The Drama of St. Mary's.

The "St. Mary's Drama" of June 5, 1911, written at the request of the Juvenile Editor by his literary friend J. J. McCafferty in the absence of the Editor in Chief.

The senior class of St. Mary's Academy gave an unique presentation of the Felix drama, entitled "Our Lady of Lourdes" to a packed house at the K. C. Hall Monday evening June 5, 1911.

"The Grotto of Lourdes" is probably better known than any other Catholic shrine in the world though dating back only to 1858, in which year "Our Lady of Lourdes" (The Blessed Virgin Mary) appeared to Bernadette, a poor shepherdess, in this Grotto of Lourdes which has become since a famous and wonderful sanctuary of prayer and devotion. A spring of water possessed of great curing powers, flows from the mouth of this Grotto and it is said thousands of people ailing with every ill that afflicts humanity have been cured in these healing waters which are carried to all parts of the world. One of the most pathetic stories told in connection with the famous shrine is that of the blind princess Rosabella which is pictured by Father Felix in his beautiful drama.

The exercises commenced by the Misses Scott and Williams rendering Lavignae's Piano duet "Galop Marche" after which Bernadette the shepherdess was grandly and truthfully personated by Miss Mary Brayton in the suitable language and graceful gesture of the religious devotee notwithstanding the scornful derisions of her repellent mother, Louise, Miss Rose A. Coufal. The manor born princess of Valencia, mother of the blind princess, Rosabella, of whom she was ashamed on account of said blindness, was ably and suitably acted by Miss Madeline M. Doyle, and the heroine of the play, Miss Eula Stillson, who took the difficult part of the afflicted and lovely blind princess; Rosabella was simply sublime in her blended faith and prayerful supplications to God to grant her the sense of sight. Through the able assistance of her older sister, Lucilla, Miss Lillian M. Brooks and Lourinda, the French governess, Marguerite M. Linehan and two ladies from the Valencian Palace, Antonia, Mary M. Magirl, and Maud M. Howard the blind princess' friends finds her way to the famed grotto of the French mountain where she pours out her soul in prayer to the "Lady of Lourdes" and the burden of her lay is that the holy Virgin of the mountain would pray to her divine Son to grant her the blessing of sight that she might see His great gifts to man. Miss L. M. Barto fittingly acted the part of the castle keeper's wife and was assisted by her three reputed daughters, Agnes, Teresa and Estella, Gladys B. Miles, Alice Cotterill and Loretta Phalin, who gracefully helped to dispense the hospitalities of the castle with the easy approbation of Miss Grace Hammond who essayed the part of Mme. Massay the Governor's wife and was supported in her efforts by her niece Mile. Virgez, her friend, Mme. Dicozous, the physicians wife, H. Gertrude Hirsch and Isabella, Gertrude's friend Mary N. Flemming and Lillian C. Paul who acted the part of Marie, Bernadette's younger sister. Grace Campbell, Helen Biglin, Mary Phalin, Catherine Morrison, Demaris Stout and others acted the part and reflected credit on the "Children of Lourdes." Lydia the Gypsy girl was well performed by Miss Nell M. Hynes in her thrilling tip-toe song rendered in a pleasing well trained voice and accompanied by gestures replete with the music of the finest motion. Miss Rose Hughes took the splendid part of Mary the Virgin Immaculate in the midst of the angels of Heaven and ladies and children of Lourdes. The play was an artistic novelty combining the best features of this realistic drama with the tone and dress of high moral culture. The hall was packed to the doors with an appreciative audience who were spell bound by the performance of the embryo artists, and made happy to know that they live in the home of such a prized seat of education where the communities daughters are within reach of such promising and golden opportunities. The good and deserving sisters of St. Francis are great educators and are well worthy of our good will and their own growing reputation and prosperity. They are about to expand and move into their new and roomy addition of well arranged and more than 123,000 square feet of floor room accommodation. Cotterill's Orchestra discoursed sweet strains of music between the acts and this play closed about 11 o'clock and as the writer emerged from the hall he heard a man making the appropriate expression of "Success and long life to the sisters of St. Francis."

The biggest apple in the world probably the biggest that has ever been grown, was sold at Covent Garden recently. The apple, which, says the Pall Mall Gazette, is a beautifully proportioned and colored gloria mundi, was grown at the King's Acre Fruit Trees nurseries, at Hereford, and weighs no less than 27 ounces. It has a circumference of 16 1/2 inches and is 5 inches in height.

Edward Gallagher, one of the pioneer residents of this county and father of Andrew Gallagher of Laurel, died at a hospital in Sioux City this morning, where he was taken for treatment last Thursday. Mr. Gallagher had been a resident of this county for over thirty years and was about 82 years of age. The remains will be brought to this city this evening. Obituary notice next week.

F. M. Waid of Iatanthe, Mo., arrived in the city last Friday for a few days visit with relatives and old time friends. Mr. Waid says that he is well pleased with his southern home and would not think of living any other place but old Missouri now. Land values there have increased thirty per cent since he moved to that state a year ago last spring. He left for home Wednesday morning.

Norfolk Press: A Broken Bow boy nine years of age attempted to shoot his teacher, blow up the school house with dynamite and knife a clerk in a store where he had stolen several dollars worth of goods. Some Havelock youngsters about eight years of age destroyed several hundred dollars' worth of church property and so it goes. The rod is spared and the child is spoiled and lawlessness grows apace.

During the thunder storm last Thursday night lightning struck the barn of E. F. Roberts, on his farm near Joy postoffice, and it burned to the ground. The barn was one of the largest in that section of the county, 40x58 feet. Mr. Roberts carried $500 insurance upon the barn and $50 upon his harness. Four sets of harness, which were in the barn were also destroyed.

The woman of today who has good health, good temper, good sense, bright eyes and a lovely complexion the result of correct living and good digestion, wins the admiration of the world. If your digestion is faulty Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will correct it. For sale by all dealers.

On July 1st, when the O'Neill post-office again enters the second class, Fred Clift will enter the office as deputy taking the place now held by Miss Hall. Postmaster Marsh says the change was made necessary on account of a recent ruling of the department that deputies in first and second classes must be of the male sex. This is a discrimination against the fair sex and should be looked into by the woman suffragists. Mr. Clift has been a resident of this city for the past ten years and will make a painstaking and accommodating deputy.

It takes a printer to "do things in style. The Unadilla, N. Y., Times says: "Recently a constable arrested two men, claiming to be tramp printers, who had appropriated to their use a vault in the Rockland cemetery as a habitation. When discovered they were asleep, flanked by a coffin on either side. Their bed was spread upon two coffins, and consisted of scraps of carpets. Funeral urns, devised to hold floral offerings, afforded a storehouse for their food, and the single decoration on the walls consisted of the chisled inscription "Rest in Peace."

Notice, Board of Equalization.

The County Board of Supervisors of Holt county, will meet as a Board of Equalization on Tuesday the 13th day of June, 1911.—S. F. McNichols, County Clerk.
