured. A search of his lodgings revealed that he not only possessed the secret code signals, but was in possession of complete plans for the mobilization of the French navy, the location of harbor mines, and a number of photographs of the mechanism of France's famous 75-millimeter field gun, etc.

GILLETTE, MUTUAL LIFE'S EX-PRESIDENT, GUILTY OF PERJURY

New York, Oct. 28.—The first conviction in the cases on the disclosures in the legislative investigation of insurance affairs in 1905-06 was obtained by the district attorney's office when a jury in the criminal branch of the supreme court found Dr. Walter R. Gillette, ex-vice president of the Mutual Life Insurance company, guilty of perjury in the third degree. The verdict was accompanied by a recommendation for mercy. The maximum penalty for this degree of perjury is ten years' imprisonment.

The specific charge upon which Dr. Gillette was found guilty was that he had testified falsely before the grand jury May 24, when he was vice president of the Mutual. The indictment alleged that at that time, under examination by District Attorney Jerome, he stated that certain moneys in the Dobbs Ferry bank were his personal funds, and that subsequent financial cross examination he admitted the funds were really the property of the Mutual Life Insurance company.

TRIO OF WEDDINGS FOR MISS VANDERBILT

New York, Oct. 28.—Miss Gladys Vanderbilt will be the most married young woman in America when the last of the ceremonies uniting her to Count Ladislaus Szechenyi has been ended December 4. By nightfall on that date she will have been married three times since sunrise.

The first to perform the rite will be Archbishop Farley, thus satisfying the scruples of the noble Roman Catholic family to which the bridegroom belongs. Following that Mayor McClellan will unite the two in a civil service at the New York city hall, and the last service will take place in St. Bartholomew's Protestant Episcopal church, in conformity with the religious beliefs of the bride.

The announcements of the various weddings with date attached were made by Mrs. Vanderbilt today. She said, in addition, that the principal ceremony would be that at the Vanderbilt home on Fifth avenue, with the Catholic and bishop officiating. One hundred and fifty relatives and friends of the bride will attend, and some of the Szechenyis are about to sail from Hungary to be present.

MRS. COOK ACCUSED OF MAKING DATES FOR BLYDENBURGH GIRL

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 28.—Dr. E. E. Gadd, indicted along with Herbert B. Dickinson for the murder of Irene Blydenburgh, of Eldora, was called to testify for the defense today. He testified for Dickinson, Gadd's appearance caused a sensation and the state claims he was called in a desperate attempt to bolster up a waning cause, though the defense declares Gadd will testify that if the operation was performed on the girl, she did it herself.

Mrs. Jessie Cook, the state's star witness, was recalled for further cross examination by the defense today and was accused of trying to make a date for Irene with G. M. Robinson, the week before the girl's death. Mrs. Cook indignantly denied the charge.

PRETTY THOUGHTS AS BEAUTY PRESERVERS

Chicago, Oct. 28.—"The idle women who have nothing to do but think of their worries—who we call society women—are the kind I expect as pupils for my aesthetic physical culture," said Miss Ivah de Chipman, exponent of the "curved thought" idea, fresh from New York.

"Beautiful thoughts make beautiful women, and a few well chosen exercises aid much," she continued. "I have a couple of letters to the best people of Chicago and hope to be successful here."

"My pupils are generally young women who have been married five or six years, past the honeymoon stage, and want to get it back by loving their husbands again full in love with them. To a large extent their homeliness is of their own making. When they come to me they try to unobscure their troubles and cry, but I will not permit it. I never allow any of my pupils to dwell on their troubles. It's seldom that a woman over 45 comes to me. She prefers to be massaged and "blended" by the beauty experts. If a woman is old and the beautiful thoughts will not remove the wrinkles in her forehead fast enough I might give her a gentle massage."

"In developing the body graceful I bring the mind in conjunction with physical exercise to obtain the proper poise. I myself evolved this theory. I am the pioneer. I bring out that elongated development of the muscles instead of that knobby, lumpy development which man craves."

SARAH TRUAX, APRIL DIVORCEE, TO REMARRY

Minneapolis, Oct. 28.—"One cannot serve two masters," says Miss Sarah Truax, who is starting with "The Spindler" again, as she has decided to wed again, she will abandon the stage.

Last April she was divorced from Guy Bates Post, who a short time ago became the third husband of Miss Jane Weston. This time Mrs. Truax is to marry a lawyer, Charles Albert, of this city.

STANDARD OIL TELLS ANTI-FINE ARGUMENTS

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Plans for the tremendous effort to be made by attorneys for Standard Oil to have the $23,240,000 fine imposed by Judge Landis wiped out by the United States court of appeals are disclosed today. Twenty-five main points, each one of which the attorneys will argue, is sufficient to have the record-breaking fine declared void, will be advanced when the case comes to trial in January.

The principal arguments will be:

That the government attorneys failed to inform the defense of the Alton immunity agreement.

That the Elkins act, under which the conviction was secured, was unconstitutional.

That as the Hepburn act was passed, before indictments were returned, protection under the provisions of the Elkins law was illegal.

That Judge Landis did not compute the number of violations correctly.

That certain evidence should not have been admitted.

That the Standard Oil company accepted the rates in question with the understanding that they were authorized rates.

RAISE THE PRICE OF MEALS 40 PER CENT

Butler, Pa., Oct. 26.—High cost of living has taken another jump in Butler, and hotels and restaurants advanced rates 40 per cent, as agreed upon at a meeting of sixty hotelkeepers and restaurateurs. While the rates had been advertised in the county papers, there was general complaint among the patrons.

There are 60 families in Butler that have been taking their Sunday dinners at the hotels and restaurants. The Butler and Pittsburg trolley line also brings a large patronage into town on Sundays, and there was a noticeable falling off in the business from these sources.

Officers of the organization of bonifaces declare that the high price of food products and supplies in western Pennsylvania made such an advance in the price of meals absolutely imperative.

HARDY SETTLERS AID GIRL WHO SEEKS LOVER

Spokane, Oct. 25.—Out among the spires in the wilds of northern Idaho, searching the timber and mining camps for her lover, who has been missing since last spring, is Nettie Williams, daughter of a prominent family at Providence, R. I., who declares she will not give up until she finds the man she loves.

Miss Williams declines to give the name of her fiance, nor will she divulge any information other than that he was a well to do farmer in Rhode Island until a little more than a year ago, as he could not think of asking her to share his poverty with him. Upon receiving the letter the plucky young woman started for Mexico with the determination of finding the man she loves, regardless of the fact that his fortune had been swayed away. She reached Mexico only to find he had gone to Wyoming and she traced him to several camps there, each time to learn he had become dissatisfied and left. She believes he is somewhere within the borders of Idaho and, although she has undergone many hardships and suffered from exposure in making long mountain trips, she has determined not to give up the search until she finds the man she loves and can share with him his poverty or riches.

Prospectors and timber cruisers are giving her every assistance, and have provided saddle and pack horses for her journey to the various camps, but so far she has been unable to obtain any meager clues.

PREDICTS 1000 WORDS A MINUTE, WIRELESS

East Orange, N. J., Oct. 25.—"Marconi will, ten years from now, be sending 1,000 words a minute between continents," predicted Thomas A. Edison, speaking of the inventor's latest development of the wireless system.

"You see," he added, "there is no absorption to be contended with in using the air waves there is in wire and cable transmission."

Mr. Edison said that he believed in the near future there would be direct wireless communication between New York and London. He declared the wireless system was now on a commercial basis.

"Do you think it will be possible to use the air waves to talk across the ocean?" he was asked.

"No, I think not. The air waves are too quick and it would not be possible to get enough power."

SIXTY MOORS SLAIN BY FRENCH SABERS

Casablanca, Oct. 25.—The timely arrival of General Drude with reinforcements saved Colonel De Preta's reconnoitering column from annihilation near Taddert. The troops which were sent out to search for a Frenchman wandered from the camp and encountered the enemy. Fully 5,000 whitehead Moorish warriors threatened to overwhelm Colonel De Preta's column when General Drude arrived with two batteries of field and another section of the rapid fire battery and opened fire.

The Moors were taken by surprise, and taking advantage of the confusion, into which the natives were thrown, General Drude quickly massed and launched his cavalry in furious charge against them.

They were unable to withstand the impetuosity of the attack and broke and fled. Sixty Moors were left dead on the field, being killed by sabers.

ROSSLYN AND EX-WIFE STIR COVENT GARDEN

London, Oct. 25.—A great flutter was caused in Covent Garden opera house Thursday night among the occupants of stalls when Earl Rosslyn was seen to accompany Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jarrott into their box.

Mrs. Jarrott, whose present husband is a noted racing chauffeur, became Earl Rosslyn's wife seventeen years ago. He divorced her in a Scotch court twelve years later for deserting him.

MAY REHABILITATE KNICKERBOCKER BANK

New York, Oct. 28.—A movement has been started to save the Knickerbocker bank, which went under following the Heinze copper crash. The plan is to take a pool formed among the directors of $20,000,000 to guarantee redemption within two years of interest-bearing certificates, which will be offered in settlement of accounts against the company, which cannot be liquidated at the present time. As a preliminary step it was said that a receiver for the company would be appointed within a couple of days with the approval of the directors. When the success of the certificates is assured the board will ask that the receivership be terminated, with a view of a resumption of business. President Foster Higgins has offered to put $500,000 in the pool.

The run on the Knickerbocker bank was replete with sensational occurrences. The women depositors soon filled the section of the bank ordinarily devoted to them, and the private offices of the officials were turned over to them. They were packed almost to suffocation.

"They can keep mine," said a woman in a closely-fitting gown as she burst into the room. "It's worse than a bargain sale."

Most of the women stayed, however, until their turn came, and went away sighing with relief.

Joseph B. Brown, second vice president of the trust company, was in charge, and went among the depositors endeavoring to reassure them. Shortly after 11 o'clock A. Foster Higgins, the new president, arrived and joined his assurance to those of the other officers.

Shortly before 12 o'clock Vice President Brown mounted a chair in the center of the lobby after the announcement, gold-mounted chandelier, which had been pointed out to all visitors for its magnificence.

"I want to read you what the state superintendent of banking says about the Knickerbocker," cried Mr. Brown. "He got immediate attention and read that Acting Superintendent George W. Skinner had found the company solvent on September 17."

There was a cheer which echoed about the marble walls, and a waving of lace handkerchiefs from the women's department.

"Good old Knickerbocker," cried one of the depositors.

A cynic who had just squeezed in the outer door remarked that the man who shouted "Good old Knickerbocker" was mighty near the paying teller's wicket.

At 12:30 a telephone message came from the downtown headquarters, and Mr. Brown again mounted the chair in the center of the room.

Owing to a shortage of ready cash, officers of the company have decided to suspend payment until tomorrow morning. This was the despairing news he shouted.

The announcement was greeted with howls and jeers. There were 300 people in the line which extended out to the marble steps on Fifth avenue. Piles of gold certificates are still on view in the cages of the paying tellers, and the depositors clamored for that money. Not a check was paid after the announcement, however, and the police, under Acting Captain Bernard Kelleher, were finally able to clear the bank.

The women were particularly indignant and could not understand.

"Well, I've still got my check book," was the inspiration which came to one of them. "I'll buy a lot of things and check it all out." Another woman declared that she was absolutely "broke," but rejected in credit at several department stores. She found a friend in the crowd that was watching outside, and dragged her off on a shopping expedition.

The windows of the Waldorf-Astoria on the Thirty-fourth street side were crowded with spectators of the unusual sight.

When the downtown bank at No. 66 Broadway opened there were seventy in line, including two priests and a few clerics. There were six clerks waiting to make deposits. Although the three paying tellers seemed to have no end of bills piled up about them, they made no progress against the stream of frightened depositors. Clerks and uniformed attendants took pains to keep the constantly increasing line tucked into the main office of the bank that it might not reach Broadway and excite the throng.

Early in the morning the trust company fell back on the clause providing for a five day notice on certificates deposited and refused to pay them. Running accounts were paid in cash, certified checks being refused.

One man in the line had a band box in which to carry away his account. Others carried suit cases, but more filled their pockets or wrapped their bills in newspapers.

There were 400 in line at this place when the announcement was made that the company had temporarily suspended. Several women took it for granted that their money was gone and burst into tears. They were led into the corridor of the building where they added to the excitement by occasional shrieks. At 1:45, after much effort, the bank was cleared and the doors closed.

Fully one-fourth of the runners at the Harlem branch were women, many of them widows on the verge of tears. One woman, who had an account of $1,069, was urged to keep her account open with the $69.

"Not for me," she said to the bank officials. "I want every penny, and I'll do my own banking for awhile."

A large crowd gathered about the bank when the line reached the street and was turned up Lenox avenue. The police, under Lieutenant Maher, remembering the robberies that followed a run on the Harlem Savings bank seven years ago, were on the watch for pickpockets.

At 10:30 an automobile arrived from the downtown branch with $50,000. This encouraged the line of depositors, but did not diminish it.

It fell to Andrew Kane, a wealthy wholesale butcher, who is well known in Harlem and connected with that branch, to break the news of suspension shortly after 12 o'clock. He first lowered a pole for the police, and immediately after the announcement the bank was cleared.

Manager John Banbey, of the Bronx branch of the Knickerbocker, made a desperate effort to check the run. He showed a deposit of $75,000 that a big Bronx contractor had made that morning, and persuaded several of his big depositors to send their deposits as usual. At the time of suspension at 12:30 $250,000 had been paid out, and drive seventy-five worried customers from the building.

ARRESTS FOLLOW CHARIVARI PARTY

Nashua, Ia., Oct. 28.—Warrants have been issued for the arrest of twenty well known residents of this town, charged with destroying the property of Anos Bullen during a charivari, following a deposit of Roy Swanziger and bride, who had come from Charles City to the Bullen home to spend their honeymoon.

ROOSEVELT GLAD OF NEGRO BABIES

Washington, Oct. 26.—The president's special made a stop of three minutes en route from Louisiana at the town of Mound Bayou, Miss., where the inhabitants are all negroes. Practically the entire population was congregated at the station and the president spoke to them as follows, his speech being now reported for the first time:

"It is a great pleasure for me to see you here to have heard much of the prosperity of your town. I am glad to learn that you have not permitted a saloon in the limits. The qualities that make a good citizen must come from within and not from without. The law can give absolute quality of treatment, absolute justice before the law, to all men, big or little; it should treat them all alike. But after the law has done its part it remains true that the fundamental factor in any man's success in life is his own character, his own capacity for work, for doing justly by his neighbors and in getting justice from them in return."

Cannot Help Triflers.

"No one can give it to them from without. All that can be done is to try to get them fair play, and then to trust to their own qualities for the actual achievements. If the man gambles or drinks, if he is a trifler and idler, if he does not do his work; if the end of each year sees him a little in debt and complaining not of himself but that somebody outside has not done as well by him as he expected, if he complains that the weather was not good, or the cotton failed, but never mentions his own fault, that is the type of man we cannot help. If the woman does not do her part fairly and honestly in the household, or if each does not act so that the person in the next house are glad to have them as neighbors, then failure is sure to come. I have learned about this town. I am glad to see the babies here. I hope you will see them well brought up, that you will have good schooling for them, and yet that you will remain of the type of man we entirely take the place of the home teachings. The father and mother have to do their duty to the children, for the teacher cannot wholly take their place. Teach them reading and writing, but also teach them to do well industrially."

The speech received the closest attention and at the close was roundly applauded.

HADLEY TO HELP YOUNG IN HIS SUIT

Minneapolis, Oct. 26.—Attorney General Hadley, of Missouri, will assist Attorney General Young, of Minnesota, in his appeal to the United States supreme court, growing out of the sentence for contempt of court imposed by Judge Lochren for the disregard by the attorney general of the injunction restraining him from taking any action in the way of enforcing the commodity rate law passed at the last session of the legislature.

T. D. O'Brien, special counsel, and George D. Sampson, assistant attorney general, are now in Washington with an application for a writ of habeas corpus looking to Mr. Young's release, and Mr. Hadley will be heard in the argument on the order to show cause.

A letter to Mr. Young from Attorney General Hadley, received today, announced his intention of giving all the legal help in his power.

As president of the association of attorneys general, and himself the subject of no less than eight federal injunctions covering the same issues as are at stake in Minnesota, Mr. Young was most anxious to secure Mr. Hadley's aid and he thinks he is fortunate in obtaining it.

Mr. Hadley, since Missouri came in conflict with the railroad on the rate question, has been quite aggressive and has compelled the railroads to seek the aid of many enjoining orders.

The eleventh amendment to the federal constitution upon which the attorney general is relying in his application to the supreme court relates to the liability of states to suit. It reads:

"The judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by citizens of another state, or by citizens of any foreign state."

UNNATURAL LOVE IN GERMAN ROYALTY CASE.

Berlin, Oct. 26.—An unnatural friendship between two men in which the adoration of Count Kuno von Moltke for Prince Zu Eulenberg is featured, together with the allegation that by spiritualistic means an attempt was made to influence the political acts of Kaiser Wilhelm forms the basis for a libel suit the trial of which is on here with Moltke as plaintiff against Editor Maximilian Harden of the free lance political weekly Zuckerkofen. The allegation that von Moltke wrote letters to the prince addressing him as "my soul" and "my beloved" together with testimony as to how the count pressed the prince's handkerchief to his lips, drew an interested throng to the courtroom of Justice Koenig.

These sensational charges appeared in Harden's paper repeatedly and the trial is the result of investigations by Crown Prince Frederick William, who took the matter directly to the emperor.

Frau von Elbe, divorced wife of Kuno von Moltke, testified that Prince Zu Eulenberg knelt to her and begged her to give up her husband.

PAPER TRUST ASSAILED, TARIFF REPEAL URGED

Joliet, Oct. 26.—A resolution demanding the prosecution of the trust in print paper, and calling on congress to repeal immediately the tariff on all material entering into the manufacture of printing paper, was adopted at the convention of the Illinois Daily Newspapers' association.

ALLEGED SLAYER'S DEFENSE IS SUICIDE

Toia, Kas., Oct. 26.—The preliminary hearing of Samuel F. Whitlow, merchant and man of family, charged with the murder of Miss May Sapp, at Meran, September 27, by cutting her throat with a razor, was held here today. Whitlow declares Miss Sapp committed suicide because he refused to dine with her.
