Senator Gore was praising the art of compromise. "Compromise is a good thing," he said. "Take the case of a young builder I knew. He got married about a year ago and after the mar-riage he and his wife had an intermin-able dispute as to whether they should huw two motorcordes or a five horseable dispute as to whether they should buy two motorcycles or a five-horse-power runabout, suitable to their means. He said: 'My wife and I wrangled for months and months, but thank goodness, we have compromised at last.' 'What have you compromised on?' I asked. 'A baby carriage,' he an-swered with a wise, glad smile.''

It is apparently the Intention of the revolutionaries to obliterate altogether the old distinctions between Chinese and Manchu. One of those way that whereas a Chinese had three names, a Manchu had two. Yuan Shih-k'at, for example, is proved a Chinese by his triple name, whereas the members of the late ministry had dual names, and were thus proclaimed Manchus. It is now decreed that the Manchu is to ac-quire a third name, and the old dis-tinction, which was often helpful to the European student of Chinese affairs. European student of Chinese affairs, will thus vanish.

of E. L. Kirk's Enterprise to Supreme Court.

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 18.-Reply briefs of the state have been filed in the case where E. L. Kirk, of Sloux City, is asking for the entire flow of the Nio-brara river in Knox county. This flow he desires to transform into power which is to be sent over a wire to Sloux City and utilized to run the street cars of that town. Attorney General Martin takes the ground that the Niobrara is a Nebraska river and that no question of interstate commerce can be raised. He insists that Mr. Kirk cannot appeal from a part of the order of the state irrigation board and avail himself of the benefits of the remainder. In this case Kirk was given the grant he desired, but the per-mit carried the proviso that "the power generated hereunder must not be transmitted or used beyond the con-fines of the state of Nebraska."

The attorney general says that if the supreme court can interpose its discretion in the place of the discretion of the state board, then it is clearly at-tempting to legislate. He took the po-sition that the proposition of Mr. Kirk to take the waters of a Nebraska river to draw the street cars of an Iowa city to draw the street cars of a proposition to utilize its waters to irrigate lands in South Dakota, and that the latter would be a preposterous demand to make. "The Nióbrara river," says the attor-ney general, "belongs to the people of Nebraska. That power which the rush-Neoraska. That power which the rush-ing river had was just as much the property of the people of the state as is the water itself. It is just as much dedicated to the use of the people of the state of Nebraska as is the water itself. It is just as valuable an asset of itself. It is just as valuable an asset of the people of Nebraska as is the water. To my mind, therefore, if the state board should permit Kirk to appropri-ate this power for the beneficial use in another state, they would clearly be using their office against the wel-fare of the people of Nebraska." Kirk argued that when the power is transformed into electricity it becomes a commodity, and to prohibit the trans-fer of a commodity of this sort across the state line is unconstitutional by fer of a commodity of this sort across the state line is unconstitutional by reason of its interference with inter-state commerce. The attorney general reason of its interference with inter-state commerce. The attorney general says this is ridiculous, and that the argument could only apply if a power plant were already in operation and the state should attempt to prohibit the transfer across the state line. He adds: "In the last few years there has arisen a great demand for the conser-vation of natural resources, both na-tional and state. This includes water power, and it has undoubtedly been demanded by the people of the state that this water power be conserved to that this water power be conserved to the use of the people. That is pre-cisely what the legislature sought to clisely what the legislature sought to effect in passing these irrigation acts and giving to the state board of irri-gation the discretion to refuse an ap-plication or to modify an application, or to attach conditions to an applica-tion, as was deemed for the general weifare."

LORD SCULLEY'S SCHEME TO AVOID TAX MISCARRIES Beatrice, Neb., Dec. 18.—Yesterday Judge Walden entered a decree in the Lord Sculley inheritance tax case, whereby Mrs, Angelia Sculley will have to pay into the county treasury the sum of $18,413.35. This case was start-ed some months ago by County At-torney McGirr and was the first case of the kind in this county. The heirs tried to show that the land belonged to Mrs. Sculle, but at the hearing it was plainly shown that the same had been transferred from Lord Sculley to his wife shortly before his death with a view, it is said, of avoiding the tax. H. E. Spafford was appointed appralser View, it is said, of avoiding the tax. H. E. Spafford was appointed appraiser to determine the value of the lands at the time of Lord Sculley's death in 1905. The total valuation placed upon the lands at that time amounted to $1,851,335, of which $1,029,325 are in Correspondence of $200,011 in Nucleuk Gage county and $822,011 in Nuckolls county. The Sculley holdings amount to 65,000 acres, valued at $28.49 an acre.

Ellenwood, of Red Bluff, Cal., at the second day's session of the National Wool Growers' 48th annual convention Mr. Ellenwood's address was in the na-ture of a protest against what he represented as unfair treatment of the wool grower by the manufacturer. He pro-duced figures to show that the so-called "compensatory duty" on woolen cloth in-tended only to repay the manufacturer for the money paid by him either as duty on imported wool or in advanced prices for domestic wool on account of the tariff is too high because it is based on the faise assumption that the duty on first grade wool is equal to 33 cents a pound computed on a scoured basis.

Pitiful Story of Manifold Troubles.

Norfolk, Neb., Dec. 16 .-- After parading the streets of Norfolk and loafing around pool halls for about four days dressed in men's clothes, Miss Mary Johnson, of Corinth, Ia., found it necessary to confess last night that she was a woman.

Miss Johnson was recognized as Miss Johnson was recognized as a woman by Sheriff C. S. Smith, who found her in a local pool hall. After she had bitterly pleaded not to be put in jail, the county official took pity on the girl and she was allowed to leave the city on an early morning train. "Johnson" is probably a ficti-tious name, says the sheriff, but that her home is in Corinth. Ia. he is outfe her home is in Corinth, Ia., he is quite sure. The story told to the officer by the girl after he had put her under a rigid questioning seemed a pitiful one. She declared that her mother was dead and that her father has abused her and seven other children. She told the sheriff that she found it easier to and seven other children. She told the sheriff that she found it easier to obtain work when dressed in men's clothing. It developed later, however, that the girl's story was untrue. A local barber had admitted that he had cut the girl's hair about a week ago. She then was garbed in ordinary fe-male attire. For three days Miss John-son, wearing a small cap and soft shirt, a regular coat and a pair of yel-low-striped overalls, has been sitting around a local pool hall, where she was thought by the men who frequent the place to be a boy. She was noticed early Wednesday evening seated on the top of an ice box in a pool hall and later when it was learned that the sheriff was searching for her, she was given a chance to escape by several men who learned that she was disguised. She did not take the opportunity and the sheriff took her in charge. Miss John-son is not a bad looking girl. She is very dark, has pretty dark eyes and very dark, has pretty dark eyes and very dark hair. She weighs about 120 pounds and is about 19 years old. SMOKELESS, DRINKLESS,

Po-land, proprietor of the Mary-Ette hotel, while cranking his automobile, forgot to retard the spark, while caused the engine to revolve backward and the starting crank flew around, striking his right arm and both bones were fractured just above the wrist. This makes the second fracture Mr. Poland has sustained in the last two years with his automobile crank strik-ing him. About a year ago, Mr. Poland years with his automobile crank strik-ing him. About a year ago, Mr. Poland struck a bridge five miles northeast of Fairbury, the machine skidded and turned turtle and Mr. Poland was badly shaken up. He just got his car home from Moline, III., where it was thoroughly overhauled. He is begin-ning to think that fate is against him

SOCIALIST MAYOR FOR MUNICIPAL SALOON

Coeur d'Alene Plan Evolves Paying Bartenders More Than House Police.

Coeur D'Alene, Id., Dec. 15 .- The entire populace is excitedly discussing the proposal of John T. Wood, the socialist mayor, to open and maintain socialist mayor, to open and maintain a municipal saloon. Four socialist councilmen favor the plan, and its fate will be decided at a meeting of the city council this week. Mayor Wood plans to lease a build-ing at $500 a month, hire a manager at $2,000 a year, two cashiers at $85 a month each, as many bartenders as necessary at $100 a month each, a house policeman at $85 a month and two janitors at $75. If the plans of the mayor and coun-cilmen are carried out the attaches

If the plans of the mayor and coun-cilmen are carried out the attaches will be placed under bonds and the place run in strict adherence to the city ordinances. The saloon will be required to pay the state and federal license fee of $775 a year. The county recently voted "wet," and men who had arranged to open saloons oppose the mayor's plan.
