Dora Reifers, age nineteen years, died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Reifers in this city last night of typhoid pneumonia. The remains will be taken to Greeley, the former home of the family, for burial tomorrow. The family have lived in O'Neill but a short time. Mr. Reifers bought the old Dewey hotel a few months ago and moved here from the south part of the county. Recently he leased the hotel and has been living up near the fair grounds since.

Shoemaker Bros. have installed a handsome new refrigerator at their meat market and are arranging other changes designed to make as fine and complete a meat establishment as can be found in the state. They have also just completed some additions and improvements to their slaughter house which gives them a modern and sanitary slaughter pen and greatly facilitates the work of slaughtering animals. The boys think they now have about the most complete and modern equipment for carrying on their business that can be found in the state.

The city went into court to get a road opened that had been traveled practically since the earliest settlement and which the owner of the land, Dan Harrington, closed a few weeks ago. It is the road leading east from Douglas street on the half section line. Mr. Harrington bought some land south of the Mann residence and built thereon. The county records disclosed that no public road had ever been laid out, but continuous travel there for so many years establishes a public highway and Mr. Harrington has removed his fence closing the road. He does not object so much to the road on the half section line but thinks it is an injustice to require the property owners on the south side of the line to furnish all the land for the road and says he is willing to give his share for a road if those owning property north of the half section line will do the same.

A deal was made last week whereby George Gaughenbaugh becomes the owner of the Henry Zimmerman flour and feed store. Mr. Gaughenbaugh has bought the stock and building and takes over the business on April 10. Mr. Zimmerman will continue the cream, chicken and egg end of the business and will occupy the Odd Fellows building on the south side of Douglas street. Mr. Gaughenbaugh comes to town from his ranch southwest of here and as he has a wide acquaintance and is a dandy good fellow he ought to have a good business.

The Nebraska Experiment Station has just issued Bulletin 119, which includes the results of five years' spraying experiments in Nebraska apple orchards. The first part of the bulletin deals with the cost and the net gain due to spraying. Methods and conveniences for mixing the different spray materials as well as how they should be applied are discussed at some length. The use of lime-sulfur sprays as summer fungicides for apples is discussed. A cooperative plan for spraying home orchards is given. The bulletin may be had free of cost by residents of Nebraska on application to the Agricultural Experiment Station, Lincoln, Nebraska.

An adjourned meeting of the voters of Grattan township next Saturday, April 1, promises to develop greater interest than any since the Handley defalcation. At the meeting two weeks ago it was found that there were claims in to the amount of something like $2,000, many of which appeared to some present at the meeting to look suspicious. An adjournment was secured by those who desired to investigate the matter of claims against the township. The meeting Saturday will probably be largely attended, as if there is anything like a suspicion talked around the taxpayers become interested to know where there money is going.

Neigh Register: Z. M. Sealer of Holt county, and Mrs. Mamie Alden of Niobrara, were married at the M. E. parsonage Tuesday by Rev. Dr. Hinkle. This is the culmination of a romance extending over a period of fifteen years. At the beginning of that time Zed and Mamie were sweethearts, but Zed went to Colorado to seek his fortune; letters were exchanged frequently at first, but Zed, being in an isolated part of the country, allowed the correspondence to slacken and then cease altogether. In the meantime Mamie was married and moved to Niobrara. Recently Zed had business there and met his former sweetheart. His old love flamed again and when he learned that Mamie was a widow so ardent were his attentions that Mamie could not resist and she blushing told him his affection was reciprocated. The climax was reached Tuesday evening and resulted in the happy wedding. They left Wednesday afternoon for their home in Holt county which the happy groom has prepared on a ranch eight miles west of Ewing.

Wedding Near Minneola.

On Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Morgan, two miles north of Minneola, Charles A. Calkins of O'Neill and Miss Bessie B. Morgan were united in marriage, by Rev. T. S. Watson, pastor of the Methodist church in O'Neill. The ceremony was performed in the presence of twenty-five relatives and near friends of the contracting parties.

The bridal party entered the parlor at about 4 p. m. to the strains of a march played by a sister of the bride. The groom was attended by his brother, Roy Calkins, and the father of the bride was her escort. After the giving away of the bride by her father the impressive "ring service" was used. Miss Sarah Morgan, a sister of the bride was bride's maid. The bride was beautifully arrayed in a gown of blue messaline, and the groom wore a very becoming suit of black.

After the ceremony, and congratulations, which were unusually hearty, a delicious buffet lunch was served and was greatly enjoyed by all present, especially by the men folks, for most of them had spent about an hour, just preceding the wedding, fighting a prairie fire about a mile south of Mr. Morgan's place, thus getting warmed up and finding an appetite for the good things provided.

The writer is pleased to announce that Mr. and Mrs. Calkins will continue to reside in O'Neill.

Redistricting Bills.

The redistricting bills now in the legislature will make some considerable change in the political geography of the state if they become law. Under the measures now proposed Holt county would be placed in the various divisions as follows:

Congressional district No. 6.—Dawson, Custer, Logan, Lincoln, McPherson, Keith, Perkins, Deuel, Garden, Cheyenne, Morrill, Kimball, Banner, Scott Bluff, Sioux, Box Butte, Dawes, Sheridan, Cherry, Grant, Hooker, Thomas, Blaine, Brown, Keya Paha, Rock, Loup, Boyd, Holt, Garfield, Wheeler, and Antelope.

Methodist Church Items

Did it storm last Sunday? Well somewhat, but here's hoping we may have pleasant weather next Sunday and that everybody who did not get out to church last Sunday will be on hand for the services of the day. Let us begin right by attending the class meeting at 10 a. m.

The pastor will preach both morning and evening next Sunday taking for his morning subject "How to Help the Other Fellow," and for the evening "Elisha, the Son of Shaphat". These are interesting subjects and will be presented in a way to make them of practical value to all. We most cordially invite everybody to attend these and all services of our church.

Sunday school every Sunday at the close of our morning service. This interesting service is always heartily enjoyed by those who participate in it. We most heartily desire all of our friends to come in and study with us.

Prayer meeting every Thursday evening at 7:30. This service is interesting and very profitable, and we cordially invite our neighbors to worship with us.

The Ladies Aid Society will meet in the class room Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All ladies are invited to meet with them.

T. S. Watson, Pastor.

FILIPINO SELF GOVERNING

Justice of Islands Supreme Court Speaks of Government There.

Kansas City Journal: "The Filipino has just about as much to say about his government as the American citizen."

That is the way Judge E. Finley Johnson, justice of the supreme court of the Philippine islands, responded to the "anti-imperialistic" doctrines of certain Boston folk. Judge Johnson was appointed to the supreme bench of the islands by President McKinley ten years ago. At the time of his appointment he was professor of law at Ann Arbor, which chair he held for thirteen years.

"I think the one thing, which will most interest Americans, and which proves the government's policy is right, is the great degree of self government in the islands," he said. "With the exception of the city of Manila, which is governed much like the city of Washington, every municipality in the islands is governed by the natives. They elect the mayor and council, control the police, levy taxes and expend their own moneys. They have absolute self government. The natives practically have control of the provincial or county governments."

"The provinces or counties are ruled by a governing board of three members, two of whom are elected by the people, and the other appointed by the governor general. In some instances the members are Americans, but a majority are Filipinos. The central government composed of a house and senate is largely representative. The lower house is composed of delegates, all elected by the people, and all of whom are Filipinos. The senate has nine members, four of whom are natives."

"Every justice of the peace in the islands is a Filipino except one. Half of the judges of the courts of first instance, which correspond to our American district courts, are Filipinos. They are appointed by the governor general and give as good satisfaction as the American jurists. The supreme court consists of seven men, three of whom are Filipinos, and I don't believe there is a member of the court who would not accept the rulings of any of the three Filipino judges."

Judge Johnson wrote the opinion in a decision regarding the suit of twelve alien Chinese for damages against the governor general. The Chinese proved objectionable and were deported by order of the governor general. They returned to the islands and brought suit to recover personal damages. This was the first of its kind ever heard in the Philippines supreme court which, by a majority opinion, ruled that the governor general had the right to deport objectionable aliens, and that the twelve had no grounds for damages. The case had been appealed to the supreme court of the United States and promises to be interesting in that it involves a delicate diplomatic problem, and will be the first of its kind heard by the United States supreme court.

The Live Stock Market

South Omaha, Nebr., March 28.—Special weekly market letter from Nye, Schneider Fowler Co.

This week is starting with quite moderate cattle receipts and a very brisk trade on killers with the light handy weights showing a decided advance and the heavier beef also bringing stronger prices. Cows and butcher stock are a good dime higher. The feeder market is the dullest for some time with only the choicest grades around steady prices; others very dragging and weak.

We quote:—

Choice beef.....	$5.90@6.30
Common Beef down to.....	5.00
Choice Cornfed cows.....	5.00@5.60
Good/butcher grades.....	4.40@4.90
Canners and cutters.....	3.25@4.25
Veal calves.....	4.00@7.50
Bulls, stags etc.....	4.00@5.00
Good to choice feeders.....	5.00@5.90
Common grades down to.....	4.25
Stock heifers.....	3.75@4.75

Our hog run was very light Monday but receipts are more liberal since our market has shown a little advance. Chicago started out with a heavy run and a decline of 10cts. Bulk heavy 6.35 to 6.45 top 6.57.

The value of good sheep is becoming rather limited and values are moving up.

The Legislature

Lincoln, Neb., March 27th.—The veto by Governor Aldrich of H. R. 82, the Taylor bill regulating stock yards companies, on Thursday last, the ineffectual attempt in the house to pass the bill over the governor's veto, the recommendation for passage by the house of S F 114, the Ollis bill regulating stock yards companies and placing them under the control of the State Railway commission, on the same day and the final passage by the house of the Ollis bill at the afternoon session of the house on Friday are the incidents which stand out as of greatest public importance in the work of the legislature for the past week.

Immediately after the disposition of the Taylor bill, the Ollis bill S F 115, which had been made the special order for 2 o'clock, was brought forward in committee of the whole for consideration. The Ollis bill is a far more comprehensive measure for the regulation of stock yards companies than the Taylor bill, classifies the yards as common carriers and places them under the railway commission for regulation of service and rates.

The most desperate attempts were made to amend the Ollis bill by the supporters of the Taylor bill, the purposes of which may be left to the view point of individual observers. It is possible that the effort to amend was indicated by a desire to make stronger measure, but the fact remains that if amended the bill would have of necessity gone back to the senate for concurrence in the amendments which might have resulted in delays and so close to the end of the session delay might be highly dangerous to the final passage of any measure.

Some fifty-two members of the house seemed to be determined to prevent any amendment to the bill and as fast as offered the amendments were swept aside by that vote in what seemed to be a "steam roller" fashion of highest effectiveness, and not a single word of the bill suffered a change while under consideration by the house.

After the opposition was exhausted with these attempts the house recommended the bill for third reading which placed it on final passage at its next appearance.

Senator Ollis who drew the bill and fought it through the senate was an interested observer of the final fight in the house in which the supporters of his measure emerged victorious.

On Friday afternoon the Ollis bill came before the house on final passage and was passed by vote of 71 to 21, eight members being absent. The bill now goes in completed form, passed by both houses, to Governor Aldrich for approval and will undoubtedly receive his signature.

Senator Albert introduced a resolution declaring against Canadian reciprocity until the farmer was given the same "show" for his products as is contemplated for the manufacturer; S F 331 by Brown, requiring banks and building and loan associations to file their articles with the auditor, and secretary of state and banking board was placed on third reading and passed.

When the house convened, Eastman offered a motion to the effect that Champ Clark, Speaker of the next national house of representatives, Senator Owen of Oklahoma, Senator Kern of Indiana, Governor Shafroth of Colorado, being in the building, the guests of Hon. W. J. Bryan, that they be invited to address the house at 3 o'clock.

Three o'clock having arrived, Quackenbush, Eastman and Dolezal were appointed a committee to escort the distinguished guests into the chamber. They came up the aisle amid the great applause but without Hon. W. J. Bryan. The latter followed after the initial applause had subsided and of course received his own round of cheers just as if it was all an accident and had not been "staged" that way.

Speaker Kuhl presented Mr. Bryan as chairman of the speaking exercises, who presented each of the speakers in turn with more or less glowing tribute to their eminence and their unswerving devotion to the "initiative and referendum."

Each spoke briefly. Hon Champ
