HENRY D. GRADY

The voters of Holt county have an opportunity this year, at the coming election, to vote for a young man for the office of sheriff, who has the distinction, not only of being the first to be a candidate for a county office, who was born in Holt county, but also, one who has served his country well in time of war and has also an honorable line of ancestors before him, as shown by the following brief genealogical reference to the family of Henry Grady.

Martin and Patrick Grady emigrated to the United States in 1839, and both enlisted in the Mexican war under Genl. Taylor. Martin was killed in an assault on the city of Mexico. At the close of the Mexican war Patrick Grady returned to his home at Galena, Ill., and at the outbreak of the Civil war he enlisted in the 45th Ill. Inf. His son, James, served in the 44th Ill. Inf., and died at Memphis, Tenn. At the close of the war, Henry Grady's father, John Grady, was the second son of Patrick Grady, above referred to, and he served in Co. M, 8th Ill. Cavalry during the civil war and was mustered out in July 1865, at the close of the war.

He came to Holt county from Galena, Ill., in 1874 and settled on a homestead two miles west of O'Neill. Returning to Illinois in 1875 he married Miss Mary Boyle. Of this union Henry D. Grady, republican candidate for sheriff, was born in this county in May, 1877. Henry was educated in the public schools of this county and had barely attained his majority when the Spanish-American war broke out, and, true to the patriotism inherent in him from his worthy ancestors, he was among the first to respond to his country's call. He enlisted in Co. I, 3rd Nebr. Vol. Inf. in 1898 and served in Cuba during the Spanish-American war.

In 1905 Mr. Grady took the civil service examination and was appointed in the mail service, in which service he is now engaged and has made an enviable record therein, both with the department and patrons. He was married to Miss Mary Hayes of Atkinson in 1906.

Thus, as before stated, the voters of this county have an opportunity to put not only a patriotic, sober industrious, honest young man in the office of sheriff but one that is "home grown" as well. It is fitting that the voters in general irrespective of party, as they appear to be doing, should set their seal of approval on the candidacy of Henry Grady for in him they will have a man as sheriff who will serve impartially, diligently, ably and courageously.

2-CENT LAW IN BALANCE

Testimony Will Be Taken September 20 In Notable Railroad Case.

Lincoln News: September 20, has been agreed upon as the date for beginning to take testimony in the railroad cases involving the 2-cent fare law, the railway commission law and other Nebraska enactments which four transportation companies are resisting in the United States court. Attorney General Thompson and O. O. Whedon of Lincoln will appear jointly for the state, while W. D. McHugh, assisted by lawyers and experts for the various railroads, will present there side of the case. As the carriers are making the attack, their testimony will come first and the state's rebuttal will follow. The inquiry will be conducted before Commissioner C. W. Pearsall at Omaha. There are four separate cases, identical in nature, brought respectively by the Burlington, Union Pacific, Rock Island and Missouri Pacific. The Northwestern alone, of all the independent railroads traversing Nebraska is not a participant in this litigation. The Rock Island case will be taken up first, as that road is the first to prepare its data supporting its assault upon the state laws.

While at Omaha a few days ago, Attorney General Thompson received assurance from the railroad companies' counsel that their figures would be submitted to him in advance of the hearing, so that he might be prepared for the introduction of testimony to meet them. If this should not be done, the state will ask time in which to examine the statistical proof offered by the companies. It will be necessary to analyze all such data and the state may call for the production of the carriers' books.

L. E. Wetling, who has been employed by the state as an expert accountant for these cases will be present at the taking of testimony, and U. G. Powell, rate clerk for the railway commission, will also attend. Their province will be to dissect the railroads' showing and, if necessary, to go to Chicago and St. Louis for an examination of the accounts kept at headquarters of the companies. It was suggested by a railroad representative that Wetling might be going over the books at headquarters while the hearing was going on at Omaha, to save time, but Attorney General Thompson vetoed this proposal, as he wants the state's expert to hear all the testimony offered by the roads.

The carriers must show, in order to knock out the 2-cent fare and the Aldrich commodity freight rate law, that they have been unable to make an adequate return upon their investment since those acts became effective. Against whatever data they submit along this line, the state will offer facts gathered by the railway commission and the testimony of its accountants. Before the cases are concluded, which will probably not be for a year to come, it is hoped by the attorney general to supplement the state's other testimony with data secured under the physical valuation of railroads now being undertaken by the railway commission.

Both sides prefer, if it is practicable, to finish one case before another is taken up. This method would prevent confusion such as was encountered in the trial of the express rate cases, when the testimony relating to the business of different companies was intermingled.

The Boyd County Fair to be held at Butte, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, September 23, 24 and 25, will have a lot of things worth going to see. The main feature will be the ball games between Norfolk and Gregory, Friday and Saturday afternoons. These are both semi-professional teams and have blood in their eye for each other over a scrap they had some time ago. The games will be thrillers. The first day will be "Governor's Day" and Gov. Shallenberger will speak. Prof. Holden, the greatest corn expert in the world, and State Superintendent Bishop will speak the last two days. There will be horse racing, a good band, free exhibitions and a street carnival. It will certainly be a good fair.

MINOR MENTION

F. M. Waid met with an accident in town the other day that was too close to a knockout blow to be comfortable. He was having a sickle bar repaired at a blacksmith shop, and held the bar while the blacksmith pounded with a heavy hammer. The hammer flew off the handle and struck Mr. Waid a terrific blow in the side of the head. He was stunned for a few minutes but not seriously hurt.

The same class of fellows that predicted a famine in the spring and feared a drought every time they saw the sun shine during the summer are now losing sleep for fear of a frost. The change in temperature from excessive heat to wet and cold makes the prophets of evil fearful. A light frost such as may come any time after the first of September would do no particular damage this year. The corn is now ripe. There has never been a season when corn made faster than during the hot weather in August and the late June planted fields are now out of danger from a freeze.

Michael Stafford, for many years roadmaster of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, died in a hospital at Omaha yesterday afternoon after a short illness of typhoid fever. Mr. Stafford was a resident of this city several years ago and moved from here to Atkinson, where he lived on his farm a mile east of that city until about ten years ago when the family moved to Norfolk, moving from there to Omaha a couple of years ago. Mike Stafford and family have many friends in Holt county who will regret to learn of his death.

It is the opinion of the Oakdale Sentinel that "a newspaper can never credibly represent a town whose business men do not advertise. He may howl himself hoarse bragging about the vim, and energy and enterprise of his town, but if his declarations are not backed up by a liberal amount of advertising by the business men of the town, the world will be slow to take his statements as true. It takes more than the unsupported testimony of the newspaper man to prove to the world that his town is the financial center, the business center, the best market, and the best place on earth to buy goods; his evidence needs corroboration.

The entire board of supervisors and county clerk of Boyd county were over yesterday to talk over with the Holt county board the already much discussed Redbird bridge proposition. The Holt county board was in session at the time but the visit of the officials of the other county was wholly unexpected. The board of this county submitted a proposition to Boyd county several months ago but that county declined to enter an agreement for substantial and lasting repairs on the bridge and went ahead with temporary repairs which have proved unsatisfactory and they now want to put in the steel span the Holt county board proposed in the beginning.

The Live Stock Market

South Omaha, Neb., Sept. 8.—Special market letter from Standard Live Stock Commission Co.

Notwithstanding another liberal run of cattle for the past week the market showed a good healthy tone and advance on good killers and feeders ranging from 10 to 25 cents fully recovering the decline of the previous week. The general rains of the past few days benefited the pastures and increased the demand for stockers and feeders. However, the continued heavy run this week—the third in succession—is pulling values down some.
