March 17 was celebrated in the middle ages as the day when Noah entered the ark. Noah's wife was always the typical shrew of the period. In the Chester cycle when Noah tells her of the coming flood she sneers at him for his credulity and abuses him for always bringing bad news. "Hidden hold her tongue," her abuse only becomes more stinging. Noah strikes her, she hits back and a good set-to ensues till the man retires to make the ark. When it is finished she refuses to enter. "Why come in," says Noah. "Why standest thou there?" Finally her sons bring her in by force and Noah welcomes her. "Welcome wife, unto this boat," and for his welcome he gets a whack-in which makes him exclaim: "Lords that women be crabbed aye! And non are make, I dare well saye."

Hints on table manners have always been welcome. In the Ambrosian library at Milan there is a Thirteenth century manuscript, entitled "Fifty Courtesies of the Table," by one Fra Bonvesini. Here are a few of the 50: "Let the hands be clean, and above all do not at table scratch your head, nor indeed, any portion of your body. Do not lick your fingers, which is very ugly and ill bred." In eating do not put too much upon your spoon at one time, for not only will you thus give much embarrassment to your stomach, but you will, by eating too quickly, offend those sitting near. Again, "Wash well your hands and drink good wine."

In the early days of their craft composers had no need to worry about quotation marks. Punctuation was then of the simplest, consisting only of an oblique line and a full stop. The first book to introduce the colon and notes of interrogation and exclamation appears to have been a Latinus, printed at a monastery near Rome in 1465. Title pages were also unknown in the early days. The books started straight off with "Here beginneth," no author or publisher's name being prefixed. This causes much difficulty in attributing early work to the proper sources.

Kidnaping is a perfectly respectable word, recognized by both British and United States law, and defined by Blackstone as meaning the forcible abduction or stealing away of any person, adult or child, from his or her own country and sending him or her into another. By derivation, however, it does not mean the seizure of a child, but the "snapping" or "snatching" of a "kid." In these cases the use of the word both constitutes a felony and a main hopelessly stigmatizing while the whole has become legitimate.

The people of East Fife, to whom Premier Asquith is appealing for reelection to the house of commons, consider that they have a share in the prime minister's success. "Are you proud of your member?" a traveler asked a railway porter in East Fife. "Aye, I am that," he answered, heartily, then added complacently: "We've done week by week. It's a fine sight, he would never have heard tell of 'but for us'."

Visiting a small country town in Scotland, a deaf woman went to church armed with an ear trumpet. The elders had never seen one, and viewed it with suspicion and uneasiness. After a short consultation one of them stepped up to the lady just before the opening of the service and, wagging his finger at her warningly, whispered: "One toot an' oot ye go!"

London is divided into two camps over the proposition to widen Richmond bridge over the Thames. The bridge was opened for traffic in 1777. Opponents of the improvement plan point out that to tamper with ancient structure will destroy its beauty.

Hans Gyr Miller, of Fond du Lac, Wis., has a 200-year-old watch which still keeps good time. It is an inch in thickness, six inches in diameter, and has a heavy bob made of several silver chains, with 10 charms formed from ancient coins.

Three members of the Wors family, of St. Louis, were recently married in a triple wedding held in the office of a justice of the peace. The six principals stood in a circle and answered the questions in unison.

STORY IN MAGAZINE INSPIRED NURSE TO COMMIT FORGERIES

Woman Morphine User Felt Sure She Could Escape as Man in Story Had Done.

Lincoln, Neb., June 8.—Miss Jennie L. Garcelon, a nurse who recently came to Lincoln from Alnsworth and Long Pine, is in the county jail, a self-confessed forger. She told the county attorney that she had recently read a story in an eastern magazine that purported to be the true story of a forger who had operated for years without detection, although he was finally jailed, and she thought that she could utilize his most often enough to get money to take her to Massachusetts where a home waited her. The woman is 45 years old, and a morphine user. She said that she learned the habit while a nurse and had always found it easy to get the drug. Sometimes she used as high as $10 worth a month. Recently she has been out of employment, and became desperate. She passed three checks aggregating $100 on local merchants. She says she knows she was doing wrong but that she had to have the money, having pawned all her jewelry and being without further credit.

WHENCE CAME RESOLUTIONS? NO TYPEWRITER IN TOWN Lincoln, Neb., June 8.—It was not so much that the democrats of Franklin county, in mass meeting assembled yesterday, endorsed the administration of Governor Morehead, but it is the typewritten resolutions of the puzzle supporters of Mr. Berge, the rival candidate. The meeting was held in Lincoln and there isn't a typewriter in the village. The resolutions spoke of Governor Morehead as being big hearted, hard headed and courageous, spoke of his economy record and told how "scheming politicians were replaced by worthy sons of toil" on the payroll of the state. Originally the contained an endorsement of the governor's candidacy, but these had been penciled out. Food Commissioner Harmon and one of his aides were present, representing the governor, while Mr. Berge's law partner made two or three speeches against the adoption of the resolutions.

SENATOR KEMP IN DOUBT ABOUT COURSE TO PURSUE Lincoln, Neb., June 8.—Senator J. H. Kemp of Fullerton is in Lincoln trying to decide whether he will file as republican candidate for governor, make a try for the republican congressional nomination in the Third district or retire to private life. Kemp was a college mate and close friend of Former Senator Sackett of Gage county, who is to be the progressive nominee for governor. Kemp is making it difficult for himself by making up his mind. He and Sackett held a conference. Afterwards Sackett said that he is making plain to all inquirers that he is in the race to stay. Mr. Kemp declines to answer the newspaper reporters into his confidence, but is regarded as fairly certain that he will run for governor.

UNIVERSITY COUNCIL TO WAR ON FRATERNITIES Lincoln, Neb., June 8.—The state university council, which has charge of the fraternities at the state university, will hereafter lend its powerful efforts to crushing out high school fraternities and sororities. It has just made a rule that no high school girl, who belonged to a secret organization not sponsored by the state, should be permitted to join a university sorority. This rule will be later applied to boys. It is stated. The state law forbids any secret societies in the high schools, but the Lincoln and Omaha high school fraternities have been unable to stamp them out.

NEW CHAPLAIN NAMED FOR LINCOLN PENITENTIARY Lincoln, Neb., June 8.—Rev. E. M. Johnson of Bethany, has been appointed chaplain to succeed Rev. P. O. Johnson, who died some months ago. The place pays $50 a month. Mr. Johnson has been in the ministry of the Christian church for 10 years, and was formerly stationed at Kearney. For some time he has been secretary of the state prison reform association, and is a penologist of repute.

MURDERER DEFIES AN ENTIRE VILLAGE Budapest, Hungary, June 8.—A mad Hungarian, August Tomics, has since yesterday morning made an impregnable fortress out of the steeple of the village church at Hoeflany. Armed with a repeating rifle and 500 cartridges, he refused to come out. After killing a farmer and his wife and wounding their daughter.

Police tried to reach the criminal, but were repulsed with a fusillade which killed two and wounded 14 others.

A large force of police surrounded the church today, but their commander confessed he was helpless unless the madman decided to surrender or used up his ammunition. A narrow stairway is the only approach to the steeple, and whenever anybody has attempted to ascend it Tomics has been able to force him quickly to descend again. He fired 200 of his 500 cartridges yesterday and besides wounding a large number of persons, destroyed the altar and pictures in the church. This morning he shouted from the steeple:

"It is good thing you let me sleep during the night. Now I have fresh strength. When my last cartridge is gone I will kill myself."

WILSON'S CHAUFFEUR FINED FOR SPEEDING Washington, June 6.—One of President Wilson's chauffeurs was fined $10 today in a country court on the outskirts of the capital for speeding with a White House party a few days ago. He pleaded guilty and paid the fine. The president has ordered the White House chauffeurs to observe all local speed laws.

LANDS BETTER JOB. Washington, June 6.—William Kelly, of the District of Columbia, formerly of New Jersey and now stenographer to Speaker Clarke, has been appointed assistant secretary of the Philippine commission. He will leave for Manila July 6.

TRAINS CRASH; THREE DEAD. Kamsack, Sask., Can., June 6.—Three men were killed and four injured, two seriously, when an eastbound Canadian Northern railway passenger train crashed head-on into a westbound freight train here late last night. Both trains were running at high speed.

NORFOLK LAD SHOTS FARMER WHO REFUSED TO DEAL FOR PISTOL

One of Two Shots Fired Lodges in Man's Side and Causes Serious Wound.

Norfolk, Neb., June 6.—Jacob Wagner, a well known farmer living six miles north of town, was shot and seriously wounded yesterday afternoon by Philip Pink, a 15-year-old Norfolk boy. Pink had been discharged by Wagner's brother during the day. He attempted to sell a revolver to Wagner, and when the deal was not made he fired two shots, one taking effect in the left side.

WIFE MURDERER OFFERS CONDITIONAL GUILTY PLEA Lincoln, Neb., June 6.—Harry M. Stout, the ex-wrestler and prizefighter who killed his wife, tried to kill his wife's sister and then cut his own throat, on a Burlington train a week ago, will probably not end in the electric chair. He has offered to plead guilty to the murder in the first degree if the county attorney will not ask for the infliction of the death penalty, but will agree on a life sentence. If this will not be accepted he will make a fight for his life. In view of the fact that in 50 years there has been but one death sentence given to murderers in Lancaster county, juries being squeamish about the death penalty, the county attorney will probably accept the proposition.

Stout was brought into court yesterday on a cot, and arraigned. He pleaded not guilty, waived a preliminary hearing and was bound over without bail. He is recovering rapidly, due to his wonderful constitution.

FRICION CAUSES CHANGES IN RESERVATION OFFICIALS Walthill, Neb., June 6.—The shakeup of officials on the Omaha and Winnebago reservations probably marks the most thorough change in the history of the two agencies. The administration of affairs, particularly on the Omaha reservation, has been the subject of much complaint during the past two years. The policy of the department in exercising strict fatherly control and supervision of the Indians has been extended somewhat to the white farmers leasing Indians' lands, all of which has brought about much friction between the local officials and the white farmers and Indians.

The superintendent now in charge, John S. Spear, will be transferred to South Dakota, and a new agent who will devote his entire time to the Omaha reservation will take his place. B. A. Martindale, clerk in charge, is transferred to Colorado. O. G. Preston, expert farmer, transferred to Oregon with 10 days in which to make the change.

ORD WOMAN CONVICTED OF ASSAULTING EDITOR Ord, Neb., June 6.—Mrs. M. O. Wilson was convicted on a charge of assault and battery in county court here. Mrs. Wilson walked up behind Editor Davis, of the Ord Journal, and subjected him to a whipping with a quilt. She stated that she was taking the law into her own hands to punish him for an account that appeared in his paper of a suit that she filed against the board of education for wages that she claimed as a teacher after she had quit teaching in April, following some difficulties with the board of education and the superintendent. Mrs. Wilson, who has been admitted to the practice of law in Kansas, argued her own case to the jury and was assisted by her husband, an attorney and abstractor.

VIOLATES STATE LAW BY MARRYING HIS NIECE Lincoln, Neb., June 6.—John Brown, a carpenter living at University Place, is in a peck of trouble because he married his niece, something forbidden by the laws of Nebraska. The girl comes from the mountain district of West Virginia. She is 17 years of age and Brown is 48. Brown's sister is the girl's mother. When the girl's father died a few months ago Brown went back to help the family. He became enamored of the girl, but her mother forbade it. Finally the girl went back twice more, and the third time the mother said that if he would bring all of the family of six out to Nebraska he could have the girl. He agreed. When the neighbors found out that the two were married, they reported the matter to the authorities, and Brown's arrest followed.

BEEES TAKE NOTION TO RIDE IN NEW FANGLED VEHICLE Lincoln, Neb., June 6.—A vagrant swarm of bees settled on the top of G. M. Christian's automobile, while it was standing on a street corner yesterday, and for two hours traffic was seriously interfered with by the swarm of bee experts who crowded around with advice as to what to do in the matter. Finally a little German shoemaker came along, on a bicycle, carrying a hat, from the hat into a bucket and from the bucket into a box, and walked off home with them. During the excitement one man pushed into the crowd and wanted to know if the automobile man had brought them in from the country. He was satisfied when told that it was customary nowadays for beekeepers to take their swarms for a ride now and then.

DOCTOR AND LITTLE GIRL BOTH MAD DOG VICTIMS Omaha, Neb., June 6.—Both 3-year-old Margaret Dwyer and her physician, Dr. Rudolph Rix, are now at the Pasteur institute at Chicago taking treatment for rabies. The little girl is said to be in a serious condition.

The little girl was attacked by a bulldog owned by John Alpersen, and was badly bitten about the head. Dr. Rix was called to the Dwyer residence and attended the little girl. Then he went to the Alpersen residence nearby to see if the dog showed signs of rabies. The dog then attacked and bit the physician on the hand.

BACK SUBSCRIPTION CASE GOES TO SUPREME COURT Lincoln, Neb., June 5.—C. J. Bowly, editor of the Crete Democrat, has appealed to the supreme court from a Saline county court decision which said that he could not collect $32.50 from the estate of John B. Poss. Bowly says that he had a contract with Poss to send him the paper at the price of $1.50 a year, and that when Poss died in 1912 he was 20 years in arrears. The heirs would not pay, and the district court wanted to know if the auto-maker had a contract with Poss to collect. Bowly will now see what the supreme court has to say about it.

The valuation act covers street car companies. The Lincoln company voluntarily submitted to the commission.

ALBION—A meeting of the Albion fire department endorsed the plans of Mayor Poynter and the city council for erecting a 250,000-gallon reservoir for storage water. The water works on the quarter mile south of the city. The present system is daily being taxed to its capacity and the immediate need of more water is felt. It is probable that the city will soon be asked to vote bonds to erect this reservoir.

LINCOLN—The state railway commission in a knotty problem that it has referred to the attorney general. It is whether the South Omaha live stock exchange has a legal right to charge shippers 10 cents a car for insuring stock after they have been unloaded at the yards. The coal men say that the nail did not kill the horse, and that it was never very husky.

TWO KNOWN DEAD, SEVEN SERIOUSLY HURT AND ONE MISSING IN IOWA TORNADO

Fury of Storm Wreaked on the Town of Sanborn and on Allen Farm, One Mile West of Hospers. PROPERTY DAMAGE LARGE Citizens of Alton Plainly See Two Separate and Distinct Twisters—Second One the Most Serious. CALL SENT OUT FOR HELP Omaha Train Narrowly Escapes Path of Destruction and Takes Five Wounded into Alton.

Sanborn, Ia., June 6.—Shortly before 6 o'clock last night a portion of this city was struck by a small tornado which swept up from the southwest, carrying death and destruction in its wake. While minor reports of damages are coming in from various sections, the real fury of the tornado seems to have struck only here and at a couple of points west and south of Hospers. In this city two elevators, the city water tower, the electric light plant and one lumber yard were wrecked, two persons were killed, two seriously injured and one still missing. There were scores of minor injuries, none of a serious nature. Although it was feared that some dead bodies would come to light in the mass of wreckage, the certainty of fatalities was not established until this morning when the bodies of Mrs. B. L. Fink and P. Y. Yetuma, the latter a lad of 16 years, were found in their ruined homes. The general belief is that Patrick Doherty, listed as missing has also been killed. The twister struck this village almost without warning, following a day of intense heat. In addition to the damage by wind, the lightning was terrific in some localities and there are unconfirmed rumors of deaths and property losses from that source. Advice received at Sheldon are that the Wallace Wood and M. D. Finch homes, in the country east of Sheldon, were wrecked by the storm and that a son practicing law in Sioux City. It is stated that the Rogoeborn house, in the same neighborhood, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. The furies of wind and lightning, reinforced by a torrential downpour of rain, amounting almost to a cloudburst in many localities. It is believed that complete reports will show extensive damage to crops and farm property in the path of the storm. The Floyd river is in a rampage from the heavy rain of last night, following other rains of the past few days, and lowlands are flooded.

Five Persons Badly Injured On Farm Near Hospers

Alton, Ia., June 6.—Two separate and distinct tornadoes hit the Allen farm, about a mile west of Hospers, at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, completely destroying all buildings, injuring five persons, killing 18 horses, 12 calves and 12 hogs. The Allen farm is a large ranch of about 1,000 acres, partially owned by William Allen of Sioux City, and had three sets of building and improvements. The work of destruction to these buildings was practically completed. Those injured are Mrs. H. Hoogterp, Mr. and Mrs. John Liffot, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hoogterp and Bertha Hoogterp. When train number 24, on the Omaha, was passing the farm the trainmen and passengers observed that the storm had been wrought and stopped the train to render aid. They took the injured persons on the train and brought them to Alton for medical attention. An interview with The Tribune correspondent Mr. Hoogterp said that the three families, who live close together, came to his home when they saw the first storm approaching and all went into the cyclone cellar for safety. After waiting for a considerable time and supposing that the fury of the storm had subsided, they started to emerge from the cellar. Five of the number were outside and the rest when the second whirl struck, proving to be worse than the first one. All five of those on the outside were caught up so quickly that they were powerless to aid themselves. Their injuries resulted mostly from flying timber and none are of a dangerous nature. Trees were torn up by the roots and stripped of their branches, fences were hurled through the air at a terrific rate and havoc was wrought on all sides. In one case a board had penetrated clear through the body of one of the horses. The wreckage of the barns caused the large loss of live stock. One of the passengers on train No. 24 gave the following recital: "We were going past the Allen place when the train stopped and the sight that greeted us was of the wounded persons writhing on the ground in pain, and the bodies buried in the mud, buildings razed to the ground, trees broken and twisted and horses, cows, calves, hogs and chickens strewn all around, dead and maimed." The Allen farm buildings had a rather peculiar location, being on top of a knoll and it probably is due to this fact that these buildings received the brunt of the storm. Both cyclones were plainly seen in Alton, and the second was the most pronounced tornado formation. Even at a distance of four to five miles the twisting and turning of the clouds was plainly in evidence and those viewing the clouds expected to hear of serious damage. The property losses of the farm owners and of the renters will run close to $25,000.

Local physicians who have the injured persons in charge outline the injuries as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Liffot and Mr. Hoogterp all have had injuries about their heads, due to being struck by flying timbers, but there are no fractures. Bertha Hoogterp was struck in the hip by a splintered board, causing a deep laceration. Mrs. Hoogterp suffered injuries about the head and body, none of a dangerous nature. The house and barn on Fred Grest's farm, four miles southwest of Hospers, were completely ruined. Kate Popma received minor injuries. There was no stock killed at this place.

THURSDAY NIGHT STORM REGISTERED IN EASTERN IOWA

Muscatine, Ia., June 6.—A windstorm which swept over Muscatine Thursday night caused thousands of dollars' damage along the Mississippi river front, where scores of pleasure boats were swamped by high waves. A number of them have been lost. The waves and wind, together with a small cloudburst which followed, caused a washout of levees and embankments along the Mississippi river here. The storm was the most severe in years, and resulted in many small buildings in the rural districts being demolished. Several serious fires resulted from lightning.
