O'Neill Wins Another.

Before what was probably the largest crowd that ever witnessed a ball game in O'Neill, the O'Neill base ball team defeated the Emmet team by a score of 21 to 9. The game was very ragged, errors being very numerous on both sides and the slugging of the O'Neill team was very hard and persistent. The game opened with Lintt gracing the mound for O'Neill while a chap called Spjut done the twirling for Emmet. Kirkland was supposed to do the deceiving for Emmet, he being in that position, presumably for that purpose, but was a miserable failure and was responsible for several of O'Neill's runs. Everything proceeded quite smoothly up until the last half of the sixth, the score being tied in the first, third and first of the sixth innings, but at this juncture our boys fell upon the already miserable Spjut and on six hits, three errors and a base on balls succeeded in scoring nine runs, Tim Ryan getting two hits and Eddie Alberts scoring two runs in this inning. Captain Arthur Wilson determined that something must be done immediately to save what was left of the day, held a hurried consultation with his lieutenants and no one else being willing to take up the pitching burden Captain Wilson himself was forced to the mound, and while Art is getting old and is not near the pitcher that he used to be he let the O'Neill team down with three hits in the two innings that he officiated. Lintt pitched a fairly good game for O'Neill but numerous errors behind him coupled with timely hits were responsible for most of Emmet's scores. The score by innings was as follows:

Emmet	...	2	0	0	2	1	2	0	0	—9
O'Neill	...	2	0	2	3	0	9	3	2	—21

Home run, Shaw. Three base hits: Ryan, J. Trochinski. Two base hits: Tomsick, Alberts. Double plays: Boyle to Tomsick to Leahy, Ryan to Tomsick to Leahy 2. Struck out by Lintt 6; by Spjut 4 in six innings; by Wilson 2. Base on balls off Spjut 2; Wilson 1. Hit by pitched ball: Ryan, Leahy, A. Trochinski and O'Donnell. Umpire Coleman.

Plea For a Safe and Sane Fourth.

Every year on the Anniversary of our Independence as a nation we read in the daily papers how many people have been made dependent for life by their foolish and senseless method of celebrating the Fourth of July. Dependent because they have lost their eyesight, their limbs or suffered other injuries, or because by their carelessness with fireworks they have destroyed their homes, their business; and lost their savings accumulated by years of hard labor.

The firecracker, the skyrocket, the roman candle, the cannon, and other destructive toys and playthings yearly dole out their share of pain and misery. The little toy balloon, pretty to look at for a fleeting moment, has many times dropped upon the roofs of buildings, in yards, in rubbish piles, hay sacks, etc., setting them on fire and destroying hundreds of dollars worth of property.

Each year new kinds of fireworks are manufactured and bought by careless, thoughtless people. It seems that the larger and brighter the fire and the louder the noise they make the more attractive is the article to the purchaser.

The fire departments of our cities and towns are usually overtaxed by numerous calls on the Fourth of July. The lives of the firemen, always in danger when running to a fire, are especially endangered on the Fourth by explosives thrown along the streets as they pass; the hard and frequent runs are injurious to the horses on hot days; the wear and tear of the fire apparatus is increased, and altogether fireworks makes July 4th a deplorable day from many viewpoints.

The mayors of the different towns throughout the state should employ at least two of the volunteer firemen to stay at the fire house on the Fourth so that in case of a fire call it could be answered without delay. The firemen should remain on duty until the village is through celebrating.

During the past ten years a total of 39,850 people, the equivalent of nearly forty regiments, were killed or injured in Fourth of July celebrations in this country.

However, since many officials and citizens have interested themselves in the matter of celebrating the Fourth of July in a safe and sane manner the loss of life and property has gradually decreased.

This decrease in loss of life and property on the Fourth is indisputably due to the agitation by fire marshalls and city officials against the dangerous way of celebration heretofore practiced on Independence Day.

This department has tried to reach every official, Commercial Clubs and Woman's Clubs, through the newspapers to obtain their co-operation in having a safe and sane Fourth. The fact that our school children are being taught the great danger of using fireworks and their assistance asked in helping to abolish the old, dangerous and barbarous way of observing the Fourth has a great deal to do with decreasing the enormous loss on this fateful day.

This department wishes now to admonish parents not to purchase dangerous explosives and fireworks. If you must see them, go to some park where they are set off by a paid practical man who assumes the responsibility and danger.

Officials could and should prohibit their use within city limits. There are many ways of enjoying the Fourth in a patriotic way without the use of fireworks. Listening to speeches, looking at parades, visiting the parks, and innumerable safe and enjoyable ways.

We wish to earnestly request all citizens, all men, women and children to abstain from fireworks this coming Fourth of July, so that on the 5th of July not a town in the whole state of Nebraska will be mourning the loss of a single life, not lamenting over the injury to a single person nor deploring the loss of a single dollar's worth of property through the foolish, senseless, unnecessary use of fireworks.

W. S. Ridgell,
Fire Commissioner.

P. J. Stafford Dead.

Word was received here to-day of the death of P. J. Stafford, roadmaster for the Northwestern railroad on this division. He resided at Norfolk, where the funeral will take place Saturday morning.

Mr. Stafford was well known in O'Neill and all along the Northwestern system in whose employ he was for the past 35 years.

He was of sterling character, a man who was a useful citizen, a good representative of those whom he represented. He will be missed and his place hard to fill.

Three Horse Markets.

Nebraska is making phenomenal progress as a horse market state. St. Louis is regarded as the largest market in the world while Chicago claims second place. Then comes Grand Island, South Omaha and Kansas City, all making claims for the third place. Lincoln also has a flourishing market which is rapidly expanding in importance with spirited sales every week at Grand Island, South Omaha and Lincoln, the market possibilities of Nebraska cannot be emphasized too strongly to horsemen.

In breeding animals, the Percherons seem to be the strong favorites as 53 per cent of all the pure bred stallions are Percherons, with all the other breeds trailing below 12 per cent. Why not make it unanimous and have Nebraska recognized as the Percheron breeding ground of the world? Our natural advantages equal those of any country on earth for this industry.

Pure Food Show.

Women of Nebraska are displaying much interest in the pure food display at the next state fair. Under the direction of Deputy Food Commissioner Harmon, all the details of the manufacture, handling and production of foods will be exemplified. Special attention will be given to demonstrating the foods manufactured in Nebraska and enlightening the public as to them value. The building formerly used for the agricultural exhibit will be devoted to this purpose. The club women of the state are working in harmony with the deputy food commissioner.
