NATURALIZATION PAPERS ANNULLED FOR 16 CITIZENS

Papers Are Faulty and in Some Cases There Is Evidence of Fraudulent Intent.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 5.-Because of various irregularities in obtaining naturalization papers, 16 Nebraska residents of different nationalities will probably have to go through the process of being made citizens a second time. Papers have been completed in the office of United States Attorney A. W. Lane for filing in the federal court attacking the validity of their certifi-cates. Most of those whose citizenship is thus called into question live at Omaha and South Omaha, but others are scattered over the state. The list includes Germans, Bohemians, Scandinavians, Italians, an Irishman or two and others of miscellaneous nativity.

The suits to have the decrees of nat-uralization set aside will be commenced in the districts where the persons re-spectively live. Only two of the num-ber will be filed in the Lincoln division. In some cases it will be alleged that the individual was naturalized illegally before he had been in this country five years. Another ground will be that some of them were more than 18 years some of them were more than 18 years old on arriving in this country and did not make a formal declaration of their intention to become citizens, which is required of all except those coming here as minors. In one or two instances the claim will be made that the certificate is defective because witnesses for the person naturalized were not themselves citizens.

ILLINOIS SEEKS TO TAX E. H. HARRIMAN'S ESTATE

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Enforcement of the new Illinois inheritance tax law is ex-pected to bring into the state treas-ury a large sum from the estate of Edward H. Harriman.

Walter K. Lincoln, inheritance tax at-torney, acting for Attorney General Stead, petitioned County Judge Binaker to have J. Scott Matthews appointed inheritance tax appraiser to appraise the estate of Mr. Harriman, which was granted.

Although Mr. Harriman died a non-resident of Illinois, this fact, it is contended, will not prevent the taxation here of a large part of his estate. As here of a large part of his estate. As no appraiser has been appointed in New York state, the first official valuation placed on the vast Harriman estate may be had when the Illinois officials publish their investigation.

In his petition the inheritance tax attorney specifically avers that the enormous holdings of the Harriman estate in the Illinois Central Rallrand regiment of lancer regiment regiment of lancer regiment of lancer regiment of lancer regiment regiment tate in the Illinois Central Railroad company, Chicago & Alton railroad, Illinois Tunnei company and a long list of properties with plants in Illinois are all subject to taxation under the new law. It is expected the first hearing will be early this month.

MISSING 30 YEARS; RECTOR'S BODY BARELY ESCAPES DISSECTION

Philadelphia, Oct. 5 .- For more than Philadelphia, Oct. 5.—For more than 30 years nothing was heard from Rev. James Williams, once one of the best known Episcopalian clergymen in this city, by his freinds. Yesterday his body was recognized in the Presbyterian hospital just before it was to have been sent to the anatomical board for dissection

He was a victim of dissipation. The manner in which he lived caused his retirement from the Protestant Episcopal church. He joined the Reformed Episcopal church, and next his friends heard that he was a Free Thought debater. He then dropped out of sight.

Men who had admired his talents believed that he was dead, or did not think of him at all. His wife, unable to bear with his alleged dissipations, left him and died several months ago. A week ago he was found starving in a room in the cellar of 914 Green st. He had been without food for several days and was suffering from can-cer of the liver. He was too weak to move. His only money consisted of a Lincoln cent wrapped in tissue paper.

MRS. W. VANDERBILT, JR., WILL SUE, PARIS LEARNS

Paris, Oct. 5.—Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. K. Vanderbilt, jr., are declaring that there may be a suit for divorce instituted before long, instead of the arrangement for merely a separation.

Vanderbilt intimates say that Mrs Nanderbilt, who is at present in New York, is and has been for a long while very angry over what she has termed his undisguised infatuation for Mile. Cavalteri, the stage favorite Vanderbilt's friendship for Mile Cavalleri has been much talked about here in Paris, and, it is said, Newport has dis-

PEARY'S STEAMER IN NAVAL PARADE

Explorer Arrives in New York, but Won't Talk About Cook Controversy.

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 4.— Commander Peary's ship, the Roosevelt, is stranded in the Hudson river near J. Pierpoht Morgan's private landing, below Highland Falls.

++++++++++++++++++++++++++ New York, Oct. 4 .- The whistles of a hundred harbor craft shricked a continuous salute to the steamer Roosevelt as she ploughed up the harbor this morning at the moment when Commander Robert E. Peary stepped from a train in the Grand Central station, returning to New York from his trip to the north pole to participate in the Hudson-Fulton naval parade up the Hudson river.

The Roosevelt was well on her way The Roosevelt was well on her way from the quarantine station on Staten island to the pler at the foot of West Forty-second street, where the explorer was to board her, when Commander Peary arrived at 7:15 a. m. He was accompanied by Mrs. Peary.

Few to Meet Them.

The hour of their arrival was so early that few persons were at the station to greet them. They were warmly greeted, however, by Herbert L. Bridgman, secretary of the Peary Arctic club. A group of newspaper men also was gathered on the platform, and they crowded around the commander and questioned him about his trip to the far north. With the laugh-

mander and questioned him about his trip to the far north. With the laughing remark that he was too hungry to talk, Commander Peary turned aside the questioners and hastened across the street for breakfast.

After a hurried breakfast the commander and Mrs. Peary left the hotel for the pier at the foot of East Fortysecond street, where they were to board the Roosevelt.

the Roosevelt. Won't Talk Any More.

Members of the Peary Arctic club and close friends of the explorer will discuss with him during his stay in the city the various phases of the north pole controversy, but Commander Peary said he would not talk about the subject for publication until his formal statement was prepared.

"I appreciate the honor of being in today's naval parade," said the commander, just before alighting from the train, "and it is an especial pleasure to be with my crew on board the Roosevelt on such an occasion. There is nothing to be said now about the Cook controversy."

Commander Peary did not know how Won't Talk Any More.

Commander Peary did not know how long he would remain in New York be-fore returning to his home at Eagle island.

When Commander Peary, Mrs. Peary and Herbert L. Bridgman boarded the Roosevelt for the trip up the Hudson it had not been decided how far up the river he will go. Crowd Doesn's Know Him.

After reaching the pier Mr. Peary walked up and down for several minutes without being recognized by some 200 persons gathered there for a glimpse of the Roosevelt. The little steamer was anchored out in the stream with the north pole flag at her mizzen mast and the flags which in the international signal code read "Thank you" flying beneath it.

"How does it feel to be back home?" asked some one.
"It does not feel so worse, in the words of Chimmie McFadden," replied

Peary. Then his eyes turned back fondly to Then his eyes turned back folidly to the Roosevelt.

"She does not look like a very imposing ship, does she?" he said. "But up in the ice she looks like something, arrested for drunkenness. She visited him and there were times when she looked mighty good to me. You notice the mighty good to me. You notice the way she is built. The round of bow prevents the ice from keeping hold of her when she is squeezed, and she bobs her when she is squeezed, and she bobs up when the ice crushes together."

Telling of the adoption of the north pole flag which the steamer bears, Commander Peary said:

"I wanted a piece of the silk flag I flew at the pole to bury at that point with my records, so I cut a diagonal strip out of it. Then, to preserve the flag, I sewed a strip of white silk into the cut when I returned to the Roosevelt. The design seemed so appropriate that we lettered this strip and adopted it as the north pole ensign."

Mr. and Mrs. Peary had stepped on board the tug and were on their way board the tug and were on their way to the Roosevelt before the crowd at the dock realized who they were. Then there was a burst of cheering. Hand-kerchiefs and hats were waved and the whistles renewed their blasts.

Captain Bartlett and the crew of 19 men still wore on the Roosevelt, garments they had chosen for t rough trip to the Arctic—flannel shirts, fur boots and picturesque sea togs.
