F. J. Dishner returned last Sunday evening from a ten days visit and business trip to northern Michigan and Ohio towns. Frank says he enjoyed the trip but discovered that Michigan has some of the poorest land in the United States, as well as some that is as fertile as any to be found anywhere. While at Toledo, Ohio, he says he seen a man unloading a car load of hay that was shipped from Newport, in Rock county, and was being retailed in Toledo for $25 per ton.

District court, which was called to convene in this city on November 28, has been adjourned until February 3, 1913. The jury which was called to report for duty on December 2, 1912, has been excused until February 4, 1913. The order adjourning court was made by Judge Dickson last Saturday.

Dr. Zimmerman graduated in medicine about a year ago and since his graduation has been employed in the health department of the city. He has become tired of city life and will probably locate in some town in this county for the practice of his profession.

The Wayne State Normal is now offering a short winter course in Agriculture. These taking it can also take reviews, manual training, bookkeeping, penmanship, domestic science or any of the regular work of the school. This is a splendid opportunity for young men and young women who cannot be in school all the year to improve their time during the winter months. This is a state school and tuition is free. Those entering on this work should enroll on Monday following Thanksgiving or on January 6. Write the president of the school for a free catalogue and learn what a splendid school the state has at Wayne.

C. G. Seder, one of the most prosperous and progressive farmers of Deloit township and an old time reader of The Frontier, in a letter enclosed a renewal of his subscription commends very highly the political work of The Frontier during the strenuous campaign of the past year. It is very pleasing to the editor to have his labors commended and to have the commendation come from a man as well posted upon the current political events of the day as Mr. Seder makes the compliment the more desirable. We extend our thanks to Mr. Seder and hope that the political work of The Frontier under the present management will be such in the future as to merit his continued good will and approval.

Michael J. Flannigan has filed suit in the district court to collect $238 damages from the Chicago & Northwestern railroad company for a carload of hay shipped over the defendant company's road to Hot Springs, S. D., last March. The petition alleges that the plaintiff shipped a carload of hay over the Northwestern road to William J. Magowan at Hot Springs March 29, 1912, from Stuart, Neb. That said hay was to be delivered to Magowan upon presentation to the defendant of the bill of lading and not otherwise. That plaintiff sent the bill of lading to the Stockmen's bank at Hot Springs for collection, in the sum of $238, said amount to be paid said bank before the delivery of the bill of lading. That the defendant delivered said hay to Magowan without the bill of lading and without the plaintiff having been paid the sum of $238. Therefore the plaintiff asks judgment for $238 from the railroad company and costs of suit.

McNichols-Mullen.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Catholic church in this city last Tuesday morning when Rev. M. F. Cassidy pronounced the words that united in the holy bonds of wedlock S. F. McNichols and Miss Anna Mullen in the presence of a large number of the relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

The groom has been a resident of this county for years and is at present serving his second term as county clerk of this county, which attests to his popularity and standing with the people of the county.

The bride is also one of the pioneer residents of the county and a member of one of the most prominent families in this section of the state. She is so well known and generally beloved by everyone in this portion of the county that she needs no introduction to the people of O'Neill.

After the wedding ceremony the bridal couple left on the morning passenger for a short visit with relatives and friends in Omaha and other towns in the eastern part of the state. Upon their return they will go to housekeeping in the splendid new residence just completed on west Fourth street. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. McNichols wish them a long and prosperous life, in which The Frontier heartily joins.

The Live Stock Market

South Omaha, Neb. Nov. 26th 1912. The "Standard" Live Stock Commission Co.

Cattle receipts this week are not as heavy as last and while the usual Thanksgiving week has always been rather a dull one yesterday's market started the week from strong to 10c higher on all kinds of killers and a good demand for all kinds of stockers and feeders.

We quote:—
Choice beef.....$8.25@8.10 00
Common Beef down to..... 6.00
Choice Corned cows..... 5.00@7.00
Good butcher grades..... 4.50@5.50
Canners and cutters..... 3.25@4.40
Veal calves..... 4.00@5.00
Bulls, stags etc..... 4.00@6.00

Stock hifers..... 4.50@6.00

Hog receipts are becoming quite liberal compared with a few weeks past and also heavier than at this season last year. Bulk $7.40 to $7.50, top $7.60.

Receipts of sheep and lambs are fair for this season of the year and killers are steady to strong. There is a small proportion of feeders on sale.

Novel Sort of Wager.

Fairbury News: The News heard a novel bet made on the streets of Fairbury the Saturday before election. A democrat and a republican farmer were arguing the merits and demerits of free trade, and finally agreeing that Wilson was sure to be elected, they entered this agreement: If, during the last week in October, 1912, corn, wheat, oats, hogs, cattle and other products of the farm should be as high in the general market as they are at this time, then the republican agreed to vote for the democratic candidate for president at that time; whoever he may be, but on the other hand if there should be a depression in farm products at that time, the democrat was to vote for the republican nominee.

The insurgent Modern Woodmen have won out in their fight to prevent the enforcement of the new rates of insurance which were passed by the last head camp, and which were to go into effect on January 1st. An order suspending the new rates were passed by the executive council of the order at the regular monthly meeting held at Rock Island, Ill., last Tuesday. The head officers of the order did not take this move of their own violation however, as a permanent injunction was issued by the county court of Sangamon county, Illinois, against the officers of the order enjoining them from putting into effect the new rates adopted by order. In order not to be in contempt of court the new rates were suspended and the rates will remain the same as they have been for the past ten years. The head officers say the case will be appealed to the supreme of Illinois but the chances are that the case will not be settled until after the time for the next head camp when the membership will make a determined attempt to gain possession of the order and fix the rates as they think they should be fixed. Stay with the order Neighbors we will win out in the end.

Theodate Monahan has filed a petition in the district court asking for a decree of divorce from Henry J. Monahan, to whom she was united in marriage in Sarpy county, Nebraska, on August 18, 1889. She alleges that she has been a resident of this county for more than ten years and that two years ago last May her husband left her and took up his home upon a homestead and has not since that time made his home with the plaintiff, except once when he was taken ill and she went to his house and had him removed to her home where she could take care of him during his sickness and that she nursed him for about three months. That as soon as he recovered he returned to his home upon his homestead and has not lived with plaintiff since. She alleges that he has failed to provide for her and her children, although, sufficiently able to do so. She alleges that he is worth about $12,000 and she asks the court to award her $50 per month for the support of herself and family during the pendency of the action; $100 for court costs and witness fees and a reasonable attorneys fee. She asks for an absolute divorce, the custody of four minor children, reasonable alimony and that the court order the defendant to pay a reasonable sum monthly for the support, maintenance, education of the minor children and such other relief as the court may deem proper. The defendant filed an answer in which he denies most of the allegations of the plaintiff and accuses her of desertion. He also denies that he is worth the sum she names in her petition. He asks that her petition be dismissed and that he be granted an absolute divorce from her on the grounds of desertion.

Leap Year Chances.

(By The Frontier's Post Laureat.)
Come all you girls and listen
Just harken unto me,
And I will tell you something
That will make your sorrows flee.
I've been thinking of it lately
And I'm sure it is a fact,
That the boys near this town
Want to try the leap year act.
Paul Kotka has been patient,
Looking forward to this year;
Now if you would pop the question
It would fill him with good cheer.
He is now a splendid farmer,
Hurry girls and take the "hint"
For I'm sure there is no telling
When you'll find a surer mint.
John Schmidt is also waiting,
Just let me give you a hunch,
Whoever gets that little fellow
Will surely get a "honey bunch."
Now Ed Murray is another
And you'll agree he's not too old;
Now dear ladies you can't miss it,
Cause on you he'll spend the gold.
Henry Cook is still hoping
For those lovely parcel showers
There is still a chance to win him,
In the quiet evening hours.
Rice Page thinks he's fated—
Go this day give him your hand
And on you, I'm sure he'll lavish

All his coin and 'Holt county land.'
But if you're up against it
And don't find one high or low,
Doc Enright will take your offer
If you bring along the dough.
Walter Duft is on the market—
He says he wants a chosen mate;
Nab him girls, this very moment,
Before it is forever late.
Fred Knop, you all know him,
Is about ten feet tall,
The girls can't get their arms around
his neck
Nor propose to him at all.
Arnold Boediker, do not forget him;
Freeze to him this very hour—
He will make a model husband
Tho' he looks a little sour.
