

The Mondell Homestead Lands

We are receiving thousands of inquiries about the 320-acre free homestead lands available for settlers under the Mondell Act. These lands are located in eastern Colorado and in Wyoming along the Burlington. The great advantage of this new homestead law is that the settler is permitted to take up, free, 320 acres instead of 160 acres, the larger tract being required under the new dry farming methods; northeastern Wyoming has from 16 to 21 inches of moisture, and has produced some of the finest crops of small grain ever seen in the west.

I personally conduct excursions on the first and third Tuesdays of each month to these lands. Write me for special descriptive folders, literature, etc.

Irrigated Lands in the Big Horn Basin—These government irrigated lands are being fast taken up by settlers who realize the coming value of Big Horn Basin lands in view of the railroad development in central Wyoming.

For the convenience of all Cream Patrons we have opened a Cream Station in the building known as the Yantzi Butter and Egg Store. Mr. Yantzi will be in charge and will weigh and test your cream and pay you the cash for it; also pay cash for Poultry. You will get as much for your cream at the Station as we pay at the Creamery.

Will keep a supply of fresh butter milk on hand all the time so anyone wanting butter milk can get same at 5 cents per gallon, or all you can drink for 5 cents.

Now that we have a station down town and will pay you the same price there as at the Creamery, we want every cream patron to give us a trial, for we are doing this for your own good.

In the matter of the estate of Mary A. Woodul, Walter F. Woodul, Juanita Woodul, Lee Woodul and Moissele Woodul, minors.

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE.
Now on this 16th day of October, 1909, this cause came on for hearing upon the petition duly verified of K. K. Dickson, guardian of the property and estate of Mary A. Woodul, Walter F. Woodul, Juanita Woodul, Lee Woodul and Moissele Woodul, minors, for license to sell their interests in the following described real estate situated in Holt county, Nebraska, to-wit: The southeast quarter (SE¹/₄) of section twenty-two (sec. 22) township twenty-eight (Twp. 28) north of range fifteen (range 15) west of the sixth P. M., for the purpose of raising funds for the support and maintenance and education of said minors and it appearing to me from said petition that said minors own jointly an undivided two-thirds interest therein, and that said real estate is unimproved and that the income therefrom does not exceed $25 and that said minors have no personal property and that they are dependent upon their father and the income from the above described real estate for their support, maintenance and education and that it is to the best interest of said minors and their estate that their interest in said real estate be sold and the proceeds thereof be used for the purpose hereinbefore set forth.

It is therefore ordered that the next of kin of said minors and all persons interested in said real estate appear before me at the court room in the court house in city of O'Neill, Nebraska, on the 6th day of December, 1909, at 10 o'clock a. m. to show cause, if any there be why license should not be granted to the said R. K. Dickson to sell all the interest of said minors in and to the above described real estate for the purpose above set forth. It is further ordered that a copy of this order be published once each week for three successive weeks in The Frontier, a newspaper printed and published in the city of O'Neill, Holt county, Nebraska and of general circulation in said county.

19-3 J. J. HARRINGTON,
Judge of District Court, Holt county, Nebraska.

PURVEYORS TO ROYALTY.

Their Signs Constitute One of the Sights of London.

The American in London, on his first visit to that marvelous city, is struck by the number of signs over shops with the royal arms painted thereon and announcing that the tradesman is a purveyor to their majesties. Yet, when the matter is sifted, the number is not so large.

Officially, according to the London News, there are about 200 tradesmen in London who hold the royal warrant and are entitled to use the royal arms as a shop sign, with the accompanying words, "By Royal appointment." The royal warrant has to be received, signed and sealed in due form; otherwise, if a tradesman styles himself a purveyor to a member of the royal family without this formal permission, he is guilty of an offense which is punishable by a fine not exceeding £20. Moreover, he is liable to a similar fine if he uses arms so nearly resembling the royal arms as to lead people to believe that he is carrying on his business under the authority of royalty. Several instances have occurred of the enforcement of these penalties.

The warrants are exhibited in the shop windows, headed by the royal arms and bearing the signature of the lord chamberlain, the comptroller of the royal household, the treasurer of the latter, or of the master of the horse, etc., according to the circumstances.

SMOKING A PIPE.

It is Said to Give the Face a Square Jawed Effect.

"There is one question I always ask a man who wants a job," remarked the business man who has to hire several hundred men for different positions each year.

"The question I always ask them is, 'Do you smoke a pipe much?' Of course the answers are various. Some of them smoke a pipe a great deal, and others not at all.

"Why do I ask about the pipe? Well, not that I have the least interest in their habits or that I have any prejudice one way or another in the matter. The reason is that I want to know whether the formation of their lower jaws is natural or acquired.

"A man with a firm lower jaw is always a man of parts and of will. I say 'always'—anyway, most always. If he does not smoke a pipe his square jaw, back near where it hinges on to the upper one, is natural. If he is a pipe smoker the looks are deceiving, and I have to judge his caliber some other way.

"Pipe smokers always have strong muscles back on the face about the place a man stops when he makes the first stroke downward in shaving. These are the muscles that hold the jaws together. They often give a square jawed effect to a man who hasn't any square jaw characteristics. My men think I ask funny questions, but there's a reason."—New York Times.
