er of Douglas, H. R. 239, which not only covers the same subject in much the same way but amplifies the issue and goes even farther than the governor has gone in the measures submitted today. So similar are these two proposals that when the governor's bill was read to the House today, Stoecker cried out, "Look up my bill, No 239. I have one just like it." But Stoecker's has lain unnoticed in the files for a long time with none to do it honor. An hour before the governor's bill reached the House, the Senate in committee of the whole had recommended for passage S. F. 317 by Brown of Lancaster, a bill providing for the control of the issue of stock, and bonds by corporations, a measure covering practically the same issues. A knowledge of these facts leads the careful observer to suspicion with good reasons that the governor's dramatic entry on the field of legislation was little less than palpable play to the galleries.

The governor's bill was rushed through the House in record time, and sent to the Senate at the close of the week, where out of deference to the chief executive it will no doubt meet with a similar experience.

County option was again beaten in the House during the past week, the Boyd bill, H. R. 249, being indefinitely postponed by a vote of 52 against to 39 for. The Boyd bill was an exact counterpart of Senator Miller's bill defeated in the Senate some time ago. Both houses are now on record in the matter of county option, having defeated the measure in both branches of the legislature.

Many of the appropriations of interest to the various cities in the state are on their final passage in the Senate at the close of the week. Among them the following have passed both houses: $70,000 for new buildings at Beatrice, Feeble Minded; $40,000 for new buildings at Peru Normal; $50,000 for the Kearney Normal. The House has passed the bill by Kelly of Furnas appropriating $100,000 for an agricultural college in the western end of the state. The bill has yet to pass the Senate and receive the governor's approval.

Doyle's Platform.

To the Electors of the City of O'Neill: At the earnest request of the few zealous friends of mine, I permitted them to circulate a petition placing me in nomination of the office of mayor at the eleventh hour. At this day and age a man asking people to vote for him should announce in advance his position on important questions.

If elected to the office, it shall be my endeavor to bring to the city of O'Neill what is known as the daylight saloon. That means a saloon operated from six o'clock or half past in the morning until seven or half past in the evening with a license at $800 with not to exceed three saloons. The saloons in the capital of the state have been so operated for the past year and have given eminent satisfaction. This would in part do away with that scene familiar to all who are not scripturally blind, of the string of famishing horses in the cold wintry nights standing perishing at the hitching posts. And in the wee small hours of the morning the owners with their little batch of groceries, ride out over the hill toward home as did John Gilpen. Sometimes they reach home in safety while Mary and the children watch at the gate and at other times they laud in Eternity. While from our homes at midnight, it is not unusual to have the air filled with shouts and curses and an occasional crack of the pistol. With the daylight saloon this would partially come to an end.

If elected, I will re-appoint the entire set of city officers with the one exception of Mr. Kane the present nightwatch. I shall promise a rational economy in the administration of the city's finances and will publish an exact account of each meeting, setting forth the amount of money used and to whom paid.

I shall also publish a statement of the proceedings had during the last three years showing the amount of money taken in and the amount paid out and to whom it was paid. I will say that there were more taxes collected the last three years than in the preceding ten years, today O'Neill is the only city in the state of its population who has neither a lighting plant nor fire protection. In verification of this statement read the correspondence between the fire department and the mayor of three weeks ago, where through sheer neglect on his part, they accepted the only honorable alternative left, and tendered their resignation, which he promptly accepted, after years of faithful service without pay.

With the men engaged in the saloon business in O'Neill at the present time, we have no contention. They are the least offensive and conduct their business as well, if not better, than any saloon keepers the city has ever had. But the hour for the extinction of the saloon has struck and we, having within our gates a hundred children who have come here to receive a religious and moral education, it behooves us as a people to say to their parents and those who sent them that O'Neill has taken advance ground on the greatest question that confronts our people today.

I have not sought this nomination and to prove to you that I am in earnest, if Mr. Biglin will promise the people that he will bring about a daylight saloon, with the reforms I have here suggested, I will withdraw from the contest and vote for him.

Rumor hath it on the street that my petition will not be filed. The city clerk being a servant in the court of the high priest may throw it out on an alleged technicality but should that contingency arise, those who wish to vote for me can write my name on the ballot. I shall not solicit even so much as one vote nor will I thank any man who will vote for me, if he is not entitled to vote. If your sympathy is with the reforms here suggested, vote for them through me. If not, be it done unto you as you will. I will tell you of a truth; if by your vote you open the saloon door and through its evil influence my son is lost, expecting even an exact justice from on high, who will say that your son will not meet a like fate. There will be few Pharisees sneer at this saying but I warn you in the future. Then perhaps in tears you will remember the truth of it.

Compare the conditions that exist today to the conditions that confronted me when I was elected mayor four years ago. The business was then operated by bandits and Pharisees. Closed windows. Sunday the big day. Gambling and robbery every night occurrences. When I tore off their curtains, and threw out their cards and card tables and let God's sunlight pour in upon them, it drove some of them out of the country and others into retirement.

Yours with much respect,
D. A. Doyle.

Spring Wearing Apparel

I have just received a new line of Easter neckwear, beautiful patterns in four-in-hand, string and bows, late shapes. Supply yourself with this nobby attire.

BELTS
Ladies' belts are one of the required items of dress this season and they're very beautiful in all shades, elastic fit, at 25c, 35c, 50c, 65c. Assortment very large.

OXFORDS
Men now days are critical about their footwear but they find the Pingree oxford fills their wants. Neatness and quality are combined in these shoes. They retain their shape longer and give better service than any others. Patents, gunmetal, vicid kid and tan calf.

Wear Iron Clad Half Hose.

THEN you'll have no half-hose troubles and you'll save money. Iron Clad Hosiery surpasses all others in durability because of the superior quality of the yarn of which it is made and the "Extra Twist" that strengthens every strand.

Being seamless, it is always comfortable. The handsome styles are another distinction of Iron Clad Hosiery. You'll find just what you want in half hose at our store.

It's a perfectly natural thing for a man to consider how he looks to other people; women especially have a good deal of influence on the kind of clothes a man wears. If you care about it wear Hart, Schaffner & Marx clothes, and be sure that your appearance will be always right. No makers of clothing give so much attention and care to the quality and style of their garments: they use only all-wool fabrics, when cotton mixtures are common. These cotton mixtures are a good deal cheaper, though you'll often pay an all-wool price for them. We want you to have the best. We know it pays to have it: what pays you pays us.

The Home of Good Merchandise

Mr. Spangler, father of Mrs. A. S. Merrill, in company with Henry Martfeldt will leave on April 12th for a visit to his old home in Germany.

Hay McClure was up from the south country Tuesday on business. Hay has wintered 300 head of cattle this season and got through without the loss of a head.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Maring, who have lived in Atkinson the past year, have closed their residence there and moved back to their farm southeast of Emmett.

Mr. and Mrs. John McNichols came down from Atkinson Sunday and spent the day at the home of S. F. McNichols, whose youngest daughter is seriously ill.

Howard Greeley of Atkinson was in the city Tuesday. Mr. Greeley is now in the real estate business and says there are a great many settlers coming into western Holt and buying land.

Florence Sullivan, who has been seriously ill the past month, has recovered sufficiently to be up, and it is expected that with the advent of warm weather he will regain his old-time strength.

Whether the Donohoe franchise bill, over which considerable fuss was made in the closing days of the legislature, was good or bad, it is a dead one. The house furnished the death stroke by the "postponement" route.

County Assessor L. E. Skidmore of Ewing has been in town the past week getting the precinct assessors organized and equipped with books and schedules for this year's assessment, which will be made between now and June 1.

Undertaker Biglin was at Inman Sunday to prepare for burial the remains of Mrs. Charles Crosser who died on Saturday after a two month's illness. The deceased was fifty-seven years of age. The funeral was held Monday at Inman.

Peter J. Brown and Miss Regina C. Walter, both of Chambers, were granted license to wed on Monday. Judge Malone also on Tuesday issued license and performed the ceremony for Leopold A. Segar of Atkinson and Mrs. Mary Miller of Fremont.

Charles F. Naughton filed a complaint in Justice Golden's court Saturday against Robert Mueller charging that he had cause to fear an assault. The defendant was in court Tuesday and waived hearing. Justice Golden placed him under $500 bonds to keep the peace.

J. P. Gallagher, the popular merchant on the corner, has been staying around the house more than usual since last Sunday. Handsome and fine twin girls arrived at his home that morning and James has not been able to fix his attention so closely to business since.

L. G. Coburn, a former resident of this county, near Phoenix, but now living near Orchard, had business in town the first of the week. Mr. Coburn paid The Frontier a short call while in town. He is prospering in his new home and says Orchard is growing rapidly.

Rodell Root was up from the southwest part of the county Monday. Mr. Root had not been up since previous to election last fall and was kept busy for a half day shaking hands with his friends. Mrs. Root, he tells us, is visiting in Illinois at present, being on her way home from a visit at Washington, D. C., and vicinity.

The "Teddy Bear" will have to retire. "Billy Possum" is now the proper thing and appears in the form of a pin to fasten to the coat or vest lapel. Only a very few have made their appearance yet but if destined to have the popularity of the "Teddy Bear", there is probably a fortune in store for the originator of the novelty.

Garry Benson of the Ewing Advocate was an O'Neill visitor Saturday last. Garry has turned the Advocate over to his father and will leave next week for an extended trip to California and other coast states. If things look good to him he may decide to locate in the west, if not he will return to Ewing in the fall.

All members of the local lodge of the A. O. U. W. are requested to attend the next regular meeting to be held at the K. C. hall on next Tuesday evening, April 6, at 9:30 o'clock. At this meeting a delegate will be elected to attend the grand lodge and business of importance will come up for discussion. All members should make it a point to attend.

Non-alcoholic Sarsaparilla

If you think you need a tonic, ask your doctor. If you think you need something for your blood, ask your doctor. If you think you would like to try Ayer's non-alcoholic Sarsaparilla, ask your doctor. Consult him often. Keep in close touch with him.

Ask your doctor to name some of the results of constipation. His long list will begin with sick-headache, biliousness, dyspepsia, thin blood, bad skin. Then ask him if he would recommend your using Ayer's Pills.

Mike Lyons found time to break away from his many cares at Emmet Tuesday to come down and see if there was enough left of the court-house to move to Emmet. He says they have their new hotel about completed and another new store building has just been started and that they are about ready to present their claims for the removal of the county seat.

Last week Frank Campbell traded his farm west of town to George Hansen of Leonie for the Pfund store building on lower Douglas street, receiving a good roll of mazzuma to boot. When the lease on the building expires the 15th of next month Mr. Campbell will move his office and implement business thereto. O. F. Biglin at present has the building filled with machinery.

Strayed—From the Ryan place three miles east of Emmet six head of horses, description as follows: One flea-bit grey mare, left eye out; one bay mare colt, one year old; two grey colts, one mare and one gelding; two bay two year olds, both geldings. Suitable reward for recovery or information as to their whereabouts.—Address: J. A. Nutter, Emmet, Neb. or J. B. Ryan, O'Neill Neb. 41-2
