Have been a resident of Holt county for more than 20 years, have served on the county board and been twice elected to the house of representatives, and feel that my experience and acquaintance with the needs of the district, qualify me for the work of the senate. Because The Frontier stated two weeks ago that "J. A. Donohoe made a good record when in the state senate three years ago and that if he were nominated for congress he would be an aggressive candidate," Brother York, the talented editor of the Atkinson Graphic, accuses us of boomer Mr. Donohoe in opposition to Congressman Kinkaid and warns us that friends of the congressman throughout the county might retaliate by electing a democrat to the position now held by us in the legislature and for which we are a candidate for re-election. We believe that Brother York owes it to us to publish the item which he complains of and to allow his readers to judge whether or not we are boosting Mr. Donohoe. The lines quoted above is the substance of the article and all that concerned Mr. Donohoe and for the life of us, if we are able to understand the English language, we are unable to find where in it booms Mr. Donohoe for the congressional job. It is true we said Mr. Donohoe made a good record when he represented this district in the state senate and according to our idea he did. Is it less majestic in the opinion of our republican brother editor to give credit to a democrat for making good, even if he believes he has done so. This district has been represented in the state senate by many democrats and we call to mind now no other democrat whom we could say made good in that capacity. But saying that he made good does not mean that The Frontier will support him for congressman. He does not belong to our political party and The Frontier during the twenty years that the present editor has been connected with it has always faithfully and loyally supported the republican nominees and will do so in the coming campaign, believing that republican policies are better for the people of this country than democratic. That Mr. Donohoe will be an aggressive candidate, if he succeeds in winning the nomination, no man who is acquainted with him will deny, so why not admit it.

Insurgency Woodmen.

The O'Neill delegates sent to the insurgent conventions of the Modern Woodmen called for Columbus and Hastings to protest against the increase of rates in the order, returned the latter part of the week and report splendid meetings in both cities and that the sentiment all over the state is practically the same, that is united in protest against the increase in rates.

The Columbus meeting was held last Monday and was attended by 120 delegates, representing 18000 Woodmen. At this meeting resolutions were adopted severely censuring the officials and the membership of the Chicago head camp for the great and unnecessary increase in rates adopted there. A state association was formed for the purpose of protesting vigorously against the levying of the proposed increase and lines of procedure, to gain the desired end, mapped out. A complete list of officers were elected for the association. A committee of five were appointed to represent the Columbus convention at the Hastings meeting and were authorized to get together with the Hastings meeting if possible so that there would be but one organization in the state to fight the proposed rates, as the members believed that one good effective fighting organization would make more headway than two organizations who would probably get to scrapping among themselves. To the end that nothing would prevent the merging of the two state associations, provided their platforms did not conflict, the committee were given the resignations of all the officers of the Columbus meeting and were authorized to fill their places with other members if they deemed it necessary for the advancement of the cause they were all interested in.

The Hastings meeting convened Wednesday morning and when the report of the committee on resolutions was read it was found that 386 delegates were present, representing over 40,000 Woodmen in the state of Nebraska. It was a splendid gathering composed of some of the ablest men in the state and they were all there with one object in view and that was to protest and protest vigorously against the enormous increase in rates as levied at Chicago.

The resolutions which were adopted at Hastings are the product of the committee on resolutions of the Hastings convention and the committee appointed by the Columbus convention and as stated by the chairman of the committee were "a treaty of peace or a declaration of war, depending upon the attitude to be assumed by the head officials," committed the in-surgers to the following line of action:

- 1-To secure the submission of the entire rate question to the entire membership for a referendum vote.
- 2-Falling in the first to endeavor to secure a meeting of a newly elected head camp for a reconsideration of the rate question.
- 3-Falling in the first and second, to institute legal proceedings to prevent the enforcement of the new rates pending consideration of the question by the next regular head camp.
- 4-Falling in all these, to call another convention to take such action as the circumstances may require.

Woodmen, Yes We Can Stay.

Leone, Nebr., March 24, 1912.

Editor Frontier: Answering an article of last weeks issue, in which my name was used, and was signed by John A. Robertson, I will simply say that his table of estimations and everything contained therein, (with the exception of some erroneous statements and the misleading appearance of the way in which it was got up) is a positive argument in favor of the Modern Woodmen rates as adjusted. His table shows that it is necessary for the society to collect just the amount of the rates (according to age) that are applied in the new rate, and if put into a reserve fund, working all the time and accumulating at the rate of 40 per cent compound interest (provided of course that every man lived to his expectancy) necessary to enable the society to guarantee the payment of each contract now in force. His slam at absence of fraternal conditions is unjust and uncalled for and reason will show you the insurance feature is entirely a separate and distinct feature from it. You cannot pay insurance contracts with brotherly love and good fellowship feelings, but you must pay them with the almighty dollar and nothing else will do it.

His 6 per cent estimation is higher than would be possible, with a large amount therefore is out of the question.

His assertion that you would pay in more than $1000 on each $1000 carried is contradicted in his own table showing you the amount you actually will pay in up to your full expectancy, the balance is accumulated for you after your money has been paid into our treasury, thus showing his statement to be absurd and exactly contradicted by his own figures. I would not like to think that Neighbor Robertson has made this mistake intentionally to mislead some unsuspecting neighbor, who has not time or inclination to look into this proposition for himself, and would necessarily be led in the footprints of one so influential and well informed on all questions of interests as he is, so we will have to call it a common mistake, probably for the reason that he did not take time to review his work before going to press.

In condemning the head officers of the society, he is I think hasty, calling his attention to the fact, that this plan was reviewed and studied by 788 delegates composed of the societies members, after which 436 voted in favor of the plan that was adopted, which looks like the only (or rather one of the only plans of a like character) that would pull the order out of the present rut and enable it to stay out for all time without calling more than 12 assessments per year.

He condemns the term insurance and it is a matter of fact the only kind of insurance he has had in the Modern Woodmen since it has been doing business, and the term was very indefinite. Now it should be permanent. Why take a chance when you can be sure.

Fraternally,
O. B. Hatch.

District Court.

During the past week many cases have been heard in the district court, many of them having been settled by agreement among the litigants. The following cases have been disposed of:

Charles E. Burch vs. the Chicago & Northwestern railroad company was settled by agreement and a verdict of $140 and costs of suit entered against the defendants.

The case of Bridget McLaughlin vs. the Woodmen of the World was tried to the court and a verdict rendered in favor of the plaintiff for $1000 and interest from May 1911, and costs of suit.

Minnie Burch vs. Thomas F. Grady, an equity case, was also tried to the court, and a verdict rendered for the plaintiff and costs of the suit charged to the defendant.

Mary Withee vs. Frank C. Maley was settled by agreement between the parties and a verdict rendered against the defendant for $1,000 and costs of suit. This was one of the Verdiger saloon cases that was filed in this county last fall.

Martin Miksch was granted a degree of divorce from Johanna Miksch.

Henry Rickgauer, vs. the Chicago & Northwestern railroad company was tried to the court and a verdict rendered against the company for $125.

John A. Maring was granted a decree of divorce from Ethel T. Maring. A motion for a new trial in the Miles case was made and overruled to which the defendant county excepted.

The Live Stock Market

South Omaha, Neb., Mar. 26, 1912

The "sticky" beef market at the close of last week was still in evidence the fore-part of this week and while the market is unevenly lower it is scarcely enough to make any alteration in range of prices, the decline showing on the in-between kinds. Cow, heifer and butcher stock, generally, continue firm. The general demand of consumers calling for this class of meat rather than the more expensive kind which is beyond their reach. The better weather is making a healthier tone to the stocker and feeder trade.

Sheep and lambs are in liberal supply this week but the market is holding about steady as buyers realize that this is the winding up of the shipping from big feed lots.
