An exchange pertinently remarks "A good newspaper cannot be made these days without good advertisers." But what is of more general concern is the broad fact that a good town cannot be made in these days without a good newspaper. It costs money to make a good town. It costs money to make a good newspaper.

Although this season of the year is very dry the indications are that the "water wagon" will have a number of new passengers about January 1st. It is generally pretty heavily loaded for a few days after New Years, then the load begins to lighten as the passengers begin to fall off one by one until about the time the spring rains arrives when it is left without even a driver.

Patrick Shea, who has been holding down a homestead near Buffalo, S. D., the past two years, arrived in the city last Thursday and will spend the winter visiting relatives and friends here. The Christmas spirit is in the air and it is doubtful if there is a city in the state that has made more elaborate preparations for the holidays than our own. The merchants have responded to the feeling of buoyancy that the season create and they have loaded the shelves and tables and even the floor space of their stores with everything that the season demands. They have bought heavily of holiday goods and everyone of the establishments is a veritable exposition of things that are beautiful and sensible.

Guy Green and Romaine Saunders were up from their Wheeler county ranches Monday. The boys brought up a load of hay stuffed with potatoes. Guy wanted to bring some potatoes to O'Neill and to get them here without freezing was the problem. So they finally decided to put the potatoes in the center of the load of hay and thus bring them to town. They done so and made the thirty mile trip without a potato even getting a chill. Mr. Green has some of the finest potatoes we have ever eaten, clear and mealy. He has about 400 bushels to put on the market in the spring.

The editor sat in his hard bottom chair trying to think of a thought, and he ploughed all his fingers about his hair, but not a new topic they brought. He'd written on temperance, tariff and trade, and the prospects of raising a crop, and joked about ice cream and weak lemonade, till his readers had warnd him to stop. And, weary of thinking, sleep come to my eyes, as he pillowed his head on his desk, when the thoughts while awake had refused to arise, came in drops that were strange and grotesque. And as the ideas airy float, he selects the bright one of the tribe, and this is the gem, while dreaming, he wrote: "Now is the time to subscribe."

As Jack Sullivan was sick with an attack of the grip he was forced to give up his scrap with "Dummy" West, which was scheduled for Norfolk last night. In order not to disappoint lovers of the manly art who would assemble in that city for the contest his brother, Dan, volunteered to take his place and the contest was pulled off with Dan as the opponent of the "Dummy" instead of Jack. The contest lasted seven rounds. During the seventh after Dan had floored the "Dummy" twice with hard swings to the jaw he rushed to his corner and had his seconds pull his gloves off saying that he had enough. After the scrap the "Dummy" told some of the boys that he did not think he would ever fight again as he said the fighting game was itoo tough. Dan Sullivan made a splendid showing in the match and many who were present would like to see him go against some one that would make him extend himself. As a preliminary to the main bout Matt Kane of this city put the gloves on with a young man from Gregory. Matt handed the South Dakota boy one on the jaw and South Dakota quit. A special train brought the fight lovers home about four a. m. Thursday morning.
