AN INTOLERABLE ITCHING

"Just about two years ago, some form of humor appeared on my scalp. The beginning was a slight itching but it grew steadily worse until, when I combed my hair, the scalp became raw and the ends of the comb-teeth would wet with blood. Most of the time there was an intolerable itching, in a painful, burning way, very much as a bad, raw burn, if deep, will itch and smart when first beginning to heal. Combing my hair was positive torture. My hair was long and tangled terribly because of the blood and scabs. This continued growing worse and over half my hair fell out. I was in despair, really afraid of becoming totally bald.

"Sometimes the pain was so great that, when partially awake, I would scratch the worst places so that my finger-tips would be bloody. I could not sleep well and, after being asleep a short time, that awful stinging pain would commence and then I would wake up nearly wild with the torture. A neighbor said it must be salt rheum. Having used Cuticura Soap merely as a toilet soap before, I now decided to order a set of the Cuticura Remedies—Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills. I used them according to directions for perhaps six weeks, then left off, as the disease seemed to be eradicated, but toward spring, eighteen months ago, there was a slight return of the scalp humor. I commenced the Cuticura treatment at once, so had very little trouble. On my scalp I used about one half a cake of Cuticura Soap and half a box of Cuticura Ointment in all. The first time I took six or seven bottles of Cuticura Pills and the last time three bottles—neither an expensive or tedious treatment. Since then I have had no scalp trouble of any kind. Standing up, with my hair unbound, it comes to my knees and had it not been for Cuticura I should doubtless be wholly bald.

"This is a voluntary, unsolicited testimonial and I take pleasure in writing it, hoping my experience may help someone else. Miss Lillian Brown, R. F. D. 1, Liberty, Me., Oct. 29, 1905."

Lover's Wedding Cake. Four pounds of flour of love, half a pound of buttered youth, half a pound of good looks, half a pound of sweet temper, half a pound of self-forgetfulness, half a pound of powdered wits, half an ounce of dry humor, two tablespoonfuls of sweet argument, half a pint of rippling laughter, half a wine-glassful of common sense.

Then put the flour of love, good looks and sweet temper into a well-furnished house. Beat the butter of youth to a cream. Mix together blindness of faults, self-forgetfulness, powdered wits, dry humor into sweet argument, then add them to the above. Pour in gently rippling laughter and common sense. Work it together until all is well mixed, then bake gently forever.

Expecting Too Much.

It was a cold, raw day, but the Neversweats and the Fearnots were playing a game of ball on the prairie, just the same.

The pitcher of the Neversweats, his fingers half frozen, falled dizzily in getting the balls over the plate.

"Aw," said the captain, "I ought ye must one o' dese cold weather pitchers!"

"I am," said the slab artist, blowing on his benumbed digits to warm them, "but I ain't a ice pitcher, warm ye!"

IOWA POPULATION SHOWS DECREASE IN THE 1910 CENSUS

Net Loss From the Report of 1890, as Shown by Official Returns, Is 7,082.

Washington, Nov. 7.—The population of Iowa, as made public by the census bureau today, is 2,224,771. This is a decrease of 7,082 under the census of 1890, or a loss of 0.3 per cent. The census of 1900 was 2,231,853.

During the decade from 1890 to 1900, Iowa gained 319,572 or 16.7 per cent, as against the loss of 0.3 per cent for the decade just closed.

The census figures given out today show that the counties containing the larger cities of the state, with one exception, all gained, while the rural sections of the state lost enough to show a net loss for the state as a whole. The one county containing a city that lost was Dubuque county, which shows a net loss in population for the past 10 years of 8,953.

The counties containing the larger cities that gained were as follows: Black Hawk (Waterloo), Clinton (Clinton), Des Moines (Burlington), Linn (Cedar Rapids), Polk (Des Moines), Pottawattamie (Council Bluffs), Scott (Davenport), Woodbury (Sioux City).

Result No Surprise. The decrease in the population of Iowa did not surprise census bureau officials as it was in line with what was expected in the agricultural regions of the middle west. Director Durand attributes the falling off to the fact that the land is already fully occupied and a general tendency towards larger farms. He says a growth cannot be expected unless there is a change to more intensive cultivation. There has been a large emigration from Iowa into Canada and into western states and the territories in search of cheaper lands than can be obtained at home. Many Iowans also have gone to the cities.

The falling off in population in Iowa was general throughout the state, except in the larger cities and towns. In most of these there was a growth.

Following is the population of the counties of Iowa, as shown by the federal census of 1910 and 1900 and the state census of 1905:

IOWA CENTRAL CAR SHOP MEN STRIKE

Marshalltown, Ia., Nov. 8.—One hundred and sixty men, the entire force employed in the Iowa Central railroad car and paint shops, went out on a strike at noon today because two negro laborers had been employed in the shops. The men have other grievances against W. E. Looney, general car foreman, whom they claim is bringing men from his former town of Muskegoe, Okla., and giving them jobs in preference to resident employees.

SMUGGLING CASE MAY GET CHICAGO WOMAN IN PRISON

Federal Court Has Promised Jail Sentence for Next Offender and She Seems to Be "It."

New York, Nov. 1.—Miss Helen Jerrens, who arrived with her mother on the Oceanic from Europe and who lives at Hotel Metropole, Chicago, brought home a number of Parisian gowns, the value of which she averred in her declaration was $920.

A customs inspector, who examined Miss Jerrens' half dozen trunks decided she had underestimated the cost of the gowns and called in Acting Deputy Surveyor O'Connor.

With the assistance of an appraiser, Mr. O'Connor figured the value of all Miss Jerrens' imported wearing apparel at about $1,950. She was asked if she did not want to amend her declaration and said she did not.

In that case, Mr. O'Connor said, the trunks would be sent to the appraisers' storehouse, errors permitted them to go there, persisting in her refusal to amend the declaration. She was told to appear today before Surveyor Henry and Special Deputy Surveyor George Smythe.

Miss Jerrens Startles Them. The surveyor and his chief assistant were a bit startled by the attitude of Miss Jerrens toward the customs laws. In response to an inquiry, "Did you read instructions on the declaration?" she said she had read them, but that she did not take them seriously. She said she also had read the printed pamphlet distributed to passengers and did not take that seriously, either. Mr. Smythe asked her if she had not observed that the revised statutes provided penalties of fine, imprisonment and confiscation of goods for gross undervaluation, such as hers was, the value of goods being more than 100 per cent above what she had sworn to in her declaration. She said she was aware of this and was inclined not to take it seriously.

The surveyor and Mr. Smythe inquired earnestly with Miss Jerrens and were able to create an impression. She said some of her fellow passengers, all women, had told her to disregard the customs laws, as they intended to do and had done. Then she weakened a bit and put in a word for herself. The trip by the Oceanic, she pleaded, had been unusually rough and she was seasick half the time and could not bother about customs laws.

Is Told of Imprisonment Threat. The chief of Customs officers said that he would imprison the next person convicted of trying to defraud the customs by gross undervaluation was repeated to Miss Jerrens but did not perceptibly stir her. She was told finally that all her undervalued goods would be seized, that the usual exemption of $100 would not be allowed, and that she might have the seized goods by paying about $1,800, which includes the penalties for undervaluation.

Mr. Smythe asked her if she would redeem the property.

ROOSEVELT IS GIVEN A NOVEL DEGREE IN PARIS

So, adds the baron, Mr. Roosevelt has been made the recipient of a diploma "Debrouillard"—that is, the exponent of the strenuous life.

BIG GROWTH SHOWN IN Y. M. C. A. REPORT

F. A. McCormack, of Sioux City, Is Made an International Officer.

Toronto, Nov. 1.—The triennial report of the Young Men's Christian Association of North America, made public at the International convention yesterday, placed the endowment fund of January 1, 1910, at $1,748,858.86. It referred to the gifts of Mrs. Russell Sage and the late Mrs. W. E. Dodge of a number of buildings and other property. The report said the associations of North America have a membership of 496,000 men and boys, a gain of 13 per cent since the last convention in Washington. Six hundred and ninety-five associations, now occupying their own business, representing a total value of $51,000,000, an increase since 1907 of $17,000,000.

It further showed the value of all associations in European and America to be over $60,000,000, that 67,000 laymen are now serving on the volunteer committees with a force of 2,927 secretaries. It showed an increase of 25 per cent in the young men and boys enrolled in the bible classes, and an increase of 24 per cent in the enrollment of educational classes. The expenditures of $5,396,124 in 1907 for the current expenses has grown to a total of $7,081,043, an increase of 31 per cent. The association has built two new buildings on the Panama canal zone.

The immigrant is not being overlooked. Ten secretaries are working in European ports and work is to be extended into 19 countries. To carry on the work in the far east and the West Indies, it is planned to raise $1,315,000.

E. B. Wood, of Toronto, was elected president. F. A. McCormack, of Sioux City, Ia., is vice president, and George T. Coxhead, of St. Louis, secretary.

This conviction is the first death sentence in the prosecution of a so-called "lawyer's trust" through which a number of people in Ashland county are said to have been swindled. Former Judges McCarty and Campbell, charged with "aiding and abetting" Shelley, will be placed on trial next week.

MYSTERIOUS SALUTE REVEALS LOST GIRL

Hattie Blackmore, of Council Bluffs, Found in Chicago Rooming House.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Hattie Blackmore, the young woman who swam to Chicago the first part of September with W. H. Tyler, aged 42 years, ran away from him almost three weeks ago. She said she had been rooming at the Monroe street address for 10 days, but did not remember where she lived previously. She wept when told that she would be returned to the residence of her brother, Arthur Blackmore in Council Bluffs, Ia. The Blackmore girl told the police she had been living on money which Tyler didn't know she had when she left him.

A woman, the proprietor of the Monroe street lodging house, said the girl had told her she was looking for work and spent little time in her home. Mr. Roe will question the young woman today together with W. H. Tyler, who came to Chicago from Pierre, S. D., with her.

HARDIN COUNTY PUPILS CONDUCT DISTRICT FAIR

Nevada, Ia., Nov. 3.—Special: The pupils of what is known as the Republic school, up in Providence township, Hardin county, are conducting rather a novel affair just at this time in the way of a district fair.

The idea was conceived by Miss Elizabeth Lundy, the teacher. It was talked up last spring and the pupils at once got busy, planting garden stuff, grain and other produce, while others went into the poultry and swine raising business and by the time the date for the fair rolled around the boys were there with the exhibits in poultry, grains, garden truck, manufactured articles, etc., while the girls' section was well taken with flowers, potted plants, art and needle work, etc.

The affair will be repeated next year and it is planned to make it a permanent feature of the school.

EXPRESS STRIKE HAS TIED UP COMPANIES

Non-Union Men Are Expected Today to Take Places of Men Now Out.

New York, Nov. 2.—The strike of the express company drivers and helpers, which has brought the express business in this city to a virtual standstill, is expected to spread today to the stable hands.

Daniel J. Tobin, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, now in Boston, has sent word here that if necessary he will organize all the express drivers in the country and call them out on strike.

Strikebreakers are expected to arrive from Philadelphia today. The strikers were caught unaware in Jersey City early today when a dash of 100 trucks was made and the express matter brought to this city without trouble. No disturbances were reported by the police in the early hours of the day.

Police Inspector Walsh today assigned 100 patrolmen to go out on express wagons. Two hundred strikebreakers from Pittsburgh are quartered in Jersey City and will be put to work today.

The International Brotherhood of Teamsters this morning called out between 1,500 and 1,800 drivers and helpers employed by the Boston Express company, the Adams Express and the Manhattan Delivery company. These men went out at once.

The way-bill clerks of the American Express company, who have no organization and no special grievances of their own, today decided to go out on a sympathetic strike this afternoon.

The Adams Express company moved nine trucks this morning. Strike sympathizers upset an express wagon on West Broadway, near Bleeker street, shortly before noon. No one was hurt. A riot at Broadway and Spring streets, New York, which came when a mob attacked a United States Express wagon, was suppressed by the police after a shower of stones had been thrown.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY NOW IN GENERAL USE

Washington, Nov. 2.—The publication of the government's wireless telegraph directory just out, some idea is gained of the extent to which the wireless is now used. In this city directory, perhaps the most extensive in existence, there are listed 1,520 stations. This total includes shore stations and ships, but does not take into consideration the warships of foreign governments, nor are listed the hundreds of stations equipped and operated by amateurs.

The directory is the work of the bureau of steam engineering of the United States navy. There are about 700 shore stations scattered about the globe. Of this number, 88 are on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts of the United States; 48 on the great lakes; 61 on the Pacific coast and 18 in Alaska.

In the list of merchant vessels, such as steamships, tugs, yachts, etc., 821 are listed in all parts of the world.

PAJAMA GIRL WILL NOT MARRY AVIATOR

Pauline Chase Now Denies Report of Engagement to Grahame-White.

New York, Nov. 2.—Miss Eleanor Sears, the Boston society girl, was one of the first to congratulate Claude Grahame-White when he was announced as the winner of the James Gordon Bennett cup. Miss Pauline Chase, the pink pajama girl, is not reported as having sent him a congratulatory message. Miss Chase will then had been regarded for two weeks as the aviator's fiancée. Now it is believed that Miss Sears is a protective fiancée, if not an actual one.

The engagement of Mr. White and Miss Chase was announced by the press agent of the "Our Miss Gibbs" company, with which Miss Chase is appearing here. That was immediately after the Boston aviation meet when Miss Sears had been much in Mr. White's company and had made several flights with him.

Then came the Belmont Park meet, and Miss Sears came over from Boston and was very much in evidence when and where Mr. White was flying. She accompanied him in passenger flights at Belmont park, as she had done at Boston.

Sidney McDonald, Mr. White's manager, gave out a statement Saturday, declaring that no engagement had existed between Mr. White and Miss Chase, and that the announcement was a mistake. He added that he knew of no reason why Mr. White should not be attentive to Miss Sears, as that young lady was agreeable.

THE LEMUR A CHARMING PET

Eha In His "Naturalist on the Prowl" Describes Little Animal—Servants Afraid of Him.

Pets are of all sorts. One of the most amusing and attractive is described by Eha in his "Naturalist on the Prowl." This little animal was a lemur, and besides many gentle and amusing ways, it seemed as if it possessed a certain sense of humor. Says Eha:

"I used to take its soft hand and examine its pretty nails. Each hand had one long, sharp claw. Such a curious arrangement puzzled me, until one day a flea showed me the use of that claw. It bit the lemur under the ribs. I expect the little beast had reason to be thankful that nature had spared one toe when it promoted it to the order of four-handed animals.

There never was a more charming pet. He took life so gayly, and the antics were so original. When my man let him out of his cage in the morning, he would scamper straight to my bedroom, look round with large eyes brimming over with mild curiosity, and, lightly as a rubber ball, spring to my dressing table, where he would examine everything. Then he would bound across the bed and land on my shoulders, handle my ears gently, wondering what was in the hole, and thrusting in his long tongue to find out.

That was beyond human endurance, and I would roll the little fellow into a ball, wind his long, fully tail about him, and flag him into the bed. He would be unwound in a moment, and would skip away to explore some more.

His hind legs being longer than his fore, he walked slowly, with his head down; but when in a hurry he would stand up and bound along like a kangaroo, fall in the air, arms extended, fingers spread, looking like nothing one ever saw.

The servants regarded him as unclean, and fled at his approach. He would give chase, and there never was finer sport than to see the fat butler in full flight up the long staircase, with the gleeful little demon after him, three steps at a bound.—Youth's Companion.

SICK, SOUR, UPSET STOMACH

Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Dyspepsia Relieved Five Minutes After Taking a Little Diapepsin.

Here is a harmless preparation, which surely will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach within five minutes. If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your Pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store here in town.

These large 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Gastritis or any other stomach disorder.

A Hint to Poultry Keepers.

A rather novel method employed for curing hens of broodiness is illustrated in the Strand. A stick about two feet in length is fastened on the back of the bird by means of two pieces of string, which are tied round the shoulders. This effectually prevents the hen from entering the fowlhouse and sitting on the nest, and in a few days generally stops a hen from "wanting to sit," as people say.

Are you fond of art? "I am, indeed."

"What form of it in particular?" "Oh, my taste is simple."
