

ENGLISH EASILY VICTOR

McCarthy Goes Down and Out in the Eighth Round.

JACK SULLIVAN MAKES FRIENDS

O'Neill Boxer Creates Favorable Impression Among Admirers of Manly Art at Sioux City.

The O'Neill sports who went to Sioux City last Saturday to witness the McCarthy-English fight, which was pulled off in an ice house on the banks of the Sioux river Sunday afternoon, saw the fight given to English in the eighth round by Malachi Hogan of Chicago, the referee. From the account of the fight, published in the Sioux City papers, McCarthy was not in the fight at any stage of the game. During the first four rounds he landed frequently upon English but his blows seemed to lack force and done but little harm to his adversary. English put him to the floor four times in the eight round and Jack Sullivan, who was seconding McCarthy, threw up the sponge and the fight was awarded to English. Commenting on Jack Sullivan the Journal says:

"Jack Sullivan, the tall, handsome, dark haired fellow who was the chief advisor in McCarthy's corner, won the friendship of every man in the crowd by his earnestness and gentlemanly manners. By contrast with young Dougherty, who was very talkative during the mill, Sullivan demonstrated by the popularity he won that it really does pay to act the part of a well bred man.

"Sullivan is twenty-eight years of age and is a natural middleweight. His present weight is 158 pounds. He is an electrician by trade and gets into the fighting game only on the side. His parents live at O'Neill, but he has made his home at Butte since he was eighteen years old. He never knew he could box at all until he went on at Anaconda a few years ago and made $100 by staying four rounds with Jack Monroe. A year ago last February he fought Young Ketchell of Butte twenty rounds to a draw. Ketchell recently beat Joe Thomas of Frisco for the middleweight championship, and Sullivan is anxious to make a match with him.

"Patsy Wagner, the backer of English, is quite favorably impressed with Sullivan and called with him last evening at the Journal office to say that Sullivan would be backed at the middleweight limit. Sullivan's confidence in himself is evidenced by the fact that he is willing to furnish a good part of any bet which shall be made that he can beat Ketchell.

"Sullivan said he would like in the course of time to get a return match for McCarthy with English. He said he would want three or four weeks to put McCarthy into condition. Sullivan will leave in a few days for Philadelphia to box in the six-round bouts which are permitted in that city."

The statement of expenses incurred by the various candidates in this county during the recent campaign have been filed with the county clerk and run from nothing to $100.

Destructive Fire.
Ewing Advocate: The most disastrous prairie fire that has visited northwestern Nebraska for many years, occurred last Friday in southwestern Holt.

D. A. Huston, whose ranch is six miles south of Chambers, reports that he helped fight the fire which came within four feet of his barn, and only by the prompt and determined action of himself and E. R. Benson, was his buildings saved from destruction. Mr. Huston claims there was not less than fifteen thousand tons of hay destroyed, besides a number of cattle sheds and outbuildings, hay presses, stackers, mowers, rakes and other farm machinery were either destroyed or badly damaged.

Many of the ratchmen are left without any hay for their stock, while others saved but a small portion of what they will require for their stock until grass comes.

As November 24th is the world's temperance Sunday, the W. C. T. U. of O'Neill have arranged a program to be given at the M. E. church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The program will consist of singing and recitations by the children of the Sabbath schools, special music by both choirs and short talks by older ones. A cordial invitation is extended to all. A collection will be taken to help the work along.

Business was brisk in Justice Golden's court yesterday. One case was on trial and four others pending. Nearly all the saloon men in town were in court as expert witnesses in a suit between George Cordes and his bartender over wages. An adjournment was taken in the evening until 10 o'clock today. Two of the cases are suits on notes. The other two are the Forman and the Thomas saloon robbery cases.

The funeral of Patrick Gahagan was held last Saturday morning from the Catholic church in this city and was largely attended. The remains were interred in the Catholic cemetery. Deceased was born in 1837, and was nearly seventy-one years of age at the time of his death. He was a veteran of the civil war, serving in Company A, Thirtieth Wisconsin. He served through the war and was recognized as one of the bravest soldiers in the entire regiment. He is survived by his wife and ten children.

A. W. Knapp left Tuesday morning for Council Bluffs, Iowa, where he will make his future home. His family will follow him in about a week. A couple of months ago Mr. Knapp sold his farm northeast of town and accepted as part payment a modern eight-room house in Council Bluffs. Mr. Knapp, by hard work and frugality, has accumulated enough of this world's goods to allow him to live in comfort the balance of his days and he thought by moving to the city they could better enjoy the comforts of this life. The many friends of the family here wish them happiness in their new home.

On November 16th a complaint was filed with Justice Golden by County Attorney E. H. Whelan on behalf of Henry Brandt of Emmett against John Forman of the same place. The complaint contains two charges covering the same offense. Brandt alleges he is minus $128 through the manipulations of Forman, and alleges in his complaint both theft and embezzlement. The defendant was placed under arrest yesterday by Sheriff Hall and brought to O'Neill. He secured the services of R. R. Dickson as his attorney and bond was furnished last evening for the defendant's appearance before the justice of the peace at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Fred C. Liniger has filed suit in the district court against his wife, Georgia B. Liniger, asking to have the marriage bond dissolved and annulled, alleging abandonment. They were married, the petition alleges, in Knox county, Illinois, November 20, 1901, and the husband charges that the wife has refused to live with him for the past five years.

Elnora L. Parshall, in a somewhat sensational petition filed in district court, sues for divorce from her husband, Bert A. Parshall. They were married at Fairfax, S. D., January 2, 1906, and lived together until September 26, of that year, when, the petition says, she left him because of cruel treatment.

We invite everybody, but more particularly the young people, to enjoy the service with us.

State Taxes.
County Clerk Simar has sent in his statement to the state auditor of the amount of state taxes to be charged to Holt county for the year 1907. The total amount the county will pay the state this year is $20,588.53, apportioned as follows:

General fund.....$14,751.25
Redemption fund..... 2,918.64
University fund..... 2,918.64

Total.....$20,588.53

The grand total of the tax roll for all purposes in this county this year is about $14,000 in excess of last year. This is due to an increase in taxable property in the county. Last year the total tax of the county was a little over $145,000; this year it exceeds $159,000 a few hundred dollars.

Two Couples Wed.
They came not singly but in pairs at the county judge's office yesterday to have the nuptial knot legally and officially unite them. Two couples from opposite sections of the county happened to arrive at Judge Malone's official apartments yesterday afternoon simultaneously and applied for license to wed and asked the judge to perform the ceremony, which he did with accustomed grace and dignity. They were:

Edward Stracke and Ethel Maud Greenfield, both of Stuart.

Chester R. Bowden of Agee and Effie M. Spelts of Leonie.

BITS OF FUN.
Every man in the gutter is not a tramp, especially when there's snow on the sidewalk.

"Get many ducks?"
"Naw—this gun is no good. Whenever I shot at a bird, the report was so loud it scared him away."—Cleveland Leader.

"At any rate, I am a byproduct of your boasted civilization," said the man convicted of selling his vote.

"You mean bought product," corrected the court, and sent him up for three years.—Philadelphia Ledger.

"Some people seem to think that knowledge is a sort of garment."
"What do you mean?"
"Seem to think that unless they air it frequently it will get moth eaten."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

MEETS FATAL ACCIDENT

Runaway Results in Death of Edward G. Johnson at Inman.

CRUSHED UNDER HORSES' FEET

Team, Frightened by Train, Runs Away and the Driver Is Thrown From the Wagon.

Edward G. Johnson of Inman met with a fatal accident about four o'clock Tuesday afternoon that resulted in his death about nine o'clock that evening. The accident occurred just east of town near the railroad and was caused by his horses becoming frightened at a train.

He was driving one team hitched to a hay wagon, with a trail team and wagon tied behind. He had loaded some freight onto his wagons at the Northwestern depot and was starting home when a train pulled into the station. The train frightened the horses and they ran away, throwing Mr. Johnson from the wagon. He was probably trampled by the back horses as his chest was badly crushed.

Mr. Johnson was forty-nine years of age and unmarried. He owned a section of land near Inman and 100 head of cattle, besides other stock.

He has a brother in Wyoming, who has been notified of the death. The remains will be sent to Ashland, this state, for burial.

The Markets
South Omaha, November 20—Special market letter from Nye Schneider Fowler Co.

It seems evident that prices must reach a lower level. There are a certain number of cattle on which paper is due and parties must cash up. These must come to market. There are more on feed, or shipped out to feed, than last year; these too must come back on the market. It seems quite certain that packers will not buy them except at a lower level. There is nothing to do but eake it as it comes. Feeders surely ought to pay out to put on feed at present prices.

We quote:

Choice dry lot beef, corn fed $5 00@55 00
Fair to good..... 4 40@4 90
Choice range beef..... 4 25@5 00
Others down to..... 3 00@
Choice cows..... 3 07@3 50
Canners & cutters..... 1 00@2 25
Veal calves..... 3 00@5 75
Bulls, stags, etc..... 1 50@3 00
Heavy feeders..... 4 25@4 60
Medium..... 3 50@4 20
Stockers..... 2 50@4 00
Stock heifers..... 1 75@2 75

Hogs are receiving another jolt. They are in the country and must come as it does not pay to hold them when ready for market. All indications are that they will work lower and we think will range around $4 25 to $4.75 for some months. Prices now range $4.40 to $4.75.

There has been more activity in the sheep market this week. Feeder buyers who have kept out hitherto are now buying. Values are 25 to 30 higher.

No ice.
The annual election of officers for O'Neill lodge number 153, A. O. U. W., will be held at the hall, Tuesday, December 3, 1907, at 7:30 p. m. All members are requested to attend. 22-2 L. G. Gillespie, Recorder.
