ACQUITTAL FOR DIBBLE

Jury Finds Old Gentleman Not Guilty In Hog Stealing Case.

BUSY WEEK IN DISTRICT COURT

Damages Assessed Against Two Railroads.—Miles Wins Suit, Will Be Taken to Supreme Court.

The jury in the John Dibble case brought in a verdict last Saturday of not guilty, and the defendant was discharged. Dibble was charged with being implicated in the raid on the Ferguson ranch near Atkinson when hogs to the value of $60 were stolen. It was not charged that Dibble stole the hogs, but that he bought them knowing they were stolen.

Frank McShane and William Welar are again under arrest in connection with this same case and now in the county jail awaiting trial in the district court.

Several cases have been disposed of in district court the past week. In the case of C. L. McElhaney vs. Michael Dowling, a suit over the title and possession of a portion of the land that figured as an asset of the defunct Elkhorn Valley bank, a verdict was returned for the defendant, as was also in the case of the Ohio National bank vs. Gill Bros. a suit on notes.

Allen B. Donaldson of Ewing sued the Chicago & Northwestern railway company for $1,068.20 damage alleged to have been sustained from a fire started on his place by a Northwestern engine. The jury, after being taken to Ewing at the instance of Mr. Wright, the defendant's attorney, and viewing the timber and ground burned over, returned a verdict awarding the plaintiff $197.50.

By an agreement to stipulations of the attorneys, the case of G. A. Miles was taken from the jury and argument will be made to the court. This is the case in which Mr. Miles seeks to recover pay for printing the scavenger delinquent tax list without the authority of the county board. The board rejected his claim and the case was appealed. Judge Westover Thursday entered judgment for plaintiff, the amount not having been fixed at this writing, and denied the attorneys for the county, Messrs. Whelan and Dickson, a new trial. They will appeal to the supreme court.

Yesterday another railroad damage case, brought here from one of the counties in the southern part of the state by the attorney for the plaintiff, was tried to the court. Boyd Burrows, a showman, is seeking to recover $2,700 from the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy for the burning of his tent and other show equipments that he had billed for shipment on that road from Loup City to Askton. Attorney N. K. Griggs of Lincoln is looking after the interests of the railroad company, while M. F. Harrington is prosecuting. The case was tried to the court.

Last evening Judge Westover rendered a verdict in the last mentioned case, finding for the plaintiff and assessing the amount of damages at $2,350.

MRS. ST. JOHN TALKS

Two Lectures On Temperance and Prohibition.

Mrs. Eugena St. John of Kansas, national evangelist of the Womans' Christian Temperance Union, spoke at the court house afternoon and evening last Sunday under the auspices of that organization. The addresses were in the interest of temperance work, of which the organization she represents is the pioneer.

Mrs. St. John explained that she was not the wife of the former governor of Kansas of that name, but that she with her husband, who died four years ago, had been engaged in the work she is now in for many years.

The speaker dealt with her subject in a careful, whole-hearted and interesting manner, "presenting facts," as she termed it, in a logical train of thought. She said the reason of the prohibition wave in the south was a self preservation measure adopted by the whites because of the negroes. It had become a question, she said, whether the saloon or the white people would have to leave the south because of the influence the saloon was having on the negro race. The same question of self-preservation, the speaker declared, was before northern people, and laid the responsibility for the anarchistic tendencies in communities of laboring men on the liquor traffic.

Some comparisons were made between the no license state of Kansas and the license state of Nebraska, the speaker declaring the bank clearances show up larger in favor of Kansas, public and municipal improvements are better, school teachers, who are paid license money in Nebraska, get a third larger salaries in Kansas, and many similar comparisons.

The meetings were made the occasion to add the names of all who wished to join the union in this community.

Doc Still Active.

This item, from the Edgemont, S. D., Express, will be read with interest by those here who were familiar with the characters that obtained notoriety in the palmy days: "Doc Middleton, who is one of the interested ones in the celebrated race from Edgemont to Denver, was in town on Monday, on his way to Hot Springs to see his wife, who is in the hospital there. He is still in the front rank booming the race, and he intends to be the first in the outcome at Denver. He has been in this country ever since the Black Hills were prominent, and he is as well known as anyone can be. He is doing his utmost to make the race a success, and will be in the front all the time."

Will Start Cement Factory.

Daniel Burr, traveling man and ranch owner, and T. V. Golden will start a factory here about May 1 for the manufacture of cement building blocks and cement shingles.

Mr. Burr was in the city Monday and in conversation with a Frontier representative talked very optimistic of the prospects of the enterprise. He has had practical experience in the manufacture of the blocks and now has machinery installed at Norfolk. The machinery, Mr. Burr says, was first got to make the cement blocks for building on his ranch in Wheeler county, but when the public saw the quality of blocks there has been a general demand for them.

Mr. Golden is furnishing the land—sand and gravel—for the enterprise, while Mr. Burr furnishes the machinery. The machinery will be installed on land owned by Mr. Golden in Fahy's addition at a convenient location near the gravel pit. Mr. Golden thinks cement is the building material of the future and expresses confidence that the enterprise will be a success here. They expect to make, he says, a first-class product.

Death of Leo Hayes.

Salt Lake Herald, March 24: This morning at 4 o'clock at the Park City miners' hospital, Leo Hayes, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hayes of this city, died of appendicitis. The young man was taken sick about two weeks ago and gradually grew worse until on last Tuesday it was found necessary to operate on him, which was done, and the operation proved successful enough and for a day or so he seemed on the improve, but his weakened condition was such that despite every effort on the part of the physicians and the hard fight made by himself, he was unable to ward off death.

Leo was a member of the local high school and was well liked by all of his teachers and schoolmates. He was in his 20th year and leaves a mother and father, two sisters and a brother to mourn his death.

The remains will be shipped to O'Neill, Nebr., for burial in the morning and the funeral services will be held from the Catholic church, where a requiem mass will be celebrated by Rev. Father Galligan.

The Knights of Columbus, to which order the deceased belonged, will have charge of the funeral.

Several beautiful floral pieces have been ordered by telegram to be delivered at O'Neill by the families, Park City friends, high school pupils and the Knights of Columbus.

To the kind relatives and neighbors in O'Neill, we desire to express our grateful thanks for the beautiful floral offerings and many acts of kindness tendered us during the death and burial of our beloved son, Leo.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hayes.

The funeral of James Sullivan was held last Friday afternoon and was one of the largest seen in this city for years, which testified to the esteem in which he was held by people in O'Neill and vicinity. His remains were laid to rest by the side of a son and daughter in the Catholic cemetery. Two sons, Phillip and Jerry, came from Montana to attend the funeral and will visit here a couple of weeks before returning to their homes in the west.

SHOT NEIGHBOR; SUICIDE

Demented Homesteader Attempts to Slay Eric Borg.

KILLS SELF TO AVOID CAPTURE

Intended Victim Still Alive and May Recover.—Tragedy in Northern Part of County.

Eric Borg, one of the most prosperous and highly respected farmers of this county, living on the Eagle twenty miles north of this city, was shot last Saturday morning by John Price, a "Kinkaid homesteader," who lived about four miles from Borg's. About five hours after the shooting, when closely pursued by Sheriff Hall and a posse, he ducked into a shanty on a homestead about a mile from his home and put a bullet through his brain.

Borg went to his barn about 7 o'clock in the morning to feed his horses and opened the top half of the door when Price stuck a 38-calibre revolver up against his breast and pulled the trigger. The ball entered just right of the breast bone missing the lung and lodging in the muscles of the back.

Borg got away from in front of the door and ran over a mile along the creek bottom to a neighbor's house. When he arrived there he was very weak from loss of blood and was taken back home in a carriage. His condition then was precarious and it was not thought he could recover, but he has rested easily since and it is now thought the danger point is passed.

The would-be murderer and suicide, after the shooting, started west along Eagle creek, evidently seeking some place of concealment. Sheriff Hall reached the place of the shooting about 11 o'clock and together with those who had assembled took up the search for Price. He was soon located in a vacant shanty about a mile from his home. The door of the shanty was fastened upon the inside with a wire, but when the sheriff jerked it open he found Price on the floor dead with a hole through the top of his head, and the revolver tightly grasped in both hands, the muzzle toward his face. The body was still warm, showing that it had been but a few moments since he had shot himself. An inquest was held by the sheriff, the jury finding that he came to his death by his own hand. The body was then taken to his shanty and turned over to his widow. Borg and Price never had any trouble and the shooting can be accounted for only on the theory that Price was insane.

A Complaint.

Mr. Editor: Will you kindly call the attention of the city authorities to the fact that it costs money to pump water, and the overflow from the stand pipe is wholly unnecessary at this or any season of the year.

John.
