At the Evans Hotel in this city last Monday evening thirty of the business men of this city tendered a farewell banquet to Joe A. Mann who left yesterday morning for Chicago, where he expects to make his future home. For fifteen years Mr. Mann has been one of the most progressive and substantial business men of the city and the banquet was a testimonial to his ability and standing in the city where he has grown to manhood and where he has been actively engaged in business for fifteen years. After the tempting viands that had been prepared by Landlord Evans and his estimable wife had been duly taken care of by the assembled guests, John A. Harmon, who presided as toastmaster with dignity and ability, called upon each member of the banquet board to respond to the toast "our parting guest" and each member present responded with a few very appropriate and fitting remarks relative to the business ability, exemplary habits and sterling integrity of Mr. Mann and each and every guest regretted that Mr. Mann found it incumbent upon himself to go to larger fields but congratulated O'Neill that the business training received by the guest of honor in this city was so thorough that his services were in demand in the larger city, and hoped that prosperity would ever follow in his footsteps, and assured him that should he ever return to O'Neill the right hand of fellowship would ever be extended by his old friends to welcome him back. Mr. Mann feelingly responded to the many expressions of good will expressed and said that he would never forget O'Neill or the many kind people who compose its citizenship and he realized that it would always be a pleasure to him to visit his old home.

Commercial Club Organized.

At the conclusion of the banquet, tendered to Mr. Mann at the Evans Hotel last Monday night, Mayor Biglin called the attention of the citizens to the fact that more unity was desired among the business men of the city and that in order to properly look after the interests of the city it was necessary to organize a Commercial Club as such a club could do many things that would be a great benefit to the city; that O'Neill needed many improvements to place it in the ranks of the cities where it belonged, as one of the most up-to-date and progressive little cities in the state; that one of the greatest needs of the city was a good hotel and he moved that the meeting organize itself into a Commercial Club which motion was carried unanimously. Upon motion Mr. Biglin was elected president and J. F. Gallagher secretary. Mayor Biglin was then authorized to select an executive committee consisting of ten members and he has named the following as such committee: T. V. Golden, D. H. Cronin, Ed. F. Gallagher, S. J. Weekes, Jas. F. O'Donnell, O. O. Snyder, Judge H. Arrington, Dr. J. P. Gilligan, Clyde King and J. A. Donohoe.

After the organization of the Commercial Club, many of the members spoke upon the necessity of concerted action upon the part of the business men looking toward the betterment of the city and complimented the Mayor upon the suggestion that the Club be organized, and each and every speaker admitted the great need of a good hotel in this city. Several of the speakers stated their willingness to take several hundred dollars worth of stock in a hotel building company or they would make substantial donations to any person who would build the kind of a hotel necessary for the needs of the city. Mr. Ed. F. Gallagher finally stated to the meeting that if the citizens of the city would donate him $8,000 he would put up $12,000 and erect a $20,000 hotel in the city, that being the amount that it was estimated a hotel suitable to the needs of the city would cost. His proposition was cheerfully received by the citizens assembled and donations toward the bonus was asked for. All those assembled pledged themselves to give amounts ranging from $25, to $500 the sum raised at the meeting totalling a little over $4,000. As a great many of the strongest financial men of the city were not present at the meeting those at the head of the movement believe that the full amount of the necessary bonus can be raised and that before another year dawns O'Neill will have a hotel that will be a credit to the town and the progressive people that compose its citizenship.

Mr. T. V. Golden also stands ready to build the hotel if the amount of the bonus asked by Mr. Gallagher is raised and the latter said that he would turn the proposition over to Mr. Golden as he did not desire to erect the building but would do so rather than have the city do without adequate hotel facilities, and that if Mr. Golden would build it he would donate $500 to the bonus asked.

The meeting adjourned at 1 o'clock after having decided to meet at the banquet board in the hotel Evans again on March 12 when it was believed the necessary subscription would have been raised and the necessary plans for the erection of the building completed. Every business man of O'Neill who desires to see the city prosper are requested to join the Club which they can do by handing their names to the secretary, J. F. Gallagher, and be present at the next banquet of the Club on March 12. Get on and boost.
