At the progressive congressional convention held at Kearney last Sat urna Frank L. Armstrong of Dawson county was nominated for congress from the Sixth district.

Annrew Morrisey of Lincoln, demomuch candidate for attorney general, has protested against the nominees of the progressive party going on the ballot under that party designation, and the matter will be threshed out in the courts.

The ticket offered the people of the state by the republican party is one that every lover of good clean government can honestly and conscientiously support. It is a good clean ticket and worthy the support of all republicans and good citizens of all political parties.

The dreaded horse disease, meningitis, has made its appearance among the horses in this county and horse owners should take every precaution to save their horses from this ailment. Most authorities say that about the only thing to do is to take the horses off the pasture, and this should be done to protect them. Remember an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

Andrew Morrisey is the possessor of a nomination for attorney general from a political party that has no real legal existence for the past four yearsthe peoples Independent party-yet he is trying to prevent the nominees of the progressive party from going on the ballot under their party designation. As long as Andrew retains the populist nomination we believe it s with poor grace for him to ion the locality of the nominees of the progressive party.

Governor Wilson was an Iowa the disease and the following treatat the Inter-State fair at Sloux City last Tuesday. previous was vividly pictured. We naturally felt a deep regret against the chief executive as the case had been prepared with the aid and advice of Ex-Attorney General Jackson of Kansas, Governor Hadley, Atoorney General Majors of Missouri and other specialists. When the vouchers are checked up in the state treasurer's office it will be seen it was prepared at quite an expense.

Later another cat hopped out and it looked as though the attorney general himself had been the malefactor in fee simple.

The question of the responsibility was put directly up to Mr. Shallenberger. It was printed in his home paper and in twenty-five others. If Mr. Shallenberger choses to default and let public opinion render a judgment against him on the Mullen evidence that is his business. The exgovernor knows the kidney of the political strnmpet for the harvester trust by this time or he will if he goes to dealing in facts. He will then find that friendship, confidence, religion and professional ethics are merely merchandise to be auctioned to the highest bidder.

Mr Shallenberger finds himself be tween two fires.

Mr. Mullen is one of the most practical men in Nebraska politics. He knows the inside of the Shallenberger administration and is therefore in a position of dangerous strategy for the would be senator. The voters however will expect Mr. Shallenberger to face the music on this issue or the few Taft votes he will get will be bonesome after election day.-Creighton Liberal.

The Horse Disease.

During the past two weeks the papers have been full of matter to the effect that hundreds of horses have been dying in Kansas from a disease that has been called meningitis. The disease has reached this county. J. F. Shoemaker losing three head the first of the week. D. A. Doyle lost a fine mare Tuesday. We understand that John Hickey has also lost one horse and we hear that there have been several head lost in the south country and down near Page. Dr. D. S. Palmer of Holdrege claimed to have some luck in the treatment of the cause of this disease. The so-called cerebro spinal meningitis of horses being an entirely different disease from that which occurs in man, the spmptoms as well as the cause are distinctly different. In the most rapid fatal attack death takes place in from four to forty-eight hours. Such cases begin with violent trembling or stupor and extreme weakness, or with staggering gait, partial or total inability to swallow, impairment of eyesight, followed by partial or complete paralysis, inability to stand, with marked delirium, during which the animal lying flat on its side becomes violent and knocks and bruises its head. In the second form of the disease the same line of symptons may be be noticed in a milder degree. Difficulty in swallowing, slowness in chewing the food and inability to switch the tail are ob served. Breathing becomes heavy and noisy, and delirium may develop with stiffening of the spinal muscles or partial cramp of the neck and jaws. Death occurs in from six to ten days. In the last or mildest form the lack of voluntary control of the limbs becomes but slightly marked, the power of swallowing is never entirely lost, and the animal has no fever, pain or unconscious movements In those cases which get well the animal begins to improve the fourth day and goes on to recovery. One attack does not protect against a second attack, as horses and mules have been known to have the disease two or three times. The first principle in the treatment of this disease consists in a total change of feed and forage. Horses kept in the stable should be fed with sound forage and grain from an uncontaminated source, even if such food has to be brought from a distance. Horses that have become affected while at pasture should be removed from the field in which they have been running. The animals should be brought to the barn or corral and fed on wholesome and clean feed and forage. The water, unless from an unpolluted source, should likewise be changed.

ANNOUNCEMENT! Beginning Saturday, September 21, we will serve Breakfast and Lunches in our Lunch Room every day except Sunday. MCMILLIAN & MARKEY

First, because it lasts-

First choice of those who know -Peerless Prepared Roofing-first, because it lasts longest. And that's just what you're entitled to when you buy roofing—years of wear. Are you getting it now? If you'll investigate you'll readily realize that it offers most for the money, not only because it outwears other kinds, but outwears them without a penny's repair expense! That means that the few dollars it costs to cover your building with Peerless Prepared Roofing are soon returned to you in the shape of the actual cash saving it effects every year.

Fire and hail and wind and emergency conditions affect Peerless Prepared Roofing no more than ordinary weather. It's safest, it's most economical—in the first place and the "long run."

0. 0. SNYDER, O'Neill

Let us tell you the whole story. Drop in and talk it over.

This is to certify that WRIGHT & BREWER cried our sale on our ranch, on Dec. 13, 1911, amounting to $23,000.00 in three hours and five minutes. We were very much pleased Fisher & Berigan

Doc Bixby in State Journal: Judge Howard's grief over the apostasy of injection." Mike Harrington is the most pathetit thing we have seen in the public prints since Brother Charley Pool announced his withdrawal from the race for governor. The judge declares that Mike has dug a ditch so deep and wide that when he calls to his political friends to come to the aid of the party, they will find it impossible to do him any service. We don't see any good reason for blubbering about it, even if all the judge says is literally true. In becoming a bull moose, Mr. Harrington may be jumping from the frying pan into the fire but he is surely getting away from mighty bad political associations, and the change cannot fail to be helpful and uplifting.

Shallenberger Should Talk. A. C. Shallenberger, democratic nominee for U. S. Senator finds himself severely complicated over the "harvester trust" issue. In December, 1010, Mr. Shallenberger's attorney general, Arthur F. Mullen, requested the writer's presence in Omaha and paid the expenses of the trip out of the state treasury. Arriving at Omaha the ouster petition against the harvester trust was read to us, with the surprising information that it was not going to be filed.

The responsibility for keeping this question out of court was placed at Mr. Shallenberger's door and the fact that the governor's brother, who is general agent for the International Harvester Company in Indiana, had Alberts Harness & Shoe Store McClure 2 satisfactory in the vast majority of cases. The first step is to empty the bowls and remove the poisonous puoducts, but on account of the difficulty in swallowing, an aloes ball or Glauber's salt is hard to give. In fact no remedy should be given in the mouth if the throat is paralyzed, as pheumonia is liable to result. Fifteens grains of barium or two grains of eserin under the skin, if the animal is not too greatly depressed, will usually act promptly. Intestinal disinfectants such as calomel, salicylic acid, or creolin are also used.
