Hunter of Middle Branch, was in the city last Wednesday and while in town Mr. Hunter paid his filing fee and announced that he would file for the republican nomination for state senator from this district, subject to the approval of the republican electors at the primary election held April 19th. Mr. Hunter has been a resident of Holt county for over a quarter of a century and has always been recognized as one of the sturdy men of the county. About twenty years ago he represented this county in the lower branch of the state legislature and is well qualified for the position to which he aspires.
 In a letter to this office containing a money order for an extension of his subscription to The Frontier Alex Wertz of Star says: "The Frontier has been a regular and welcome visitor to my home for over a quarter of a century and when the old man can not scrape up the price of a years subscription to this home delight the indications are that he is getting pretty hard up for cash. Long live the Frontier." Such messages of cheer are a source of delight to the editor and fills him with the determination to make the paper of the future better than in the past. Many thanks for your good wishes Alex.
 F. D. Smith, who for the past ten years has been the editor and publisher of the Chambers Bugle, was in the city last Monday on his way to Arriola, Colorado, where he will make his future home. Mr. Smith recently disposed of his business interests at Chambers and leaves Sunny and productive Holt for the barren mountains of Colorado where he says he expects to grow up with the country. Mr. Smith says he will always have a very great interest in old Holt and her people and for the purpose of keeping posted upon the affairs here ordered The Frontier sent to his western address for the ensuing year. The Frontier wishes Mr. Smith prosperity and happiness in his new home.

Bridge Location Referred to People.
 The bridge across the Niobrara river was before the county board again last Tuesday and Wednesday. Something over a month ago the state engineer prepared plans for a bridge across the river at Parshall's crossing, as requested by the county board of Holt and Boyd counties last fall. After the location had been decided upon considerable opposition to this site developed and the members of the board of this county did not feel justified in having the bridge built there in the face of the opposition that developed and for that reason refused to approve the plans prepared by the state engineer.
 State Engineer Price appeared before the board last Tuesday afternoon and as a result of his visit the county board adopted a resolution recinding their former action in rejecting the plans for the proposed Parshall bridge.
 Wednesday two delegations from the western end of the county appeared before the county board, one urging the acceptance of the Parshall site and one opposed to it. The matter was discussed in all its phases and the county board finally decided to leave the settlement of the location to the State Board of Irrigation after they had been petitioned by the electors living in the territory to be benefited by the proposed bridge and to that end adopted the following resolution:
 "Mr. Chairman—I move that in referring the matter of deciding upon a site for the building of the bridge applied for to the State Board of Irrigation, we request said board to receive petitions from the resident freeholders or tax payers of Holt county residing within such distance from said proposed sites that the actual interest of such freeholders or tax payers shall be evident, and that the section, township and range whereon such freeholders or tax payers resides shall be shown upon said petitions after their respective names, and that said petitions be considered as evidence in selecting a suitable location, and provided further that each signer shall state the distance he lives from the proposed bridge in favor of which he signs, and how far he lives from any bridge on said river, and all of said signers shall be confined to a territory from a line 5 miles west of the Whiting bridge to the south side of Saratoga township and then due west to the west line of the county."
 Petitions will be circulated at once and the chances are that the matter of the location of the bridge will be adjusted within the next six weeks.
