JOURNALIST TAKES ON INDIAN WEDDING YOWS

Married By a Blackfeet Chief and Then Adopted Into Their Tribe.

Glacier National Park, Mont., Sept. 16.—Undere the shadows of a larg jagged rock that towered high above all the others in the locality, Bob Heinl, Washington correspondent for Leslie's Weekly, and Miss Helen Corbin, of Indiana, took the marriage vows of the Blackfeet tribe of Indians Sunday. Following the ceremony Mr. Heinl and his young bride were adopted by the tribe. The Indian name of Black Eagle was conferred upon the man, while his wife was given the name of Small Woman. About 100 tourist, most of whom were newspaper men from every part of the country witnessed the strange wedding. In the party was Eugene Kelly, of The Tribune.

Tribune.

Mr. and Mrs. Heinl were traveling to Glacier National Park with the party as guests of the Great Northern railroad. At St. Mary's lake, about 40 miles in the interior of the park, the party camped. The marriage under the Indian customs had been previously arranged, and when the white people drove into the little valley, they were met by an advance guard of the tribe and conveyed to the spot where the chief and his aids were awaiting them.

The chief and his warriors were seated with folded arms directly under a large rock. As the party approached, the chief stood up and with uplifted arm welcomed the party. Following the custom of their red hosts, the tourists seated themselves on the stony ground. As the chief arose and took a center position within the circle, the tom-toms began to beat and the valley was soon echoing and re-echoing with the weird yells of the tribesmen.

Mr. Heinl came forward, leading his bride to where the chief was standing, and with a few simple Indian words they were made husband and wife. Then there followed a repast in Indian fashion.

DESIRE TO STEAL IS CUT OUT BY SURGEON

Charges Against Knife-Reformed Youth Nolled On Doctor's Recommendation.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 16.—The surgeon's knife finally cleared John Howard of the stigma of crime when District Judge Charles S. Jelley today noiled the indictment charging the youth, who was the subject of a "corrective operation" a month ago, with third degree burglary. Today's action came after Dr. A. H. Parks, who helped perform the operation, told the court that in his opinion the excision of a large cyst from the brain of Howard had removed all criminal tendenard had removed all criminal tenden-cies, which had existed prior to the knife's use.

"There was every indication that his criminal tendencies might have resulted from the pressure on the brain" said Dr. Parks. "I have watched the boy since I attended him and believe a cure has been affected."

Howard, who, prior to the operation, complained of an irresistible desire to steal, said himself that the inclination was gone and that he wanted to go to work. The court noiled the indictment on motion of County Attorney James Robertson.

WOULD HAVE NATION FINANCE CAMPAIGNS

Members of Senate Offer New Plan To Prevent Corrupt Elections.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16.—That the government should pay in part or the whole of the campaign expenses of candidates for office is the belief of some of the members of the senate committee on privileges and elections, a subcommittee of which is engaged in an investigation of campaign contributions and expenditures in the national elections of 1904, 1908 and the present compaign.

It is probable a bill providing for the payment of campaign expenses will be introduced at the next session of congress.

The argument is made that as long as campaigns are financed by individuals, as at present, there will be danger of big interests controlling the men who are elected to office and the government. Under the proposed conditions contributions from individuals would be prohibited by law, as are contributions from corporations at present.

HANGS WIFE FROM WINDOW BY HEELS

Pittsburgh Woman Says Hubby Hit Her In Face With Eggs as Diversion.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 16.-There have been many wives in the local divorce courts with many varieties of complaints, but it has remained for Mrs Marie Kenney to make allegations well out of the usual run.

In back of her formal charges of cruel and inhuman treatment and indignities, against her husband, James D. Kenney, of 419 Fannel street, Garfield Hill, are the allegations that Kenney suspended her by the feet out of a second story window, and by the way of diversion, she says, he would break eggs in her face. In the libel filed by her counsel, John N. Platt. it is stated the Kenneys were married June 14. 1905, and parted New Year's day of this year.

It appears the couple could not agree, albeit Mrs. Kenney is described as an exceptionally pretty woman, of stylish appearance. Her nusband is a contractor. Once, according to Mrs. Kenney, she and her husband quarreled in their bedroom, whereupon Kenney, who is powerful, grasped his wife by the feet and swung her out the window in view of those who might pass by. Having thus frightened his wife, the husband drew her back into the room.

As for the eggs, it is related that Kenney did not care whether the hen fruit was new or old. He would dash them into his wife's face, she charges, breaking them over her pretty features. Mrs. Kenney alleges other things against her husband, among them being that he imbibed alcoholic beverages and brought home persons whose presence she did not like.

CUNNINGHAM COAL LEASES CANCELED

Secretary Fisher Orders Im mediate Action In Alaskan Scandal.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Thirty-three so-called Cunningham Alaska coal land claims, involving alleged fraudulent blanket patents, which contributed to the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy, have been disposed of finally by the department partment.

The appeals have been adversely decided and Secretary Fisher has directed the immediate execution of the decision of Commissioner Dennett, of the cision of Commissioner Dennett, of the general land office, who held the claims were improperly allowed and that the entries should be cancelled. Secretary Fisher took this final action on his second review of the case.

No more of the real Cunningham claims are pending, though the interior department is regularly passing upon other Alaskan claims somewhat similar to those of the Cunningham group.

of 1,000 or more such, 300 already have been disallowed.

In the final decision, which became public today, the name Cunningham figures but twice in the list of the 33 patentees. J. G. Cunningham and Clarence Cunningham appear and the other ence Cunningham appear and the oth-er 31 are under a variety of names. Secretary Fisher's decision in part

"I have again reviewed the cases. No new considerations are presented in the argument, although it contains many statements, reflecting upon the animus and attitude of the commissioner, which are, in my opinion, totally unwarranted.

"After full consideration, I am of the opinion that the findings of fact and the conclusions both of law and fact of the commissioner as expressed in his opinion in these cases, are cor-of the commissioner as expressed in his opinion in these cases, are correct, and they are hereby adopted as the findings and conclusions, both of law and of fact, of the department."

The Cunningham claims had an aggregate area of 5.250 acres and their value ran high into the millions. It had been alleged that a Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate owned the blanket claims of the Cunninghams and their associates.

with the controversy over the claims came the dismissal from public service of Chief Forester Pinchot, Louis R. Glavis, chief of the field division of the land office, and several minor officials.

STRIKING MINERS IN CLASH WITH MILITIA

Troops, After Driving Off Rioters Battle Valiantly To Save Burning Stable.

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 14.—The expected outbreak in the Cabin Creek district of the Kanawha coal fields, where 1,200 West Virginia militiamen under command of Major James Pratt are maintaining martial law, came today when the stables of the Ohley Coal company at Ohley were destroyed by fire and an attempt was made to fire the tipple of the same company. Twenty-five militiamen from the Clarksburg company under command of Lieutenant Cochrane drove off the men, and it is believed that some were wounded.

JAPANESE MIKADO FUNERAL SERVICES

Marked By Ancient Pomp and Religious Rites - Empress Dowager Unable to Attend.

Tokio, Sep. 14.—Gen. Count Mar-esuke Nogi, supreme military coun-cillor, and his wife. the Countess Nogi, committed suicide tonight following the religious ceremonies in connection with the death of the late emperor Mutsuhito.

Tokio, Sept. 14.—The second part of the ceremonies in connection with the funeral of the late Mutsuhito, Emperor of Japan, took place tonight when the casket containing the body started on its journey to Aoyama, whence it will be taken to Monoyama for burial.

Imposing as had been the ceremonial attended by the great dignitaries in the palace earlier in the day, when the funeral service, tending to emphasize the contrast between the ancient Shinto rites and the 20th century militarism, was conducted, the passage of the capital tonight was even more impressive. It afforded the populace of the capital an opportunity to display sorrow at the nation's bereavement, and hundreds of thousands stood for hours in absolute silence along the route, as the coffin passed on the first stage of its journey toward its last resting place.
