 T. T. Waid was in town last Saturday with a stalk of sweet corn from a field upon his farm, that was over twelve feet tall. It was the tallest stalk of corn that we have ever seen and proved conclusively that corn will grow just as tall in this county as any place on earth, providing the season is satisfactory.

 John W. Kirkwood, general director of the Hudson Coal Co., of Scranton, Pa., was in the city the first of the week visiting his cousins, John F. and Walter O'Malley. He left for his Pennsylvania home this morning.
 A dozen automobiles loaded with boosters from the bustling village of Page were in the city yesterday boosting for their annual fall festival, which will be held there tomorrow and Saturday. Their band accompanied them and played several choice selections upon the city square.
 Now that a record-breaking corn yield is promised this county many of the farmers are worrying as how they will be able to get it out of the fields. They say that there is such an enormous crop of corn this season that help to pick the crop will be hard to get.

 A wreck on the Burlington near Osmond last Monday prevented the passenger due here at 11:35 Monday night from reaching this city until the next day and there was no passenger east Tuesday morning. A broken flange on a freight car caused three or four cars to go into the ditch, luckily no one was injured.
 C. A. Smith, the Burlington agent, who tendered his resignation as agent at this place some four weeks ago, has reconsidered the matter and has decided to remain in O'Neill, so has withdrawn his resignation. Mr. Smith's many friends in this city will be pleased to learn that he has decided to remain here.
 An article that has real merits should in time become popular. That such is the case with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been attested by many dealers. Here is one of them. H. W. Hendrickson, Ohio Falls, Ind., writes, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best for coughs, colds and croup, and is my best seller." For sale by all dealers.

Grothe of Emmet is one Frontier reader who believes that the editor should occasionally have some of the good things of earth and last Monday he brought us two large watermelons and a couple of splendid musk melons, which were thoroughly appreciated by the editor and family and Mr. Grothe has the thanks of the editorial family for the same.
 The hunting season opened upon the first and since that date the majority of the sports of this city have been out in the fields hunting the elusive chickens, with varying success. Although there were a large number of birds this spring the hunters have been unable to find them this fall and the chances are they were nearly all killed off before the formal opening of the season.
 The case of the state of Nebraska vs H. Clauson occupied the attention of the county court all day Tuesday and part of the night. Mr Clauson was charged with making an assault upon George Gibbons at the old settlers picnic two weeks ago. A large number of witnesses were subpoenaed by both sides and it was a hard fought case. It was tried to a jury and after listening to the evidence and the pleas of the counsel the jury returned a verdict of guilty and recommended to the court that the fine be placed at $5.00 which the court agreed to. The costs amounting to about $75, were also taxed to Mr. Clauson. The defendant has appealed the case to the district court.

Death Angel Calls Mrs. G. C. Hazelet
 Cordova Daily Alaskan, Thursday, August 22: Shortly before the stroke of nine o'clock last night the spirit of Mrs. George C. Hazelet had passed to the great beyond. The lingering summons was heroically resisted for several days until finally mortal strength succumbed to the final call that severed the ties that in the breaking will leave the deepest anguish and grief. Surrounded by a devoted husband and a circle of close friends life slowly ebbed away during the last few hours.
 The shock comes with added force because it was generally believed that this courageous woman would be spared to complete a life of exceptional worth, that was rich with generous deeds and kindly thoughts. She gradually rallied from her operation on Saturday afternoon last, and on Tuesday seemed to have gathered sufficient strength to indicate a speedy recovery should no complications set in. She talked encouragingly and hopefully of the future and gave comfort to those who were anxiously waiting the outcome.
 But Wednesday morning found her weaker, and while she was temporarily enabled to gain strength she continued to fail and toward nightfall all realized that the inevitable could not much longer be warded off. During most of the last two or three hours the patient, suffering woman was only partially conscious, and finally passed peacefully away to enjoy the reward of a Christian life well spent in many noble sacrifices to family and intimates.
 And today there is general sorrowing in the community where for four years past Mrs. Hazelet has been a leading spirit in the doing of all those things that tended to the happiness of the people and the welfare of the town. Charitable in thought and deed, and always with a consideration for the feeling of others, this modest woman earned and held the respect and affection of all with whom she came in contact, and particularly so with those who were among her intimates and realized the generosity of her thoughts and acts.
 While the sorrow of the loss of this estimable character will be borne by the general public, it was because of her exceptional qualities as a fond mother and a loving wife, that the members of her immediate family will have a cross to bear that will require the utmost fortitude to sustain them in this sad hour when the hand of affliction is most heavy. Mr. Hazelet and two grown sons, Calvin and Craig, have the deepest sympathy of the entire people in this section of Alaska, for they know the depth of their bereavement, and the magnitude of their loss.
 The two sons, students at the University of Washington, have been in the interior during most of their vacation period, learning practical mining and milling, and are absent in this hour of their afflictions. Calvin is doing placer mining on the Chisna river in the Slate creek country, about 160 miles from Chitina. He has been sent for but will not be able to reach here until the latter part of the month. Craig has been at Kennecott, and now on his way out, expects to be here tomorrow. A nephew, Ralph Evans, whose mother was Mrs. Hazelet's sister, is a resident of Cordova and was at the bedside when the final summons came.
 Mrs. Hazelet was born at Juneau, Wisconsin, 46 years ago. It is 24 years since her marriage at O'Neill, where her father, A. T. Potter, now resides at the advanced age of 82 years. Although Mr. Hazelet came to Alaska in 1898 it was not until 1903 that his family came out to permanently reside. They removed from Valdez to Cordova in 1908, when Mr. Hazelet had the town laid out and shortly afterwards built his comfortable home on the hillside.

Death Angel Calls Mrs. G. C. Hazelet
 The latter part of last week County Attorney Whelan swore out a warrant for the arrest of Joe McHugh, prosecuting witness in the Carr case, on the charge of obtaining money under false pretense from Ferdinand Krutz of Ewing, and applied to Governor Aldrich to issue a requisition to the governor of Missouri for his return to this state. Tuesday's State Journal contained the following regarding it:
 "Governor Aldrich has been asked by Mike Harrington not to issue a requisition for the return of Joseph McHugh from St. Joseph to Holt county. County Attorney Edward H. Whelan has asked the governor to issue the requisition. The governor will hold a hearing Wednesday to listen to the contending parties. This is the first time anyone has endeavored to induce the governor to turn down the request of a county attorney for the issuance of a requisition.
 "In this case the county attorney alleges that McHugh obtained more than $35 by false pretense. It is alleged that McHugh sold a lease on state school land which he did not own, the lease being owned by John Coleman. An affidavit states that the lease was sold to Ferdinand Krutz in return for $135 and a team of mules. The money was paid by check, but McHugh failed to deliver the lease. He is said to have represented that he had the lease in a grip, but when he came to look for it he failed to find it and promised to deliver it later.
 "Another reason set forth in the county attorney's request for the return of McHugh is that he is wanted by the state as a witness in an assault case wherein John Carr is the defendant. McHugh was subpoenaed but soon thereafter left the state. Mr. Harrington will allege that the second charge, even if true, does not make McHugh a fugitive from justice."
 Attorney Whelan went to Lincoln Tuesday morning to appear before the governor at the hearing on the requisition Wednesday.

County Convention.
 Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the state progressive party assembled in Lincoln on Tuesday, Sept. 3rd, a call is hereby issued for a county convention of the progressive party of Holt county to be held in O'Neill, Nebraska, on Saturday, September 21, 1912, at 11 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of forming a county organization and transacting such other business as may properly come before the meeting. Each precinct is entitled to representation.
 H. A. ALLEN,
 Temporary Chairman.
Some Twine.
 Will Maupin's Weekly: It required 7,000,000 pounds of twine to bind the small grain crop of Nebraska in 1912. This means upwards of 113,000 miles of twine—enough to wrap around this old globe of ours four times at the equator with pretty near 13,000 miles of twine left over to make a fancy bowknot.
 This would make a 37-strand cable that would reach from New York to San Francisco, and a cable of thirty seven strands of binding twine would be some rope, believe us.
 Edgar Howard, the versatile editor of the Columbus Telegram and one of the most prominent democrats in the state, was in the city last Monday, having come from his Platte county home to bid on the land belonging to the Welsh estate that was offered at referees sale at the court house Monday afternoon. Mr. Howard did not get any of the land but was of the opinion that the successful bidder got a bargain at the price paid.

 E. W. Stansberry was up from Norfolk last Monday. Ed was a resident of this city for many years, having been agent for the Nye Schneider Fowler people here. He has quit the grain business and has been working for the Northwestern for the past ten years, now being a conductor on that line. Ed says that nearly all the railway employees are for Roosevelt for president and many of his most enthusiastic followers were former ardent democrats.
 Hon. J. W. Zink of Grand Island was in the city last Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Zink was a member of the legislature in 1909 and 1911 and gained some publicity and fame as the author of the nine foot bed sheet bill. His greatest claim to glory however, he says, is in the fact that he owns and operates the largest cigar factory in the state of Nebraska. This was Mr. Zink's first visit to O'Neill and he expressed himself as highly pleased with the city and the country surrounding it.
 O. M. Gruenther of Columbus was in the city last Monday and that afternoon sold the 800 acres belonging to the Jonas Welsh estate. This land is located fourteen miles north of this city and is not what is called good land. Several parties were present from the eastern part of the state to bid upon the land and several local men put bids upon it. The land was sold to one of the heirs of the Welsh estate for $23 per acre, making a total of $18,400.00 for the 800 acres, which is considered very reasonable for the land. This land was sold to Mr. Welsh some eight years ago for $10 per acre.
