"ICE KING" MORSE SENTENCED TO 15 YEARS IN PRISON

While Alfred H. Curtis, Who Also Was Found Guilty, Goes Free.

 WRIT OF ERROR.

New York, Nov. 9.-A writ of error in the case of Morse was obtained from Judge La-combe this afternoon. It is ex-pected that Morse will be re-leased on bail.

 New York, Nov. 9.—Charles W. Morse, one time "ice king" and "steamship king," whose personal fortune a little more than a year ago was estimated at more than $22,000,000, was today sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment, having yesterday been convicted of the misapplication of funds of the National Bank of North America.

Sentence on Alfred H. Curtis, former president of the National Bank of North America, who was found guilty with Mr. Morse, was suspended.

Mr. Morse was taken to the Tombs prison at 1 o'clock this afternoon. At that time it was announced that no application for his release on ball would be made today.

The sentence on Mr. Morse is based on a verdict of guilty of misapplication.

on a verdict of guilty of misapplica-tion of funds and making false entries in the books of the bank. It is under-stood that if Morse goes to prison he will be confined in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga. Ten Days' Stay.

Ten days' stay in the execution of the sentence upon Mr. Morse was granted by Judge Hough. He was paroled in the custody of Marshal Henkel, pending any action that may be taken during the 10 days' stay.

The scene in the court room when sentence was pronounced by Judge Hough was a most dramatic one. The wives of the two prisoners were present early today as if anxious to cheer their husbands by their presence in the trying ordeal which confronted them. When the real test came, however, it was the husbands and not the wives who were the comforters.

was the husbands and not the wives who were the comforters.

Mr. Morse sat like a stoic when he heard the words which condemned him to prison. There was scarcely a tremor of an eyelid.

Mr. Curtis, too, accepted the news which came to him—good news in his case—with the same lack of emotion that characterized Morse. Women Collapse.

But the strain had been too great for the women. As the truth of what Judge Hough's words meant flashed through their minds Mrs. Morse, who through all the trying days of the trial had preserved an unruffled demeanor, collapsed in her seat, buried her face in her hands and began to sob convulsively;

Still weeping, she was led away to an ante room, where in a moment her husbard held her in his arms and sought to console her.

Nor was Mrs. Curtis any more prepared for the nervous strain than Mrs. Morse. When the judgment of the court—most favorable for her husband that could be given—was pronounced, she fainted and would have fallen had not kindly hands supported her.

Morse and Curtis passed a fairly restful night in the Tombs, where they occupied a cell together. Early, this morning, after a breakfast of plain prison fare, they were taken to the court room by Marshal Henkel. They appeared to be cheerful and chatted with their keepers and friends.

"In the case of Mr. Morse there's not much to be said," said the judge.
"As in all bank fraud cases criminal legality is only a part of a larger scheme. In this case this was to use the bank's depositors' money for speculative purposes. If such a scheme were permitted to be carried out, the public would be at the mercy of bank adventurers. Therefore, I sentence you to 15 years in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga."

DETAILS OF CLOSING ECENES OF TRIAL

New York, Nov. 9.—Charles W. Morse, until a year ago a dominant figure in the world of finance, and Alfred H. Curtis, former president of the National Bank of North America, were found guilty in the criminal branch of the United States circuit court on charges of misapplication of funds and faisifying the books of the bank. There was also the additional charge of conspiracy against the prisoners, but the jury acquitted the men on this count.

Within five minutes of the time the jury had rendered its verdict Judge Hough had refused to entertain a motion for ball and had committed the two bankers to the Tombs prison.

Mr. Morse and Mr. Curtis stood before the jury while Foreman John Elder was reading the verdict and their wives sat near them leaning forward in tense attitudes to catch every word.

A look of relief came to the faces of the prisoners and their wives, but it only lasted a moment, for Mr. Elder continued:

MISSOURI REMAINS IN REPUBLICAN FOLD

 THE ELECTORAL VOTE.

St. Louis, Nov. 9.—Supplementary returns early today failed to disturb materially Taft's lead of 4,235 in Missouri. The state legislature seems fixed at a democratic majority of six on joint ballot, although this is subject to change. What doubts now exist relate mostly to minor state offices and the constitutional amendments proposed for adoution.

adoption.

The returns compiled give Taft 317,124 votes and Bryan 312,889, a plurality for Taft of 4,235.

Hadley's plurality for governor is 16,993. Returns, almost complete, give Stone the democratic nomination for senator over Folk by 18,829.

Stone is assured of re-election to the Senate provided all democrats in the legislature abide by the advisory vote of the primary. That they will do this is by no means certain, and there are predictions tonight of a senatorial deadlock.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 6.—The official count has not been completed, but it now seems probable the electoral vote of Maryland will be diveded, seven to Bryan and one to Taft.

This result is a precise duplication of what occurred in the presidential election of 1904, and the reason is that, apparently more republicans than democrats marked their ballots for the first name in the electoral only.

It is considered to be due chiefly to the ballot law, which prohibits the party emblem. The illiterate voter frequently marks his ballot so that it counts only for the first elector on the

TO SAVE PUBLIC LANDS FOR LATER IRRIGATION

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—In his annual report for the last fiscal year, Commissioner Fred Dennett, of the general land office recommends the withdraway from entry of all public lands which may be irrigated which are not now capable of being utilized for homes. On that point he says:

"States, in order to ascertain what public lands, which in their present condition are incapable of affording a home, are susceptible of irrigation to cost even much greater than that now obtained by the reclamation service and to withdraw these lands from entry awaiting the time when they can by irrigation be made homes either under the United States government or under the Carey act.

"No one can be hurt by such a withdrawal; for desert land which cannot be reclaimed by the individual effort of a settler can never become a home until water is brought to it by the government, state or by the expenditure of vast sums by private enterprise."

The total receipts of the office for the year were $12,715,709 an increase over the previous year of $1,161,531. The total area of land originally en-tered during the year is 19,090,356 acres, a decrease of 1,907,209 acres, as compared with 1907.

Exactly similar conditions prevailed as regards the legislature. Which party will prevail on Joint ballot is an unsolved mystery which may or may not be cleared up today.

Returns compiled early today from every county give Taft a lead over Bryan in Missouri of 67 votes. The same tables give Hadley for governor a lead of 15,148, making his election over Cowherd an absolute certainty.

Unofficial returns from 114 out of 115 counties, 86 of the counties being complete, gives Taft a plurality of 479.

The missing count

The missing county is Morgan. The republican state committee claims this for Taft by a plurality of 360 votes, two less than received by Roosevelt over Parker four years ago. On this basis Taft's lead in the state is now 839, but in the absence of complete figures this result is far from decisive. Stone or Folk?

Stone has seemingly defeated Folk by a safe plurality for the democratic nomination, and the chances are that Lieutenant Governor McKinley has carried the republican primary over his nearest opponent, Richard C. William H. Taft carries the state for president by from 60,000 to 75,600.

Governor Johnson's decisive victory over J. F. Jacobson was unexpected, and is really a greater achievement than his two former successes. The republican candidate has a united party behind him, had a strong record as a recommendation to the voters, and in a presidential year it was believed the result might be close, in spite of Governor Johnson's personal strength.

MONTANA.

Butte, Mont., Nov. 5.—Advices from throughout Montana indicate that Taft throughout Montana indicate that Taft has carried the state by a majority close to 3,000. Charles N.
