Eastwood until he appeared in his office and told substantially the same story as he told upon the witness stand, which was directly opposite to that made in his affidavit. He said that he could show that Eastwood sought Quimby out at Lead and in the presence of several people told him what he knew about the case and volunteered to be a witness for him. But that it was impossible to get witnesses here now before the trial was finished. He said he would also need time to get other witnesses who would testify as to the condition of the car and asked the court to either permit him to withdraw a juror or to dismiss the case without prejudice and let it be filed over again. The Burlington attorneys objected to continuing the case, insisting that it be dismissed and brought over thus throwing the costs upon the plaintiff. The case was then dismissed without prejudice and that afternoon a new case asking for $64,000.00 was filed by Quimby through his attorneys, which will come up at the next term of court.

As Eastwood in his affidavit admitted having committed perjury Judge Dickson ordered that the county attorney file a complaint against him charging him with perjury which was done and he was arrested and is now confined in the county jail.

WILL SETTLE BRIDGE DISPUTE

Holt County Board to Win Out in Location of Bridge.

The members of the county board of supervisors, accompanied by County Attorney Hodgkin and former County Attorney Whelan, went down to Norfolk last Monday morning to confer with the Boyd county board regarding the location of the proposed state aid bridge across the Niobrara river, which has been hanging fire the past three years. Two years ago the Holt county board decided upon locating the bridge at Parnall's crossing and had the state engineers draw plans for a bridge at that place. Later, when the personal of the board had changed, they also changed their minds about location and decided in favor of Coon Island. A meeting of the two boards were held in this city and they decided to leave it to the people living in the vicinity of the proposed bridge as to which location was preferable, and petitions in favor of both locations were circulated. The Coon Island site received the most votes, but the Boyd county board did not like to locate it there and for that reason the matter was held up and the meeting was held Monday for the purpose of deciding the matter. The following from the Norfolk News tells of the action taken by both boards at the meeting Monday:

"After a busy session between seven Holt county, seven Holt county supervisors and State Engineer D. D. Price, in this city Tuesday night, the controversy over the location of the Parnall bridge on the Niobrara river which has been hanging fire for over three years seems now likely to be settled in favor of the Holt county representatives who voted emphatically Tuesday night to have the bridge located at Coon crossing "and no other place."

"The Boyd county representatives do not favor the location at Coon crossing unless the responsibility of keeping up the bridge at Parnall be placed elsewhere, but they announced that they would favor that site if they were assured they would not have to keep up the present Parnall bridge.

"State Engineer Price aided in clearing the situation in bringing the subject back to the Coon crossing site, which now seems likely to be chosen.

"The attorney general will be asked whether the Parnall bridge can be abandoned. If this can be done, it seems certain that Coon crossing will get the new structure.

"Senator and Mrs. J. A. Donahue of O'Neill were here enroute to Lincoln in an automobile. While here senator Donahue called on the state engineer and the supervisors of both counties. He said he represented the people in favor of the Parnall crossing. County Attorney W. K. Hodgkin, and E. H. Whelan of Holt county, spoke in favor of Coon crossing.

"In the Holt county party were: M. P. Sullivan, O'Neill; F. O. Hammerberg, Atkinson; David M. Stuart, Stuart; John O. Hubbell, Inez; Charles Fauquier, Bliss; Th. D. Slevers, Ewing; H. W. Tomlinson, Mineola;

P. C. Kelley, Inman. Those from Boyd county were: A. R. Gardner, Monowi; J. W. Long Lynch; J. W. Johnson, Gross; Frank Jerman, Spencer; H. W. Kenaston; George Sanders, Butte; C. L. Klein, Naper."

Comparative Digestibility of Food

Made with different Baking Powders

From a Series of Elaborate Chemical Tests:

An equal quantity of bread (biscuit) was made with each of three different kinds of baking powder—cream of tartar, phosphate, and alum—and submitted separately to the action of the digestive fluid, each for the same length of time.

The relative percentage of the food digested is shown as follows:

Bread made with
Royal Cream of Tartar Powder:

100 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with phosphate powder:

68 1/4 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with alum powder:

67 3/4 Per Cent. Digested

These tests, which are absolutely reliable and unprejudiced, make plain a fact of great importance to everyone: Food raised with Royal, a cream of tartar Baking Powder, is shown to be entirely digestible, while the alum and phosphate powders are found to largely retard the digestion of the food made from them.

Undigested food is not only wasted food, but it is the source of very many bodily ailments.

the village of Page Nebraska, and that the said lots were erroneously assessed for the year 1912, there having been a valuation placed on them of $120. when it should have been only $8.00 as shown by affidavit of said assessor hereto attached. Your petitioner therefore asks you to instruct the co. clerk of Holt county to correct and reassess said lots and adjust the amount of tax accordingly.

Respectfully,

The word "affectionate" is an instance of how meanings change, for an affectionate person was originally the reverse of agreeable, the word meaning passionate or willful. John Knox in 1554 writes of "the government of an affectionate woman" being "a rage without reason" and a century later another writer deprecates the evils of affectionate soldiers. And now, as any nursemaid knows, affectionate soldiers have no evils.—London Standard.

MARVELS OF PHOTOGRAPHY.

How Creatures Invisible to the Eye Are Shown as Monsters.

Photographing the invisible sounds like a misnomer, but correct to say invisible by the unaided eye. This complex and valuable science is revealing wonders in the excessive minute, and myriad objects, animate and inanimate, are brought to view whose existence has all along been unknown.

Two methods of illuminating the objects are in use—strong light is passed through very thin layers of the substance or reflected from the outside surface of thick masses and also from the external portions of exceedingly small opaque bodies.

These solid particles can be placed on glass slides or floated in transparent liquids, as a drop of water between two very thin glasses. Pinch the glasses close together; there is no danger of killing the smaller kinds of animals, such as bacteria and microbes. They have plenty of room in a film of water so thin as to be beyond imagination.

The magnifying lenses for expansion of images of these minute objects require the most consummate skill in manufacture, the microcamera likewise, and the two combined are triumphs of human genius. The finished products, the perfected pictures, are highly educational. Many different kinds of greatly improved glass are now made in Jena, Germany, and these have almost revolutionized microscopy. And the wonders accomplished by using the most sensitive plates ever made, and these with many different kinds of waves of light, are almost beyond comprehension.

The "Arabian Nights" people are eclipsed. Thus put a drop of stagnant water on glass, lay a thin plate upon it, press down, and the layer of water will be thin indeed. Put it under the microscope, turn bright light through the layer, pass this light into the very small camera and let it fall on a prepared moving film; then the amazing effect of animals in motion is to be fixed on a film that is itself in motion. This film, a long strip, is then placed on rollers and unwound, so that it will pass powerful projecting lenses in a moving picture outfit.

This is, indeed, photographing the unknown. Since man appeared on earth no such aid to refined research into nature's labyrinths has been discovered. Then a large audience can see all that there is in a minute drop of water on a screen from ten to sixteen feet in diameter. Totally invisible creatures become monsters and move with great rapidity before the eyes of the people. Thousands of new species of minute living organisms are rescued from realms of the unknown.—Edgar Lucien Larkin in New York American.

Bamboos as Water Pitchers.
In the Hawaiian Islands the natives carry their supply of water about with them in long bamboo tubes, the joints of which have been knocked out. Girls may be seen making their way to near by springs with the family "water jug." They patiently fill the long hollow in the bamboo with water, blocking up the end with a wooden plug. This is then carried to the hut and lasts the family for several days, keeping cool and sweet in this novel receptacle. The larger bamboo trunks are used in the same way as receptacles for storing various household commodities.—World Wide Magazine.
