J.P. Mann & Co.

As the sale goes on the bargains through the store get greter and at no time during the sale have the people seemed to realize this than during the last week, judging from the distance people are coming to take advantage of the slaughter prices.

LADINS AND MISSES OXFORDS

We are not stopping to figure on the cost of our Oxfords. Come and see what we have left and you will buy. Remember school starts next week and the girls will need new shoes for the opening.

BOYS SCHOOL SUITS.

Good wool suits $1.50 to $7.49.

YOUNG MEN'S SUITS.

We have the best ling of Young Men's Clothing in the country and all we want is a chance to show it, the price will do the rest.

Groceries

As we advertised in our opening advertisement of the sale we would keep our grocery stocked during the sale or until we sold it in bulk. Up to date we have made some very low prices considering the market and now with our futures, which we had contracted long before the failure of the fruit crop, we are able to make still better prices. We will quote some of the prices, come in and get the balance.

I will sell cheap. Now is the time to buy flour, before the prices advances. I also have on hand a carload of corn that I will sell at the right price. Come before it is all gone.—George Gaughenbaugh. 6-tf.
 We have re-opened the restaurant in the Cress building on Douglas street and will run a first class, neat up to date restaurant. Meals served at all hours. When you need a good meal give us a call. The Cress Restaurant, Cress & Calve, Proprietors.
 Last Monday John L. Quig sold 640 acres of hay land south of Stuart to O. A. Kilpatrick of Harlan, Iowa. Mr. Quig is of the opinion that the real estate business will pick up during the next five months, easterners being particularly anxious to secure hay land.
 At Harlan, Iowa, last week Speed On, driven by Hugh McKenna, won first money in the pacing race and Diamond Boy, Judge Harrington's trotter, took second money in the race in which he was entered from some of the speedy horses of western Iowa.
 Tomorrow is the first open day of the hunting season and hunters can pursue and kill the delicious chicken without danger of being hauled up and fined. From what we learn there are not many left in this neighborhood as they have been killing them off for the past two months.
 Supervisor Christ Anderson and Reed of Boyd county were in the city Tuesday meeting with the Holt county board. Wednesday they accompanied the members of the Holt county board to the Niobrara river where they were to meet the State Engineer and examine the proposed location for the new river bridge.
 Fred Wingate and Tom Coyne went up to Newport Wednesday where they will open up a saloon. Mr. Coyne will remain there only for a week or so and after they get started will leave the management of the business to his partner and will return to this city. Newport has been dry since the first of May but the residents finally decided that they wished a saloon operated there in order to put the "bootleggers" out of business.

A light frost visited this section of the country last Monday night, but no damage resulted. From the daily press we learn that the frost was quite general throughout the western states. This is the earliest that frost has ever visited this county, even in the memory of "the oldest inhabitants."
 D. Clem Deaver, general immigration agent of the Burlington railroad, will arrive here with the Burlington exhibit car on September 9th and will remain until the morning of the 14th. Parties desiring to see the exhibit of the products grown along the Burlington lines should call and examine the exhibits while they are in this city.
 J. A. Donohoe has commenced the erection of a residence on the corner of First and Douglas streets. The house will be 24x30, two stories and modern in all its equipments. From the activity of Jim in the building line it begins to look as if he was getting ready to desert the ranks of the O'Neill bachelors, of which he has long been one of the most desirable members.
 Frank Biglin left for Scranton, Pa., last Wednesday morning, where he will spend the next month visiting relatives. He was accompanied by his cousin, Miss Mary E. Stanton, of Scranton, who has been visiting at the Biglin home here the past three weeks. Frank expects to visit all the big cities of the east before his return and will probably be absent six weeks or two months.
 George Myron Hartford of Middle Branch and Miss Lillian Walker of Sioux City, were united in marriage last Monday at the county court room by County Judge Malone. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Walker, who were prominent residents of eastern Holt for many years, but who are now living in Sioux City. The many friends of the young people wish them every joy and happiness.
 Lincoln Correspondent Omaha Bee: Everett Frost, giving his address as Opportunity, this state, called at the county offices here today and made application for a marriage license. None of the clerks knew where the place was located, but the document was secured and the young man went away smiling. Subsequent investigation, however, disclosed the fact that the little village is located in Holt county, though no indication is given as to the size. Mary L. Baker of this city was the young woman who accompanied Frost on his matrimonial voyage and is the one that will settle down with him at Opportunity.

 It would seem that some people can not believe or do not want to believe we have made up our minds to close our store at the sacrifice prices that it means we have to make in order to dispose of the stock by the first of the year, as we have planned. Now it was just as hard for us to make up our minds to take this loss as it is to make some people believe we have really taken this step and while, as some of our good friends say, we may be sorry for making such a sacrifice, we feel we have an opportunity now in sight that will repay us for our loss. Remember what is our loss is your gain so take advantage while this sale lasts.—J. P. Mann & Co.
 School starts next Monday and the boys and girls are making the most of the last week of their vacation.

Royal Trims Meek.
 The Meek and Royal ball teams contested for supremacy upon the O'Neill diamond last Sunday afternoon before a small crowd, owing to the coolness of the day. Considering the weather the teams put up a good game and it was enjoyed by the people present. Karr was upon the mound for Meek, and had his support been what it should have been he would have been able to have won out, but at times his support was of the ragged order. They started as if it would be a walk away for the Meek boys as they landed upon McKay for three scores in the first inning and the brand of ball being pitched by Karr it looked as if that number of runs would be sufficient to win the game. But it proved otherwise. In the second inning Royal secured one score on two hits and a walk and another in the fifth on a single and a double. In the sixth Royal put the game on ice. Karr issued free transportation to three men and a single that was thrown away after having been fielded allowed three runs to cross the plate and the game was won. Meek never crossed the plate except in the first inning, although things looked bright for a score three or four times, but the hit necessary to put it over failed to materialize. Following was the score:
 Royal.....0 1 0 0 1 3 1 1 0-6
 Hits: Meek 8; Royal 9. Stuck out, Karr 5; McKay 3. Batteries Meek, Karr and Ritchoer; Royal, McKay and Fosberg.

Alleging that he was deserted by his wife over twenty years ago John H. Creamer has filed suit in the district court asking for a divorce from Adella T. Creamer. He alleges that he was married in the city of Madison, Neb., on December 22, 1886, and that they lived together until November 17, 1890, when defendant left him and failed to return. He has got tired waiting and asks the court to relieve him from his matrimonial bonds.
 Twenty-two cents for butter fat in cream is the price now being paid by the McGinnis Creamery for cream delivered at their plant in O'Neill. We want to give every man who has cream to sell just as high a price or a higher price than he can get out of it elsewhere. We need the cream and want the full patronage of our home people and feel we should have it. It is our intention to pay right up to top prices all the time.
 We are paying twenty-four cents for butter fat in sweet cream. Come and see us.
 10-2 McGinnis Creamery

The members of the county board returned this morning from the Niobrara river where they met State Engineer Price and the members of the Boyd county board for the purpose of examining the site of the proposed bridge across the Niobrara river, for which they asked state aid, under the provisions of the law passed at the last session of the legislature. The county boards had previously agreed on Parshall's crossing as the site of the proposed bridge and their site was agreed to by the state engineer, who said it was an ideal location for a bridge. He said that he would report to the state board of irrigation that the state assist the counties in the erection of this bridge and that he would at once prepare plans for the bridge and advertise for bids and that the contract would be let this year so that work would commence upon the same about the first of the year. The bridge will be 445 feet long and will be built of steel or concrete with dykes on the south side to protect it from the encroachments of the river. The structure will cost about $30,000, of which amount the state will pay half and Holt and Boyd counties will pay the other half, one fourth each.
