London, Jan. 27.—Constantinople is practically in a state of siege, according to dispatches received here by the peace delegates of the allies. The young Turks, fearing that the reins of power may again escape from their hands, are said to be arresting their political adversaries right and left, searching houses and clubs and confiscating documents. They hope in this way to break up the opposition.

WAR VESSELS TO CAPITAL

With this prospect in view, the European powers are sending war vessels to reinforce the ordinary guard ships stationed at Constantinople. Italy is especially alarmed over the return to power of the young Turks, who were inexorable during the Libyan war.

ITALY IS ALARMED

The position of the 5,000 Italian residents of Turkey is now regarded as so precarious that Italy has dispatched to Constantinople two of her best cruisers, the San Marco and Pisa, and the gunboat Archimede, which is prepared to land 500 bluejackets. COMMENTS GLAVIS;

WANTS HIS REMOVAL

Governor Acts Because He Was Privately Employed While Holding Office.

ARMOR PLATE POOL

He confirmed the existence of a "plate and structural pool" and declared that Judge Gary had had knowledge of it. He declared that he himself had given orders for the closing down of blast furnaces of the corporation for the purpose of maintaining the price of pig iron. He said steel rails sold lower to foreign consumers than to domestic, and he furnished testimony intended to prove that the Tennessee Coal and Iron company was a competitor of the steel corporation in the steel rail market prior to its acquisition by the steel corporation.

FAVORED COMPETITION

Mr. Corey, who resigned as president of the corporation in 1910, made it plainly evident in his testimony that in many respects he had clashed with Judge Gary and the members of the finance committee in matters of policy. He declared he never had favored the lease of the Hill ore lands by the corporation in 1907, which was approved by the corporation almost coincidentally with the filing of this suit.

HAD BIG SUM AT STAKE

"Glavis, with knowledge of the situation," the letter continues, "entered into contracts with various lumber companies, by which he agreed to have the lands to which they were entitled listed by the federal government to the state."

URGES HIS DISCHARGE

"From this brief resume, perhaps imperfectly stated, we may conclude that in the private employment of Glavis the state was not injured and that his services to the state were rendered with fidelity unshaken by private interests. But the entire efforts of this administration have been to require every public servant, every official high and low alike, to give to the state his undivided allegiance and never to place himself in a position where his loyalty to the public might be strained by any private interest."

PLAN AMENDMENTS TO

ANTI-TRUST MEASURE

Committee Delegated to Prepare Report of Special Investigating Body.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Recommendations in favor of several amendments to the Sherman anti-trust law were practically decided upon today at an executive meeting of the Senate Interstate Commerce committee held to discuss a report of hearing during 1911 and 1912. The committee took no positive action beyond requesting Senator Cummins, of Iowa, to prepare its report, but the discussion among the senators present indicated that the members were in substantial agreement for an amendment looking to the maintenance of the principle of competition, rather than the regulation of monopoly as was strongly favored by many financiers and business men who gave testimony. There also appeared almost unanimous opinion in support of the contention that the present law as a whole should not be disturbed, but that changes should be in form of supplemental action to strengthen the original intent of the law, which is interpreted as meaning that all combinations interfering with competition should be held to be illegal.

STEEL MAN GIVES

STARTLING FACTS

Corey Contradicts Gary, Tells of Famous "Dinners," Pools and Price Control.

New York, Jan. 25.—William Ellis Corey, former president of the United States Steel corporation, again a witness in the hearings of the government suit to dissolve the corporation under the Sherman anti-trust law, gave further testimony in support of the government charges that the corporation is a monopolistic combination. He testified that "understandings" to maintain prices were reached at the famous "Gage dinners" given in New York by Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the corporation, at which a large majority of the steel manufacturers of the country were represented. He gave testimony, the first adduced from any witness in the suit, it was said, as to the existence of an international armor plate pool in which the United States Steel corporation had participated.

ARMOR PLATE POOL

He confirmed the existence of a "plate and structural pool" and declared that Judge Gary had had knowledge of it. He declared that he himself had given orders for the closing down of blast furnaces of the corporation for the purpose of maintaining the price of pig iron. He said steel rails sold lower to foreign consumers than to domestic, and he furnished testimony intended to prove that the Tennessee Coal and Iron company was a competitor of the steel corporation in the steel rail market prior to its acquisition by the steel corporation.

FAVORED COMPETITION

Mr. Corey, who resigned as president of the corporation in 1910, made it plainly evident in his testimony that in many respects he had clashed with Judge Gary and the members of the finance committee in matters of policy. He declared he never had favored the lease of the Hill ore lands by the corporation in 1907, which was approved by the corporation almost coincidentally with the filing of this suit.

"HANG-OVER" HE SAYS

Mr. Corey today was asked concerning the steel rail pool among American manufacturers, including the corporation. He said that the pool was "a hangover" from a pool that existed before the corporation was organized. It was broken up, he said, in 1904 or 1905. Thereafter, Mr. Corey testified some other manufacturers wanted to raise the price on several occasions, but the steel corporation declined.

TAKEUP OF THE INTERNATIONAL STEEL RAIL

pool, C. A. Severance sought to show that the reason why producing countries did not invade one another's territory was because transportation rates would make it impracticable to do so. "It was not the common custom to do so," Mr. Corey replied. Mr. Severance asked if the witness did not recall cabling to James A. Farrell, when Mr. Farrell was abroad, asking him to ascertain at what price rails had been shipped from Belgium to the Pacific coast for consumption by the Harriman lines.
