EIGHTEEN YEARS AGO HE HAD LESS THAN THREE DOLLARS.

He Is Now One of the Richest Farmers in Saskatchewan, Central Canada,

Arriving in Canada in 1891, just eighteen years ago, E. A. Guillemin, could speak but his native language. He is a Frenchman. He had but a little over $2 in his pocket, thus being short over $7 of the $10 required to secure entry for a homestead of help me, and I must | 160 acres. He eventually borrowed say it did help me the money, and, near Forget, Saskatchewan, he started life in Canada on the homestead in which to-day he is the fortunate possessor of fifty quar-

> Now Mr. Guillemin did not acquire all these acres as a result altogether of his farming operations, which were extensive. He looked with satisfaction upon what he was doing on his limited area, he was saving, careful and had foresight. Surrounding land could be had for about $3 per acre, and he continued buying as his sav-

This year he was engaged in threshing on his place for 541/2 days. He threshed out 50,000 bushels of wheat, of which he sold 34,000 bushels, one train load, at a price varying from 84 to 87 cents per bushel. He has on hand still 16,000 bushels. In addition to wheat he raised 30,000 bushels of pats, 7,000 bushels of barley and 500 bushels of flax. He owns 104 horses and a number of cattle, but since the construction of the railway he has been engaged chiefly in raising wheat. This year he bought his first threshing machine, paying for it the sum of $2,100. He estimates that the machine earned for him this fall $3,000, thus paying for itself in one season, and leaving him $900 to the good. The weather was very propitious for farm threshing, not a single day being lost in the two months which were spent in this work. The wheat averaged 23 bushels to the acre and graded No. 1 and No. 2 Northern. In the past nine years, seven good crops have been harvested on this farm. For six successive years the returns were excellent, that is in the years 1901, 1902, 1903, 1904, 1905 and 1906. In the two following years there was a partial failure. As the years have passed the quality of the buildings on the farm have been steadily improved, and are now as good as can be found in the district. About $10,000 has been invested in this way by Mr. Guillemin. The farm consists of 6,880 acres, of which about 6,000 acres were under them, the sun getting higher all the erop this season.

How the German Blinded Him.

From the Philadelphia Times. J. Campbell White, secretary of the lymen's mission movement, during his ork for missions had had queer experience, but one he had in a mining camp in Montana some years ago gives him much amusement when the reverts to the story.

There was a German immigrant in the camp, who had received a letter from home. He was illiterate and no one in the camp understood enough German to read the letter to him. He was of course overjoyed to learn that Mr. White could read German.

As the missionary began the man from the banks of the Rhine clapped his hands over Mr. White's ears, "What are you trying to do?" exclaimed Mr. White, after he had been able to free his ears from the fellow's palms.

"Dot letter vas from mine girl. I hold your ears so you don't hear vat in it vas!" was the reply.

& DADDY'S & GOOD - NIGHT STORIES

By Farmer Smith.

DR. BEETLE GOES RIDING. "Daddy," said little Ethel one night,

"do tell me more about the Lady Bug." "The Lady Bug had a great time getting her bungalow fixed up, but all the other bugs were very good to her, because she belonged to the royal family.
"One day when she was sitting on the porch of her bungalow the Fire Fly flew down at her feet almost exhausted.

"Pray, what is the matter?' asked the Lady Bug.

"I had such a fright,' answered the Fire Fly. 'I was quietly eating a piece of cake which some one at Miss Lucy's had thrown out of the window, when the Big Red Rooster came along and almost caught me. It is a busy world around here when one has to keep on the lookout for all the things that are likely to eat one up.'

"I am very sorry to hear it,' said am very sorry to hear it,' said the Lady Bug.

"I suppose you do not realize what it means, for every one is so good to you," said the Fire Fly. I know that the chickens will not eat you; why, the chickens will not eat you; why, everybody seems to love you, dear, kind

"You are so good, I am sure I do not deserve it all,' said the Lady Bug, blushingly.

"Then the Fire Fly flew away and left the Lady Bug all alone. By and by she heard a noise, and, looking around, saw Dr. Beetle driving up with the new corriege and team of June. the new carriage and team of June "'Good morning, my dear, dear Lady Bug; how are you this fine morn-ing?' asked the good doctor, at the same time shouting 'whoa! whoa! to his flery steeds.

"I never felt better in my life,' said the Lady Bug.
"Then you must get in with me and take a long ride,' said the good doctor, making room for her beside him.
"The Lady Bug climbed in, and together they started away.
"'How beautifully you drive,' said the Lady Bug. 'Would you mind driving me around to invite my friends to my party?'

my party?"
"'Not at all; not at all,' said the doctor, beaming at her over his glasses, and they drove to the Potato Bugs, the very first place."

MR. AND MRS. POTATO BUG.

"Tonight I will tell you about Mr. and Mrs. Potato Bug and their three children, Faith, Hope and Charity, said Ethel's father.

"Just about the time the Lady Bug arrived Mr. Potato Bug found that his family had eaten their home up, and he had to get another for them. You see, potato bugs live on the leaves of potato vines, and when they get hungry then they eat their house up. So when Mr. Potato Bug found that they had eaten their whole house up, including the back door step, he was very busy looking around for some other large, juicy leaf on which to make his home. juicy leaf on which to make his home.

"'My dear, good wife,' said he, 'I a lovely potato patch over where the Lady Bug has her bungalow, and I think we will move over there.

"'All right,' said his good wife, 'but I think you ought to get a hickory leaf to move us on. You remember the last time you moved us, the children ate up the potato leaf before they got to their new home.'

than he looked up and saw that Faith, Hope and Charity were eating up the front porch of their new home. "'Here! here!' he cried. 'Do not start eating the front porch; begin with the back porch first. "So the dear children scurried to the back porch and began eating it up as fast as possible."

THE FIREFLY'S WARNING. "Daddy," said little Ethel one night, "what makes the light in the Fire Fly's body?" "I am sure I cannot tell you," said her father. They say that it's the Fire Flies cooking their supper in the kitchen. But that has nothing to do with the time that the Fire Fly warned the Potato Bug family so that they got out of the way just in time.

"Frank, the hired man at Miss Lucy's, had got ready to put some poison on the potato plants, and Sonny, that was the little boy who lived at Miss Lucy's, was getting the tomato cans for him.

"It so happened that the Fire Fly, who was under the grindstone, was just near enough to hear what was

"'Yes sir-ee,' said Frank; 'there will not be a potato bug left within 10 miles of here when I get through tonight."
"That was enough for the Fire Fly. He was a good friend of Mr. and Mrs. Potato Bug, and he thought the best thing for him to do'was to go over and tell Mr. Potato Bug what he had heard. So as soon as Frank and Sonny had gone, the Fire Fly unfolded his wings and started for the new home of the Potato Bugs.

"When he arrived there Dr. Beetle and the Lady Bug were talking to Mr. and Mrs. Potato Bug and the children.
"Run for your life! said the Fire Fly to Mr. Potato Bug, for Frank is coming to get you. I just heard him tell Sonny that there would not be a potato bug within 10 miles of here by night.

"Then you all get into my carriage,' said Dr. Beetle, 'and I will drive you over to the Lady Bug's bungalow, and over to the Lady Bug's bungalow, and you may hide there."

"You would have laughed to see them all hustling into the good old doctor's carriage, and they had no sooner got out of sight than Frank and Sonny came down the potato patch.
"I wonder where all those potato bugs have gone?" said Frank to Sonny."
