Small grain in this vicinity is turning out better than was expected. There was some cases where the grain was not stacked well, or it was left in the shock and was much damaged by the fall rains. 'Nough said.
At this time of the year everybody should take time to plow their fire guards for their is great danger of a fire coming in at any time now and it would clean everybody out if they are unprotected by fire guards. Besides it is more pleasant to plow the guards when you don't see the fire coming then to wait until you do. Then you can take your time and do it right, since you will not need to hurry so much.
