It was not until the American civil war of 1861 that any successful application of the torpedo to naval warfare took place. Its first invention, however, dates back many years before this, the credit for the discovery being generally given to David Bushnell, an American, in 1777. In 1805 Fulton's torpedoes were successfully tried in Britain, but their use was declined by the government, and various other experiments were tried from time to lime. Norway was the first country to order a fast torpedo boat, which was built in England in 1873.

Application of Northwestern of $20,162,000 Refunding Bonds Granted.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 12.-The state railway commission yesterday authorized the issue of $20,162,000 general mortgage gold bonds of 1897 by the Chicago & Northwestern railroad. Most of the bonds are to be used for refunding the matured securities of roads that have come under Northwestern control.

Of the entire sum $613,000, according to the representations of the company, is to be used to refund the expenses of retiring old bonds, $8,549,000 will be used to take up bonds which will mature before January 1, 1910, $9,000,000 will be used to cover improvements now made in the road and $2,000,000 will be used to finance improvements and extensions now contemplated or under way. The bonds are to be sold under way. The bonds are to be sold for money criy.

Permission to issue the bonds was applied for under the Shallenberger act. Previous to this application the Wisconsin commission had approved the bond issue, the Northwestern being incorporated in that state. It is deemed improbable that the Nebraska commission could hold up the issuance of bonds by an interstate corporation, but if the commission found reason to withhold its consent to the issuance of bonds, it might seriously inconvenience the road for a time. The recognition of the act by interstate corporations is deemed a rather valuable precedent.
