The lavish way in which the great Napoleon created titles is shown by the Appleon created thes is shown by the record of 1806, when Soult was made duke of Dalmatia, Bessieres of Istria, Victor of Belluno, Moncey of Coneg-liano, Mortimer, of Treviso, Macdonald of Tarentum, Oudinot of Reggio. Be-sides the marshals, General Duroc besides the marshals, General Duroc be-came duke of Friaul, Maret of Bass-ano, Savary of Rovigo, Fouche of Ot-ranto, and a Corsican relative of the Bonaparte family, Arright, a courag-eous cavalry general, was made duke of Padua. The best titles were those that were taken from the battles and designated the victors throughout life. The aged Kellermann was made duke of Valmy; Lefevre, duke of Dantzig; Massena, duke of Rivoli and prince of Essingen; Lannes, duke of Montebel-lo; Ney, duke of Elchingen and prince of Moskeva and Besesina; Davoust, duke of Auastadt and prince of Eck-muhl.

Brazilian nation. Not an untoward incident had mark-ed the visit of the Americans here. They were feasted and feted, both offi-cers and men, during their sojourn in Rio and half the population turned out early this morning to give them a fitting farewell. As upon the arrival of the fleet, so upon its departure, the quays, the public buildings and the hills were crowded with thousands watching the warsnips until they had disappeared through the mouth of the bay into the open sea.

With their departure from Rio Jan-eiro, the 16 battleships under com-mand of Rear Admiral Evans enter upon the third stage of their voyage to the Pacific. On this run of 2,230 knots, which will terminte February 1, ac-cording to the schedule, at Punta Are-nas, the most southern port in the world, the ships will traverse the haz-ardous narrows at the eastern entrance to the Straits of Magellan. territory. The passage of Magellan straits is in most respects comparatively safe for steam vessels, though there are a few dangers. The main difficulty is there is too great a depth of water (in places it reaches over 3,000 feet) to permit of anchorage. The strait is a well light-ed, however, by numerous light houses. Steamships of the commercial line navigate the straits by night, but two parts they always pass in daylight. These are the narrows at the eastern part of the strait and Crooked Beach which Admiral Evans will pass through after leaving Punta Arenas.

family arrived; that 20 trunks which they brought in were thoroughly ex-amined by customs officials at that time; that the only reason the duty was not paid was because none had been asse ceeded quite beyond his expectations. The barracks was crowded by childless parents, and the strange sight of car-In a statement given out today it is said the report to the customs officials was made in a spirit of spite by a woman servant, who had been dis-charged for cause. Mr. Shonts regards riages and automobiles at the door of the dingy building and a fashionably dressed audience embarrrassed the worcharged for cause. Mr. Shonts regards the report as proved by yesterday's in-vestigation to have been unfounded. Shonts' statement further explained that the deductions allowed under the customs law for each of the four mem-bers of the family who brought in the articles in question reduced the sum due to $220 shipers.
