LOCAL MATTERS.

O'Neill seems rather quiet this week after the enormous crowds that were in the city last week.

Miss Ireneia Biglin left last Sunday for Wayne where she will enter the Wayne State Normal school.

Fred Cronk, of Verdigris township, is in the city today looking after business matters.

Jack Quigg wears a forelorn look these days. He says that he is about tired of living alone and something is liable to happen before long.

Mrs. Hugh Carney, of Butte, Mont., arrived in the city last Friday evening for a few weeks visit with old time friends here.

Frank Mayne, of Harlan, Iowa, arrived in this city last Monday and Tuesday went out to his ranch near Kola, to look after business matters there.

M. J. Sanders, of Norfolk, district manager of the Nebraska Telephone company, was in the city the first of the week looking after the interests of the company here.

Frank J. Taylor, of St. Paul, Neb., democratic candidate for congress from this district, is in the city today interviewing democratic statesmen and soliciting support for his candidacy.

Jerry Cronin left for Osceola, Iowa, last Tuesday morning to look after some business matters there. Mr. Cronin recently purchased a 200-acre farm near Osceola and will move there next spring.

Nick White, of Benson, was in the city the first of the week looking after business affairs in this section. Nick has not yet got used to life in the city and says that he does not feel at home until he reaches old Holt.

Jack France, of Dorsey, was in the city the first of the week after hard coal. Mr. France says that he purchased hard coal in this city for $3.00 per ton less than he could buy it for at Lynch and consequently came to this city after it.

Elmer Merriman has purchased the Waddington pool and billiard hall and bowling alley, taking possession this morning. Elmer has had a good deal of experience in running business enterprises of this kind and will no doubt make a success of the business.

Charles Coyle has opened a pool hall in the building formerly occupied by John Skirving on Fourth street. Charles is one of the swiftest pool and billiard players in this section of the state and will no doubt make good in his business enterprise.

Sunday next, October 4th, being the day set apart by the President as a day of "Special Prayer for Peace" in Europe, there will be a special service in the Episcopal church at 11:00 a. m., and a special sermon will be preached. Sunday school as usual in church at 10:00 a. m.—C. R. Parkerson, Pastor.

The two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Sullivan, old time residents of Grattan township, died last Sunday morning and was buried in the Catholic cemetery Monday afternoon. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of their many friends in this city and vicinity.

HOWELL SPEAKS IN O'NEILL

Republican Candidate for Governor and Other State Candidates Visit the City.

The republican state candidates who are touring the state in automobiles reached this city at 10:50 last Monday night, nearly three hours behind their schedule. Although the hour was late a good sized crowd had waited for them and upon their arrival Mr. Howell, candidate for governor, made a short address.

Mr. Howell told the things that he stood for in this campaign. He said that he was making the race on a platform that stood for the conservation of the public utilities for the benefit of the public and not private corporations. He told of the fight in Omaha over the water plant there and of the results obtained since it came into the hands of the people. After many improvements had been made, during the past two years that the plant has been owned by the municipality, $569,000 remained in the water fund. The fight for a municipal water plant in Omaha covered a period of sixteen years.

He is in favor of developing the water power of the state and forcing the corporations who now own water rights to develop the power or let their rights revert back to the state.

He also spoke of the egg throwing in Omaha just prior to the primary election. He said that it would appear from that incident that he was not popular in Omaha and said that the candidate that ran closest to him in the primary received 1,200 votes in Omaha while he received 5,600.

On account of the lateness of the hour he did not make a very extended address but his remarks were closely listened to and he made a very favorable impression upon the audience. He also made a short address Tuesday morning, before leaving for Inman. He said he regretted very much that unavoidable circumstances prevented him from arriving upon schedule time and said that he would try and get back to O'Neill later in the campaign for a night meeting in O'Neill.

Mr. Howell was accompanied upon the trip by his wife and son, the latter driving the car; W. V. Hoagland, of North Platte, republican candidate for lieutenant governor; Charles Sears, republican candidate for attorney general and A. O. Thomas, republican candidate for state superintendent. A delegation of O'Neill people composed of H. D. Grady, W. K. Hodgkin, J. H. Meredith, William Joyce, W. H. Shaughnessy and D. H. Cronin went to Stuart to meet the party Monday afternoon. About ten auto leads of republicans from this city went to Atkinson that afternoon to meet the party, but on account of the lateness of their arrival in that city most of them returned home before the arrival of the touring party. A large crowd heard Mr. Howell and W. V. Hoagland at Atkinson and he made a very favorable impression upon the voters.

Tuesday morning the party left for Inman, accompanied by a delegation from this city, where addresses were made by W. V. Hoagland and Mr. Howell and from there went on to Ewing, being escorted by republicans from this city. Good sized crowds were at both these places to hear the speakers, a large number of democrats being in the audience in both towns and the addresses were very well received, and he was assured that nearly every point by democrats that they had enlisted in the fight for his election this fall.

For Sale—Cattle of all kinds; will sell either for cash or on time.—Cowperthwaite & Son. 46-4f

A. F. Rouse, who has been a resident of Paddock township for over a quarter of a century, has become a resident of O'Neill moving his family to this city the middle of last week. A. F. says that he is going to spend this winter in the city at any rate and that if he likes city life will remain and build a home here in the spring. At present he is living in the Burch residence in the western part of the city.

Garret Jansing and August Hoppe, two of the most prosperous of Holt county farmers living northwest of this city, were in attendance at the Inter-State fair at Sioux City last week and while there invested in two prize winning boars to head their herds. Mr. Jansing purchased the hog that won first prize in the yearling class, while Mr. Hoppe purchased the hog that secured second prize under yearlings. They say the fair was splendid and that great crowds were in attendance each day.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Presbyterian church last Wednesday morning when Cecil Brown was united in marriage to Miss Elsie Mills, Rev. Longstaff officiating. A splendid wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Mills, after which the young couple took the morning train for Sioux City where they will spend a few days visiting relatives and friends. After their return they will go to housekeeping in a cottage in the eastern part of the city that the groom has fitted up for his bride. The groom is the son of Mrs. Viola Brown and is a young man of good habits and business ability. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Mills and has been a resident of this city all her life. She is a charming and winsome young lady with a host of friends among the young people of the city. The Frontier joins their many friends in tendering good wishes for their future success and happiness.

Miss Bessie Jones died at the home of her mother in this city last Tuesday morning after a short illness. Miss Bessie has been one of Holt county's most successful teachers for several years and this fall had been teaching school south of Emmet. Last Thursday she came home as she had not been feeling well for several days and decided to take a few weeks vacation in the hopes that the threatened illness would pass away. Her illness was not considered serious and she was getting along nicely. Tuesday morning her mother heard her moving around the room and went in and asked her if she wished something. Bessie told her she was cold and her mother carefully covered her and she dropped to sleep. When they entered the room a couple of hours later she was dead, having passed away in her sleep. Deceased was born February 21, 1887, and was a little over 27 years of age at the time of her death. The funeral will be held this afternoon from the Presbyterian church.

Charles Jones, of Scribner, Neb., arrived in the city Wednesday evening to attend the funeral of his sister, Miss Bessie Jones.

Mrs. P. H. Green, of Creighton, Neb., arrived in the city Wednesday afternoon to attend the funeral of her cousin, Miss Bessie Jones.

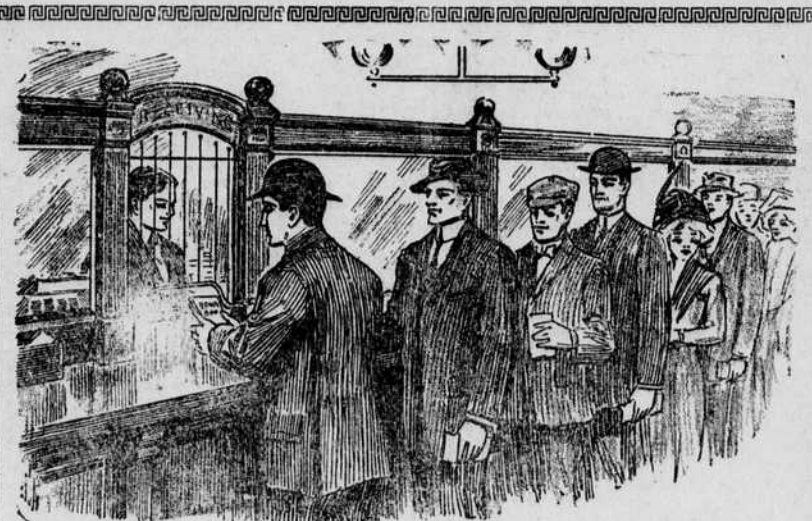

J. F. White, of Blair, Neb., will open up a clothing and men's furnishing store in the Hiber building on west Douglas street on October 5th. Mr. White is not a stranger to O'Neill and this section of the state. The writer has known him for a quarter of a century and know him to be a splendid business man and a live wire. For twenty-five years he was a mail clerk on the Northwestern running through here, resigning from the service some six years ago when he was elected county treasurer of Burt county. Since retiring from office he has been engaged in the mercantile business in Blair. Mr. White owns a large ranch north of Stuart which he purchased when Holt county soil was not considered worth owning, during the days of Cleveland's administration. The land has greatly increased in value and John has kept adding to it until now he owns 1,360 acres and has it stocked. He is one of the land barons of the county and we predict will prove a live wire in the business circles of our city.

Walt Mason: The clock strikes one, the noon hour's done, I must resume my toiling; man dare not sleep if he would keep the blooming pot a-boiling. For every hour the price of flour and other grub's advancing; all things suffice to raise the price, the C. of L. enhancing. There's threat of war in Labrador, according to dispatches, so we must pay far more today for cheese and parlor matches. There's too much rain in southern Spain, fresh rain and kindred liquors, for we must blow far more, you know, for overshoes and slickers. The war on Serls affects such herbs as we are fond of chewing; it takes more cash for succotash and all the greens we're stewing. The crop of hay at Hudson's Bay is poor, so folks are saying, so Hyson tea is costing me just twice what I've been paying. Blight killed the geese in northern Greece; I would not care a button, but that, amazed, I find it raised the price of beef and mutton. This graft seems queer to me, my dear; it makes no odds what chances, on land or sea, on lake or lea, the C. of L. advances.

War Possibilities.
The plight of Germany in having a war on hand causes a number of people to wonder as to her ability to feed her people with outside assistance wholly cut off. If the United States were in such an unfortunate condition; could we feed our selves? We think so. The United States raises 68 per cent of all the corn raised in the world, 20 per cent of the wheat, 61 per cent of cotton products, 15 per cent of the cattle with 35 per cent of the tobacco for the soldiers' to smoke and chew. We also furnish 63 per cent of all the petroleum output so there would be little danger of a shortage of gasoline with which to run our motor trucks and war aeroplanes.
