

LOCAL MATTERS.

Mrs. E. H. Whelan went to Omaha Tuesday to attend the funeral of her nephew.

J. A. Cowperthwaite returned last Thursday evening from a short business trip to Omaha.

E. F. Huse, of the Huse Publishing Co., of Norfolk, was in the city last Wednesday on business.

Dean E. Cole of Emmet and Miss Alice M. Martens of Atkinson were granted a marriage license by Acting County Judge Chapman last Tuesday.

The Murray boys two, of Grattin township's young, hustling farmers, who live north of town say they have some corn averaging 62 bushels per acre.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Jones of Blair arrived in the city yesterday for a short visit with old time friends and neighbors. They made the trip in their auto.

L. C. Chapman is now filling the office of county judge during the absence of County Judge Carlon. It needless to say that Lewis is filling the position with ability, dignity and decorum.

Judge Carlon departed Sunday morning for Chicago and St. Louis on a business and pleasure trip. His daughter Mrs. Bert Shoemaker and Louie Shoemaker accompanied him as far as Omaha.

A. C. McCauley and J. R. Jarvis were among the Atkinson people who accompanied the football team to this city last Saturday. Judging from the smiles that illuminated their countenances during the game they thoroughly enjoyed it.

Sheriff Grady was confined to his home several days the past week with a severe attack of the mumps, but is again able to be around. Henry strenuously denies that his sickness was caused by the democratic landslide, although some of his democratic friends assert that was the cause of his sickness.

Patriot Ragan and niece left last Tuesday morning for county Mayo, Ireland, where they will spend the winter visiting relatives and friends. Prior to his departure Mr. Ragan called at this office and ordered The Frontier sent to him so that he could keep posted upon Holt County affairs during his absence.

An O'Neill business man, who was born and raised in Pennsylvania, but a new suit of clothes with Lew Chapman that Pennsylvania would go for Taft, in the presidential election. The keystone state went for Roosevelt and as a result Lewis is wearing a new suit of clothes at the expense of the former Pennsylvanian.

J. P. Gallagher, O'Neill

Married, at Wisner, Nebraska, on November 7, 1912, Daniel D. Harrington of O'Neill and Miss Anna Ryan of Wisner. After the ceremony the bridal couple left on an extended wedding trip and a visit with relatives at Humphrey, Columbus, Omaha and Chicago and after their return will be at home to their many friends in the J. F. Gallagher residence in the western part of the city. The groom is one of O'Neill's young and prominent business men, who during his three years of business life in this city has been very successful. He is a young man of sterling integrity and has hosts of friends throughout the county. The bride is one of Wisner's most charming young ladies. She is a young lady of many graces of mind and person, who is capable of fitting the home she will adore with happiness and will prove truly to be a helpmate and companion by the husband she has chosen to honor with her hand. The Frontier joins the many friends of Dan Harrington in wishing for him and his bride many, many years of wedded happiness and bliss.

A. P. Brooks died at his home in this city last Wednesday morning at 11:45, after an illness of six weeks of Bright's disease. Mr. Brooks had been ailing for several weeks but was feeling unusually well the morning of his death. Gene Kane was in the room visiting him and Mr. Brooks was sitting up in bed talking with him. The door was open and Mr. Brooks asked Gene to close the door. He closed the door and when he turned around Mr. Brooks was dead. Deceased was born in Texas on May 18, 1859, and was a little over 53 years of age at the time of his death. He came to this county in 1879 and as soon as he reached his majority filed upon a quarter section of land two miles north of this city, where he resided for several years. He was one of the pioneers who endured all the hardships of pioneer days, suffered from the grasshoppers and later the drought and when he had reached the stage in life that he could take things easy, after a life time of toil, he was called to the great beyond. For the past seven years he had been janitor in the public school building and he performed his work there as he did every where, thoroughly and well. He had many friends throughout the county who will regret to learn of his death. Deceased leaves a wife and two daughters to mourn the death of a kind and loving husband and father. He was a member of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, in which he carried $2,000 life insurance, and of the Knights of Columbus. The funeral will be held from the Catholic church Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The Frontier joins the many friends of the family in extending sympathy in their hour of sorrow.

James Binkerd, an old time resident of the Dorsey neighborhood in this county, was in this city last Monday visiting old time friends. Mr. Binkerd now lives in Lynch, where he moved some two years ago.

Sunday, November 24th, English services with preaching will be held at the German Lutheran church at 3:00 p. m. Subject of sermon: "The Holy Scripture: Origin Purpose." We extend a cordial welcome to you and your friends. Rev. Geo. H. Tiefel.

J. D. Hauley was up from Omaha the first of the week visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Hanley north of this city. Mr. Hanley is private secretary for Congressman Loebeck of Omaha and will leave for Washington in a few days to take up his official duties.

O'Neill has joined the chautauqua circuit and will have a chautauqua next August. A representative of the Britt Chautauqua was in the city the first of the week and succeeded in getting enough of our people interested to insure the success of the undertaking. The date has not been fixed yet, but it will probably be some time in August.

Mr. and Mrs. James McManus of Chicago arrived in the city last Sunday evening for a few days visit with relatives and old time friends. Mr. McManus was formerly a resident of this city, but left here some twenty years ago and went to Chicago where he entered the grocery business and has been very successful, so that now he owns one of the largest retail groceries in that city. They left for their home this morning.

P. F. Ward, son of Mrs. Michael O'Neill of this city, was elected county judge of Fall River county, S. D., at the recent election, receiving a majority of over 500 votes in the county. Pete has again exemplified the fact that O'Neill boys always make good no matter in what walk in life they desire to cast their lot. The Frontier tenders congratulations upon his good fortune and wishes him a successful career upon the bench in South Dakota.

Joseph Bures has filed suit in the district court asking for a divorce from Mary Bures to whom he was married in Chicago on October 10, 1910. He alleges that they lived together as man and wife but one day and that defendant refuses to come to this county to make her home with him. He asks for an absolute divorce upon the grounds of abandonment and such other relief as may be just and equitable. The marriage of Bures and his wife was the outgrowth of a matrimonial advertisement and Bures never seen the lady he married until a few hours prior to the ceremony.

During the rush and political excitement of the past two weeks The Frontier overlooked the wedding of two prominent Holt county people which was solemnized at Omaha a couple of weeks ago. The parties to the wedding were George Cherry, who has been a resident of the county for the past two years being in the employ of the International Harvester company, and Miss Mayme Welsh, daughter of Mrs. Welsh, one of the pioneer residents of the county. Although a little late The Frontier begs leave to extend its congratulations and best wishes for a long and happy journey upon the matrimonial seas.

Herbert Richardson was arrested last week on complaint of Louis Stebner, charged with having shot at Caroline Stebner on November 2, while the latter was near her home on the Eagle, eighteen miles northwest of this city. A preliminary hearing was held before Acting County Judge Chapman last Tuesday. Richardson admitted the shooting, but said that he thought he was shooting at a wolf. Mrs. Stebner was about fifty rods from him when he fired twice. The evidence disclosed that one of the bullets passed within a few inches of Mrs. Stebner. Richardson was bound over to the next term of the district court and bond fixed at $500 which was furnished.

Died, at Grand Island on November 1, 1912, Sarah J., wife of J. B. Torbert, aged 78 years, 4 months and 20 days. Sarah J. Allen was born in Utica, Herkimer county, N. Y. June 16, 1834, moving with her folks to the state of Wisconsin in which state she was married to J. B. Torbert in 1854; moving from there to Davenport, Iowa where J. B. Torbert entered the U. S. Army as Lieutenant of Company D, 2nd Iowa Cavalry. After his discharge in 1885 they moved to what was then Dakota territory, moving from there to Red Bird, Neb., Holt

County, November, 1876, having resided in this county most of the time since, until two years ago, since which time they have made Grand Island their home.
