tuberculosis. Deceased leaves a wife and two little children.

The J. R. Thomas sale, held Wednesday, on the old Jackson ranch northeast of this city, was the most successful sale held in this county this fall. Everything sold brought splendid prices and buyers and sellers were all satisfied with their purchases.

For Sale—440 acres of good land, 13 miles northwest of O'Neill. Farm, pasture and hay land. Running water on the place. Would make an ideal dairy farm. Will give some one a bargain if taken before November 1st. For particulars write—Mat Cleary, Emmet, Nebr. 14-7

Running up and down stairs, sweeping and bending over making beds will not make a woman healthy or beautiful. She must get out of doors, walk a mile or two every day and take Chamberlain's Tablets to improve her ingestion and regulate her bowels. For sale by all dealers.

The implicit confidence that many people have in Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is founded on their experiences in the use of that remedy and their knowledge of the many remarkable cures of colic, diarrhoea and dysentery that it has effected. For sale by all dealers

T. D. Hanley has commenced the erection of a modern bungalow upon his lots near the corner of Clay and Seventh streets. The building will be 28x34 and will be a modern up-to-date building. This is one of the most desirable residence locations in the city and Tim will have a neat and attractive home when it is completed.

Tim McCarthy, one of southern Holt's most prosperous farmers and stockmen, left this morning for a months visit with relatives at his old home Calumet, and Grand Rapids, Michigan. It has been thirty-six years since Mr. McCarthy left the copper country and he is looking forward with pleasure to his visit to the scenes of his younger days.

Dave Walker, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Yockum and Miss Strong of Hurdston, N. D., arrived in the city last Thursday evening for a few days visit at the home of M. Walker's and Mrs. Yockum's sister, Mrs. E. M. Merriman. They were former residents of this county, having lived in the neighborhood of Page for a good many years.

D. S. Hardin of Monmouth, Ill., is in the city today and was a pleasant caller at this office. Mr. Hardin is the owner of the old Jackson ranch, northwest of this city and has been over looking over the property. He says that for a time he felt as if he had made an unfortunate investment when he purchased the ranch, but the past four or five years he has become convinced that he made a very fortunate investment. This country looks very good to him now.

Bertha Clinton has filed suit for divorce from Fred Clinton to whom she was united in marriage on August 30, 1898. She alleges that in 1910 he deserted her in Colorado and that since that time she has had to provide for her own support and that of their child. That since that time she has never heard from him nor has known of his whereabouts, nor does she at the present time. She asks for the care and custody of their child and such other relief as the court may deem equitable.

S. A. Hickman, formerly chairman of the county board, was in the city last Monday. Mr. Hickman says that there has been a good many horses lost north and south of Atkinson during the past week from the horse sickness that has been destroying hundreds of horses throughout this state and Kansas the past month. He says that he lost one horse the latter part of last week, but that the disease seems to be checked in that immediate vicinity but he does not believe it will be entirely eradicated until we have a good killing frost.

Mrs. Bridget Reddin died at her home in this city last Tuesday morning at the advanced age of 97 years, after an illness of a few months of ailments incident to old age. Deceased has been a resident of this county since 1894, when the family moved to O'Neill from Wheeler county. Deceased leaves a son, Patrick Reddin, to mourn her departure. The funeral was held from the Catholic church last Wednesday morning, the remains being interred in the Catholic cemetery.

The oldest inhabitant has been compelled to "go away back and sit down," the snow which fell in this city last Tuesday was the cause. Heretofore when anything out of the ordinary happened in certain seasons of the year, the seeker for knowledge could always go to the city scale office and there find some old timer who would say that that was nothing to what happened way back in the seventies or the early eighties. But none can be found who will say that we have had a snow fall in this country as early as September 24, upon which date snow fell in O'Neill in 1912. The same night a killing frost visited this section, which will put a stop to the growth of all vegetation. Many farmers think the frost will be a benefit instead of a detriment to the corn crop while others think a good deal of the late corn will be greatly injured. Time alone can tell which is right.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Evans and children arrived in the city last Saturday evening from Cordova, Alaska, and will spend a few months visiting at the home of Mr. Evans' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Evans. Mr. and Mrs. Evans went into Alaska five years ago this fall and say they are glad to get back to God's country. Mr. Evans has received an appointment in the government forest reserve and will be stationed in either Washington or Oregon, should he decide to accept the appointment, and will go up there about the first of the year. Ralph, however, says that O'Neill looks pretty good to him and he may decide to remain with us.

Mrs. Catherine Murphy died last Friday noon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mary Mullen, in this city. Deceased was born in County Cork, Ireland, about seventy years ago. When a young lady she came to America and to northern Michigan where she married and in which state she lived for several years. For the past ten or twelve years she has made her home with her daughter in this city. She leaves three daughters to mourn her demise: Mrs. M. C. Murphy of Spokane, Wash., Mrs. Josie Murray of Omaha, and Mrs. Mary Mullen of this city. The funeral was held last Sunday morning from St. Patrick's church, interment being in the Catholic cemetery.

At the progressive county convention called for this city last Saturday a sufficient number of voters to organize the new party in this county were not present and the meeting was adjourned to meet at Atkinson next Saturday. According to law a county convention called for the purpose of organizing a new party must be attended by 100 voters of the county who must certify to the fact that they will support the nominees of the new party. At the meeting called for this city last Saturday there were about thirty voters present. H. A. Allen, who has been named by the state progressive committee as temporary chairman for this county, says that there will be no trouble in securing the required number of voters at the meeting in Atkinson next Saturday. The slim attendance at the meeting in this city last Saturday can be accounted for from the fact that there are many republicans throughout the county who intend to support Roosevelt for president but who do not believe in a third party and who believe that the republican county, senatorial, congressional and state tickets are thoroughly progressive and they intend to support the ticket at the election.

Claims to Cure Horses.

Fremont Tribune: Being deluged with letters and telephone inquiries from owners of plague-stricken horses, Mrs. A. N. Nelson, residing east of Fremont, whose singular success in treating the disease has been mentioned in the columns of the Tribune, appeared at the Tribune office this morning with an appeal that her prescription be made public.

"I can not answer so many letters and my telephone is ringing all the time," said Mrs. Nelson. "I hardly know what to do."

Mrs. Nelson claims that up to today she has cured no less than half a dozen horses by administering the treatment and that she has furnished her prescription free to no less than fifty persons. The main features of her treatment are abundant use of laxatives and the vigorous rubbing of the afflicted animals with a mixture of turpentine and lard as a means of keeping the blood in circulation. In other respects, she urges precautionary measures similar to those offered by the veterinarians. Horses should be taken off the pasture and treated with laxatives as a preventative, with an abundance of pure water. Cures can be effected Mrs. Nelson says, only when treatment is commenced while the animal is still able to stand on its feet. When paralysis has rendered its limbs useless, it is too late. The directions for treatment worked out by Mrs. Nelson are as follows:

"Three tablespoons of aloes, six tablespoons of epsom salts, half a coffee cup of alcohol and three tablespoons of table salt dissolved in a quart of water should be given the animal. Half a gallon of buttermilk in which four handfuls of baking soda and one handful of salt should then be given and repeated in three or four hours if necessary. Glycerine should be also injected at repeated intervals as a laxative.

"An external application of a mixture of two quarts of turpentine and the same amount of lard should next be made, rubbing the application into every part of the body with much force. This should be continued for upward of an hour to enforce the circulation of the blood and blankets must be placed about the horse when this has been done to keep the horse thoroughly warm. A little salt and water should be given to the horse before leaving it.

"Green cornstalks and light food can be given to the horse during its convalescence but no grains or heavy food should be given. Throughout the entire treatment and during the recovery laxatives should be constantly administered to the animal to keep its internal organs in perfect condition."
