It is not generally known that thought may produce a blister on the hand or an ulcer on the foot, as well as many other actual physical changes in one's organism which are little short of miraculous. I have no doubt that St. Francis of Assisi received the stigmata of the crucifixion on his hands and feet, as historically described. I have no doubt, because its possibility has been put to the proof within the last few years, and by a friend of mine whom I will name, Professor Kraft-Ebing, of Vienna, told a young woman he would place a small fly-plaster upon her which would produce a blister in a few hours. He actually only put a postage stamp upon the skin, without her knowledge, and covered it over so securely with bandages that she could not interfere with it. The blister appeared as suggested.

The Best Laxative—Garfield Tea Composed of Herbs, it exerts a beneficial effect upon the entire system, regulating liver, kidneys, stomach and bowels.

Pain Didn't Suppress Wit.

Officers have a right to ask questions in the performance of their duty, but there are occasions when it seems as if they might curtail or forego the privilege. Not long ago an Irishman whose hand had been badly mangled in an accident entered the Boston City Hospital relief station in a great hurry. He stepped up to the man in charge and inquired: "Is this the relief station, sor?"

"Yes. What is your name?"

"Patrick O'Connor, sor."

"Are you married?" questioned the officer.

"Yis, sor, but is this the relief station?"

"He was nursing his hand in agony."

"Of course it is. How many children have you?"

"Eight, sor. But sure, this is the relief station?"

"Yes, it is," replied the officer, a little angry at the man's persistence.

"Well," said Patrick, "sure, an' I was beginning to think that it might be the pumping station."

TOLD TO USE CUTICURA

After Specialist Failed to Cure Her Intense Itching Eczema—Had Been Tortured and Disfigured but Soon Cured of Dreadful Humors.

"I contracted eczema and suffered intensely for about ten months. At times I thought I would scratch myself to pieces. My face and arms were covered with large red patches, so that I was ashamed to go out. I was advised to go to a doctor who was a specialist in skin diseases, but I received very little relief. I tried every known remedy, with the same results. I thought I would never get better until a friend of mine told me to try the Cuticura Remedies. So I tried them, and after four or five applications of Cuticura Ointment I was relieved of my unbearable itching. I used two sets of the Cuticura Remedies, and I am completely cured. Miss Barbara Kral, Highlandtown, Md., Jan. 9, 1908." Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props. of Cuticura Remedies, Boston.

A Grim Reminder.

From the Buffalo Courier. "The late Bishop Fowler," said a Buffalo Methodist, "had the happiest knack of illustrating, with one luminous sentence, traits of character, faults, villainies." "Once, I remember talking on gambling houses and the little mercy shown to ruined players, Bishop Fowler, with a grim smile, said: "The men who took Jonah's money were the same, remember, who threw him overboard. Things like that still happen."

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded, 50c.

Rather Hoggish.

Commissioner Bingham, of New York, was talking about a rather hoggish corporation. Of its last and worst victim he said: "The poor young fellow must have felt rather like the rich bachelor, who, returning unexpectedly from Florida to his flat in town, found a friend and a lady in his library and exclaimed: "Well, I'm dashed! If you're my cigarettes, my gramophone, my wine, my girl!"

MORE PINKHAM CURES

Added to the Long List due to This Famous Remedy.

Camden, N. J.—"It is with pleasure that I add my testimonial to your already long list—hoping that it may induce others to avail themselves of this valuable medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered from terrible headaches, pain in my back and right side, was tired and nervous, and so weak I could hardly stand. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored me to health and made me feel like a new person, and it shall always have my praise."—Mrs. W. P. VALENTINE, 902 Lincoln Avenue, Camden, N. J.

Gardner, Me.—"I was a great sufferer from a female disease. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation. But Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me in three months."—Mrs. S. A. WILLIAMS, R. F. D. No. 14, Box 39, Gardner, Me.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result is worth millions to many suffering women.

MULES TAKE PLACE OF SATIN SLIPPERS

Tiny Apologies for Foot Coverings Now the Most Popular Kind of Wear.

Smart brides of the season are discarding the time-honored white satin slippers and are wearing instead the fetching little white satin mules which the directoire costumes have brought in their wake. These tiny apologies for foot coverings are adorned, when intended for a bride, with a coquettish bit of tulle or a tiny spray of orange blossoms, for which the tulle forms a background.

Because they are immensely becoming in the newest costume, and, for the Modish, the mules are destined to be popular, and the bride does not confine herself merely to white satin ones, but orders them in other colors to match the evening gowns in her trousseau.

Carry Prayer Book.

Fashion decrees that the bride shall carry a prayer book to the altar, and this must be no ordinary one, but hand-bound and an exquisite specimen of the craftsman's art. In the back of such a book blank pages are inserted for data regarding the marriage—the name of the church in which it occurred, the date, the signatures of the officiating priest and of the witnesses. Such a prayer book is not only a beautiful work of art, but a priceless treasure to the bride, who gives it to future generations—an heirloom to be used by other brides of the family.

Certificates on Vellum.

There is a fad, too, for having the marriage certificate preserved in artistic form. Brides who can afford it order their certificates hand-made on vellum, the printing and decoration being done in the most artistic manner. It is glorious in color and lends itself to a wide variety of decorative schemes.

There are two methods of preserving this lovely specimen of handcraft. One is to keep it in a handsomely embossed leather envelope or casing, made for the purpose, and the other is to frame it. Most brides prefer the latter treatment, for the framed certificate makes a most ornamental article for the wall of the boudoir.

Satin Cases for Toilet Articles.

One of the daintiest accessories of the up-to-date trousseau is the multiplicity of satin cases to hold all the minor pieces of the toilet. These cases are of white satin exquisitely embroidered and lined with soft white silk. They are wadded, of course, and abundantly perfumed with the favorite leather or musk. Made in different sizes and shapes, they are intended for veils, gloves, handkerchiefs, ties, and some of them are quite capacious in order that smaller articles of lingerie may be put into them.

Buying in Small Amounts.

From the Philadelphia Item. The man who runs a grocery and fruit store with a meat market attachment in a light housekeeping neighborhood is always sure of his share of funny experiences, and a man who has just that sort of job up in upper Manhattan.

"These light housekeeping customers take more of our time in proportion to the money they leave with us than any other class, but they keep us so amused, and they are usually so young and pretty and jolly, that we never think of really getting mad at them."

Buying steak to fit the skillet is a light housekeeping proposition we're often up against. What we call Delmonico steaks are the best for this, and they're favorites with all the women who play the light housekeeping game. We take the steak out and skewer the steak up so it'll fit their pan, and they go off smiling. One girl brings in a plate just the size of her skillet, so we make the steak fit the plate. We get so used to selling "just two chops," that we take a small purchase like that as a matter of course. We take the girl a pretty little thing came in with her tape measure. She said she wanted to buy a small turkey. The turkey must be just the size to fit into a pan which just went into her oven, and she'd brought along the tape measure to make sure. I told her I'd never seen such a small edition of our national bird chicken. She was a good deal disappointed, but we found a fine chicken that went into the pan with a couple of inches to the good. Then she had me look over a big basket of sweet potatoes to find some nice long, slender ones, like we used to see in the market. I told her I'd never seen such a small edition of our national bird chicken. She was a good deal disappointed, but we found a fine chicken that went into the pan with a couple of inches to the good. Then she had me look over a big basket of sweet potatoes to find some nice long, slender ones, like we used to see in the market.

"Cheese is another thing the light housekeeper always goes slow on. They'd rather buy a few cents' worth every day than have a lump left over for a stray mouse to nibble on. Lots of stores object to selling less than a pound, but when a pretty girl appeals to you for 'just five cents' worth' and perhaps to make up for it plunges recklessly and gets four eggs and a quarter of a pound of coffee at the same time—who'd have the heart to refuse?"

"These hair splitting calculations aren't often necessary on account of the lack of money, but just because there's no place to keep leftovers."

THESE REFORM DAYS. Jim—Old Grafterleigh, for a politician, seems to be working and worrying a lot, Jack—Yes, he's trying to deliver the goods and yet not get caught with them!

THE LESSER EVIL. The young wife of a Philadelphia man, who is not especially sweet-tempered, one day approached her lord touching the matter of $100 or so.

"Oh, very well, James," said the wife, "I'd like to see you, but the fact is I haven't that amount in bank this morning—that is to say, I haven't that amount to spare, inasmuch as I must take up a note of $200 this afternoon."

Doughnuts or Crullers?

From the New York World. Once more the dispute arises in print as to when it is a doughnut and when a cruller. The issue is a vain one, largely local.

If you eat the real thing in New England, with coffee at breakfast time or with cider in the hayfield at noon, it is a doughnut—unless it is a fried cake. In New York doughnuts are few, and if they come from the baker's they may just as well be called crullers as anything else. Nothing like them would go with a donation party in Maine.

Mrs. Rorer, Mrs. Christine Terhune Herrick and other authorities accord the superiority of the deep dish for frying doughnuts. It does not seem to matter for the other things. Doughnuts, according to the "White House Cook Book," can be nicely brewed and cooked inside in 10 minutes, while "five or six minutes will cook a cruller." A little time works wonders in such a matter.

Consulting the "Consolidated Library of Modern Cooking," we find that for doughnuts the dough should be rolled out in rings or small balls, while for crullers the rule is to "cut in squares, cut slits with jagging iron and braid together."

Our grandmothers made raised doughnuts in New York most be fresh every morning. Real doughnuts are good with cheese or maple syrup. Nobody who has eaten them considers it dignified to take crullers seriously.

Fawns Are Prey.

From the Denver Post. Caught in the deep snow and surrounded by coyotes, 13 deer were killed one after the other. This and many other stories of the killing of game by coyotes were told by Frank G. Stanley, volunteer officer of the state Humane society, who came in from Hot Sulphur Springs this morning.

Hundreds of fawns are overcome by the coyotes, which are becoming more numerous each year, he says. All sorts of small birds, grouse, sage hens and even beaver are destroyed in great numbers. The piles of feathers and the signs of struggles in the snow tell the story of the hardships endured by the feathered colony, as well as the deer.

Mr. Stanley will take the matter up with the game commissioners, and an attempt will be made to have the legislature place a bounty on coyote scalps.

Helel—Don't you think it unsafe in such deep water?
Henry—Oh, no, indeed! Got in much deeper water last season. I nearly became engaged to one of the girls down here.

COULD NOT SHAKE IT OFF. Kidney Trouble Contracted by Thousands in the Civil War. James W. Clay, 666 W. Fayette St., Baltimore, Md., says: "I was troubled with kidney complaint from the time of the Civil War. There was constant pain in the back and head and the kidney secretions were painful and showed a sediment. The first remedy to help me was Doan's Kidney Pills. Three boxes made a complete cure and during five years past I have had no return of the trouble."

Didn't Know His Capacity. "The late Ira D. Sankey," said a veteran Pittsburg editor, "once dined with me in Philadelphia. During the dinner he looked about the restaurant, where every table was covered with glasses of white or red wine, and he said:

"There is a man drinking a whole bottle, a full quart, of champagne. It is amazing what a capacity for liquor some men possess. And the man with a large capacity is actually proud of it. Could anything be more foolish, more sinful?"

"Then, with a chuckle, Mr. Sankey told me about a beggar he had once helped."

"The beggar had a red nose, and Mr. Sankey gave him 20 cents, saying at the same time:

"Mind you, now don't get drunk on this."

"The beggar laughed. 'Drunk on 20 cents. Why, boss,' he said proudly, 'it'd take the best part of a dollar to get me drunk.'"

Showing All the Signs. An Oxford student was showing two fair cousins through Christchurch college. "That," he explained, "is the picture gallery; that the library, and that tower contains the famous bell, 'Great Tom of Oxford.'" Stopping quickly, he picked up a stone and sent it crashing through a second story, ivy covered window, where there immediately appeared a face purple with rage. "And that," added the young man, helpfully, "is the dean." Thus it was that he came to leave one seat of learning for another.

CATARRH IN HEAD.

Pe-ru-na—Pe-ru-na

MR. WM. A. PRESSER.

MR. WILLIAM A. PRESSER, 1722 Third Ave., Moline, Ill., writes:

"I have been suffering from catarrh in the head for the past two months and tried innumerable so-called remedies without avail. No one knows how I have suffered, not only from the disease itself, but from mortification when in company of friends or strangers. I had used two bottles of your medicine for a short time only, and it effected a complete medical cure, and what is better yet, the disease has not returned."

"I can most emphatically recommend Peruna to all sufferers from this disease."

Mr. A. Thompson, Box 65, R. R. 1, Martel, Ohio, writes: "When I began your treatment my eyes were inflamed, nose was stopped up half of the time, I had a sore and scabby, I could not rest at night on account of continual hawking and spitting."

"I had tried several remedies and was about to give up, but thought I would try Peruna."

"After I had taken about one-third of a bottle I noticed a difference. I am now completely cured, after suffering with catarrh for eighteen years. 'I think if those who are afflicted with catarrh would try Peruna they would never regret it.'"
