ANGLERS' FLIES.

The Earth Ransacked For Feathers and Hairs to Make Them.

There are trout and salmon fishers who pay several thousand dollars a year for the "flies" alone. Few persons can learn to tie artificial flies—knotting hairs that can hardly be seen—so the skilled fly maker commands high wages. The materials, too, are costly, for the earth is ransacked for feathers and hairs, and one hair wrong makes "all the difference."

The business done in mouse whiskers is considerable, for they are used in the making of a wonderful fly, the "gray knat," and they are expensive, costing nearly 2 cents a whisker. Trout rise much better at mouse whisker flies than at the same "gnat" dressed in junglecock hackles, which look much like them.

Bears' eyebrows, being stiff and exactly the right shade, are used in a fly that has killed quantities of salmon. These eyebrows come from the Himalayan brown bear and cost about $1.50 a set.

There are agents all over the world searching tropical forests for the right birds to supply fly hackles. One of the most sought after skins is that of the rare "green screamer," an African bird about the size of a hen, which has a tiny bunch of feathers on each shoulder that is worth $15 a bunch to the fly maker. One of these birds supplies only feathers enough to make rings for half a dozen flies.

There is no limit to the enthusiasm of an artistic fly tier, who will use hair from his own eyelashes to finish off an "extra special" fly. Babies' hair is much sought after if it is of the right shade—golden yellow—for all the lighter salmon flies, and one curl will make a dozen first class flies.

It takes an expert only fifteen minutes to turn out a fly which consists of a tiny hook with wings of Egyptian dove feather, legs of fox hair and a body of mouse fur wound around with a thread of yellow silk. A carelessly made fly will have neither legs nor "feet," but the true expert adds the legs and puts on a pair of long "feet" of cat hair, white at the tips. All these tiny details will be exactly in their places and so firmly tied to the hook that the fly will take half a dozen strong fish and be none the worse.—Chicago Tribune.

A GAMBLER'S RING.

When its Owner Deals the Cards Are an Open Book.

A curious ring seen recently is one that belongs to a gambler, one of the most famous card players in the United States. It is a heavy gold band affair and is exactly five-eighths of an inch wide. Running around the band in such a way as to completely circle it is a row of five small signets. Each one of these is worked in gold in the form of a shield. These shields are polished on their surface and bear no marking of any sort.

Inside the ring and grooved into its outer circle is another gold circle. When the ring is put on the operator's finger by a slight movement it is possible to slide the outside band around on the inner one. The instant this is done from under one of the small shields appears a minute mirror. This mirror is a scant quarter inch in diameter.

When the operator sits in at a game of cards he wears the ring on the little finger of his right hand.

When he slides the cards off the pack as he deals this little mirror comes directly under the card that is being dealt. The dealer, looking down at his hands as he deals, sees each card as it comes off the pack. He knows each card that he has dealt and exactly who has the card.

As the dealer puts the pack down by a movement either slow or fast it is a perfectly simple matter to give the ring a slight rub, sliding it back into its original position. The mirror, even when it is exposed, is always on the inside of the hand and concealed from every one. After long practice it is possible to pull every card off the pack in such a manner that it will reflect in the exact center of the mirror.—Boston Post.

Back and Forth.

"There's one thing about you suburbanites that I never could understand," said the city chap.

"What is that?" queried the commuter.

"I've noticed time and again," continued the c. c., "that when you fellows reach town in the morning and again when you start for home in the evening you have a happy look. Now, why is it?"

"Oh, that's easily explained," replied the other. "After the day's work in the city we are always glad to get out of it, and after a night in the country we are always glad to get back."—Chicago News.

A Rude Intruder.

He was standing among his fellows, this lion of the salon of the Independent Artists, telling what art and life meant to him, when he was approached by a matter of fact citizen, who wanted to know. "Can you tell me," he asked, looking straight into the eyes of the great man, "if these here durned pictures were done by real artists or just amateurs?"—Argonaut.

Notice.

To H. M. Henley, real name unknown, the unknown heirs and devisees of G. Van Nostrand, deceased, true name Garet Von Nostrand, and the unknown heirs and devisees of Catherine Dawson, deceased, non-resident defendants:

You and each of you will take notice that David L. Mable as plaintiff has commenced an action in the district court of Holt county, Nebraska, against you and each of you, alleging in said petition that he is the owner of and in the possession of the north half of section twenty-two, township twenty-seven, north of range thirteen, west of the Sixth P. M., Holt county, Nebraska, and has been in such possession since the 30th day of November, 1909. That he and his prior grantors have been at all times since the 1st day of September, 1904, and prior thereto, in the actual, continuous, notorious, adverse, visible, exclusive, and open possession of said real estate under claim of ownership and under and by virtue of certain deeds of conveyance appearing and of record in the office of the county clerk of Holt county, Nebraska.

Plaintiff alleges in said petition that the defendant, H. M. Henley, has an apparent lien upon said premises by reason of a mortgage appearing of record in Volume 40 of Mortgages, at page 604, and alleges that said mortgage and notes secured thereby has been paid and that there is nothing due thereon and that the defendant, Henley, has failed to release the same of record.

Plaintiff further alleges in said petition that the defendants and each of them have no claim, right, title, lien or interest in or two said premises but that their apparent interest casts a cloud upon plaintiff's title which ought to be by decree of this court removed, and the defendants excluded from having or claiming to have any interest in said premises. Plaintiff prays that he be adjudged and decreed to be the absolute owner of and entitled to the possession of said real estate, that the title thereto and his right of possession be confirmed in him and that the defendants and each of them excluded from having or claiming to have any interest in and to said premises and the title thereto forever quieted and confirmed in the plaintiff and the defendants and each of them perpetually restrained and enjoined from asserting any interest therein and for other equitable relief.

You are required to answer said petition on or before the 22nd day of August, 1910.
