 T. J. Murphy, carrier on rural mail route No. 1, was taken down with typhoid fever on Wednesday of last week and is seriously ill. He is at the home of his parents northwest of town and a trained nurse has been secured to care for him. Tom's many friends hope for his speedy recovery. Marty Coyne is now serving as carrier on route 1.
 O. K. Purdy of Omaha, a representative of the South Omaha Stockman, was in the city Monday and drove out to William Mather's to inspect his herd of Poland China hogs. He complimented Mr. Mather very highly upon the quality of stock and their condition. Mr. Purdy left in the evening for Valentine to attend the great Hereford sale there.
 An item in the Norfolk News dated Fremont, April 7, says: E. L. Whitecomb has shipped his grading outfit to Sioux City in preparation to commence work on the Burlington's O'Neill line. This stretch of track is the most bothersome piece of railroad in winter that the company owns, and it is proposed to put it in first class condition before next winter in order that the disorders of the past winter may not be repeated. The grading will require several months.
 The management of the State Fair, recognizing the value of new attractions for the week, Sept. 5 to 9, are figuring on securing an aeroplane. There are several companies who are endeavoring to close contracts, but owing to the fact that the patentee of some parts of the aeroplane has secured a temporary injunction against their use by some of the most successful aviators, which, if sustained by the court will practically result in a monopoly for the Wrights, thereby placing the expense of such an exhibit so high as to prevent its general use this year.
 Edgar Howard in the Columbus Telegram: "I have straddled bucking bronchos, and I once took a parachute jump, but I never had a death for a playmate till I mounted an auto hump. First I tried to drive like a lady, careful and easy and slow, but

The storm was quite general in the middle western states and the damage inflicted will run into the millions. It is figured that in Iowa alone the loss to farmers and fruit growers will amount to $10,000,000.
 None but the initiated know the accuracy required in a printing office. The average reader who detects a misspelled word or a letter upside down feels that his mission upon earth has not been accomplished until he has called the attention of the overworked editor to the defect. He does not notice the thousands and ten thousands of letters that are in place, or the multitude of words that are correctly spelled, but his eagle eye is glued to the one that is out of place. So it is with our deeds. Man does a thousand good deeds and no attention is paid to them but if he makes one mistake it is flashed all over the world. A lifetime may be spent in building up a reputation that may be wrecked in a moment. The world is a harsh critic, exacting to the fault.
 Fred D. Fox has filed suit in the district court praying for divorce from Anna Luella Fox. Plaintiff alleges that they were married at Newport, in Rock county, October 16, 1896, and that he resided there until January 14, 1910, when he moved to this county and engaged in the mercantile business with the intention of making this his future home. He alleges that Mrs. Fox has been guilty of extreme cruelty, that she is always nagging, scolding and fault finding and that on account of said cruelty defendant was compelled to leave her last October, since which time, however, he has continued to provide for her and their four children. He alleges that he owns $2,500 worth of general merchandise and a house at Newport valued at $800. Plaintiff asks a divorce and such other relief as equity may require.
 One of O'Neill's bachelor merchants—no we'll not tell which one it was—says the following is a sure way to find out a woman's age, without her telling you: Ask her to take the number of the month in which she was born (January is one, February is two, etc.), and multiply that number by two. To this resultant number tell her to add five and multiply by 50. To this number she must add her present age, and from the sum subtract 365, the number of days in the year. Ask her to give you the last result. She has no let you see any of the figures that have gone before. You take this last figure and add 115 to it. This gives you a number of three or four figures. The first two figures to the right will be her age. The other figure or figures, to the left, will be the number of the month in which she was born. It always works.
 I have some fine seed potatoes for sale at 50c per bushel. I live ten miles east of O'Neill, ten miles south of Mineola. 43-4

Full Band Coming
 Arrangements have been made by the Omaha and South Omaha business men who are to visit us shortly, to bring a full brass band and give concerts in each town and city visited. The band is no ordinary pick-up, but a regular organization, and travels with the party in a fourteen section club car. There is plenty of music when the excursionists arrive in town and for a short time things sound like a campaign rally or early morning on July Fourth.

The Editor's Parade.
 Frederick C. Beyer, a well known Cleveland editor, told at a recent press banquet a newspaper story, says the Louisville Times.
 "A Medina editor died," he said, "and was, of course, directed to ascend to the abode of the just. But during the ascent the editor's journalistic curiosity asserted itself and he said:
 "Is it permitted for one to have a look at—er—the other place?"
 "Certainly," was the gracious reply, and accordingly a decent to the other place was made. Here the editor found much to interest him. He scurried about, and was soon lost to view.
 "His angelic escort got worried at last, and began a systematic search for his charge. He found him at last seated before a furnace, fanning himself and gazing at the people in the fire. On the door of the furnace was a plate, saying, "Delinquent subscribers."
 "'Come,' said the angel to the editor, we must be going."
 "'You go on,' the editor answered, without lifting his eyes. I'm not coming. This is heaven enough for me."

Several O'Neillites have been watching for the comet for the last three weeks, but so far they have all been disappointed.
 J. C. Horiskey has put in a meat market in connection with his grocery stock and is now prepared to satisfy all demands in the meat line.
